SENATE TO VOTE ON TARIFF FRIDAY, HOUSE SATURDAY; BANKERS' HEAD HITS BILL

DOYLE TO TAKE FIGHT ON CONTEMPT ORDER TO THE HIGHEST COURT

Announces He Will Seek Review if Lower Courts Rule He Must Tell Who Shared Fees.

AT LIBERTY ON PAROLE

Final Decision May Be Delayed Till Fall—Appeals Board Defers Two Doyle Pleas.

VAUSE INQUIRY PRESSED

Tuttle Will Scrutinize Bank Accounts of Three Shipping Heads in Effort to Trace Fees.

Dr. William F. Doyle's fight to defeat the government's efforts to ascertain from him the names of persons with whom he split his $2,000,000 or more in fees received for work done before the Board of Standards and Appeals will be carried to the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

This was revealed yesterday by Samuel Falk, one of Dr. Doyle's attorneys, who told Federal Judge John M. Woolsey in open court that the case would be taken to the court of last resort on a writ of certiorari if the United States Circuit Court of Appeals should uphold Judge Woolsey's order holding Dr. Doyle in contempt for his refusal to answer questions before the grand jury.

The case was taken yesterday before Federal Judge Martin T. Manton of the Circuit Court of Appeals after Dr. Doyle's bail had been fixed at $1,000 by Judge Woolsey in the absence of United States Attorney Tuttle. Judge Manton notified Mr. Tuttle later that the Appellate Court would hear the appeal as soon as possible. As that tribunal will adjourn on Friday, it is expected that argument will be heard either today or tomorrow. Mr. Tuttle told Judge Manton he would be prepared to argue the case today "without briefs and without records."

Protest by Tuttle.

Dr. Doyle, who had been adjudged in contempt by Judge Woolsey on Monday and ordered to present himself in court this morning, did so, accompanied by Mr. Falk and Alfred J. Talley, also his attorney. Neither Mr. Tuttle nor any one of his assistants was in Judge Woolsey's court room when the matter came up. Judge Woolsey granted Dr. Doyle's counsel's motion for permission to appeal and fixed his bail at $1,000. Dr. Doyle and his attorneys had started down one of the corridors in the Federal Building en route to a United States Commissioner's office to arrange for the bail bond when they met Mr. Tuttle coming from another court room where he had been engaged in another case.

When informed of what had occurred Mr. Tuttle told the attorneys for Dr. Doyle he would be compelled to have the bail order nullified. He then led the way back to Judge Woolsey's court room, where he declared that if the move by Dr. Doyle's attorneys should prove successful and the argument on appeal be heard in the Fall, the effect would be the same as if Judge Woolsey had failed to order Dr. Doyle to answer questions about his split fees. Judge Woolsey then reconsidered his action and the matter of bail was left to Judge Manton, presiding judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Manton paroled Dr. Doyle in Mr. Falk's custody pending hearing on appeal and intimated he would arrange to have the argument heard as soon as possible.

It was pointed out later that, should the Appellate Court uphold the contempt order and the full bench of the Supreme Court have to hear the case, it could not be finally decided before next October.

Reveals $8,000 Payment.

Mr. Tuttle disclosed last night that among canceled checks made payable to Dr. Doyle and cashed by him without depositing any parts thereof, was one for $8,000 from Saks & Co., at Fifth Avenue and Forty-ninth Street. This check bears date of March 9, 1928. It was endorsed by Dr. Doyle and cashed by him at the Flatbush Avenue branch of the Corn Exchange Bank the day after it had been issued. Mr. Tuttle disclosed, incidentally, that this was the bank in which Dr. Doyle had deposited $1,268,000 in the last six years.

Mr. Tuttle's investigation revealed, he said, that complaints of Fire Department violations had been filed against this store of Saks & Co. as well as against their store at Thirty-fourth Street and Sixth Avenue. These violations, he explained, consisted of "alteration rooms" in each building in which dresses were altered. The company had been told

Beebe Dives 800 Feet in Ball; Previous Record Was 325 Feet

By The Canadian Press.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 10.—A new deep-sea diving record was claimed today for William Beebe of the New York Zoological Society's oceanographic expedition, who descended 800 feet beneath the sea's surface in a steel ball with fused quartz windows. The lowest depth previously attained was 325 feet.

The hollow steel sphere in which Mr. Beebe made the record-breaking descent contained an oxygen supply and was fitted with apparatus for absorbing the exhaled air. The ball was lowered by cable from a tug, and telephone conversations between the diver and the surface were successfully carried on. Fish were readily observed.

The expedition hopes to make observations at a depth of half a mile by means of its apparatus.

PASSENGERS BURNED IN COLLISION AT SEA

SISTER SHIP TO RESCUE

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Wednesday, June 11.—Word of a collision at sea in a heavy fog off Scituate and the burning of several passengers on the Merchants and Miners' Line steamship Fairfax came in a radio message received here soon after 8 o'clock last night.

After midnight the Nahant coast Guard station reported receiving a radio message that the Gloucester, sister ship of the Fairfax, to which the seventy-one passengers of the Fairfax had been transferred, was on its way to Boston. The message said the Fairfax had been in collision with a "Grecian tanker," but that the tanker was not sunk, as first indicated.

No details of the collision were available, as the Massachusetts coast was blanketed in one of the densest fogs in years.

Message From the Fairfax.

The first message received was sent by Captain A. H. Brooks of the Fairfax to A. J. Doyle, general agent of the steamship company here. It read:

"Anchored off Scituate. Sank oil tanker. Ship badly damaged from accident. Several passengers burned. Will transfer all passengers to the Gloucester returning to Boston. Fairfax will also return as soon as possible. Have doctors and ambulances meet at pier. Brooks, master."

At 12:30 o'clock this morning Captain A. C. Bunting of the Gloucester in a radio message to the Merchants' and Miners' pier said:

"Am taking off passengers now. Will advise on docking later."

Officers of the line then estimated that the Gloucester would not reach here until 4 or 5 o'clock. There were no further messages giving details as to how the passengers were burned, the number of those suffering and the extent of their injuries. Nor was there any further word of the tanker.

As soon as Mr. Doyle received the message from Captain Brooks he notified the Carney Hospital and three ambulances, a dozen internes and five physicians, headed by Dr. John Doherty, were sent to the dock.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 10.—The bottom dropped out of Anglo-American securities on the Stock Exchange today. Not even during the days of Wall Street's great crash last Autumn has London seen such declines in a single day as were witnessed in all the leading American shares.

The devastating extent of the declines was caused partly by idleness of the London Stock Exchange from Friday until today, while Wall Street was experiencing bad days Saturday and Monday. Today the full force of the Wall Street slump broke upon London and despite forewarnings from New York there was heavy liquidation throughout the session.

Among the worst sufferers were Columbia Graphophone, which plunged one full pound lower to £4 13-32; Radio Corporation, which tumbled 7¾ to $42¾ and His Master's Voice Gramaphone, which fell 7-32 to £4 7-32.

The electrical stocks did not escape the avalanche, General Electric tumbling 2s. to 47s.; Associated Electric 1s. to 25s., and Hydroelectric 2½ to $43¼. International Nickel crashed to $28, 3-17 below Friday's close; International holdings fell ¼ to $5¾, while Brazilian Traction slumped 3⅜ to $46.

Cables and Wireless failed to withstand the rout, the A ordinary falling 1½ to £38½ and the B ordinary one point to £17. Ford slipped 7-32 to £3 11-32, with other automobile issues weak. Royal Mail felt the effect of last Friday's depressing report and declined 1¼ to £15½. Rubber dipped to a new low record of 6⅛d. a pound and shares were flat. Oils were dull, Royal Dutch weakening 5-16 to £32⅝.

Money was in keen demand in Lombard Street, where the rate for overnight loans advanced to 2¼ per cent. Discounts were firm and unchanged at 2 3-16 per cent for three-months bills. Sterling exchange declined to $4.85⅞. The Bank of England received £500,000 in sovereigns from South Africa.

With selling pressure suddenly lifted, the New York stock market turned sharply about at noon yesterday and in three hours of a vertical advance canceled nearly all of the losses of the day before. The rally was broad and vigorous, serving to dissipate the gloom which has enveloped the Wall Street district for several days.

The average price of fifty representative stocks, as shown by THE NEW YORK TIMES compilation, showed a net gain of $5.73, against a net decline of $6.03 on Monday. The total turnover on the New York Stock Exchange was 4,773,480 shares, the heaviest since the record for 1930 was established on May 5, with a volume of 8,279,260 shares.

The London market close practically corresponds with the beginning of trading here, although "outside" trading in London continues to 6 P. M., which is 1 P. M. New York time.

POISON LIQUOR SEIZED BY FIFTY DRY AGENTS IN BOWERY CLEAN-UP

FIND HUNDREDS DRUNK

WALKER AND TUTTLE AID

Prosecutor to Ask Long Terms for All Convicted—Mayor Would Try Dispensers for Murder.

Aroused by the thirty-one deaths in Manhattan from alcohol poisoning since May 10, fifty agents of Maurice Campbell, Prohibition Administrator, posing as Bowery habitués, invaded the east side yesterday in the largest campaign ever instituted against sellers of poison liquor. Late last night, when the agents were still at work, twenty "smoke" shops had been raided, and thirty-six proprietors, "bouncers" and bartenders had been arrested.

The agents, wearing two-day beards, shabby clothes, and in some instances soiled bandages on heads or arms, reported that they had found hundreds of patrons lying drunk on the sawdust-littered floors. In some cases the agents carried patrons, drugged from denatured or poisoned alcohol, from the shops before they made arrests.

Agents Drink Poison Liquor.

Two of the agents, who declined to give their names, and who said that they had drunk some of the liquor, known as "smoke" because of its milkish white color, reported sick at prohibition headquarters on Washington Street and were sent home.

"I was a fool to touch it," one of the agents said. "I'm not drunk. I'm just groggy, and I've never had a worse headache."

Major Campbell explained then that he had warned his men not to drink any of the stuff. He said that an analysis had shown it in some cases to be denatured alcohol of the kind used in anti-freeze mixture for automobiles, and in others pure synthetic wood alcohol.

"This liquid," he explained, "unlike ordinary wood alcohol, has no distasteful odor and is not easily identified."

The raids, the second group of their kind in a year, were carried out in cooperation with the police, who are conducting an independent investigation at the order of Commissioner Mulrooney, and in cooperation with Federal Attorney Tuttle, who announced last night that he would give a preference on the calendar to these cases, waiving the customary hearing before a United States Commissioner and presenting the matter immediately to a Federal grand jury.

The Federal prosecutor described the liquor, hundreds of gallons of which were seized in the raids, as "liquid death," and its dispensers as "murderers." He said that he would demand a maximum sentence in the case of each seller convicted. Mayor Walker, who was informed of the recent wave of deaths caused by "smoke," said he felt the electric chair was too good for its sellers.

He added that if he "had a club" he would hit on the head any seller

T. S. Gates, Morgan Partner, Made President As Pennsylvania University Creates Post

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—Thomas S. Gates, a partner in the banking firms of J. P. Morgan & Co. in New York and Drexel & Co. in Philadelphia, has been elected president of the University of Pennsylvania and has accepted the newly created position, in which he will serve without compensation, it was announced tonight.

Dr. Josiah H. Penniman, provost of the university, will continue in that capacity, devoting his attention to academic affairs, while the new president is expected to become the administrative head.

Whether Mr. Gates would resign as a Morgan partner was not revealed. He became a partner in the Morgan firm in 1921, three years after becoming a partner in Drexel & Co.

A committee of the board of trustees, which submitted the report recommending the appointment of a president, will assist Mr. Gates in formulating the changes in the administration of the university necessitated by the creation of the new executive position. The committee, in consultation with Mr. Gates, will outline the precise duties to be delegated to the provost and the president.

It was considered probable that the banker, who is a Pennsylvania alumnus of 1893, would take over his university duties not later than July 1.

Provost Penniman announced that the creation of the office of president and the election of Mr. Gates "brings to fruition a plan which I have long looked on as vital to the proper development of the institution."

In a statement tonight Mr. Gates declared he would count upon the cooperation of all of the trustees and the provost, and especially "upon the close, continued association in all matters" with Charles Day, Philadelphia financier, engineer and a member of the board of trustees, "without whose clear judgment and sound advice I would not feel justified in accepting any such executive position."

REBELS WIN YOCHOW, ADVANCE ON HANKOW

Victory of Southern Chinese, Aided by Bandits, Imperils Whole Yangtse Valley.

CHIANG'S COURSE IN DOUBT

By The Associated Press.

HANKOW, China, June 10.—The invading Kwangsi army overcame the defense of the Nanking Nationalist forces today near Yochow, in the northern part of Hunan Province, said reports reaching here this afternoon, and forced the Nationalists to retreat northward along the railway line toward Wuchang.

Dispatches from foreign sources said the fighting had begun just south of Yochow on the northeast shore of Tungting Lake late yesterday. The Kwangsi army, including a number of reputed bandit organizations as well as the anti-Nanking provincials, previously had captured Changsha, the Hunanese capital, with only nominal resistance from its Nationalist defenders.

The stated objective of the Kwangsi rebels is this city and its sister municipalities, Wuchang and Hanyang, the former just across the Yangtse River.

Last Barrier Declared Weak.

SHANGHAI, June 10 (AP).—Japanese advices tonight stated that as a result of the reported rout of the Nationalist army near Yochow the last barrier between the Kwangsi rebels and the Yangtse River, the Wuhan cities—Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang—were considered gravely menaced.

The three cities are strategically located, both commercially and from a military standpoint, on the Yangtse nearly 600 miles west of here. Hankow was for some time the seat of the Nationalist Government, before its military successes in Central China permitted its establishment at Nanking.

Americans at Foochow Warned.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—John J. Muccio, American Consul at Foochow, reported to the State Department today that on Saturday and Sunday a "strenuous battle" occurred between the independent forces of General Lu Hing-pang, who were attempting to enter the city, and the forces of the Nationalist Government. The government forces were victorious and Foochow was quiet when the report was dispatched.

Although Americans have not been molested, Consul Muccio has urged the Americans in the disturbed area, consisting of seventeen men, twenty-one women and ten children, to withdraw from Foochow.

Frank P. Lockhart, Consul General at Hankow, informed the department today that no word had been heard from the Rev. Clifford J. King of Techny, Ill., a missionary of the Society of the Divine Word, since his capture by bandits near Kuadzoying on June 2. Mr. King, the Consul General said, left Ioshan that morning for Chengyang and was captured with his servant by four men. The personal baggage and mule cart were not taken. The bandits made off with their prisoners in a southwesterly direction.

Wuhan Cities Key to Valley.

The fall of Yochow before the Kwangsi army imperils the Nationalist hold on the entire Yangtse Valley. The victory at Yochow gives a foothold for approach to the three important Wuhan cities, Hanchow, Hanyang and Wuchang, to the north, and these cities, both rich and strategic, are virtually the final barrier to an

SENATORS TO ASSERT RIGHT TO NAVY DATA

Foreign Relations Committee Drafts Motion as to Papers Withheld by President.

ASSAILS 'SECRET DIPLOMACY'

Black, Treaty Proponent, Offers the Resolution—Borah Admits Hoover's Action Is Final.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee prepared today to assert formally its right to documents on the London Naval Treaty negotiations refused to the committee by President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson.

The situation in the committee which has delayed drafting of the report as to ratification of the treaty was intensified when Senator Black of Alabama, a Democratic member and proponent of the treaty, offered a resolution putting the committee on record in opposition to the position taken by Secretary Stimson for refusing to submit confidential information.

A majority of the committee supported the proposal in principle, but suggested that it be amended in certain particulars. A subcommittee composed of Senators Borah, Moses and Black was named to rewrite the resolution and will probably have it ready for submission to the committee tomorrow morning.

In general terms, the resolution asserts the right of the committee to the inspection of secret documents bearing on the negotiation of treaties. Senator Black's position is that all information which tends to throw light on the negotiations or conversations leading up to the signing of treaties should be placed before the committee, and this would seem to be the view of a majority of the committee.

Concedes President's Right.

The committee will not challenge the President's right to withhold information, the disclosure of which in his opinion would be incompatible with the public interest.

On the other hand, it is understood the resolution will state what, in the opinion of the committee should be the policy of the Executive and the State Department in their relations with the Senate, regardless of the secrecy or non-secrecy of the information involved. It will be asserted that, as the Senate under the Constitution shares with the Executive the duty of treaty-making, the Senate should be supplied with all the information possessed by the other treaty-making branch of the government.

Senator Borah, the committee chairman, while reluctant to talk about the situation, said "it seemed" as if the committee was ready to make its position in the matter of the confidential documents clear. However, he said the President's action was final and could be changed only by the President himself. There was no way to get the documents except through the voluntary action of the President.

Somebody mentioned the word "impeachment."

"That's too slow," replied Senator Borah smiling.

"Personally," said Senator Black, "I have always been and am still opposed to secret diplomacy. I believe in publicity in foreign as well as domestic affairs. I think the Senate entitled to all the information there is to be had in order that it may pass intelligently on treaties which can only become effective through Senate action."

WAR DISABLED GET $75,000,000 IN BILL AS SENT TO SENATE

COST CUT FROM $90,000,000

Benefits Are Limited to Seven Diseases as Against House Provision for All.

FIGHT IS IN PROSPECT

Backers to Press Passage "Even Over Veto"—Opposition by Administration Is Reported.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The Rankin bill to liberalize compensation for World War veterans was given a favorable report to the Senate today by its Finance Committee after the committee had reshaped the measures so as to restrict the scope of its benefits and reduce the estimated cost.

As coming out of the committee, the bill represents a cost to the government of approximately $75,000,000, members of the committee estimated. The cost of the bill as passed by the House was variously estimated at from $90,000,000 to $500,000,000, the latter estimate being advanced by House leaders.

The presumptive period for disabilities was left by the Finance Committee at Jan. 1, 1930, as in the House bill. However, only chronic constitutional diseases and leprosy, in addition to six diseases specified under the present law as presumed to be of service connection, are covered by the presumptive provision of the bill as revised by the committee, whereas under the present House bill all disability appearing before Jan. 1, 1930, is presumed to be of service connection.

This follows closely the original proposal of Representative Rankin, Democrat, of Mississippi, for liberalization of the presumptive provision before the bill got out of control in the House, with the result that the provision was given sweeping application.

The bill, as reported by the committee, will affect about 100,000 veterans, it is said.

Periods Are Extended.

Under the present law, the six specified diseases, which include mental diseases and tuberculosis, are presumed to be of service connection if a 25 per cent disability develops by Jan. 1, 1925. Other diseases must have shown manifestation before July 2, 1921. The bill, as modified by the Finance Committee, extends the period for the six specified diseases five years, and creates a special class of diseases of the chronic constitutional type for which service connection presumption is extended nine years. The percentage of disability was retained by the committee. The power of the government to rebut claims for disability, taken away by the House, was restored, however.

Senator Shortridge, Republican, of California, will submit to the Senate a report on the bill explaining in detail the changes made and the reasons therefor.

An attempt will be made, Senator Shortridge said, to get the bill up in the Senate following the disposition of the rivers and harbors authorization bill, which is scheduled to follow the tariff conference reports. Senator Shortridge said he thought the bill would be signed by the President if the revisions made by the committee were adopted.

Administration leaders in the Senate, however, have represented the President as antagonistic to the bill, and have indicated that he was opposed to any attempt to get the bill

Edison Will Urge Second Term on Hoover; Favors High Wages, and Hits Vast Mergers

By The Associated Press.

FORT MYERS, Fla., June 10 (AP).—Thomas A. Edison told interviewers here today that he would urge President Hoover to seek election for a second term.

The aged inventor was busily engaged in packing in preparation for starting to his home at West Orange, N. J., tomorrow, but he paused to talk with his visitors.

He said: "The United States Government is the most inefficient big business organization in operation today," but he added he did not blame the President, who, he said, has proved an able executive. The vast size of the business, he said, was responsible.

He was asked concerning the soundness of big business mergers.

"Mergers are sound up to the point where the vast size of the business tends to mismanagement. The government is the worst managed business in the United States," he said.

Turning to the recent big drop in crude rubber prices, the inventor, who is seeking a synthetic substitute for rubber, said: "They are selling crude rubber below the cost of production. This is a poor thing for everybody. Labor in the rubber countries gets only 30 cents a day."

Asked if he favored high wages for labor, Mr. Edison, who works fourteen hours a day and enjoys it, said:

"Certainly, why not give the laborer a good wage as long as the business he works for is making money?

"Henry Ford's idea in that particular case is right. I agree with him there."

The inventor said there are more than 700 varieties of plants growing around Fort Myers and he had tested all of them.

"About 10 per cent of the lot contained rubber, but golden rod is still the best. It is growing fine and making more rubber every day," he added.

Business Men Going Abroad Warned of New Cable Fraud

Business men who go to Europe during the Summer should take precautions against a type of fraud in which advantage is taken of knowledge of their absence, according to a bulletin which the Merchants Association has announced it will issue soon. The scheme which is now being operated, according to the association, and of which four instances have recently come to attention, is carried out by sending forged cablegrams purporting to come from the absent business man and addressed to his office.

In one case, it was said, the swindlers sent a forged cablegram to the office of an executive who was in Europe, bearing his name. It contained instructions to pay $800 on delivery of certain cases of goods. The cases were delivered and the secretary paid the money. It was discovered that the boxes contained bottles of colored water.

LONSDALE ATTACKS TARIFF MEASURE

AGAINST POLITICAL ACTION

Cost of Living Will Be Increased and Other Nations Incensed, He Declares.

From a Staff Correspondent of The New York Times.

QUEBEC, Que., June 10.—Sharply criticizing the tariff bill in its present form as unsatisfactory to the people of the United States and disappointing to most basic industries, John G. Lonsdale, president of the American Bankers Association, in an address today at the section session of the convention of the New York State Bankers Association at the Château Frontenac urged the appointment of a non-political tariff commission.

Mr. Lonsdale was heartily applauded when he made the point that the passage of the present bill would not only increase the cost of living but would react unfavorably on our foreign trade and do much to counteract the good-will among nations which other departments of the government have striven for through diplomatic channels and peace conferences.

Mr. Lonsdale said that he had no fear for the future of American commerce and industry for the "long pull." He pointed out that investors are no longer seeking to get rich quick through speculation, as is evidenced by growing bank deposits and, more particularly, by the gains in depository savings banks. The opinion was expressed that the business depression is about over and that the country can look forward with reasonable assurance to better times.

For Less Political Control.

"The less political control and the more business statesmanship we have among men, nations and governments, the more quickly we shall arrive at the era of good-will and understanding for which the world at large is now clamoring," Mr. Lonsdale said.

"If our big national issues such as the tariff, for instance, could be removed from political control and placed in the hands of impartial investigators and advisers who have

AGREEMENT IS UNANIMOUS

Senate Will Meet at Noon Friday and Begin Poll at 2 P. M.

HAWLEY DECIDES FOR HOUSE

Recommittal Vote on Farm Rates on Demand of Blaine Will First Be Taken in Senate.

REED VIEW EXPECTED TODAY

Watson Predicts Passage of Conference Report With Aid of One of Four Doubtful Votes.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The Hawley-Smoot tariff bill is slated for final action by Congress Saturday as a result of a unanimous consent agreement reached in the Senate today for that body to vote on the conference report at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Following this action Chairman Hawley of the Ways and Means Committee arranged for the House to consider the bill Saturday under a special rule.

In the opinion of Senator Watson, Republican Senate floor leader, the Senate will pass the bill even though Senators Reed and Grundy of Pennsylvania should vote against it. The loss of these two votes would cause a tie, which would be settled by Vice President Curtis casting the deciding vote in favor of the bill, Mr. Watson believes.

Senator Reed is expected to disclose his position on the bill in a speech tomorrow.

The line-up, according to Senator Watson, is 47 for and 45 against, with four in doubt, Senators Reed, Grundy, King and Bratton. If three of the doubtful Senators voted against the bill and one favored it, the vote would be tied. Senator Bratton is counted upon as reasonably sure to vote for the measure.

Predicts President Will Sign.

"The bill will be on the desk of the President by next Monday or Tuesday," Mr. Watson said. "I feel confident in predicting that the President will sign the measure, since the debenture has been removed and the flexible provision adjusted to his satisfaction. In my opinion the tariff law will be in operation by July 1, at the beginning of the third quarter, and business conditions will soon show improvement after the law is in effect."

When the tariff is out of the way, Congress will work toward adjournment in the week beginning June 23, with the probability that it will come by June 27. The rivers and harbors bill, the second deficiency bill, the war veterans program and the administration's prohibition bills are pending, but all except the second deficiency bill have passed the house.

The vote agreement adopted by the Senate, on motion of Senator McNary, assistant Republican leader, reads:

"Ordered, by unanimous consent that at the conclusion of its business on Thursday the Senate take a recess until 12 o'clock meridian Friday, and that at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M. on Friday, June 13, 1930, the Senate proceed to vote on the question of agreeing to the two pending conference reports on the tariff bill, House Bill 2,267; provided, that this order shall not preclude any vote on the motion to recommit."

As Vice President Curtis announced acceptance of the motion, Senator La Follette in a loud voice said:

"I want to suggest that that is an excellent time for a vote on this bill, Friday, the 13th."

Blaine Argues for Recommittal.

Senator Blaine of Wisconsin previously pressed the argument on his motion to recommit the bill to conference, and a vote will be taken on the motion tomorrow or Thursday.

Mr. Blaine asserted that the bill "betrays agriculture and raises industrial rates to extortionate and excessive heights." He said the farmers would not benefit by the increase in the rate on butter from 12 to 14 cents a pound, and contended that the conference report violated the rules in the rate agreed upon for cheese.

Senator Watson opened the day's debate at noon with a speech in which he reviewed the bill, asserting that it was distinctly aimed to benefit the farmers but at the same time afforded sufficient protection for industry.

"This bill does not effect a general revision of the tariff," he said, "and it very nearly approximates the desire expressed by the President to have a revision of the agricultural rates and for the benefit only of those industrial institutions in America which have been suffering from foreign competition."

Mr. Watson said it had been estimated that the rates in the bill, if the same relative imports continued as at present, would produce $630,445,280, compared to $522,676,284, an increase of 20.63 per cent over the revenues collected under the act of 1922.

Watson Summarizes Changes.

"The bill contains 3,218 dutiable items," he continued. "In addition, seventy-five items dutiable under the act of 1922 have been put on the free list in the pending bill, making a total of 3,293 items that are either dutiable in the pending bill or were dutiable in the act of 1922.

"Of these items the rates on 2,171, or 66 per cent, are unchanged, and the rates on 1,122 items, or 34 per cent, were changed. Of the 1,122 that were changed, 887, or 27 per cent of the total items, represent increases in rates of duty, and 235, or 7 per cent, represent decreases in rates of duty. Included in the 887 increases are forty-seven items previously free, but made dutiable under the pending bill, and included in the 233 decreases are seventy-five items previously dutiable, but which are put on the free list in the pending bill.

"It would appear, therefore, that at most 34 per cent of all items which appear as dutiable under either the act of 1922 or the pending bill represent increases or decreases. The remainder of the items, or 66 per cent, were not changed. The pending bill, therefore, is a limited, not a general revision of the tariff."

Mr. Watson said that if Northwestern Senators failed to support the bill "it will be clearly for political reasons and against the agricultural welfare."

"The Republican party is pledged to make these readjustments," he said. "We are sincerely anxious to aid in the fullest measure to bring agriculture to a more prosperous condition. This can and will be done through the passage of the pending bill, thus giving the American farmer the domestic market to the fullest extent possible."

McCulloch Favors Flexible Clause.

Senator McCulloch of Ohio said that he was impelled to support the bill because it contained the flexible tariff provision which would permit the correction of inequalities and because he desired to aid business by getting the new tariff rates in effect.

"This bill has been under consideration for a year and two months," he said. "During that entire period business has been uncertain as to what it could expect. Production has slowed up. The purchase of supplies has been curtailed. There has been extensive unemployment. Times have been bad. Without a doubt a great deal of this has been caused by the failure of Congress to act.

"But now, in my opinion, the time has come for action if we are to get back to normal. If this bill should be defeated the uncertainty would continue; business would still hesitate because there would be agitation for a new bill, and there is no telling how long it would take to settle the question.

"The outstanding feature of this bill, in my judgment, is the authority granted to the Tariff Commission to readjust rates on a scientific basis. If these provisions were not in the bill, I am frank to say that I would vote against it."

Roll-Call Is Almost Taken.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—The Senate at one moment today almost reached a final vote on the tariff conference report. When no speaker arose to carry on the debate, Vice President Curtis ordered a roll-call on final adoption. Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, prevented the vote by suggesting that a quorum was lacking, and the incident passed.

Speaker Longworth said the House would be ready to adjourn by the end of next week. After action on the tariff, the House probably will adopt a resolution Saturday asking for adjournment the following Saturday, June 21.

"It all depends upon the Senate," the Speaker said, adding that, with the passage of the second deficiency bill early next week and the disposal of a quantity of miscellaneous legislation, the House would be ready to quit.

FILENE SEES PERIOD OF HIGH TARIFFS OVER

Tells Foreign Press Club That Advanced Rates Will Cause European Union Against Us.

Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, attacked high American tariff yesterday at a luncheon which he gave to members of the Association of Foreign Press Clubs at the Harvard Club. He told the forty-five foreign correspondents at the luncheon that "signs are multiplying that the days of the American high tariff are over."

Mr. Filene feared that enactment of a high tariff by this country which would tend to keep out foreign products would create an organization of European nations against the United States. Such a development would not only greatly harm American prosperity but would serve to create much ill will toward America, he said.

"The interests of this country are best served by a fair trading basis between us and Europe and a high tariff would surely prove detrimental," he added. "A moderate tariff on certain products may be advisable. But a high prohibitive tariff will make it impossible for us to sell goods abroad in large quantities and will endanger seriously our economic structure."

Mass production is the secret of prosperity, Mr. Filene went on. When Europe learns to apply that secret, it will achieve prosperity measurable with that of this country, he asserted.

"Mass production is a simple principle for prosperity and it is a wonder we didn't think about it sooner," he said. "We learned long ago that a newspaper with a million circulation could not only be sold at a lower price than we could sell one with a thousand circulation but that it could be a far better paper. The reason it could do this was simply that the overhead charge could be so widely distributed that the charge on each copy was negligible, even though it was enough in the aggregate to pay for a ten times better mechanical and editorial equipment than the little paper could possibly have.

"Mass production of newspapers or anything else depends upon mass distribution. We can't have one without the other, in America or Europe or anywhere else."

WILL ROGERS HAILS DEMOCRATS' VICTORY

"The Dial Telephone Situation Is Well in Hand," He Finds on Visit in Washington.

DOFFS HAT TO SOUCEK

"You Can't Keep a Good Oklahoman Down," He Says of Altitude Record-Breaker.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—"Speaking of the tariff bill," drawled Will Rogers of Oklahoma today, between nods to friends hurrying through the Willard Hotel lobby, "we Democrats have the dial telephone situation well in hand.

"It's simple as rolling off a bronco, anyhow," the cowboy sage continued, addressing a reporter of The Evening Star. "I do better with the dials than Carter Glass even. When I want a number I just call my wife. Then she calls one of our children. After that my wife and I stand around and give advice while the kid does the work. It's all automatic, you know.

"Maybe that's why we don't want Congress to pass any resolution against them in our House. Everybody who made a speech against them on the hill was a Democrat.

"The Republicans are sharp enough, I guess, to get things for themselves, especially free telephone numbers.

"My wife says I ought not to kid any Senators about their telephones when my own stumps me, but I say I have the system down pat.

"Where I come from we're in favor of progress. We all boost Oklahoma and Oklahomans—take that boy Soucek. He's a native of my State, and I would boost him only he don't need a boost.

"Give that boy an airplane and a can of oxygen and he'll go plenty high without a boost. When I heard he broke the world altitude record, I took off my hat and gave three cowboy yips. You can't keep a good Oklahoman down.

"I've got to go back to New York today. I came here by train yesterday and now I've got to go back by train. What about your airplane passenger service here?

"This is the capital of the nation, but not the air capital. Back home they put in airplane passenger service before they get a postoffice.

"I flew over to New York from the West Coast, getting there Sunday, and that's the way I'm going back.

"You don't get any cinders in your eyes traveling that way, and, besides, I'll be in a hurry.

"I'm going to act in a new picture version of 'Lightnin',' which goes into production soon.

"Well, I'll have to say good-bye, but I'm not leaving two jumps ahead of anybody."

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—Senator Tydings introduced a resolution today to direct the local telephone company to remove dial telephones only from the offices of those Senators who prefer the other type.

Immediate action was blocked by Senator Glass, at whose instance the Senate recently ordered the dial phones removed from the Senate wing of the Capitol and the Senate office building.

The company has over a week remaining in which to comply with the Glass resolution.

VOTE POLICE OFFICERS' PAY.

The Board of Aldermen assured the appointment of thirty-three veteran police sergeants as lieutenants from a civil service list soon to expire when it voted concurrent approval yesterday of the $77,666 appropriation for the new salaries which was passed last Friday by the Board of Estimate.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney was present at the board's meeting to answer questions on the promotions, but the board approved the item unanimously without discussion.

The board approved the site on Arthur Avenue, near East 175th Street, the Bronx, selected by the Board of Estimate as the best site for the Bronx health centre. Commissioner of Health Wynne requested the approval, which was made possible by the sponsorship of Vice Chairman Denis J. Mahon of the Board of Aldermen. The board also approved a request from the Department of Public Welfare for an appropriation of $12,000 to set up and equip its division of security against old age want.

World War Private to Receive Valor Award After 12 Years

After nearly twelve years, Harry J. Rover of 6 Waverly Place will receive recognition for bravery while serving as a private in the 105th Infantry, Twenty-seventh Division, in France during the World War, it was announced yesterday.

According to Major Gen. Hanson E. Ely, commanding the Second Corps Area, Rover will receive the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry in action while stationed with Company A near Ronssey, France, on Sept. 28, 1918.

The citation which accompanies the decoration states that Rover when attacked by a superior force while occupying an outpost with an officer and three sergeants played a principal part in repulsing the attack and in killing ten enemies, capturing five and routing the others.

The actual presentation of the award will probably be made within a few weeks, it was said.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., June 10.—William Beverly Winslow, 69, for many years a practicing attorney in the Federal court, wired Senator Dill in Washington today to the effect that he has "important information" concerning the mysterious S O S which interrupted a speech being made last Saturday night by Senator James Reed.

Interviewed at his home, 498 Grove Street, Mr. Winslow stated that he had a "hunch" that Senator Reed would be "silenced" in his talk. A semi-invalid for four years, Mr. Winslow has become a great radio listener. Senator Reed's speech over WABC was on his schedule, he said. "When Jim Reed got to where I knew he was going to lambast the radio trust, I said to my nurse, Miss Ann Smith, 'Now look out for something to happen,'" he said. "'I'll be surprised if my receiver does not go dead, or maybe it will be a faked S O S.'" His set went dead within a minute after his remark to his nurse, he said. Two or three minutes later he heard the S O S report from the station. The next announcement he heard from WABC came shortly before 10 o'clock.

Mr. Winslow, who has been practicing law for fifty years, said he had given Chief Justice Hughes as reference to Senator Dill for his "accuracy, veracity and legal capacity."

Mr. Winslow said that he had received a reply from Senator Dill, stating that a representative of the Radio Commission will be sent to his home to receive testimony from him within a few days.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A telegram volunteering "important information" on the mysterious S O S call which caused the speech of former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri to be cut off Saturday night along the Northern Atlantic seaboard was received today by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, following his Senate speech of yesterday on the incident.

The telegram was from William B. Winslow of Montclair, N. J., who said he would turn over the information to Senator Dill, or his agent. Mr. Dill referred the matter to William D. Terrell, chief of the Radio Division of the Department of Commerce, requesting him to have his New York inspector look up the sending of the telegram.

URGES POWER BOARD BILL.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Gratification over the progress of legislation to replace the Federal Power Commission with an independent body, instead of Cabinet members, was expressed by President Hoover today.

Bills have passed both the Senate and the House and the President voiced the hope that the small differences between the two would be ironed out in conference.

Creation of an independent power commission, the President said, was a very important step made necessary because the work of the existing commission had become entirely too great for the three Cabinet members with their other duties.

no campaign pledges to keep, eventually we shall have a measure to which we could point with pride.

"In its present form the tariff bill does not satisfy the people and I am certain it is a disappointment to our basic industries, including agriculture. Unless radically changed it will benefit only a few people at the expense of many.

"Is it the part of wisdom at this time to provide increases which will react unfavorably upon foreign trade? Will not the passage of such a bill incense nations which other departments of our government have striven so valiantly to build up through diplomatic channels and peace conferences? I believe in reciprocity among nations as well as among men. A sense of fairness should dominate our foreign as well as our domestic trade.

"In the final analysis, I am positive right will prevail, as it eventually does. I have no fear for the future for the long pull of business and commerce. America as never before is composed of studious fact-finding individuals, who believe in basing actions upon predetermined plans and not blind theories.

"There is ample evidence on every hand that confidence is being largely restored. Turning from the desire to get rich overnight through spectacular investment promotion, the people have begun to accumulate savings once more in appreciable amounts, as attested to by mounting deposits in banks throughout the nation. Bonds likewise have become a more popular form of investment again. From all indications the hysteria that invariably accompanies periods of business depression has passed and we can look for a gradual resumption of better times."

Support of Goodwin Bill Urged.

William S. Irish, executive vice president of the Bank of Manhattan Trust Company, chairman of the committee on Federal legislation of the New York State Bankers Association, in his report urged support of the bill introduced in Congress by Representative Goodwin of Minnesota, relating to the taxation of banks in terms of capital and earnings.

Both Mr. Irish and Mark Graves of the New York State Tax Commission urged that the banks of the State pay the taxes assessed pending a revision of the law.

Fred Reusswig, chairman of the committee on State legislation, who is vice president of the First Bank and Trust Company of Utica, N. Y., gave a summary of the laws passed during the year relating to banking, and of the legislation pending.

Walter W. Schneckenburger, vice president of the Chase National Bank, as chairman of the committee on county organization, summarized the work being done by these bodies, which now number thirty-nine and which cover forty-one counties.

Delegates to the convention and their wives were guests of the Quebec Clearing House Association at luncheon today. Basil B. Carter, manager of the Quebec branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, as president of the Clearing House Association, and Lieut. Col. H. E. Laviguer, Mayor of Quebec, spoke on the better understanding between Americans and Canadians that is made possible by the conventions of American bankers and other associations in Canada, to which K. Payne, president of the association, responded.

Seek News of the Market Break.

There was a long queue of bankers at the news stand this morning in the Chateau Frontenac waiting to get copies of THE NEW YORK TIMES, which arrived by airplane. Many of the delegates had been advised by telegram of the break in the stock market and were anxious to obtain the complete picture of what had happened.

There was no exodus, however, of bankers back to New York as a result of the disquieting stock market news, although the telegraph offices did a rushing business. Most of the delegates to the convention will leave Quebec tomorrow afternoon. Special trains will leave for New York City, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and other points in the State.

DEMOCRATS IN DRIVE TO WIN WOMAN VOTE

ALBANY MEETING IS CALLED

Prospective Orators and Other Aides Will Get Instructions for Fall Campaign.

The Democrats are preparing to make the most in the coming Gubernatorial campaign of Governor Roosevelt's admitted popularity among women voters. A special drive will be made to get the women's votes for the candidates on the Democratic State and legislative tickets.

Women will be enlisted on the Democratic side of the contest this Autumn to a greater extent than in any preceding campaign in this or any other State if the Democratic leaders succeed in realizing their program. Plans have already been perfected to rouse their interest in issues that will dominate the fight for Governor, and the meeting of the Democratic State Committee in Albany next week will witness the first attempt by the Democratic leaders to mold the women's division of their party into a militant force.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Caroline O'Day of Westchester, the latter head of the women's division of the Democratic State Committee, have cooperated in working out a program designed to bring women prominently to the front in the campaign. Women, under the program worked out for their preliminary instruction in campaign oratory and campaign tactics, will form the advance guard of the Democratic major and minor leaders invited to go to the capital.

The State committee meeting is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, but the women members of the committee, equaling in number the men, together with the associated chairmen of county committees from all parts of the State, all of them women, have been urged to appear in Albany on Monday afternoon. A program has been arranged that will keep the feminine Democrats pretty busy until the State committee is called to order.

A conference, beginning at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon and presided over by Mrs. O'Day, will receive reports from county leaders regarding prospects in their respective bailiwicks; the coming campaign for the State Assembly will be discussed and the Democratic women will be informed with reference to the special sphere of usefulness mapped out for them in connection with the Assembly contests.

On Monday evening at 8:30 the Governor and Mrs. Roosevelt will give a reception in the Executive Mansion to all the women attending the conference and any men that have arrived early for the State committee meeting. Mrs. Roosevelt will deliver an address of welcome and the Governor will discuss the achievements of the Democratic party in this State in recent years.

The plans for the following day include a women's meeting beginning at 9:30 in the morning and lasting until 12:30. Henry Morgenthau Jr. will deliver an address on "What Has Been Done and What Can Be Done for Agriculture in This State." Dr. Walter N. Thayer Jr., who has been invited by Governor Roosevelt to become head of the State Department of Correction, will talk on prisons. Some other orator will discuss county governments and what has been proposed and can be done to render them more efficient and economic.

On Tuesday the Albany County Women's Democratic Club will give a luncheon to the Democratic women visitors, and after the State committee meeting Mrs. Roosevelt will receive and serve tea.

It is understood that the Democrats are prepared to give women special recognition in connection with the Assembly elections, and it would not be surprising to see the names of women candidates on the Democratic Assembly tickets up-State, especially in districts where Republican candidates are confronted with wet or dry opposition, with a three-cornered contest in prospect.

The Republican State Committee, which will meet at the National Republican Club to adopt the formal call and schedule of representation for the party's State convention, will transact only routine business. It is believed that discussion of any other topic—above all, prohibition—will be taboo.

The meeting probably will delegate to a special committee composed of William J. Maier, State chairman; Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, and the two Republican National Committee members, Charles D. Hilles, and Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, the task of finding a keynote orator congenial to both the wet and dry wings of their party.

ENTER BYRNS TO RUN FOR SEAT IN SENATE

Tennessee Friends Qualify Representative for Democratic Primary.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 10 (AP).—Joseph W. Byrns, veteran Representative from the Sixth Tennessee District, was qualified late last night to enter the Democratic primary of Aug. 7 as a candidate for the nomination for the six-year Senatorial term starting next March.

Friends of Mr. Byrns filed the petition with Thomas Henderson, chairman of the Democratic Board of Primary Election Commissioners, at 11:45 o'clock last night, fifteen minutes before expiration of the qualification period.

The seat has been held by Senator William E. Brock since his appointment by Governor Henry H. Horton upon the death last Fall of Senator Lawrence D. Tyson. Mr. Brock is a candidate for only the short term, while Representative Byrns was qualified for the long term, beginning next March 4.

Representative Cordell Hull of the Fourth District, Andrew L. Todd of Murfreesboro, Dr. John R. Neal of Knoxville and David W. Dodson of Nashville also are seeking the long term. Mr. Brock, Dr. Neal and former Governor Benton McMillin are candidates for the short term.

Paul E. Devine, Johnson City attorney, is the only Republican Senatorial candidate. He seeks both terms.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—Representative Byrns, notified today that friends in Tennessee had qualified him as a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the Senate, issued a statement expressing gratitude. He had already been qualified for renomination to his seat in the House without opposition.

Hotel Man Asks Ban on Food in Drug Stores; Sees Peril in 'Mixing' Eatables and Poisons

Declaring that "the mixing of foods, drugs and poisons is developing into one of the greatest menaces to health we face today," Walter Guzzardi, director of a chain of hotels in this city, has written to State Senator Abraham Grenthal asking him to introduce a bill in the next Legislature prohibiting the sale of food in drug stores.

In many places the same hands serve "strychnine and salads, camphor and cake, castor oil and coffee, quinine and consommé, belladonna and bread and paregoric and pudding," Mr. Guzzardi asserted, adding that this practice is "growing in this country, and especially in New York City, with alarming rapidity."

"While the general public is affected, the real sufferers are the thousands of young men and women who run out at lunch hour to 'grab a bite,' who, in addition to getting improperly handled food, fall for the digestion destroying 'eat-and-run' habit," Mr. Guzzardi continued.

"Only a comparatively few drug stores are hygienically equipped to serve food. Few have any but makeshift kitchens. Fruit and other foodstuffs lie open the day long to absorb noxious fumes, among which frequently are antiseptics shot around to kill roaches and other insects.

"Eating in drug stores is not new in the better neighborhoods, but it is now extending to the poorer sections. The east side and Tenth Avenue neighborhoods, for instance, are dotted with these places, where dishes are rinsed in dirty, luke-warm water and pans are never washed."

Mr. Guzzardi said that his complaint was not inspired by competition with hotel restaurants, as the amount of business they lose to drug stores is negligible. In addition to writing to Senator Grenthal, Mr. Guzzardi has appealed to the State and city health departments and hotel associations for cooperation.

ROTHERMERE JOINS NEWSPRINT MERGER

EXCHANGE COMMON SHARES

With Pulp Sources Available for 70 Years, New Concern Will Produce 2,500 Tons a Day.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, June 10.—Absorption of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills, Ltd., by the Canada Power and Paper Corporation was officially confirmed here today. This consolidation will make Canada Power and Paper the largest newsprint corporation in the British Empire and possibly in the world, it being believed that it now has a slight edge over the American-controlled International Paper and Power Company.

No new capital issue is contemplated, an official statement said.

The merger will be effected by the exchange of the ordinary shares of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills for common shares of Canada Power and Paper Corporation on the basis of 2¼ shares of the capital stock of the latter corporation for one ordinary share of the former.

Canada Power and Paper will assume the outstanding debenture obligations of Anglo-Canadian and will guarantee the dividends on the outstanding 7 per cent cumulative preference shares of Anglo-Canadian.

The project provides for the amalgamation of the Rothermere interests, as represented by Anglo-Canadian, with the group headed by Sir Herbert Holt and J. H. Grundy, consolidating British and Canadian capital.

Link With Publishing Interests.

The merger will bring Canada Power and Paper's output to 2,500 tons of newsprint a day, and opens up the possibility of a large market for Canadian newsprint in Great Britain, Lord Rothermere, the head of the Anglo-Canadian, being head of the largest publishing interests in the empire.

He is chairman of the three great newspaper enterprises, the Associated Newspapers, Ltd., the Daily Mail Trust, Ltd., and the Northcliffe Newspapers, Ltd. The first-named company owns two papers, morning and evening, with the largest daily circulations in the world, The London Daily Mail, with a circulation of 2,000,000, and The London Evening News, with the largest net sale of any evening paper in the world. The Sunday Dispatch, also owned, has a circulation of 1,300,000. Northcliffe Newspapers, Ltd., also owns a chain of provincial evening newspapers.

The Anglo-Canadian mills is near Quebec City and has a daily output of 500 tons. The company also controls large and valuable timber limits.

Canada Power now produces more than 20 per cent of all newsprint manufactured in Canada and more than 9 per cent of the world's output. The principal properties are Belgo-Canadian Mill, St. Maurice Mill, Laurentide Mill, Port Alfred Mill and Wayagamack Mill.

The company's timber areas contain about 90,000,000 cords of pulpwood, sufficient to last more than seventy years at full capacity of 2,900 tons of newsprint and other paper daily.

Rothermere Announces Deal.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 10.—A newsprint merger which will have the effect of consolidating considerable sections of that industry in Canada was announced tonight by Lord Rothermere, president of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills, Ltd.

The project provides for the amalgamation of the Rothermere interests, as represented by the Anglo-Canadian Mills, with the Canada Power and Paper Corporation, which is controlled by the Holt-Gundy group. The Daily Mail states that this will weld British and Canadian capital in the development of the largest newsprint manufacturing corporation in the British Empire.

In addition to a combined daily production capacity of 2,500 tons of newsprint, Lord Rothermere stated that the output would include a large tonnage of kraft boardpapers. Among the Anglo-Canadian directors is Frank J. Humphrey of New York.

In a statement upon the merger, after outlining the provisions for exchange of shares, assumption of debentures and guarantee of dividends, Lord Rothermere said:

"The result will be that the present holders of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills ordinary shares will become large shareholders in the Canada Power and Paper Corporation. Although the guarantee of the debentures is assumed by Canada Power, owners of the debentures will continue to hold the guarantee of Daily Mirror Newspapers, Ltd., and the Sunday Pictorial Newspapers (1920) Ltd., which are the companies that guaranteed the issue prior to the public offer in England.

"Present shareholders of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp & Paper Mills, Ltd., will be represented on the directorate of the Canada Power & Paper Corporation, of which approximately 97 per cent of the stock will be held by British and Canadian investors."

The Gloucester sailed just before 8 P. M., being delayed almost three hours by the fog and cargo complications. Her position at the time of the crash was not far from the Fairfax, as the latter had been moving at only a few knots' speed because of the fog. The Gloucester carried sixteen passengers.

Throughout the evening Mr. Doyle tried in vain to get in touch with the Fairfax by radio.

NEW TRAFFIC STUDY TO AID TUNNEL PLAN

Check-Up of Jersey Travel to Be Used in Report on 38th Street Tube.

The Port Authority has begun a comprehensive study of vehicular traffic crossing the Hudson River as a basis for an official report to the States of New York and New Jersey on the proposed tunnel between Thirty-eighth Street, Manhattan, and Weehawken, Chairman John F. Galvin announced yesterday. The Board of Transportation will assist in the survey, and communities in New Jersey located near the proposed western terminal of the tube also will cooperate.

Vehicular traffic on Hudson River ferry lines as far north as Dyckman Street is being checked daily, except Saturdays and Mondays, by Port Authority enumerators. They will check Holland Tunnel traffic today and again on June 18, 22 and 29. Motorists using the Holland Tunnel and the ferry lines will be asked for information on the origin and destination of traffic. The count will be made between 8 A. M. and midnight, and the data obtained will be used to bring up to date a similar study made in 1925.

Board of Transportation enumerators will be used to check traffic from June 19 to June 23, inclusive, in a Manhattan area embracing the territory bounded by Eighth Avenue, Fifth Avenue, West Thirty-fourth Street and West Forty-second Street. Upon the results of this check will depend to some extent the street surface area deemed available for the Manhattan plaza of the proposed new tunnel. Board of Transportation engineers are cooperating with those of the interstate body to make the plaza jointly suited for the new tunnel and also for the proposed Thirty-eighth Street tunnel across Manhattan and under the East River to Long Island City. The Manhattan survey will be a simple enumeration and will not entail the holding up of traffic for questioning.

A different type of check will be made in New Jersey. The westerly end of the tunnel will come to the surface in North Bergen, about a mile and a half west of Weehawken, where there will also be an entrance and exit. An effort will be made to ascertain how many motorists will use that part of the tube between Weehawken and North Bergen.

ALUMNUS KILLED IN CRASH.

First Visit Since Graduation Ends in Death When Auto Overturns.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 10 (AP).—Dr. Charles McCarthy, a Waterbury, Conn., dentist, was killed today on his first visit to Mount St. Mary's College since he was graduated there in 1898.

Dr. McCarthy and Daniel Boyle of Tamaqua, Pa., the latter making his first visit to Emmittsburg, Md., since graduating in 1914, were attending the commencement week celebration at the college, and early today started in search for a restaurant. Unable to find one open at Emmittsburg, they had Charles Brawner, a night watchman at the college, drive them to Gettysburg.

About six miles south of here the automobile skidded, left the road and upset. Boyle and Brawner escaped with cuts and bruises, but McCarthy suffered a fractured skull and died soon after he was brought to the Warner Hospital here.

MOUNT VERNON DAY AT PROGRESS FAIR

Speedway From Hudson Bridge to New England Heralded as Boon to "City of Homes."

OLD CHURCH IS FEATURED

Juvenile Orchestra Is Heard—Six-Year-Old Violinist Plays—Sister, 9, Accompanies Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 20.—Mount Vernon, "City of Homes," was the community feature today at the Westchester County progress exposition. Harry D. Whittle, president of the Mount Vernon Chamber of Commerce, declared "our city will get the full benefit of the new speedway, or New York and New England express motorway, which will go from the Fort Lee and Washington Heights Bridge to the Tri-Borough Bridge, skirt Mount Vernon, and continue to New Haven."

Offers $13,000,000 for Land.

Mr. Whittle, who is one of the incorporators of the New York & New England Express Highway, said that his company had offered about $13,000,000 to the Westchester County Park Commission for a strip of land twelve miles long and 100 feet wide in the Pelham-Port Chester Parkway. The cost of the proposed express highway, which would be elevated, has been estimated at $200,000,000.

He explained that the Park Commission has the power to sell land at a profit, providing that such a sale would be advantageous to the people of Westchester County. He added that although he was not at liberty to divulge the exact amount which his company is willing to pay for the land for its highway, the figure was such that the Park Commission "stands ready to make a 100 per cent profit."

Another speaker was Acting Mayor Thomas H. Hodge of Mount Vernon.

St. Paul's Church at East Chester, a landmark, was a feature of the Mount Vernon exhibit.

Dr. David Mitchell, president of the New York State Association of Consulting Psychologists, gave interviews to persons desiring information and advice relative to the home, family and raising of children. He is one of the psychologists supplying this daily service under the auspices of the Westchester County Children's Association.

Violinst, 6, Plays.

An orchestra of juvenile musicians from Mount Vernon made their musical début at the exposition tonight. The orchestra played under the direction of Louis Compinsky. The children were all under 14 years of age. Norman Robins, 6-year-old violin soloist, played Paderewski's Minuet in G, with his sister, Vera, 9 years old, as accompanist.

A girls' drill team from Mount Vernon public schools gave an exhibition in the afternoon, together with an athletic exhibition by members of the Boys' Club of Mount Vernon. The boys' program was repeated this evening.

Mrs. L. A. Frank of the Larchmont Garden Club won in both the flower arranging contests. The first contest was for artistic arrangement of flowers in hall vases, and the second for flowering shrubs arranged with any garden flowers.

Winners in the all-vase class were the joint entry of Mrs. G. V. Stevens and Miss May Blazina of the Harrison Garden Club, first; Mrs. Frank, second; Mrs. F. S. Hellerith of the garden section of the White Plains Contemporary Club, third.

In the other class the winners were Mrs. J. F. O'Reilly of the Mamaroneck Garden Club, first; Mrs. Frank, second, and Mrs. A. H. Fry of the Larchmont Garden Club, third.

Announcement was made that, effective tomorrow, the exposition will be free to children accompanied by teachers or parents for the rest of the week.

up in the Senate at this session. They expressed doubt as to whether action at this session would be taken on the bill by the Senate. Meanwhile, House leaders are said to be working toward preventing further action.

The principal change made by the Finance Committee in the House bill was in the presumptive provision. Other provisions were left much as they are in the House bill, it was said.

John T. Taylor, an official of the American Legion, in a statement today estimated the cost for the bill, as reported by the committee, at $70,000,000.

The bill retains House provisions stating that veterans should not be denied compensation because of "willful misconduct" in certain cases; providing compensation for dependents of veterans who are in hospitals and yet cannot establish service connections for their illness; permitting veterans to file an application for compensation and to submit proof of claim at any time; granting $25 a month additional compensation to veterans suffering from "battle casualties," such as loss of limb, and extending the time within which veterans might bring suits for insurance claims from May 24, 1929, to May 24, 1930.

Representative Rankin, in a statement today, declared that supporters of the legislation would oppose any move for adjournment "until this measure goes to the White House and returns, in order that the two Houses might have an opportunity to vote on passing it over the veto in case the President returns it without his approval." Prediction has been freely made in the House that the bill would be passed over the President's veto.

PUSH INQUIRY HERE IN THE CANNON CASE

HINT ON SLEMP RECALLED

CARAWAY SILENT ON VIEWS

Announcement of the Committee's Decision Is Expected After Meeting to Be Held Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Those members of the Senate Lobby Committee who insist that Bishop James J. Cannon Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal Church South answer questions concerning his political activities in 1928 have won the first round of their fight, it was indicated today with the announcement that John Holland, the committee's investigator, was in New York pursuing further evidence.

Mr. Holland was sent at the request of Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, who received authority to take this step from Senator Caraway of Arkansas, until yesterday champion of the Bishop's contention that he is immune from examination as to his political activities. Senator Caraway said he had given to Senator Blaine full authority to pursue the investigation along his own line.

The purpose of Mr. Holland's visit may be to lay the groundwork for the summoning of C. Bascom Slemp, former Republican National Committeeman from Virginia, it was indicated when Senator Walsh of Montana, who is aligned with Senator Blaine, said he was going further into an investigation of the $65,300 given to Bishop Cannon by E. C. Jameson of New York during the Bishop's fight against former Governor Smith in the Presidential campaign.

Announcement Likely Today.

The donations of Mr. Jameson have been inquired into from every direct angle during testimony by the New Yorker and by Bishop Cannon, but Senator Blaine read correspondence between them which he said indicated that Mr. Slemp might have had a part in giving the money or collecting it. Bishop Cannon heatedly denied that Mr. Jameson had received any money from other sources in making his personal contributions.

The committee will meet tomorrow. The session will be the occasion for an announcement by the committee, said the chairman, who conferred with the various members, including Senators Borah, of Idaho, and Robinson of Indiana, today. An informal meeting was held late in the afternoon, but Senator Caraway said no decision had been reached.

Senator Walsh said earlier in the day that he was in favor of asking the Senate for a more accurate definition of the Lobby Committee's powers, but Senator Caraway was non-committal.

The full membership of the committee of five is expected to sit for one of the few times in the nine months it has been functioning. Senator Caraway, Walsh and Blaine are certain to attend. Senator Borah, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, promised to be there, and Senator Robinson said he would be present if Senator Borah did not call his own committee of which the Indianan is a member.

The data that Mr. Holland has brought back to Senator Blaine may be put into the record, despite the absence of Bishop Cannon, who has refused to return unless subpoenaed.

Mr. Holland previously made a trip to New York to examine records concerning a defunct bucket shop with which Bishop Cannon dealt and in which he was said to have lost about $85,000. It was thought that information might be sought on these dealings to complete the picture of the religious, financial and political affairs of Bishop Cannon, which Senators Walsh and Blaine have held make a proper subject for their study.

Caraway Witholds Position.

Since his apology yesterday for his statement favoring Bishop Cannon, Senator Caraway has refused to state his position on the Bishop's refusal to testify until the committee's decision as a whole is announced. Senator Borah, who said he has a "decided opinion," has refused to make it public, and Senator Robinson is counted among those siding with Bishop Cannon.

Should the committee pursue its study into the Jameson contributions, it was conceded that the next logical step would be to subpoena Bishop Cannon, an act in which Senator Caraway indicated he might concur, and obtain from him repeated denials of the authority of the committee.

This would leave the committee still in a position to certify Bishop Cannon to the Senate for contempt, permit the inclusion in the record of more material than is there at present and remove the Bishop's objections that he was appearing as a voluntary witness before a minority of the committee.

Meanwhile, Bishop Cannon, housed in the old Bliss Building, where his offices and those of the Anti-Saloon League of America are located, silently maintained his stand. He informed Senators Walsh and Blaine when he walked out of the hearing last Thursday that he would be there if they could obtain a subpoena forcing him to reappear, and there he has remained. He has seen no reporters or officials, so far as is known, and statements issued by him have been in prepared form.

Asked today if he had communicated with Bishop Cannon, Senator Caraway smiled and shook his head.

FIX INTERPRETATION OF NAVY PACT PHRASE

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 10.—The British and American Governments have agreed on the interpretation of the word "category" in Article XIX of the naval treaty of London. An exchange of notes between Ambassador Dawes and Arthur Henderson, Foreign Minister, reveals an agreement on the phraseology of the article over which there has been disagreement in Parliament and elsewhere.

The American Government declared it interpreted the treaty to mean that vessels becoming over age under Subcategory B of the cruiser categories shall be replaceable only in that subcategory.

The British Government concurred in that interpretation without, however, prejudicing Article XX, Section A, of the treaty. Under this section, the British Government understands that the tonnage to be scrapped and replaced in the case of the British Commonwealth of Nations—91,000 tons of 6-inch-gun cruiser tonnage which may be completed before Dec. 31, 1936—comprises partly 6-inch-gun cruiser tonnage and partly cruiser tonnage of the 7.5-inch-gun Effingham type.

1 IN 5 HERE ON BUSINESS LIES AWAKE AT NIGHT

Answers to Questionnaire Also Indicate Sugar Eaters Slumber the Best.

One out of every five persons who visit New York "on business" lie awake at least part of the night thinking, planning and very likely plotting. Such was the statistical pronouncement made yesterday by Dr. Donald A. Laird, the director of Colgate's Psychological Laboratory. He based his findings on about 400 replies to a questionnaire given its guests by the Hotel New Yorker.

Saying that only the "business" replies had been tabulated so far, Dr. Laird explained that of those who had some trouble sleeping, one of five was thinking and one of ten kept awake by noise of various kinds. The worst offender of the noise group was the clattering of taxicabs and automobiles; next came the noise of trolley cars and boats, and then came the police and fire departments.

Half of the 400 or so admitted that they did not like to get up in the morning. Three of every five persons said they went to sleep easily, the same number woke up some time during the night. Three out of five were cheerful on awakening and seven out of ten were aroused without difficulty. Three-fourths of all those questioned slept without dreaming, and 2½ per cent had unpleasant dreams of one kind or another.

Regarding admitted dreamers, Dr. Laird said that the figures showed the heavy sugar eaters dreamed less, and they had fewer unpleasant dreams. Persons who have midnight luncheons dream more, but the dreams are pleasant. The sugar exponents—82 in number—do not waken so much in the night, they are cheerful on wakening, they do not mind getting out of bed in the morning and they worry less about business. It comes down to a matter of carbohydrates, Dr. Laird thought.

As to the rest, Dr. Laird fought shy of the coffee controversy, saying he has not yet enough statistics. The hint so far, however, is that night coffee drinkers have more dreams, get less rest and are bothered more by noise. He found, also, that most people staying at the hotel slept as much or perhaps a little more, than at home.

ROYAL MAIL TO REORGANIZE.

Scheme for Reconstruction of Finances of Shipping Group Prepared.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 10.—A drastic scheme of reconstruction of the Royal Mail group of shipping companies has been prepared, and it is understood Walter Runciman, economist, banker and former president of the Board of Trade, will be appointed to the directorate next Wednesday, with special power regarding the administration of the companies' finances.

It is reported that a committee of bankers has been investigating the position of the group and that suggestions for placing the finances on a sounder basis have been accepted by the chairman, Lord Kylsant. Of the Royal Mail Company's $95,000,000 assets, $62,000,000 consist of shareholdings in subsidiary and allied companies, which have heavily depreciated.

No confirmation is forthcoming regarding the reported merger with the Cunard company.

ON BOARD THE BARK CITY OF NEW YORK, At Sea, June 10.—Unusually favorable weather and winds since we left the Windward Passage have pushed the City of New York, in tow of the steamer Eleanor Bolling, along at a speed which seems to assure Admiral Byrd's arrival at New York in time for the scheduled receptions.

Until Cuba was reached, the wind was barely ahead, but since then it has veered from one quarter to the other astern of the ship and the sails have been full much of the time.

After going through the Windward Passage, the ships bore up for Castle Rock, and yesterday passed San Salvador. The wind dropped today, however, and we have been coasting along slowly over a lazy blue sea dotted with yellow splotches of weed.

Thunder storms flicker on the horizon, but seldom come nearer than a dull rumble and an occasional shower sends the men scurrying under cover with their cots and bedding. The weather is cooler, and for that all are grateful.

We have now begun to figure our daily progress in terms of distance from the home port. At noon today we were 182 miles north of San Salvador, or 804 miles south of Sandy Hook. Our position was Lat. 27:03 degrees N., Long. 75:03 degrees W.

One of the busiest men aboard these days, aside from Admiral Byrd, who is still working on reports when he does not steal an hour to lie in the sun, is Dr. Clyde A. Nelson, director of dental clinical research of the L. D. Caulk Company's dental laboratories at Milford, Del.

Before the expedition left New York he X-rayed, filled and recorded the condition of teeth of nearly every member. Since the Admiral's flagship left Panama, Dr. Nelson has been working in an improvised laboratory in the saloon of the ship, X-raying our teeth again and finding what has happened to them in the Antarctic. The results are rather interesting.

"The men's teeth are in unusually good shape," he said, "despite the fact that many of them did not take good care of their teeth while they were away.

"There is nothing to indicate food deficiency and no sign that scurvy has ever been present. The fact that coarse, rough food was eaten a good deal probably accounts for their healthy condition. On the whole, I am surprised at their lack of dental trouble. The comparisons have been an interesting experiment."

The tiny saloon of the old New York has been used for many purposes—storeroom, sleeping quarters and as a small reading and eating room, but this is the first time it has been transformed into a dentist's office.

The ship is being cleaned and painted in this interval before arriving in port and she will not show many signs of her long battles with ice and wind since she left port. But no amount of paint will ever cover her anachronistic appearance.

GETS LITTLE AMERICA CARD.

Brooklyn Woman Receives New Year Greeting in June.

Best wishes for a year already half over, were received recently by Mrs. Walter H. Raunick of 4,509 Sixth Avenue, Brooklyn, it was learned yesterday. The combined Christmas and New Year greetings had been posted in Little America on Dec. 19, 1929, by Richard W. Konter, entertainment officer of the Byrd expedition. Stamped with one American and one New Zealand postmark, the card traveled to Brooklyn from the Byrd base within 750 miles of the South Pole by the regular mail channels.

The card ended with the thought that it was a "Warm Greeting from a Cold Country." Mrs. Raunick said she had received a letter from Mr. Konter and had sent him several, but the Christmas card was a complete surprise to her, she declared.

Warns Those Going Away Burglars Read Society Notes

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., June 10.—Burglars read the society pages of the newspapers, and therefore residents of South Orange were warned today by F. E. Lober, chairman of the police committee of the village board of trustees, to refuse to give information to society editors regarding their departures for the Summer.

Mr. Lober sent a letter to all residents of the community.

"From experience we find that burglars obtain information of unoccupied homes through items published in the society columns of the newspapers, and that being the case, we ask that you refuse such information to the press," the letter says in part.

AIDS ARGENTINE DRIVE ON WHITE SLAVERS

Head of World Jewish Body for Protection of Women Is Due There to Help Prosecution.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, June 10.—S. Cohen, secretary-general of the International Jewish Association for the Protection of Women and Girls, is arriving from the London headquarters of the association Thursday to cooperate with the local branch in its prosecution of the Zwi Migdal Society, the organizer of an international white slave traffic.

The Argentine branch of the association complained against the Zwi Migdal Society to the authorities three years ago and by constantly waging a campaign finally brought about the present investigation, which has resulted in the arrest of more than eighty of the Zwi Migdal's registered members. The others are being sought by the police and anti-white slave associations of twenty-six countries.

Mr. Cohen has been active in keeping the Argentine white slave situation before the League of Nations. His visit here is expected to result in a renewed campaign in other countries.

The police have seized promissory notes from several members of the Zwi Migdal Society payable to the society's treasurer, totaling 120,000 pesos (about $45,000), which the society had advanced to white slavers to finance voyages to Europe for procuring women and for the purchase of houses in Buenos Aires and other Argentine cities.

Today's testimony before the investigating judge revealed that contracts for the sale and purchase of women were executed before Zwi Migdal authorities, as were agreements regarding the shipment of women into the interior.

'ELECTRIC EYE' USED TO LAY CORNERSTONE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 10 (AP).—The "electric eye," or photo-electric cell, was used today to lay the cornerstone of the new $2,000,000 engineering laboratory of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at East Pittsburgh.

While a drenching rain washed the structure where the cornerstone was being laid a group of officials of the Westinghouse Company and others gathered in another building some distance away for the cornerstone-laying ceremonies.

There, where it was snug and dry, Vice President W. S. Rugg slowly lifted a miniature stone and laid it on the corner of a miniature building. As he lifted the stone, the shadow from it struck a series of "electric eyes" which, in turn, operated the crane at the new building which laid the big stone in its proper place.

Speaking at the ceremony, F. A. Merrick, president of Westinghouse, predicted that future research will unfold scientific wonders as startling as those which have preceded the present generation.

ment were reported to have been signed by twenty-five Senators each.

The petition of the "Young Guard" Republicans, to keep the Senate at work on the treaty, has been signed by Senator Watson, the party floor leader. With his support, those circulating the paper believe they have blocked the move of the "irreconcilables," led by Senators Hale of Maine and Moses, to postpone action until November. Both "round robin" movements will probably be abandoned.

The program of the administration remains unchanged. If the treaty is not acted on in regular session, President Hoover will call the Senate into extra session within a day or two following the adjournment of Congress. It is expected the adjournment of the regular session will come in about two weeks.

Mrs. Yarnell Out of Navy League.

The Navy League has accepted the resignation of Mrs. H. E. Yarnell, wife of Rear Admiral Yarnell, chief of the Naval Bureau of Engineering. Mrs. Yarnell resigned after a radio speech in which William Howard Gardiner, president of the league, urged that consideration of the treaty be postponed. Admiral Yarnell favors ratification.

In a letter to Mrs. Yarnell, Mr. Gardiner said:

"Rear Admiral Yarnell, whose minority professional views would reconcile the results acceptable to our delegates with the minimum naval requirements of the United States, has discharged his duty in thus expressing his opinion. So have his brother-officers in the majority. But I do not recall that either he or they have suggested a hasty dismissal of opposing naval opinion.

"In view of President Hoover's insistence on immediate action, I am somewhat surprised that I have not yet heard any real and imperative reason for prompt disposal of the treaty. What's the hurry? What will the United States lose by taking sufficient time to carefully consider the treaty in all its bearings?

"The Navy League has repeatedly rendered recognized service in calling for a prudent scrutiny of some aspects of the naval policy of recent Presidents, rather than prematurely supporting or opposing them. And in this instance we believe we best serve the interests of the United States by advocating thorough and deliberate consideration of the London Naval Treaty after the elections next Fall, rather than hasty action this Summer.

NEWARK COURT BARS UNBELIEVERS AT TRIAL

Refuses to Let Seven Testify—Jury Convicts Communist, Jersey Senate Aspirant.

After Judge Walter D. Van Riper had ruled that a witness who did not believe in God might not testify in the courts of New Jersey, thus barring seven defense witnesses, a jury in Essex County Court of Quarter Sessions in Newark yesterday found Dozier W. Graham, 63-year-old Negro and former Baptist minister, guilty of inciting assault upon the police of Newark.

Graham, who is the Communist candidate for United States Senator from New Jersey, was one of nine Communists arrested on Feb. 15 in a raid on an unemployment meeting at Communist headquarters, 93 Mercer Street. All nine were indicted for advocating destruction of the government, as well as for the lesser charge, which carries a maximum penalty of seven years' imprisonment or $3,000 fine, or both.

THUGS BEAT DR. BOWERS.

Physician Attacked and Robbed as He Enters Home.

Three men followed Dr. Edwin F. Bowers, 54 years old, of 223 East Twenty-first Street, from a movie last night, waited until he was opening the inside door of the dimly-lighted vestibule at that address, assaulted him with blackjacks and robbed him of $22 and a watch. They escaped.

The physician managed to get the door open and climb the stairs to the apartment of Walter Bodin, on the second floor. Bodin had heard the disturbance and as he opened his door Dr. Bowers collapsed into his arms. Dr. Cohen of Bellevue Hospital was called and took Dr. Bowers to that institution. After being attended for a compound fracture of the jaw and lacerations of the scalp the physician returned to his home.

Dr. Bowers lives with his wife in a two-story building back of the Twenty-first Street apartment house. Mrs. Bowers attended a concert last night, but the physician preferred to go to the motion picture theatre.

2,000 MEN TO MARCH IN PARADE FOR BYRD

CREWS PROVIDED FOR SHIPS

Seamen From Marine Escort Will Take Charge of Two Vessels on Arrival Here June 19.

Final plans for the reception to be given by the city to Rear Admiral Byrd and his associates on their arrival June 19 were formulated yesterday at a meeting in the Municipal Building of the Mayor's Committee on Reception of Distinguished Guests. Representatives of city departments, the army, navy, naval militia, National Guard and other organizations who will participate in the greeting to the explorers, attended. Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the Mayor's committee, who presided, announced that the plans in detail would be made public Friday.

While the final touches were being put on the reception program, the Board of Aldermen adopted a resolution concurring in the Board of Estimate's appropriation last week of $9,000 to defray expenditures of the reception.

Marine Parade Arranged.

The general plans worked out yesterday by Mr. Whalen and those associated with him call for a marine escort for the Macom and the Riverside, the two boats which will carry the reception committee and guests to Quarantine, where the two Byrd ships, the City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling, will be met and escorted to the Battery. The marine parade, to be staged by the Maritime Association of the port of New York as part of the procession up the harbor, will be in charge of Captain R. D. White, supervisor of New York Harbor. The escorts of the City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling will include also several cruisers and Coast Guard vessels.

The sixty-one members of the crews of Admiral Byrd's ships will be taken off and their places filled by men from the vessels taking part in the marine parade.

Admiral Byrd and his associates are expected to reach the Battery at 11 o'clock in the morning and will be at City Hall at noon. At the Battery they will be met by detachments representing the army, navy, the naval militia and marines, who will parade to City Hall. About 2,000 men are to take part in this parade up Broadway.

Two stands to hold more than 5,000 persons will be erected at City Hall, from the steps of which Admiral Byrd and his associates will be greeted by Mayor Walker, after which there will be a luncheon at the Advertising Club and, in the evening a dinner by the Merchants' Association.

In the official stand at City Hall will be former Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, the Admiral's brother; Governor John Garland Pollard of Virgina; representatives of Governor Larson of New Jersey and Governor Dan Moody of Texas, and Chancellor Elmer E. Brown of New York University and members of the university's faculty. Chancellor Brown will confer the honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering on Admiral Byrd.

2D FIRE VICTIM IDENTIFIED.

Body Found in Warehouse Ruins Is That of Former Pugilist.

The second of three bodies of the men burned to death last Wednesday night in the fire that swept the five-story warehouse at 512 Twenty-seventh Street, in which the authorities later reported finding a huge still, was identified yesterday as that of Max Schiffman, alias Harry (Red) Williams, 33 years old, a former pugilist, of 325 Beach Sixty-sixth Street, Rockaway, Queens.

Assistant United States Attorney Arthur H. Schwartz, who questioned twelve witnesses yesterday in his investigation to determine who are the real officers of the Sevell Holding Corporation, owners of the building, said that Schiffman was only a "dummy" figure in the concern. On Monday one body was identified as that of Louis Beilich of 137 Norfolk Street. The third body is at the morgue.

WICKERSHAM VIEWS STIR WET-DRY CLASH

THIS OPINION CHALLENGED

Mrs. Colvin Holds Chairman Is "All Wet" and Must Have Given Personal Stand.

POLAND FINDS DRY SUPPORT

Declares Boston Speech Dealt Only With Methods to Enforce the Prohibition Laws.

Leaders of organizations seeking the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment differed sharply here yesterday from the supporters of prohibition enforcement in interpreting the speech made in Boston on Monday night by George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

Mr. Wickersham, in his speech, delivered before 5,000 social workers, indicated his belief that prohibition enforcement had failed to attain the objective sought because too much stress was placed on increasing penalties and too little on education in the benefits of temperance. He cited the English licensing system as successful in reducing drunkenness.

The anti-prohibitionists contended that Mr. Wickersham's remarks indicated he favored repeal, and the substitution of controlled sale of liquor. Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said Mr. Wickersham "is learning faster and faster." Orville S. Poland, counsel of the New York State Anti-Saloon League, contended that everything Mr. Wickersham said "was in support of enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment."

"All Wet," Says Mrs. Colvin.

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, dry leader, and an official of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, resented Mr. Wickersham's remarks on the ground that he implied that the reform agencies had ceased educational work as soon as the Eighteenth Amendment became part of the Constitution. She said Mr. Wickersham was "all wet" and apparently "was speaking for himself."

"What Mr. Wickersham said about England is sound," Mr. Curran said. "We have made a study of conditions there, and will shortly show the reason restricted sale is so successful there is because they have been able to change the law from year to year in the true interests of temperance. Mr. Wickersham is learning faster and faster."

William D. Carr, counsel of the Crusaders, a wet organization composed of young men, said:

"I think it is an indication that the Wickersham commission, through its study, has come to the conclusion that it is impossible to enforce prohibition. The Crusaders are very much encouraged by his speech. As we interpret it, Mr. Wickersham favors some form of governmental control, either State or national. We are heartily in favor of the aim he expressed; that is, true temperance."

Sees No Repeal Advocation.

Mr. Poland said he had seen in print some of the views expressed by the anti-prohibitionists and wanted it emphasized that Mr. Wickersham had not advocated repeal.

"In the first place," he declared, "everything Mr. Wickersham said was in support of enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. His address had to do with methods of that enforcement. He spoke of the necessity for education as one of those methods. That is exactly what the Anti-Saloon League has been trying to do for the past ten years.

"Those who endeavor to see in Mr. Wickersham's speech anything advocating repeal or abolition of prohibition are looking for something that is not there. I believe his speech highly commendable, and if it is to be subject to adverse criticism at all it might be on the ground that he failed to differentiate between the effectiveness of trying to educate the individual not to drink and trying to educate the professional bootlegger not to sell his goods."

Agrees With Poland.

Fred A. Victor, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, agreed with Mr. Poland in interpreting the speech, and added:

"I am heartily in favor of what he said on the educational side of the work. That always has been, and still is, the program of the Anti-Saloon League. Modified or controlled sale of liquor is nothing new in the United States. It was tried out years and years ago in the various States, and it proved a failure. Drinking of hard liquor increased instead of decreasing during the years it was tried. That is why we moved on to national prohibition."

Mrs. Colvin's remarks were prefaced by the statement that apparently Wickersham was "dry," as Chairman of the Law Enforcement Commission, and "wet" in his personal views.

"Apparently he was speaking for himself this time," Mrs. Colvin said, "and not for the organizations, such as mine, that have worked for temperance through education for eighty years. The ten years the prohibition law has been in effect have worked more for educating the people than the propaganda methods did in all the previous years. How can laws be enforced except by force?

"Of course, force and education must go hand in hand. Our organization has continued, and even increased its efforts to educate the people in the past ten years. If Mr. Wickersham says that we haven't, he's all wet."

Mrs. Sabin "Encouraged."

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, was far more pleased with the speech than her dry opponent, Mrs. Colvin. Mrs. Sabin said she was "delighted" and "encouraged."

"It is our experience," she declared, "that people who study the situation carefully invariably reach the conclusion that prohibition doesn't work. For this reason our organization will continue to carry on its campaign of investigation and education among women, confident that they cannot fail to see the fallacy of national prohibition when faced with the actual facts."

CONGRESS WETS HAIL WICKERSHAM'S VIEWS

Drys Indicate That Opinion He Favors Modification Is Incorrect.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Wets in Congress were jubilant today over the utterances last night of George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, at Boston, which were generally interpreted as advocacy of some kind of modification of the prohibition laws. Outstanding drys refused to comment for publication, but some let it be inferred that Mr. Wickersham probably had either been misquoted or misunderstood.

Sharing the wets' view that the speech was full of "good logic," was John Q. Tilson, Republican floor leader in the House and a close personal as well as political friend of President Hoover.

Senator Tydings of Maryland, an arch-enemy of the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead law, termed the Wickersham speech a "fine thing" for the cause of modification. Representative La Guardia of New York was of similar opinion.

Drys were apparently startled at Mr. Wickersham's speech. He has been understood to be sympathetic toward the present prohibition set-up and to be directing the energies of his commission toward finding solutions to the enforcement problem alone.

Wets in both the Senate and House have demanded that the commission go into the broad subject of prohibition itself. To this group his Boston speech came as a virtual reply, and the wets are in a better humor toward the commission and its investigation.

Speech Causes Boston Argument.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 10.—The speech of George W. Wickersham on the prohibition law, made here before social workers yesterday, threw the State wet and dry camps into a furor.

The wets saw in Mr. Wickersham's views advancement for their campaign to repeal the State enforcement act.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Beverly, a leader in the dry movement, said that "if Mr. Wickersham favors the English system rather than our own, he is not fit to head the commission [law enforcement] and should be removed." Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton of Cambridge, national chairman of the Unitarian Temperance Organization, said she would reply to Mr. Wickersham over the radio tomorrow night.

Conrad Crooker, general counsel for the Liberal Civic League, leading wet organization of the State, hailed the Wickersham remarks as "the beginning of the end" so far as prohibition is concerned.

Mrs. William H. Brown, president of the Law Enforcement League of Massachusetts, agreed that education was the best means of bringing about law enforcement and that the Jones law was too drastic, but did not agree that the English restrictive method was better for the promotion of temperance than the Volstead act.

SAYS SCHOOLS BREAK LAW.

Mexican Accuses Americans of Making Protestant Teaching Obligatory.

MEXICO CITY, June 10 (AP).—Horacio Nunez, president of the National Confederation of Students, charged in an interview with El Universal Grafico today that American schools in Northern Mexico were violating Mexican laws by making Protestant religious instruction obligatory.

He mentioned Palmore College in Chihuahua and Roberts College in Saltillo, and added that American schools in various parts of Mexico, including Mexico City, gave instruction along lines derogatory to Mexico.

Mexican laws prohibit the teaching of any form of religion in public or private schools.

YOUNG KENNY WEDS; SURPRISES PARENTS

FATHER SMITH'S FRIEND

Girl's Mother Says They "Were Not Even Engaged"—Elder Kennys Offer Congratulations.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Miss Adelaide Bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Bride of Edgemoor, Md., and William F. Kenny Jr. of New York eloped early this morning and were married in the rectory of the Baltimore Cathedral by the Rev. Father William E. Mackessey, chancellor of the Archdiocese of Baltimore.

The bride's father for the last three years has been Corporation Counsel for the District of Columbia. The late Cotter T. Bride, her grandfather, was an intimate friend of the late William Jennings Bryan, who was a frequent guest in the old home of the Bride family on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Kenny is the son of William F. Kenny, the New York contractor who contributed $70,000 to the 1928 campaign fund of Governor Smith, and asserted that he "would give a million to see Al Smith elected President."

The runaway marriage was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Bride, who said today that while their daughter and Mr. Kenny had been friends for over three years, having met while the latter was a student in the Foreign Service School at Georgetown University, they never had been engaged.

Not until the bride telephoned her mother this morning and informed her that she had just been married to Mr. Kenny had any member of her family known of the intentions, or even the whereabouts, of the couple.

Bride a Junior League Member.

Mr. Kenny, according to Mrs. Bride, telegraphed her daughter yesterday afternoon that he was arriving from New York for a visit and asked her to meet him at the station, which she did. They dined together and then separated, as Miss Bride had a previous engagement. Her parents believe that a "late date" was made and kept, and that plans for the runaway marriage were then formulated, as Miss Bride did not return last night to her home at Edgemere.

Mrs. Bride said that her daughter had promised to return with her husband tonight for a wedding supper and the family blessing before starting on their honeymoon, after which they would make their home in New York.

"He's a fine young man," Mr. Bride said of his new son-in-law.

"Of course the news of the marriage was a little sudden, but that only adds zest. I suppose that's why they eloped.

"It's all right, anyhow, because, after all, what else could I say? Her mother and I eloped in just about the same fashion."

Both Mr. Kenny and Miss Bride were well known in Washington social circles. Miss Bride was presented to Washington society several seasons ago and since has been active in the charity work of the Junior League.

She recently appeared as one of the clothes models when the Junior League took over for one day the operation of a downtown store as a charity project.

Kenny Sr. in Baltimore.

J. A. Kenny, brother of William F. Kenny, said yesterday that his nephew's marriage was not an elopement.

"The boy has known Miss Bride for two or three years," he declared. "The marriage plans were quite well known to the family. The boy's father and mother were in Baltimore today to wish them Godspeed."

He said he "thought" the elder Kennys had been at the wedding but that he was "not familiar with all the details."

Mr. Kenny, the contractor, is one of former Governor Smith's most intimate friends. He contributed $70,000 to the Smith Presidential campaign and told a Congressional investigating committee that there was $40,000,000 more where that came from."

BEGIN INVESTIGATING BOOTLEG 'GINGER JAKE'

Senators Call for Records When Agricultural Department Admits It Is Powerless.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—All records of the Agriculture Department regarding bootleg traffic in "ginger jake," a product misrepresented as standard Jamaica ginger extract and sold for beverage purposes, were demanded today by the Senate Agriculture Committee after it was informed that officials considered the traffic "a prohibition problem."

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, declared before the committee that he "understood thousands of cases" of paralysis, blindness and reported deaths had resulted from drinking the extract. Senator Wheeler said he was "told the product is going all over the country," that it is "being sold wholesale, in interstate commerce, with a standard label."

W. G. Campbell, chief of the Agriculturel Department division for enforcement of the pure food and drugs act, said department officials had investigated some complaints and had taken action against some shipments, but that "both the prohibition bureau and our officials have concluded it is a prohibition problem."

Mr. Campbell was directed to return on Thursday with the department files. He is expected to answer at that time other charges of lax enforcement of standards regulating foods and drugs.

"Do you know anything about this?" Senator Wheeler asked the witness, producing samples of fluid extracts. The Montana Senator said one was bona fide Jamaica ginger extract and the other was "ginger jake." He read a newspaper clipping quoting Commissioner Doran that thousands of cases of ill results from drinking the latter had been reported in Mississippi and Louisiana.

"This is a serious administrative problem," Mr. Campbell said.

He added he had been informed of ill results by the president of the Kansas Board of Pharmacy.

The witness added that when the product was "bootlegged," as a beverage, the division could not cope with the problem.

The committee's attention was called to the ginger product today by H. W. Ambruster, a New York drug importer, who testified that sub-standard ergot has been allowed to circulate. Mr. Ambruster said enforcement was lax also on digitalis, ginger and other crude drugs.

Filing a list of more than 400 "pharmacists, physicians and other well-known citizens representing almost every State," who asked for a Congressional investigation of the enforcement of the foods and drugs act, Mr. Ambruster declared that although "a woman has been given a life sentence in this country for the sale of a bottle of liquor on a third or fourth offense, never has one of these food or drug crooks gone to the penitentiary for a single day."

Rare White Whale Is Reported By the Modoc Off Cape Race

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The unusual incident of sighting a white whale was reported to the Navy Hydrographic Office today by the Coast Guard cutter Modoc of the International Ice Patrol. The cutter was 400 miles southeast of Cape Race, Newfoundland, at the time.

"At 7:15 P. M. on May 16," it said, "a white whale was sighted from the bridge, the ship then being at 42 degrees, 32 minutes north; 46 degrees, 36 minutes west. The white whale was swimming in company with a black one directly for the port bow.

"At first it was taken for a 'growler.' However, it made two short dives while traversing the distance to the ship and then sounded close aboard and disappeared in company with its dark companion.

"Neither whale was seen again."

DEARBORN NOW IS DRY, SAY FORD OFFICIALS

'Blind Pigs' and 'Beer Kitchens' Wiped Out in Two Months, It Is Asserted.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, June 10.—The Ford Motor Company, cooperating with the Dearborn police force, in two months has transformed Dearborn from a "moderately wet" factory town to perhaps the dryest industrial community of its size in the country, Ford officials said today.

The statement, in which Carl A. Brooks, Chief of Police, concurred, came from Harry H. Bennett, head of the Ford service division, which functions as a factory police force.

Bennett declared that the numerous small speakeasies and "beer kitchens" which formerly operated among the boarding houses sheltering Ford employes had disappeared entirely, while Brooks was responsible for the broader assertion that no "blind pig" worthy of the name could be found in the entire city.

Proof that the avowed object of the Ford Motor Company was to stop drinking among workers in the interest of factory efficiency has been attained is evidenced by the fact that almost no drinking has been detected among Ford employes, at the shops or in their own homes since the drive began, Bennett asserted.

Dozens of workmen coming on the jobs with the odor of liquor on their breaths, and others found drinking when police raided blind pigs, have been disciplined or discharged and warnings have been posted throughout the shops to warn others of the company's new attitude toward liquor.

The Ford Motor Company first entered actively into the business of enforcing the prohibition law in Dearborn almost exactly two months ago, when, after a conference between Bennett and Brooks, it was announced that henceforth the two police forces would begin a concerted campaign.

More than fifty raids were conducted during April by the city police, aided in some cases by Federal agents and more than 200 men and women were arrested and taken into court.

Since May 1 the police have made but six liquor raids and have arrested eleven men and women.

GRENFELL IS HOST TO FORD.

Manufacturer Visits Missionary as New Vessel Sails.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 10.—Henry Ford lunched on halibut today as guest of Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell on the latter's auxiliary schooner, George B. Cluett, before the vessel, with its volunteer crew of students recruited from Eastern colleges, departed this afternoon laden with hospital and other supplies for the Labrador missions. The manufacturer motored from Wayside Inn, where the Grenfell's crew were his week-end guests with Mrs. Ford and Lady Grenfell.

Gorham Cluett of Troy, N. Y., representing the family of the late George B. Cluett, donors of the vessel to the Grenfell Association, also was a guest.

It became known that Mr. Ford had presented the Grenfell Association with machinery that will prove invaluable in any future building construction that Sir Wilfred may undertake in connection with his missions.

Sir Wilfred sailed on the schooner for St. Anthony, N. F., but Lady Grenfell will join the vessel at Sydney, N. S.

The Cluett is expected to return to Boston in about three weeks for additional supplies and, departing, will carry a group of scientists for a Summer among the Labrador missions.

FIND POISON LIQUOR IN BOWERY CLEAN-UP

The places raided included drug stores, a paint shop and a lunchroom as well as the ordinary run of Bowery speakeasy, where drinks are sold for from 15 to 25 cents a tumbler or half pint. After drinking one tumblerful the patrons, according to the agents, had no desire for more, though in one place visited the "smoke" was advertised as "genuine corn whisky."

The first raid was staged at a store at 3 Catharine Street, where Harry Meyers, a clerk, who was later arrested, sold a drink of alcohol to an agent for 15 cents. The agent seized four half-pint bottles of alcohol.

At 53 Avenue C agents seized four one-gallon cans and twelve six-ounce bottles labeled "Denatured Alcohol, Poison," but in spite of this frank label, according to Major Campbell, Israel Seligman, the owner, and Mrs. Helen Seligman, his wife, who were arrested, sold a half-pint bottle of the stuff for 25 cents.

One drum and 500 bottles carrying the same label were seized at a drug store at 6 Bowery, where agents also reported purchasing a bottle for the same price. There they arrested Herbert Wilks, manager, of 391 East Mosholu Parkway, the Bronx.

When agents visited a speakeasy at 256 Bowery they discovered thirty men lying drunk on a sawdust-covered floor. John Bolan, bartender, of 119 Third Avenue, sold two drinks of alcohol in water glasses for 25 cents each, the agents reported.

They seized a one-gallon jug containing alcohol resembling whisky and after carrying out the intoxicated patrons arrested Dolan and John McCarthy, his "bouncer," of 280 Fourth Avenue.

The raiders then visited a paint store run by Morris Skigin at 128 Monroe Street, where they arrested Skigin and Mrs. Anna Skigin, his wife, after paying 25 cents for a half pint bottle labeled "Denatured Alcohol, Poison." They seized a one-gallon can of this stuff and seven five-gallon cans.

Fifty derelicts, most of them drugged or drunk, were found in a speakeasy at 139 Park Row, where agents seized fifty cases of "home brew" and ten quarts of colored alcohol. The agents reported paying 15 cents each for two drinks of the colored stuff. They arrested Joseph Devine, bartender, 58 Henry Street.

Forty men were lined up at a bar or sprawled on the floor of an alleged speakeasy at 39 New Bowery, where agents seized one and a half gallons of colored alcohol, after purchasing two drinks for 15 cents each, served, they said, in a large tumbler by George Barrett, bartender, of 128 Park Row.

Agents, in addition to buying "smoke," were able to purchase hamburger steak at 10 cents a pound at a speakeasy at 195 Worth Street, where 100 men were found.

After buying a wine glass full of what it is said was colored alcohol for 15 cents, the agents seized a one-quart milk bottle full of this stuff, and arrested Louis Benson, bartender, 191 East Third Street; Erig Broom, bartender, 16 Bowery, and John E. Busso, owner, 98 Mulberry Street.

Get "Smoke" in Lunch Room.

"Mike Whisky" was the name of a bartender arrested in a "lunch room" at 128 Hester Street, where agents bought a half pint of "smoke" for 50 cents, seized two pitchers of the liquor, and placed Whisky under arrest, after routing fifty patrons.

Thirty bottles of home brew and two and a half pints of alleged "raisin" whisky were seized at a speakeasy at 8 Christie Street, where the raiders paid 15 cents for two ounces of "liquor." They arrested Frank Barri, bartender, of 13 Bayard Street.

Jack Smith, bartender, was arrested during a raid at 15 East First Street, after agents had purchased a drink of colored alcohol for 15 cents, and seized two quarts and a pint of this stuff.

Thirty men were drinking in a speakeasy at 48 New Bowery, where agents also reported buying colored alcohol and arrested John Ryan, bartender, 48 New Bowery.

At 220 East Second Street, a dance hall with meeting rooms, George Gadas, bartender, was arrested after he had sold agents a pint of alleged "smoke."

In an alleged speakeasy at 64 New Bowery, James Murphy of 15 New Bowery, the alleged bartender, was arrested. Fifteen men were in the place.

At 59-61 New Bowery the disguised agents arrested Jack Minski, bartender, of 384 East Tenth Street.

"Real corn whisky" at 15 cents a drink was advertised at 11-13 Rivington Street, agents said. Samuel Miller of 28 Montgomery Street, bartender, was arrested.

Agents also arrested two men who were delivering alcohol to a store at 162 Worth Street.

Campbell Orders Wide Clean-Up.

Mr. Campbell, in a statement explaining the raids, said:

"About one year ago this office began an investigation of the sales of so-called "smoke" on the lower east side and as a result a number of raids were made. Because of this activity the sale of "smoke" was practically discontinued. During the past few weeks a number of persons have died in the same vicinity and as consequence I detailed fifty agents to make a clean-up of this entire section of the city. Because of the recent publicity a number of these places that were heretofore selling this mixture have discontinued. However, my agents succeeded in purchasing this "smoke" in places, and arrests were immediately made."

Mr. Tuttle, explaining the steps he will take in the campaign against poison liquor, said:

"Sellers of poisonous rum can be prosecuted under either State or Federal laws. Cases brought to the Federal Building by either the Prohibition Administrator or the city police will receive immediate attention. The usual proceedings before the United States Commissioner will be omitted, and the cvases will at once be laid before the grand jury with a view to felony indictments. Such indictments as soon as voted will be placed on the calendar.

"Where convictions are obtained I will move for the maximum sentence and will do everything possible under the Federal law to make examples of these devils. It should be noted, however, that sellers of this liquid death are really murderers, and that suitable punishment can be meted out only under the State laws against murder."

Walker Scores Sales as Murder.

"These poison liquor deaths," Mayor Walker said in his statement, "constitute a very serious situation. Not only is it a violation of the Constitution to sell liquor—we might stagger through that—but for these peddlers it is first degree murder as well. There ought to be something worse than hanging for those who peddle it. If I had a club I would go out and hit them over the heads myself without waiting for a policeman."

While still another victim—Stanley Mayer, 850 Park Row—died yesterday in Bellevue Hospital of wood alcohol poisoning, a half hour after he had been taken from the Municipal Lodging House, Magistrate Renaud in Homicide court set $10,000 as bail for Isidor Kovins, who, it is charged, sold the denatured alcohol responsible for the death last week of David Buckley.

Kovins, who lives at 304 Kingsbridge Road, was held later in bail of $500 by Magistrate Goodman in Essex Market Court on the additional charge that he maintained a nuisance at a hardware shop at 1 Cooper Square.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney has assigned his investigation to the poison liquor situation to Inspector David J. McAuliffe, who said that his men had staged several raids and made arrests last week.

DRY LEAGUE STAKES ALL HOPE ON FORT

SENATORS CHECK ON FUNDS

Investigators Headed by Nye Look Into Expenses—Fort Aide Warns of Last-Minute Financing.

The Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey will rest all its hopes of electing a dry Senator on the primary fight for the Republican nomination being waged by Representative Franklin W. Fort, it was announced yesterday.

Faced with the closing date for filing petitions for an independent candidacy in the general election, the Rev. Dr. James K. Shields, State superintendent of the dry league, declared at his Newark headquarters that if Mr. Fort's contest against Dwight W. Morrow and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, both wets, were unsuccessful, the league would not enter a candidate in the Autumn polling. The period for filing independent petitions ends tomorrow night.

Coincident with this statement came disclosure of the presence in the State of investigators for the Senate Campaign Fund Committee headed by Senator Nye of North Dakota. The investigators accompanied by several auditors visited the Morrow headquarters during the day to check up on expenditures.

The various campaign managers issued assurances that they were observing the $50,000 statutory limit of expenditures. Albert E. Howe, Fort manager, added to his statement a warning against a sudden pouring of money into the battle during the last few days in behalf of Mr. Fort's rivals.

Shields Explains Stand.

In making known the decision to refrain from entering an independent candidate for the general election, Dr. Shields said that this stand was being taken to avoid possibility of injuring Mr. Fort's chances in the primary. At the same time he assailed the election laws which made it necessary to file such petitions before the primary had been held.

"The Republican and Democratic legislative representatives," he said, "have practically disfranchised nonpartisan organizations like the Anti-Saloon League and other enforcement groups. We are faced with the bitter choice of hurting a dry candidate in the party primaries or of letting the dry standard go by default in the general election.

"In this grave situation the league must either take votes away from Fort, the dry candidate, so that we may nominate a candidate for the general election, or else risk the entire dry cause on a primary vote. This the league has chosen to do, for Fort has been too courageous in upholding the dry standard for us to do anything to hurt his candidacy."

Dr. Shields said that an added reason for assumption of this position was that all persons signing the independent petition would have to be barred from voting in the primary elections. As 800 names are required, Dr. Shields said, this would have cost Mr. Fort that number of ballots in the primary fight.

Even if Mr. Fort loses, however, the dry cause will not be entirely unrepresented in the general election as Miss Esther H. Elfreth of Haddonfield has filed a petition as a candidate for the "long term" Senate seat on the prohibition party ticket. The Rev. Dr. James Gilbert Mason of Metuchen will be the party's candidate for the "short term" seat.

Howe Warns on Funds.

Mr. Howe, in issuing his warning against an effort to throw large amounts of money into the campaign at the last moment, said:

"I have great sympathy for the opposing candidates, who, because of the misguided efforts of their friends, are continually having to veto plans of certain interests to utilize large amounts of money in their behalf. In justice to the opponents themselves it must be said that they are very fair and very ethical. I am informed that one of Mr. Fort's opponents, when told that a certain financial group had completed plans for a financial avalanche involving an almost fabulous sum of money, refused to permit its application to the Senatorial primary, declaring in his own words that he would not be placed in a category with Newberry, Vare and Smith, who were stopped at the doors of the Senate because of the lavish use of money during their campaigns.

"But will the personal feelings of the opponents be respected?"

Douglas G. Thomson, manager for Mr. Morrow, to whom Mr. Howe was understood to have referred, ridiculed this possibility and said: "We do not intend to spend even $50,000." A similar statement was issued at the Frelinghuysen headquarters.

Ambassador Morrow, Mr. Fort and Mr. Frelinghuysen all spoke at a meeting held in the Plainfield High School under the auspices of the Plainfield Republican Women's Club last night. Mr. Frelinghuysen had departed before Mr. Morrow arrived, but the Ambassador shook hands with Mr. Fort and chatted pleasantly with him for a minute. It was their first meeting.

Mr. Frelinghuysen repeated his attack on Mr. Morrow at the Plainfield meeting and again at one in Newark, charging that he was the candidate of the "bosses" of the New Jersey Republican organization. He also voiced his opposition to the World Court and the League of Nations.

Representative Fort, who had attended the graduation of his daughter, Barbara, from Vassar College during the day, returned in time to speak at meetings in Rutherford and Perth Amboy, in addition to the one at Plainfield. He renewed his defense of prohibition in these talks.

Mr. Morrow defended the naval treaty in his talk at Plainfield and in another at the Elks' Auditorium in Elizabeth, where he was enthusiastically greeted. He said that no treaty is ever popular in this country, citing historical examples, but added that he felt convinced the London agreement provided adequate defence for this country and was a good thing for the world.

Miley New Bronx District Leader.

Thomas J. Miley, a deputy collector of internal revenue in the Bronx, for twenty years an active Republican in the politics of that borough, was elected leader of the First Bronx Executive District last night at a meeting held in the district clubhouse at 2,663 Third Avenue. Mr. Miley succeeds the late Albert B. Bunner, Bronx County Chairman, as leader of the First District.

MRS. MORROW ENDS SPEAKING CAMPAIGN

CALLS POLITICS EDUCATION

Meeting People and Learning to Argue Tolerantly Are Benefits, She Asserts in Radio Talk.

"Don't take yourself too seriously," is the soundest advice that can be given to a woman campaigning for her husband, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow asserted last night in a radio address over WOR, which closed her speaking efforts in behalf of her husband's candidacy for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate.

Talking from her home at Englewood, N. J., Mrs. Morrow reviewed her tour of the State which took her into nineteen of the twenty-one counties and told of the conflicting suggestions she had received to help her husband get votes. Mrs. Morrow has been compelled to refrain from further activity for her husband in order to remain close to home because of "an expected important event" in the family of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, her son-in-law.

"There has been a good deal of advice given me about my informal tour of the State," she said. "Before another primary struggle, I hope instructions to candidates' wives will be glazed and framed or distributed like baedekers. The advice is very personal and contradictory:

"'Talk all you want to, but don't have your picture taken—you'll only lose votes for your husband that way. Don't talk—just be photographed, smiling and shaking hands. Don't take off your hat, ever, if you have gray hair. Do you cook any favorite dish for your husband? Be sure to bring that in, it helps a great deal if you can make a good apple pie or a special brand of gingerbread.'

"I can't. But the soundest advice came to me from an old friend who said: 'Don't break rule number 6.' And I said, 'What is rule 6?' He answered: 'Don't take yourself too seriously.' And after that had sunk in, I asked, 'What are the other rules before 6?' 'Oh, there aren't any others,' he said.

"Lately I have had a great many letters saying quite plainly, 'Can't you stay at home and keep quiet?' Yes, I can, but it seems to me a little unfair not to be allowed some part in this latest adventure of my husband's. We have always done things together, and this is a new experience, running for office. I want to meet the people who may or who may not vote for my husband.

"Politics presents a last chance to a middle-aged woman to educate herself. We need all the education we can get that comes from meeting all kinds of people—all kinds of opinions. We have a little of that training in school and college, but we don't, as a rule, go on with it in life as men are forced to do. We want to learn to differ without heat, to argue with tolerance for the other point of view.

"How better could I acquire this pleasant give and take in argument than by talking to women who are not going to vote for Dwight Morrow? I've met several; it's such a shock. But I try to be polite and tolerant and I never even suggest that they are making a mistake. There is only one thing that would really disappoint me, and that would be if any of the 13,000 women whom I have spoken to did not vote."

Minister Says Church People Forget Religion in California

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., June 10 (AP).—The Rev. C. G. Anderson of Sacramento, president of the California conference of the Lutheran Augustana Synod, told the synodical convention that California's climate is not conducive to spirituality.

In appealing for additional funds to carry on more intensive home mission work among unchurched Lutherans in California, he asserted that large numbers of persons who are good church members in the East forget their church affiliation on the Coast.

"When they pass the summit of the Sierras," Mr. Anderson said, "they say 'Good-bye Lord, we're in California.'"

The Rev. Mr. Anderson's appeal was voted down by the synod.

Pleas from the New York conference for appropriations for city missionary work in Washington, D. C., and New York City were referred to the home mission board.

To Entertain Lawyers From Abroad

The board of directors of the New York County Lawyers' Association has authorized an appropriation of $5,000 to help defray the expense of entertaining a delegation of 250 men and women representing the bars of England and France during a four-day visit to New York. The visitors, who are coming to attend the annual meeting of the American Bar Association in Chicago, will be in New York from Aug. 30 to Sept. 4.

TWO PRESS MEASURES TO RELIEVE LABOR

La Guardia Calls for National Conference, Celler Urges Wagner Bills in House.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Two New Yorkers of different political affiliations, Representatives La Guardia, Republican, and Celler, Democrat, sought today to turn the attention of the House to the labor situation throughout the country with a view to finding a solution for unemployment.

Mr. La Guardia proposed in a resolution that President Hoover should call a national conference for the purpose of drafting model uniform labor and social welfare laws, particularly on the subject of daily hours of service, number of days in the working week, factory laws and regulations, employment of children, employment agencies, unemployment insurance, old age pensions and the prevention of unemployment.

In a statement issued on the eve of hearings before the Judiciary Committee on the Wagner unemployment bills Mr. Celler took issue with Secretary Hyde for his opposition to the measures.

"Secretary Hyde would have us believe," Mr. Celler said, "that there is practically no unemployment in the country at this time, despite actual figures of the Department of Labor, as well as observations of experts like President Green of the American Federation, which indicate an increasing amount of unemployment.

"The Wagner bills should be passed immediately, and as a member of the Judiciary Committee I propose to fight for their favorable consideration. Although the administration seems to be opposed to these bills, it is interesting to note that President Hoover for the last ten years, in unmistakable, language, indicated approval of long range public works planning and the purpose of these measures."

CHICAGO NEWSPAPER OPENS WAR ON GANGS

'Casualties Are to Be Expected,' Tribune Says, Laying Reporter's Murder to Revenge.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 10.—A declaration of war against gangdom, with a promise of casualties, was issued tonight by The Chicago Tribune, whose veteran crime reporter, Alfred J. Lingle, was shot and killed by a gunman yesterday afternoon in the Illinois Central subway at Randolph Street and Michigan Boulevard. The murderer escaped in the crowds and the indications are that he had accomplices, one probably close at hand and several others on the scene.

"The Tribune accepts this challenge," it says editorially. "It is war. There will be casualties, but that is to be expected, it being war."

"There is no mistaking the meaning of the murder," The Tribune adds. "It was committed in reprisal and in an attempt at intimidation. Mr. Lingle was a police reporter and an exceptionally well-informed one.

"His personal friendships included the highest police officials and the contacts of his work had made him familiar to most of the big and little figures in gangland. What made him valuable to his newspaper marked him as dangerous to the killers.

"The challenge of crime to the community must be accepted. It has been given with bravado. It is accepted and we'll see what the consequences are to be.

"Justice will make a fight or it will abdicate."

Score of Suspects Seized.

Police today had rounded up a score of suspects in connection with the case, and Coroner H. N. Bundesen, who adjourned the inquest, said he had procured certain evidence he was not willing to reveal.

Meanwhile every recourse of the law enforcement agencies of Chicago and Cook County was bent today toward a solution of the murder. Organization of what may become a most relentless and persevering search for the killer or killers was perfected under the joint direction of Commissioner of Police William A. Russell and Coroner Herman N. Bundesen.

Other officials, including State's Attorney John A. Swanson, and Pat Roche, his chief investigator; Harry Ditchburne and Charles J. Mueller, Assistant State's Attorneys, and Deputy Commissioner Stege were cooperating in an intensive onslaught on Chicago gangland.

It was announced that several clues regarded as of high importance were being investigated. Coroner Bundesen and Commissioner Russell declared that the fixed purpose of the inquiry would be to withhold all important clues from the public until they had been thoroughly investigated.

From all over the nation today came messages from editors, State and national officials and prominent citizens expressing their shock at the tragedy and urging that every means be used to call a halt to the lawlessness, which, it was conceded, was not Chicago's problem alone, but the problem of other cities and of the entire country.

Local organizations joined in the demand for action. The support of the Chicago Association of Commerce was announced by its president, Colonel Robert I. Randolph, who said that the resources of the "Secret Six," an organization of the association created to defeat crime, would be employed to solve "this most atrocious murder."

Another Paper Offers Reward.

In the hope that some persons who know or may come to know the key to the crime will come forward with their information, The Tribune had offered a reward of $25,000 for information leading to the conviction of the slayer or slayers and The Chicago Evening Post had subscribed an additional $5,000 reward on the same terms.

The total was increased to $55,000 today when The Chicago Herald and Examiner offered a $25,000 reward.

The Chicago Press Club has expressed its readiness to post an additional $10,000 reward.

Sam Hunt, a gangster whose picture was picked out by witnesses to the murder as being of the same general appearance as the slayer, may surrender to the police tomorrow. John H. Johntry, Hunt's attorney, visited Commissioner Stege and sought to arrange terms for Hunt's surrender. Mr. Stege refused to make any terms, saying Hunt would be paraded before witnesses to the crime, but Mr. Johntry indicated he would produce Hunt anyway.

The City Council at its meeting today took cognizance of the killing. Alderman John B. Bowler demanded a thorough investigation of the Police Department and its gangland connections and urged that the council's police committee take immediate steps toward purging Chicago of its organized criminals.

"I think the police are in league with the gangsters, although I can't prove it, of course," Mr. Bowler said. "I know the police are not functioning 100 per cent. Some are not functioning even 5 per cent.

"To think of a man getting killed in the Loop and the killers escaping! If the police can't do the job, let's get rid of them."

Mr. Bowler urged two ways of coping with the situation—shutting off the gangs' source of income and deporting the alien gunmen. He said:

Brooklyn Man Is Involved.

There was a multitude of theories and reports as investigation of Lingle's death was pushed. Mr. Roche announced that he believed Lingle was slain by a left-handed man, that he was certain the killer and Lingle were acquainted, and that he would today seek a man, an ex-convict who, he believed, would know the identity of the killer.

"The glove the killer threw away was for the left hand and, inasmuch as that glove was worn to obviate fingerprints on the gun, it is almost certain the killer was left-handed," Mr. Roche said.

"I am looking for a man today who, I believe, can throw light on the killing. This fellow is an ex-convict and is known as a killer. If he didn't do the killing he knows who did it."

Another report, attributed to a "high police official," had it that detectives had located a room on the North Side in which a man, recently arrived from Brooklyn, registered.

Clothing fitting the description of garments worn by the slayer was said to have been found in the room. A search of the clothing, the report said, revealed a receipt for a machine-gun sent to a Chicago address.

Funeral services for Mr. Lingle will be held Thursday morning from Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church.

Military honors are to be accorded in recognition of the dead reporter's service in the intelligence department of the navy during the war. He was a member of the Medill Tribune Post of the American Legion, and arrangements were completed tonight by his comrades to march as a unit of the large military escort that will meet the funeral cortège at Madison Street and Central Park Avenue and accompany it to the church.

One hundred mounted police will lead the groups comprising the escort, and will be followed by a detachment on foot under command of Major John Bauder. The Police Department Band will also take part.

O'CONNELL JAIL TERM TO END PERJURY CASE

Albany Democratic Leader in Compromise Agrees to Serve 90 Days for Contempt.

Daniel P. O'Connell, Democratic leader of Albany County, who was sentenced to ninety days' imprisonment for contempt of court and indicted later for perjury in connection with the Federal investigation of the Albany baseball pool, consented yesterday to withdraw his appeal from the contempt sentence imposed by Judge Julian W. Mack and to begin serving his term on Friday. The perjury indictment will then be nolle prossed.

Announcement of the compromise agreement was made by United States Attorney Tuttle in his office in the presence of John P. Feeney and George Albert, O'Connell's attorneys, and Thomas T. Cooke, Assistant United States Attorney, who conducted the grand jury investigation.

"Mr. O'Connell will serve the full term of ninety days in the Federal House of Detention imposed by that order," said Mr. Tuttle. "Mr. O'Connell will go to the House of Detention next Friday. Upon his entering upon the service of such a term the existing perjury indictment will be discontinued. Mr. O'Connell has personally accepted this disposition of the matter."

The announcement was made in the afternoon after O'Connell, who appeared in this jurisdiction for the first time since his indictment last December to plead not guilty, had been held in bail of $10,000 by Judge Alfred C. Coxe, who said that "the time has come when a case such as this must be tried in court on its merits."

FIND WAGE LOSSES OFFSET INCREASES

Labor Bureau Report for May Shows 41 Scale Advances but Fewer Employed.

CALLS CHANGES SEASONAL

Industrial Production Gains and Food Prices Rise in Spite of Continued Depression.

According to the monthly economic news letter published by the Labor Bureau, Inc., 2 West Forty-third Street, "during May there was a slight increase in both the number of wage increases and decreases."

"The forty-one advances in scale accrued to a large extent to the printing and building trades," the news letter said. "The past month was a period without striking economic events of any kind. Most of the changes in basic conditions were such as would normally be expected in the season; no additional grounds appeared either for predicting that existing depression would become more severe or for hope of an early revival.

"Industrial payrolls and employment fell, as usual at this time of year, and remained substantially below last Spring. In spite of the fact that practically all outdoor activities required increased laborers, the increase in these seasonal operations was not adequate to absorb the available supply of workers, and there were as many union workers out of work in May as in January, with the result that each month has meant a further lag in the recovery from Winter lay-offs.

"There was a slight gain in the index of industrial production, due almost entirely to the usual Spring spurt in automobile manufacture and building construction. The downward drift of wholesale prices continued, though at a modified pace. Food prices, however, advanced during the month, when employment and earnings declined."

In May the Labor Bureau completed a decade of continuous existence. It has rendered professional services to several hundred trade unions and other organizations.

"The bureau is an independent entity, not subsidized or endowed in any form," the news letter says. "Its only income is the fees it receives from clients, which are computed at the 'cost of production,' without any allowance for profits. These fees have been sufficient to maintain it."

SCORES EXPLOITING OF RICCI CHILDREN

Chicago Oil Man Who Aided Musical Prodigies Says He Has Withdrawn Support.

DOCTOR DECRIES CONCERTS

Asserts Boys Should Have Outdoor Play in Testimony at Trial of Guardianship Suit.

Pietro Ricci, California bandmaster, suing before Supreme Court Justice Valente to get possession of his sons, Ruggiero, 10-year-old violin prodigy, and Giorgio, 8, also a violinist, from Miss Elizabeth Lackey, who was appointed their guardian in California, offered testimony yesterday by Frederick H. Bartlett, wealthy Chicago oil operator and director of the Sinclair Oil Company, who paid for the boys' lessons and maintenance until last January, and of Dr. George A. Blakeslee, a mental specialist, in support of his plea.

Mr. Bartlett in reply to questions by Miss Lackey's attorney, Nash Rockwood, said he had no fault to find with her guardianship or with the method by which she had trained the boys as assistant to their teacher, Louis Persinger, but that he withdrew his support when he learned that a contract had been drawn by which Miss Lackey was to receive half the earnings of each boy until he was 21 years old.

Tells of Aiding Family.

Mr. Bartlett said that he gave $2,600 to the father in recent months but denied that the money was to be used by the father in trying to regain the custody of his children so that Mr. Bartlett might be made the guardian. He said $400 was to assist the Ricci family in California and the rest was for a violin for Ruggiero. He said that he and his wife "knew there was some agreement with Miss Lackey, but we did not learn until recently that there was to be an equal division of the profits." He said, "I am opposed to the financial exploitation of the boys."

The witness told of sponsorship concerts given by the Ricci boys at the Bartlett Summer home, House in the Woods, at Lake Geneva, Wis., and at the Hotel Huntington at Pasadena, Cal., and praised the playing of both children, especially of Ruggiero. Mr. Bartlett says that he and his wife have no "selfish interest," in aiding the father.

Dr. Blakeslee of 105 East Fifty-third Street, neurologist, listened to the reading of a hypothetical question by Carl Sherman, counsel for the father, covering the training and the series of ten concerts in as many weeks in ten cities, already arranged for Ruggiero, in some of which he is to play for at least ninety minutes, and is to be soloist with leading orchestras. Dr. Blakeslee was told that in addition to the rehearals Ruggiero was required to have three one-hour lessons a week, was also studying French, Italian and grammar school subjects and spent most of his time in a New York apartment house. He was asked his idea of the effect of such a life on a boy of that age.

Urges Outdoor Life for Boy.

"A boy of 9 or 10 should be out in or spinning tops, and should be in the fields playing marbles, baseball groups with other boys," replied Dr. Blakeslee. "The herd instinct should be cultivated and he should have proper sports."

"You wouldn't suggest baseball for a boy violinist?" asked Justice Valente.

"No, I wasn't thinking of a violinist when I mentioned baseball, but there are many sports which are not harmful. He should not live such a concrete and narrow life as was indicated by the question. In my experience the leading of such a life causes great fear that later he may break down."

"What do you think the effect of ten concerts in ten cities in ten weeks would be likely to have?" asked Mr. Sherman.

"It would be a great mental strain on a boy of that age and might lead to a depression or a praecox state. A boy who neglects play, social relations and companionship does not lead a normal life."

Mr. Rockwood in his cross-examination brought out the fact that the question proposed contained no information as to the play time now provided for the boy, and that the assumption that he does not play now was unjustified.

The testimony of Mr. Bartlett disclosed that his wife is a relative of the wife of Mr. Persinger, the boys' teacher, and that the Bartletts became interested when they heard that the Ricci family was poor. He said that his wife, through him, gave between $400 and $700 a month for the support and education of the boys in 1928 and 1929.

The hearing will continue today.

Husband Played Bridge 3 Days, Says Wife; Charges in Suit He Made Enough for a Year

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 10.—Robert S. Landstreet, insurance company adjuster, "sat in a bridge game for three solid days and made enough to keep him a year," according to a statement made in the Supreme Court here today. Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Landstreet of New Rochelle applied for alimony and counsel fees in a separation action begun by her on the grounds of cruelty and abandonment.

The wife's attorney, in asserting that Landstreet had other income besides the $3,800 paid him by an insurance concern for which he has worked ten years, characterized Landstreet as a past master in bridge, well known at exclusive clubs in New York. The Knickerbocker Club was the only one mentioned.

"This man has stayed out all night on several occasions and would often spend his nights in his bridge clubs," the lawyer asserted.

"This a case of mother-in-law," countered counsel for the husband. "Things she has done have caused this latest rift and she also caused another separation between the couple in November last year. The defendant on the 25th of that month was barred from his own home when he came home at 1 o'clock in the morning. Landstreet loves his wife and wants to live with her but he does not want to support his mother-in-law."

Mrs. Landstreet was also called a bridge expert and was said to have been earning $25 a week by teaching bridge in the New Rochelle apartment occupied by the couple. Part of this she contributed toward the rent, it was said.

Justice Morschauser said he could not believe all the things he heard about mothers-in-law, but added: "Few women can see their daughters are wrong. She should stay away from this couple if she is interfering."

Counsel for the husband said his client was willing to pay Mrs. Landstreet $50 and the rent of the apartment each month until the lease expires in October, but after that, he contended, one-third of Landstreet's salary, about $100 a month, should be sufficient. The wife asked $150 monthly after October. Justice Morschauser reserved decision.

The couple were married in 1922 and have a daughter, 6 years old. Another child died after an illness.

FIND 200 EGYPTIAN TOMBS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 10.—The Turin Museum's Egyptological expedition reports having discovered while excavating in its concession in the region of Gebelein a cemetery of the pre-dynastic period in which were found 200 tombs, mostly belonging to the pre-dynastic period, though a few belonged to the first dynasty.

There were graves of circular and oval form in which bodies were placed in a contracted posture, wrapped in mats and sometimes enclosed in gazelle skins. Particularly interesting was a tomb of a bullock in which only the head was buried with two vases, a small basket and a flint knife. They also found a vase of unbaked pottery containing barley.

The scientists said there was evidence of the presence at Gebelein during the pre-dynastic period of a people with special characteristics of the cranium and other parts of the body, differing from those of the populations of the period which the expedition had studied in the same region during previous campaigns.

SUSPECT QUERIED AS BUDD KIDNAPPER

Youth Says Prisoner, Held for $3,800 Theft, Looks Like Man Who Abducted Child.

The kidnapping of 10-year-old Grace Budd, which in two years has led detectives on a score of blind trails throughout the city and into New England, New Jersey, Ohio and Canada, again seemed near solution yesterday with the partial identification in a line-up before eight detectives at Police Headquarters of Charles Howard, 49 years old, as the man who disappeared with the child from her home at 406 West Fifteenth Street.

Detective William S. King of the Missing Persons Bureau arrested Howard in Belvedere, Fla., on complaint of his wife, Mrs. Annette Howard. According to her statement to the police she married Howard last May in Florida. They came to New York and lived with her aunt at 2,410 Second Avenue. Eight days after the marriage Howard disappeared with $2,800 of her money and $1,000 belonging to her aunt, according to Mrs. Howard's complaint. Magistrate George W. Simpson in Harlem court held him in $5,000 bail yesterday for a hearing tomorrow on a charge of grand larceny.

Mrs. Delia Budd, mother of the missing girl, and William Korman, 18 years old, of 110 Ninth Avenue, faced the line-up yesterday. Mrs. Budd was unable to identify Howard, but the boy pointed him out, saying: "He looks very much like the man." Howard denied the charge.

1 KILLED AND 3 SHOT IN GANG WARFARE

ASSAILANTS GET AWAY

Police Lay Shooting to Feud Between Rival Groups Over Slot-Machine Privileges.

One man was killed and three wounded, one of them seriously, late last night in an Italian neighborhood in the East New York district of Brooklyn by four gunmen in what the police believed to be the outgrowth of a war over slot-machine privileges by rival racketeering gangsters. The assailants escaped.

The dead man was identified as George De Feo, 24 years old, but the police were unable to learn his address. The wounded men, all of whom were taken to Trinity Hospital, were:

RELIS, ABRAHAM, 24, of the same address, shot twice in the back; condition serious.

The shooting occured at the southeast corner of Glenmore Avenue and Linwood Street, where De Feo and his companions had stopped their automobile to repair a flat tire on a rear wheel. The four men, their coats off andt heir sleeves roled up, were working on their car when another machine drove up. While one man stayed at the steering wheel, three others stepped out and without warning opened fire, arousing the entire neighborhood with their fusillade. One of the bullets shattered the plateglass window in the grocery store of Salvatore Rizzo at 742 Glenmore Avenue.

De Feo fell dead with a wound in the abdomen and one in the head. His three companions were wounded as they scurried for cover. Whether they returned the fire the police failed to learn.

The police say that De Feo, Goldstein and Relis all have criminal records, Relis having been released from Sing Sing only two months ago. De Feo, the police said, had just collected money from a slot machine in Rizzo's store.

MERMOZ IS READY TO HOP.

Flier Has 1½ Tons of Mail for Return Brazil-France Trip.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAO PAULO, Brazil, June 10.—Unfavorable weather conditions continue to hold Jean Mermoz, French air mail flier, in Natal where he has been waiting since Sunday night to make a 2,000-mile return hop across the Atlantic in his single-motored monoplane. Several starts have been made but he has either been unable to get off the water because of too heavy a load or has encountered tropical storms a short way out and has been obliged to return to his base.

The plane is owned by the French Compagnie Aeropostale and will make the first trip to Africa and Europe with one and a half tons of mail.

The plane was held last night in Natal harbor although weather conditions were favorable for a take-off because low tide did not bare the tidal flats and it was impossible to get the necessary run for the take-off.

At midnight Mermoz and his two companions, another pilot and a mechanician, decided to get some rest. A new attempt may be made tonight. Low tide comes early in the evening so Mermoz may fly back to Pernambuco and take off there before dark.

RADIO SET TESTED ON SOUTHERN CROSS

OPERATOR VERY CONFIDENT

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALDONNEL AIRDROME, Dublin, June 10.—Reports of unfavorable weather over the Atlantic reached here late today, keeping the Southern Cross in its hangar another day.

Dawn Friday is now the earliest possible time that Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith can expect to take off.

Although the present forecast will apply for the next twenty-four hours, the British Air Ministry is hopeful that conditions will be better thereafter.

While impatient over the delay, Captain Kingsford-Smith and his crew are determined not to start until they can expect reasonably good weather on most of their ocean journey.

Precautions Against Accident.

DUBLIN, June 10 (AP).—Wireless tests, including the sending of every conceivable type of call, were made today at Baldonnel Airdrome between the Southern Cross and another plane as a step in preparation for Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith's proposed transatlantic flight.

The Southern Cross remained in the hangar while a Free State plane tumbled about in the air for one hour, three miles away. The messages were received and sent by J. W. Stannage, radio expert of the Southern Cross.

Mr. Stannage was enthusiastic about the results.

"We have nothing to fear from bad wireless performance," he asserted. "I believe our ability to keep in touch with the world will inspire us with extra confidence."

The fliers said they were eager to have ships keep in touch with them and that messages regarding the weather particularly would be appreciated.

The monoplane will be flown at a height of about 2,000 feet as much as possible. Part of her supply of fuel was taken aboard today to prevent delay at the Curragh Field.

Today's weather reports showed an improving condition over the Atlantic. Captain Kingsford-Smith said he hoped to be off by Friday. He and M. E. Van Dyk, co-pilot, went to the Baldoyle races this afternoon and there met Richard Croker, son of the late Richard Croker of New York. Mr. Croker had made a dash from Cobh, but failed to reach the course yesterday in time to lead in his horse Custodian, which won the chief event.

Extraordinary precautions have been arranged to prevent a mishap at the take-off, which is regarded as one of the most dangerous features of the flight. This is because of the weight of the machine and the fact that the start must be made crosswise of the wind instead of directly into it, as is customary, owing to the peculiar conformation of the runway at Curragh.

To avert peril from fire in event of a crash during the take-off, the two-mile runway has been lined with chemical fire extinguishers in addition to water hose.

The fliers intend to skirt Newfoundland and, should their gasoline supply run low, will land at Old Orchard, Me. They may stop there anyway, as Captain Kingsford-Smith favors a brief halt at Old Orchard irrespective of the quantity of fuel.

Captain Kingsford-Smith will be in charge of the take-off, and then will turn over the piloting to Van Dyk, but Captain Kingsford-Smith also will take the controls at landing and at intervals during the entire flight.

In whiling away the time at Baldonnel awaiting favorable weather, the noted Australian is playing a ukulele left there by Baron von Huenefeld, the German flier who made the transatlantic flight in the Bremen. It is understood that he intends to take the ukulele as a luck piece.

As to the financial aspects of the venture, it is understood that Captain Kingsford-Smith will receive about $50,000 from accessory firms if the flight is successful. His partners will receive $5,000 each, and Mr. Stannage hopes, in addition, to obtain a commission in the British Air Force.

James McNeill, Governor General of the Free State, visited Curragh today and inspected the runway.

DICKEYS GO UP ORINOCO IN A SAILING VESSEL

Slowed by Lack of Breeze, They Fear Floods—Will Change to Small Craft at First Falls.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, June 10.—Latest reports here state that the Dickey expedition is proceeding up the Orinoco in a sailing vessel to the first falls, where it will change to a small craft, as the regular river steamer is still unable to start.

Six days after the departure from Ciudad Bolivar the party's ship was still visible from the town, tacking from side to side and looking for a breeze. Unless favorable winds come soon there may be difficulties, owing to the floods expected this month.

Bound for his third attempt to reach the source of the Orinoco, Dr. Herbert Spencer Dickey of the American Indian Heye Foundation of this city, his wife and other members of the foundation, sailed from New York on March 20 for Trinidad.

The party was held up at Port of Spain because the river steamer on which it was to embark for the Orinoco suffered a broken paddle, but finally sailed on April 9. After reaching Ciudad Bolivar, 225 miles from the mouth of the river, the expedition was further delayed because the boat to which it was to transfer for the journey to Puerto Ayacucho was unable to get away because of low water upstream.

The expedition is equipped with a wireless set and will furnish THE NEW YORK TIMES with an account of its progress.

SOVIET UNITY SEEN IN TOMSKI SPEECH

LOST HIGH POST RECENTLY

After Hearing Him Tiflis Parley of Party Votes Support of the Kremlin in All Policies.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, June 10.—A news item inconspicuously published in today's Izvestia gives a startling answer to those who expected a fresh outburst of intraparty controversy at the coming Communist party convention. It states that after hearing a statement on behalf of the central committee by Mikail Tomski and the usual discussion which followed the party conference of the Caucasian Federation in Tiflis voted a resolution approving the Kremlin's policies and management of party affairs.

M. Tomski was one of the leaders of the "Right" Opposition, who challenged Joseph Stalin's policy last Summer and was removed from the important post of President of the Central Council of United Labor Federations. Unlike his associate, Nikolai Bukharin, M. Tomski, however, retained his place in the Politburo, which M. Bukharin was forced to leave. The third associate, Alexei Rykof, trimmed his sails before the storm and emerged with no loss save diminished prestige and remained President of the Council of Commissars of the Soviet Union.

Shows His Capitulation.

That M. Tomski was selected to speak for the Kremlin at such an important conference as the Caucasian Federation means a pretty complete capitulation on his part, because it goes without saying that the Kremlin would not have sent him to Tiflis without knowing just what he would say there. Which explodes the theory of some foreign observers here that M. Stalin would be violently attacked by the "Right" in the party convention, and that there even would be an attempt to replace him as general secretary of the party by M. Tomski himself.

This theory started from the premise that M. Stalin as a Left extremist was at bitter odds with his Politburo colleagues, Rykof and Tomski and War Commisar Clemence Voroshilof, who was "forced" early this Spring to modify the 100 per cent Socialist agrarian policy and proposed to "take his scalp" at this month's convention.

An agreeably sensational program, and attractive to all who refuse to admit—or dislike the idea—that the Bolshevist party of Russia is now and has been from the outset firmly united in its determination to make Russia 100 per cent Socialist at all costs, with no more than comparatively minor differences about the method and speed of the socialization process.

Stalin Holds to Middle Course.

Joseph Stalin is not a "Left extremist—indeed, he is opposed to Leon Trotsky, who wished to go too fast toward Socialism, even more firmly than he is opposed to the Rights who wished to go too slow. He is a practical, hard-boiled political leader whom his colleagues in the Politburo could not afford to displace even if they were able to do so. And they know it.

In point of fact, it was M. Stalin who introduced modifications of policy last March because he judged them desirable and necessary, and it was he who took the responsibility for the change. It is true that in the excited weeks that followed there seemed a temporary possibility that he might fall between the two stools unsupported by the Rights, mindful of last year's defeat, and abandoned by the Lefts, piqued by the changed policy.

That danger, if it ever existed, he overcame and today holds his favorite key position between the two groups. The Left is impotent and the utmost the Right can hope for is that present submission will leave enough of them in high places to stress their views again should new economic or other difficulties give them further opportunity.

PORTES GIL ASKS INQUIRY ON 'PLOT'

Requests Ortiz Rubio to Sift Charge That He Conspired Against President's Life.

GIVES THE LIE TO MORONES

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, June 10.—The political bomb exploded here on Sunday by the former Minister of Industry, Commerce and Labor, Luis N. Morones, who charged that Emilio Portes Gil when Provisional President had instigated a plot against the life of President Ortiz Rubio during the latter's visit to the United States last January, has resulted in a letter from Señor Portes Gil to the President requesting a thorough investigation of the charge.

Yesterday Señor Portes Gil was with Señor Ortiz Rubio for more than an hour at the Presidential residence, Chapultepec Castle, after which the following letter from the former was published:

"Yesterday's press published declarations by Luis N. Morones containing statements of a grave nature against me, in that when I was charged with the Provisional Government I headed a plot against your life, taking advantage of communistic elements for that end and also using those of the Ministry of the Interior.

"That accusation, although it brings a charge against my public life, I regard as fundamentally unimportant, but it forces me to request you to take full steps of investigation, both in the records of the Ministries of the Interior and of Foreign Relations, as well as the consulate at Los Angeles, to test the accusation against me and thus to demonstrate the untruth of the gratuitous calumny of Morones."

The Labor Federation of Transport and Communications, affiliated with the National Revolutionary party, which is headed by Señor Portes Gil, is strong in defense of him and attacks Señor Morones in no uncertain terms.

EL CENTRO, Cal., June 10 (AP).—Detective Lieutenant William Hynes of the Los Angeles Police Department said here today that a Communist plot "to embarrass President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico during his pre-inauguration tour of the United States" was discovered in Los Angeles.

Hynes, who is in charge of the "Red Squad," said the plot was discovered before Señor Ortiz Rubio's trip to Los Angeles was canceled. The President-elect, at the time of the discovery, was at the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Hynes said there were rumors that the plot included violence, but that the Los Angeles police were prepared to handle any situation that might have arisen had the visit been paid.

"I do not know whether our report of the contemplated demonstration had any effect upon President Ortiz Rubio's plans, or whether it was responsible for his decision to cancel his trip to the Pacific Coast," Hynes said.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The State Department denied today any knowledge of an alleged plot against the life of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico at Los Angeles last January during his official visit to the United States.

The department said it had received no communication from the Los Angeles police, knew nothing of the alleged plot and had sent no message of the character reported by Luis Morones to Señor Ortiz Rubio.

The following day he will fly for Antofagasta, then will go to Santiago for three days before taking off for Buenos Aires.

The American aviator said his flight probably would end at Rio de Janeiro, but he added that if his plane remained in good condition he might fly back to the United States.

SOVIET CLERK FEARS RETURN TO MOSCOW

TALK OF A KIDNAPPING

One Story Says He Was Being Taken Forcibly by Agents After Refusing to Go.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, June 10.—Michael Naumoff, employed by the Soviet trade delegation in Paris, tried to commit suicide at a small station in Eastern Poland on his way to Warsaw.

Naumoff, after four years' service in Paris, was ordered home last week. The Warsaw Soviet Legation refused to give him a special entrance visa to Russia, saying his passport would suffice. Naumoff suspected he would be arrested on his arrival at the Russian border.

His nervousness grew when he saw a man watching him on the train. He alighted at the station at Biala, the man following him. Naumoff attempted to throw himself under a passing train, but the mysterious man prevented him. Naumoff then rushed into the station buffet, with the stranger behind him, seized a table knife and thrust it into his abdomen.

He is now in a Polish hospital. The mysterious stranger, believed to be an Ogpu agent, disappeared.

Some versions of the story say Naumoff was being forcibly taken to Russia by Soviet agents.

WARSAW, June 10 (AP).—The Polish press today reported that a former clerk in the Paris branch of a Russian trading agency attempted to commit suicide at the Biala Podlaska station last night while being forcibly taken to Russia. They quoted the man as saying he had been ordered to return to Moscow but had refused to go and that Soviet agents later took him from Paris by force.

Police said the man, whose name was given as Michael Naumoff, jumped from the train and tried to throw himself on the rails. Prevented from doing this he inflicted light wounds upon himself with a small knife.

He has asked the Polish authorities for permission to remain in Poland or to return to France.

SPAIN TO VOTE IN NOVEMBER

Cabinet Decides on Election Immediately After Census.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, June 10.—The Spanish Council of Ministers decided tonight to hold parliamentary elections immediately after the electoral census is completed on Nov. 15.

On assuming office after the fall of the Primo de Rivera dictatorship in January, the government of Premier Dámaso Berenguer pledged itself to speed the restoration of constitutinal government by holding elections for a new Cortes or Parliament. This, however, was a more difficult task than appears on the surface, as the old political parties had disintegrated in the six years of the dictatorships and voting lists were out of date, so there was no machinery for holding an election.

In addition to these difficulties every move to renew freedom of speech seemed to open the way for attacks on the government, which freqquently resulted in riots.

The government moved so slowly that some critics accused it of having no intention of holding real elections. The setting of an approximate date may be construed as an answer to this kind of criticism.

advance down the Yangtse Valley to Nanking.

The Nationalist danger at this key group is further intensified by the presence of swarming bandit gangs on both banks of the Yangtse River and the already alarming activity of Communist leaders and guerrilla troops which have shown themselves at the outskirts of the Wuhan cities in advance of the Southern rebels.

Also, the successful Kwangsi army at Yochow is only one of four major rebel commands which are making serious thrusts into Nationalist territory. A heavy Northern attack centres on Tsinan, capital of the Shantung Province. In the Yangtse Valley to the east of Yochow a rebel column is heading for Shasi, a big revenue and opium centre tapping the Upper Yangtse. And Chang Fa-kwei's Ironsides are advancing into Kiangsi Province with Kiukiang as the objective.

Until the battle Monday at Yochow, which, before it occurred, was seen as likely to prove of crucial importance to the fortunes of the Nationalists, Nanking had played for some time its usual game of fighting little while carrying on extended negotiations calculated to exhaust the rebels, whose financial and material resources are believed to be inferior to Nanking's.

Fall of Tsinan Foreseen.

For months the National Government largely confined its war efforts to the defense of Tsinan, where Northern forces were at least temporarily stayed in a drive through Honan and Shantung provinces toward Nanking. The fall of that city, Tsinan, however, is now believed to be at hand.

Meanwhile the Ironsides of the southern rebel troops have shown an amazing mobility in a march north into Central China after months of wandering around the southern provinces. This army is very small, but comparatively well trained and disciplined. Also it is rapidly being expanded by Communists and bandits.

In view of developments in China the Japanese authorities early this week decided that the position of the Nationalists was too weak to warrant their sending military officers to China to train Nanking forces. Japan is adhering strictly to a hands-off policy in the present situation.

ASSASSIN IS A PRUSSIAN.

Slayer of German Envoy in Lisbon Has Been in Jail and Insane Asylum.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 10.—Franz Piechowski, assassin of Dr. Albert von Baligand, German Minister to Portugal, still is a Prussian citizen, inasmuch as he had not claimed citizenship in the Danzig Free State, where he was born.

He has been imprisoned several times for petty theft, fraud and offenses of violence. In 1922 he was placed in an insane asylum at Launenburg, Pomerania, whence he escaped a few months later and is said to have emigrated to the United States, where, however, he could not be traced.

AMERICA OPPOSES SMUGGLING TREATY

GEMS OUR CHIEF PROBLEM

Government Emphasizes That Its Liquor Hunt Is Separate From General Question.

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 10 (AP).—The United States Government today officially frowned upon a general treaty for the suppression of smuggling. The State Department in a formal reply to a communication on the subject to the League of Nations discountenanced the advisability of such a pact as of no great assistance to that country.

"While smuggling, from the economic and fiscal point of view," the note said, "is of importance to this government; a general treaty on the subject would probably not be of great assistance to the United States at this time.

"Diamonds, jewelry and other merchandise of small volume and great value constitute the chief commodities smuggled which affect our industries and defraud the government of revenues.

"The smuggling of liquor, which under the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution is a contraband commodity, has become an important smuggling problem, a problem, however, having but little relationship to the economic and fiscal aspect of the general question of smuggling.

"Since the adoption of prohibition, bilateral treaties in regard to this question have been negotiated with fourteen countries. These so-called 'liquor treaties' provide for the search and seizure of suspected smuggling vessels on the high seas within one hour's sailing distance from the coast of the United States, and as a quid pro quo ships flying the flags signatory to these conventions are allowed to bring liquor into United States ports under seal."

The proposal for a general international agreement to check smuggling was advanced by the League's economic committee.

SHARAGRAM BIBLE STOLEN IN LONDON

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 10.—The police suspect that a wealthy collector inspired the theft of a priceless 350-year-old Sharagram Bible from the Royal Army Medical Corps library on the Millbank, near the Houses of Parliament, for which every British port is being watched.

The Bible written, during half a lifetime by Philaros the Deacon and finished about 1580, a hundred years after the invention of printing, is so well known to every book expert that only one desiring to gloat over his unique capture in solitude could ever benefit from the theft, which was carried out with extraordinary daring. The bible was presented to the library by Colonel Manifold Craig, "Whose family had it for generations.

One of the earliest known maps of the British Isles was also stolen. It was included in a book of charts known as the Portolano maps, drawn by the Venetian Benincusa in 1463.

SUES EQUITY FOR $100,000.

LOS ANGELES, June 10 (AP).—Andy Wright, stage producer, filed suit today for $100,000 against the Actors Equity Association, alleging it had prevented his production of "Philadelphia," a stage play, in San Francisco after an expensive Eastern cast had been brought there.

The suit charges that Equity and its local representative, Charles E. Miller, agreed to sanction the play, but withdrew the approval just before May 4, the opening date.

The Asso iated Press last night quoted Frank Gilmore, president of Actors Equity Association, as saying that, prior to ofifcial notification of the suit, Equity would have nothing to say about the $100,000 action filed in Los Angeles by Andy Wright.

KING CAROL WARNS ALL INTRIGUING FOES

"In No Case Will I Put Up With Conspirators," He Says, but All Parties Are Tolerated.

PLEAS TO HELEN STILL VAIN

Princess Shows No Indication of Forgiving Prodigal to Become Rumania's Queen.

SIX GENERALS ARE RETIRED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, June 10.—Although with the plaudits of his rejoicing country still ringing in his ears King Carol II was able today to begin unopposed the pleasant task of rewarding his friends and getting rid of his enemies, there were indications that he might not find it all plain sailing.

For one thing, the Liberal party, after some apprehensive wavering, seems to have decided to stand fast behind Vintila Bratianu and his policy of adherence to the dethronement act of 1926. When this was made clear by a party resolution today, Carol's comment on the news was a scarcely veiled threat. According to the newspaper Tzara, he declared:

"I come from France, a republican country. I will put up with Socialist and even Republican groups, but in no case will I put up with conspirators."

Former Wife Still Aloof.

Though the King may be ready to take a strong hand with party leaders it is becoming increasingly evident that now, as formerly, he is likely to have his troubles with that sex which does not lend itself to such summary treatment. Two governments have gone in and out of office to enable him to ascend the throne, but he has not succeeded so far in overcoming the proud aloofness of Princess Helen, his former wife.

Earlier reports that application for annulment of the divorce decree had been made to the courts are now denied and it is learned that no steps have been taken toward a formal reconciliation. The Prince's lawyer made a reservation at the time of the divorce to the effect that Carol reserved the right to oppose it, so it would not be a difficult legal matter for him to have the decree set aside now. But so far he shows no signs of doing it.

It was notable in his speech to the National Assembly on Sunday that the King mentioned Crown Prince Michael, but not his wife Helen, an omission which Professor Jorga and President Pop-Ciceo of Parliament remedied, amid applause of the deputies, in their replies. The words which King Carol exchanged with Princess Helen when he visited his son two days ago in Chausse Palace were purely formal.

The King has taken over the task of educating his son, and to this end has had him removed to Cotroceni Palace, his present headquarters. From there he is taken every day by Mr. Hill, his English tutor, to visit his mother.

Overtures Made to Helen.

Premier Mironescu and Carol's former tutor, Professor Jorga, have added their efforts to those of Prince Nicolas and former Queen Elizabeth of Greece to bring about a reconciliation between the royal pair, but so far without result. Those who know the dignity of Princess Helen assert with confidence that if it rests with her to take the first step there will never be a reconciliation. Meanwhile Rumania has a King, but no Queen.

Whether Mme. Magda Lupescu, red-haired divorcee for whom Carol surrendered his sovereign rights for five years, has disappeared forever from his life is still a matter for speculation among Carol's friends. His morganatic ex-wife, Mme. Zizi Lambrino, reappeared today in the fierce white light of publicity which beats upon the throne. She declared in an interview that her marriage with Carol had never been morganatic and that she awaited his recognition of their son Mircea, who now lives in a Paris suburb with his mother.

Another sensation was seen today in the departure from Rumania for foreign parts unknown, lock, stock and baggage, of Prince Stirbey, once reputed favorite of Queen Marie and an admitted enemy of Carol. It was rumored that Carol once boxed his ears, and, like M. Diamandi, Rumanian Minister in Paris, whose chief task in recent years had been to keep watch on Carol's movements in the French capital and who resigned today, he had little to hope for from the returned prodigal.

Six army generals have been retired, including General Nicholeanu, Police Prefect of Bucharest. Generals Presan and Averescu have been raised to the rank of Marshal. Amnesty for military offenses, which is believed to be the prelude to a general political amnesty, has been proclaimed. Prince Nicolas, who was raised yesterday to the rank of general of division, today was appointed Chief Inspector of the Rumanian Army, a new post.

There still is no decision regarding the leadership and the political complexion of the new government which is to succeed that of Premier Mironescu but Dr. Julius Maniu's chances of heading it are growing stronger. It is highly probable that George Bratianu, though his attempt to lead the Liberal party into Carol's fold has met with only minor success, will be included.

Officers Pledge Allegiance.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 10 (AP).—A reorganization of the army was accomplished today by King Carol II as the first important step in a program of stabilization of the affairs of Rumania.

The King spent virtually his whole day in receiving members of the officers' corps of all branches of the service, who swore allegiance, and with matters bearing directly upon the formation of a new government.

The urgency of the latter problem was made evident by the thought which Carol is giving to the selection of a Prime Minister. The King hoped to have his government completed by tomorrow. This seemed tonight to be doubtful. The King is making every effort to obtain a government that will be looked upon favorably at home and abroad and strengthen the political and financial status of Rumania.

In political circles it is generally presumed that Nicolas Titulescu, Minister to London and "mystery man" of Rumanian politics, who has held the balance of power among the various factions in Rumania since the end of the World War, had much to do with Carol's sudden decision to abandon the rôle of the prodigal. At any rate he is receiving the credit for having headed off Vintila Bratianu.

M. Titulescu returned to his post at London last Wednesday. It was not believed today that he would be summoned by King Carol to Bucharest in the near future.

The city of Bucharest was still in festive array today. Flags were everywhere and there was an atmosphere of good-will. Crowds were still peeping through the rails of the royal palace, which was guarded by only three policemen and a sentinel of the guard in a tall busby, who paced before the palace portals.

Queen Marie Starts Home Today.

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, June 10 (AP).—Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania is planning to leave Oberammergau early tomorrow for Munich to catch the Orient Express for Bucharest.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 10.—King Carol's first official action on his succession to the Rumanian throne, in recalling the Rumanian Minister to Paris, M. Diamandy, has caused a certain critical view to be taken here of what is described as "the Rumanian adventure."

M. Diamandy's only fault was that he carried out the instructions of the government of his country with regard to the exiled Prince while the latter was plotting either here or in England to overthrow the established government. That he should thereby have earned the Prince's displeasure is natural enough, but the immediateness of his recall has produced the impression that the same instability of judgment which the late King Ferdinand noted in his son may still prevail.

Here the question of how the new régime in Rumania is to be financed is being much discussed. It is believed unlikely that either Paris or London will provide the financial backing which is considered essential during the next few months. Perhaps, it is suggested, the money will be sought in New York, and the impression is that if that is the case Rumania may find that the security which will have to be provided will have been of a serious nature.

CAROL WOULD RAISE RUMANIA'S POSITION

STRESSES ECONOMIC SIDE

By JULES SAUERWEIN,
Foreign Editor of Le Matin, Paris.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, June 10.—"Restored to a normal régime and enjoying the advantages of stability, Rumania can now aspire to that high place in Europe acquired by her victory in the World War."

These words, spoken with emphasis and vigor, sum up concisely the attitude which Carol, acclaimed King by his whole country, assumed instantly upon his return and which the new monarch voiced to me in a long interview tonight.

Although he had just finished a long day's work and, in fact, had scarcely slept since he alighted from the airplane that brought him here from exile, Carol, whom I had often seen and conversed with during the drab days when he was an outcast, seemed animated by a new inner flame.

In his white uniform, with his blond hair and the vivid color in his cheeks, he gave the impression of an extremely young man and one inspired with new-found energy which was making him equal to the gigantic tasks involved in his unheralded return and in the solving of a Ministerial crisis, not to mention innumerable family difficulties. He made many rapid gestures, but from time to time glanced out of the window with a fond look in his eyes as he viewed the gardens and sights which no doubt had been often in his mind in exile.

"There is a tremendous task to be done here," he said, "which must be begun by absolute maintenance of our foreign policy, while at the same time strengthening the country economically and reorganizing the army. The head of my Cabinet will devote himself particularly to reconstructing the economic situation. This country has vast resources and we must make them productive. More than any other factor, this one inspires confidence. In this we shall seek outside aid, but we expect to prove ourselves worthy. Rumania has a monarch now who will be unsparing in his efforts."

Reviewing his country's status, the King showed a vital interest in the problems he was discussing and an earnestness of attitude which was most impressive. Almost his first words were words of gratitude for the courtesies received from France during the years he took refuge there.

"I telegraphed the French President not only because I desired to announce my accession to the throne but because I wanted to express thanks to the country which for four years had shown me cordial hospitality," he explained. Carol recounted with visible excitement the details of his return and his reception by Parliament.

"I now feel certain that I did right in coming home," he declared. "I have been received with immense enthusiasm and the National Assembly accorded me interminable ovations. I was scarcely able to speak two words in succession before my speech was interrupted with applause.

"Perhaps my greatest joy, however, has been the reception given by my brother Nicolas. He has shown a devotion, self sacrifice and affection which have touched me profoundly and now, added to his other services in my behalf, he has given up his holidays to aid me."

SEE BALKANS CALM OVER CAROL'S RETURN

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 10.—Monarchical and Right organs of Germany believe Carol's return to Rumania is purely a dynastic affair which is not likely to have repercussions outside the borders of Rumania.

The Socialist Vorwaerts concludes that so long as the Rumanians craved a monach they naturally preferred a life-size ruler to a child King, who was represented by a three-headed regency. Its cartoon depicts the Princess Hermine rushing to the former Kaiser's outdoor workshop at Doorn, Holland, excitedly waving a newspaper and exclaiming:

"And you hanging around here chopping wood!"

"Carol's prospects are not half bad," says the Hamburger Nachrichten, "for it is evident the coup was well prepared and has the support of the Rumanian people."

The Boersen Courier concludes that Carol is treading uncertain ground because of the instability of the Balkan nations, stressing the post-war drift of events in Greece and the impending conversion of Hungary into a monarchy.

WYNNE SEES DANGER IN TUBERCULOSIS HERE

Says More Than 60,000 Children Have the Disease—Urges Diagnostic Tests.

Health Commissioner Wynne, speaking at the Brooklyn Kiwanis Club luncheon in Leverich Towers yesterday, said that between 60,000 and 90,000 school children in the greater city have definite lesions of tuberculosis. He said in each case the disease has been traced to some adult member of the family with whom the child has been in contact.

Dr. Wynne said thousands of children have been found to be suffering from advanced stages of this disease. He said a survey is now being made in all the public schools and as a result those exhibiting first lesions are receiving proper treatment and those who have advanced to more serious stages are being removed to isolated places.

Dr. Wynne said research has proved there is no such thing as adult tuberculosis. He said the disease imbeds itself in children and in some cases is not noticeable until unhealthful surroundings bring about a slow deterioration of the tissues.

He said that although the death rate has been reduced from 400 to seventy for each 100,000, the disease could be completely eliminated if parents would take advantage of the service and advice available at the various health centres.

Dr. Wynne said that one of the principal causes for this continuance of the disease is the lack of diagnostic service for people of moderate means. He suggested that doctors offer their services for a reasonable fee and to a greater number of people.

He said that through the progress made by the Health Department a child born now has a natural expectancy to fifty-six years, as compared with forty-one a generation ago. He pointed out that illness is costing the people of the city $150,000,000 each year, despite the fact that $5,000,000 is spent in preventive work.

FRENCH AVIATRIX FAILS.

Mme. Bastie, in Endurance Trial, Is Up 22 Hours and 27 Minutes.

LE BOURGET, France, June 10 (AP).—Mme. Maryse Bastie, a French aerial acrobat, today failed in an attempt to establish a new world record for women in an endurance flight.

Mme. Bastie, who took off from Le Bourget at 8:18 o'clock last night, was forced to land at 6:45 P. M. because of lack of gasoline. She had been in the air 22 hours and 27 minutes.

Mme. Bastie is seeking to regain the world record recently taken from her by a young naturalized Russian girl, Lena Bernstein.

Mme. Bastie learned her air acrobatics from Maurice Drouhin, a famous flier who was killed testing his transatlantic plane two years ago. She has done all kinds of air stunts and made parachute jumps, but has abandoned these in preference for acrobatics and record trials.

INDIAN PRESS BITTER OVER SIMON REPORT

Alludes to Volume I as an 'Insult,' Slighting the National Aspirations.

MODERATES DISAPPOINTED

Say Next Volume Must Show a Considerable Advance if It Is to Be Well Received.

REPORT SEEN AS OUTDATED

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, June 10.—"The Simon Commission insults India," "Dominion status in the dim and distant future," "India not a nation," "British domination to continue".

Headings, such as these, glaring across the front pages of the leading Swarajist newspapers of India today, epitomize the feeling of the Congress extremists toward the first volume of the much-heralded Simon Commission report on India.

An official résumé of the instalment of the report, running approximately 9,000 words, appeared in most of the English language newspapers of the country this morning. With the exception of the strictly English-owned journals, which usually support the government in its hours of difficulty, however, the document is almost universally rejected as failing entirely to meet the national aspirations of the Indian people.

Report Regarded as Outdated.

It is felt here that the report is outdated by the Viceroy's recent declaration relating to Dominion status and the government's plan for a round-table conference in London. erally accepted as Mohanda Gannence to it, even those which always threatened to ignore it.

"The first instalment of the Simon folly" is the front-page caption in the extremist Bombay Chronicle, generally accepted as Mohandas Gandhi's semi-official organ. This newspaper goes on under another heading, "India Defamed," in its editorial columns to describe "almost every line of it as a subtle and revolting libel on India and her people."

"Jinnah and all those liberals and nondescripts who are fascinated by the prospect of a round-table conference helped to make the boycott of the Simon commission all white report a phenomenal success," continues the newspaper. "If they are patriots they must adhere to their decision and boycott the report now at every stage and in every form.

"Whether they do so or not, the country's course is clear. It will carry on the struggle and will accept no settlement save that arrived at through Gandhi and the Congress and which secures to it the substance of independence."

The Indian Daily Mail, representing Liberal and Moderate opinion, similarly discards the document as "uninspiring" and as a failure. The arguments in the report pointing to the impossibility of the Indianization of the army, leaving defence in the hands of Indian Ministers, and emphasizing the difficulties in the way of the country's achieving full swaraj are advanced as the principal objections to its acceptance by this journal.

"Badly Cooked Rice Pudding."

The Mail continues, "Its treatment of India's legitimate demands, its accounts of various situations, its guile of booklike inaccuracy, its childlike faith in official position, its comments, its generalization and its obvious trend of thought can be dismissed as being nothing more or less than a rather badly cooked rice pudding, strongly flavored with the cinnamon of die-hardism."

The extreme Swarajists unite in condemning the report as unacceptable. The opinions of individual Liberal and Moderate leaders vary slightly, though on the whole, judging by the views expressed today, they expect a considerable advance in the next section of the report, if it is to have any chance of success here.

Among the representatives of this latter view is Sir Phiroze Sethna, chairman of the National Liberal Federation. He says "much importance seems in some quarters to be attached for no reason to the fact that the report is unanimous. This is hardly necessary, for we could not have expected anything else.

"The commission consisted of three Conservatives, two Liberals and two Labor Members of Parliament. Ordinarily there is hardly any question of importance on which the members belonging to the three political parties of England can see eye to eye. The case of India is totally different. When the Great War broke out, the suffragettes were militant, the Irish were giving no end of trouble to the British, and yet they readily joined hands against the common foe. There is something analagous in this.

Sees Unanimity as Inevitable.

"The Simon seven, however well-meaning they may be, must likewise agree to give India as little as possible and to keep England's hold on it as long as they can."

H. P. Mody, chairman of the Bombay Mill Owners' Association, said, "Of one thing I am certain: that the recommendations of the Simon commission will have to be very advanced in character if they are to receive the slightest consideration in this country." Shaukat Ali, a Moslem leader and former Gandhi aide, said, "I am very anxiously awaiting the second part of the report, but in the meantime I am convinced the commission has stated the Moslem case very sympathetically."

Sir Chimanlar Stalval, a lawyer and a former member of the Bombay Government, said: "To me it is pretty clear that the recommendations are sure to be such as would never satisfy the Indian national aspirations. I am afraid the recommendations, if they turn out as anticipated, will add fuel to the fire and will make the situation worse. It is a tragedy that, in their sincere desire and efforts to satisfy Indian opinion, Lord Irwin and the Labor Government should have encountered the very great obstacle of the recommendations of the Simon commission."

PARIS (Wednesday), June 11.—The negotiations for the operation of the Young plan loan were concluded at 12:30 o'clock this morning, when the bankers of nine nations signed a series of agreements for the issuance of the $300,000,000 loan on Thursday.

The price of issue was fixed at 90 in all countries except France, where, as the bonds will be tax exempt, the price to the public will be 98.

The United States, $98,250,000; Germany, 36,000,000 reichsmarks (the reichsmark is worth 23.8 cents at par); Belgium, 35,000,000 belgas (the belga is worth 13.9 cents at par); France, 2,515,000,000 francs (the franc is worth 3.91 cents at par); Great Britain, £12,000,000 (the pound is worth $4.86 at par); Holland, 73,000,000 florins (the florin is worth 40.2 cents at par); Italy, 110,000,000 lire (the lira is worth 5.26 cents at par); Sweden, 110,000,000 kronor (the krona is worth 26.8 cents at par), and Switzerland, 92,000,000 francs (the Swiss franc is worth 19.3 cents at par).

Six Documents Signed.

The value of the entire issue will be between 340,000,000 and $350,000,000.

Six different documents were signed today, including a general omnibus contract covering the whole arrangement, a general bond agreement, a statement by the German Finance Minister, a letter from the Bank for International Settlements to each of the banking institutions approving the prospectus and, finally, nine prospectuses, one for each of the issuing markets.

The bankers had been in almost continuous session since 11 A. M. yesterday, with short intervals for lunch and dinner. Gates W. McGarrah, president of the world bank, insisted the bankers should continue in session until the final details were concluded. The treasury experts were also in communication with the Reich officials, who also signed the documents. The final ceremony was without formality, as the bankers were wearied after their long discussions, which were opened at Brussels on May 3, with frequent meetings since.

Although no announcement has been made, it is understood the banks' commissions will be fixed at 0.4 per cent.

The proceeds of the loan will be distributed as follows:

France, $132,215,000; Germany, $100,000,000; Britain, $50,000,000; Italy, $13,105,000; Japan, $2,060,000; Yugoslavia, $1,872,000, and Portugal, $748,000.

Issue May Be Later in London.

The British Government will receive the proceeds of the bonds issued in London. France and Germany will retain the whole proceeds from their respective markets and the remainder due to France, Germany and Italy and the whole share due to Yugoslavia, Japan and Portugal, will be taken proportionately from the proceeds of the issues in the United States, Holland, Sweden, Belgium and Switzerland.

In certain instances, probably in the case of France, the proportions of the American proceeds due, will be left in New York to cover outstanding obligations.

Britain, France, Italy and Belgium, however, have approved the terms of issue in accordance with Article XII of the trust agreement with the world bank, providing that the issue of a loan in any creditor country shall be under the control of the government concerned.

It is reported that the date of issue of the loan might vary in several markets and that the London and Paris issues might take place on Friday instead of Thursday.

BRUSSELS, June 10 (AP).—The Belgian Senate, without discussion, today voted the immediate total refunding of the remainder of the 7½ per cent $30,000,000 loan launched in the United States in 1920.

The House of Representatives has already voted the refunding.

DOUBLE TAX ACCORD NEAR.

French Officials Say Agreement With Us Is Almost in Sight.

PARIS, June 10 (AP).—An agreement between France and the United States to abolish double taxation was said today in official quarters to be almost in sight. The remaining details may be ironed out within the next few days, although no accord is likely for a week or so.

American and French experts have negotiated in the matter for some time. The agreement would afford relief to American subsidiary firms in France, which have suffered through being taxed both at home and abroad.

RAIN EXPECTED TO END DISTURBANCES IN INDIA

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, June 10.—The drenching rains of the monsoon season, which it is believed will not only dampen the ardor of Mahatma Gandhi's civil disobedience campaigners, but will put an end, temporarily at least, to outdoor demonstrations, are advancing along the western coast of India. There have been some heavy showers here and the metrological department forecasts the monsoon will soon spread inland.

BOMBAY, June 10 (AP).—Rioting between Hindus and Moslems in the Accra district, in which many were injured on Sunday, was reported to the authorities today.

The disorders began when natives hurled stones at a Moslem "Tajia," a sacred object which was being carried in a procession.

The head constable in the Haroge Kathlal outpost was injured when a large rock hit him in the head. Police warned the crowd to disperse, but the stone throwing continued. Two shots were fired into the crowd.

The All-India National Congress working committee, in session four days, called upon Indians to include in their civil disobedience program the anti-boycotting and anti-picketing ordinances of the Viceroy, Lord Irwin. Such activity by the people would quickly precipitate a crisis with the authorities and render once more acute the physical aspect of Indian affairs, they declared.

In Peshawar the activities of the British air and land forces today were said to have effectively curbed the Afridi tribesmen who, under the Haji of Turangzai, had been driven into their mountain hiding places.

In view of the Nationalist movement to strengthen the civil resistance program, government officials met in an important conference today at Poona to determine the government measures. It is understood that the officials will be aided by H. G. Haid, Home Member for the Government of India, and Sir J. E. Hotson, Member of the Governor of Bombay's Council.

CALCUTTA, June 10 (AP).—A mob reported to have been bearing firearms attacked a party of police at Chechuahat near Ghatal in the Midnapur district today. The police were stated to have returned the fire. The number of casualties was unknown.

The police party had gone to Chechuahat to investigate a report that mob violence had broken out there and that one sub-inspector had been murdered and another had disappeared.

CHACO WORK ALMOST DONE.

Reconstruction of Fort Vanguardia by Paraguay Near Completion.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, June 10.—News from Bahia Negra says that the Uruguayan military commission superintending the reconstruction of Fort Vanguardia by the Paraguayans prior to its delivery to the Bolivians in exchange for Fort Boqueron, expects to complete its intervention in the Chaco dispute within a short time, since the construction work at Fort Vanguardia has nearly been completed.

The commission, composed of Uruguayan army officers, went to Fort Vanguardia a month ago in accordance with the agreement signed between Bolivia and Paraguay at Montevideo. The agreement provided a modus operandi for the exchange of the forts in accordance with the finding of a commission of neutrals at Washington after a long investigation of the events connected with the skirmishes of December, 1928, which led to the severance of diplomatic relations and a threat of war.

EGYPT SUSPECTS RUSSIANS.

Two Seek Permit to Extend Stay in Order to Make Cotton Purchases.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, June 10.—Following the recent revelations of Soviet activities in Egypt, two agents of the Russian Government describing themselves as cotton experts went this morning to the Ministry of Finance to request the Minister to obtain from the Public Security Department, which is under British control, an extension of their permits to reside in Egypt. They informed the Minister they desired to purchase large quantities of cotton in the local market and from the government stocks.

The local press has been much exercised lately by Russian commercial activities, to which they turn a cold shoulder, fearing these may cloak subversive propaganda.

MORRISSEY GROPES UP COAST IN FOG

NOW OFF THE BAY OF FUNDY

By CAPT. ROBERT A. BARTLETT.

Copyright. All rights reserved.
Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ON BOARD THE SCHOONER MORRISSEY, At Sea, Bound North, June 10.—As every one knows, when going on a long trip, and especially in the last day or two before leaving, many things have to be attended to. With us, it has been the same, but after getting away, the day was fine and clear. The water of Long Island Sound, being smooth, gave us an opportunity to look over the letters and telegrams and to open the parcels that the kind friends had sent us.

It all reminds me of a gift that was made to me to keep for some future occasion. On my dash for the Pole with Peary the old steward, Charlie Percy, gave me one tin of milk. This was to be used as a "Patrick pot," as we say down home in Brigus, instead of rum on some great occasion. Down in Brigus a drink of rum on St. Patrick's morn is the custom.

One of the Eskimo boys said to me:

"You had better use it right away, not keep it. Once in your stomach it's yours. If you wait, it might be lost or the dogs might eat it."

However, I kept it, and after our long march on St. Patrick's Day and as soon as we got inside the igloo I was going to use it for our tea and honor the saint. And all that day I kept thinking of the tin of milk. Taking it out of a bag which held a few such treasures—for they were few, as Peary's orders were to go light and cut out all but the bare needs—I laid it on the sledge to bring into the igloo when it was ready for we three to get inside.

All at once I heard a yell and, looking round, I saw the dog beating it with the tin on his nose. Our milk that I had saved was gone. Though I didn't say much, the Eskimo, Kersing-Wah, said: "I told you to eat it right up. At least we might have had the satisfaction of having it in our belly."

So yesterday it was fine and dry and we went through all our gifts, distributing them among those who had things due them that kind friends had sent, and making a search for lost things. For the northeast coast of Greenland is a long way from Times Square when you want a thing. So we must be sure now whether anything is missing and plan to replace it at our next port of call.

I have come through Long Island Sound and the Vineyard and over the Shoals many times. The first time as skipper was on the Roosevelt. All other times it has been clear. This time it was all fog, and from the Race to the sheltered waters of the Vineyard we had that easterly roll—fog. So to the tune of the questing lead we went from buoy to buoy, lightship to lightship.

Here I would like to make a remark. When we were nearing the Cross Rip Lightship it cleared up a bit and for several minutes I could see the steam coming from her whistles as she made her signals of warning, but not until I was close. In fact, as soon as I could read her name distinctly from the deck, I could hear the whistle.

We were coming through a zone of black resistance. Should I ever have anything to do with passing on a poor unfortunate after a collision accident I could be only charitable toward him because sound is very deceitful.

Our dog, the gift of Rude Carpenter, is great fun. We have to watch him, for he is a Chesapeake retriever and we have to be on the alert seeing that he doesn't drop a marlinspike or bar of iron in the binnacle.

From Pollock Light Vessel to about twenty miles off Brazil it was fine. But now and all night it has been fog again. Once in a while we hear a steamer bound in or out the Bay of Fundy or the horn of a fisherman, sometimes two or three, letting us know on which tack they are anchored or running free.

Morrissey's Propeller Damaged.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 10 (By The Canadian Press).—The auxiliary schooner Effie M. Morrissey, carrying the Bartlett Expedition to East Greenland, put into Halifax today for repairs to a propeller shaft which suffered a mishap thirty miles off this port. The Morrissey will remain here a day or two.

SPAIN AGAIN ALLOWS FLAGS FOR REGIONS

King Revokes Law Imposed by Dictator in 1923 as Curb on Sectionalist Symbols.

BARCELONA LED THE MOVE

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, June 10.—Barcelona can lawfully fly her regional flag again. King Alfonso signed a decree yesterday revoking the law of September, 1923, forbidding the flying of regional flags which the late General Primo de Rivera held to be one of the most important of his measures, regarding the flags as symbols of sectionalism.

While the Basques, Gallegans and others can now fly their flags, the concession is most important to Catalonia, where it concerns one of the oldest problems of Spain. Though Catalonia, which includes Barcelona, no longer wants separation it manifests a strong regional spirit, demanding the teaching of its own language in the schools, and a more or less autonomous government.

The flag issue has been settled more by Barcelona's own action than anything else since she flaunted her banner during the King's two-week stay there from which he has just returned.

Catalonia has made sectionalism a question of sentiment, and it is held to outweigh either monarchism or republicism as a political issue. If concessions are granted, some observers say, Catalonia will be for the monarchy, but if they are withheld it is feared there is a possibility she will swing the other way.

It is understood the King's trip to Barcelona was not an unmixed success. While the public showed more enthusiasm than when the monarch visited Barcelona with the late General Primo de Rivera, for some reason the Catalans expected the King to promise, on the occasion of the dinner for the Mayors of Spain at Barcelona, considerable autonomy to Catalonia. But when the King did not make the expected remarks some disappointment was felt.

The Basques, though they have lost much of their former freedom, still have many rights, including that of assessing their own taxes, building their own roads and running their own primary education. Catalonia wants all this and more.

Though the Basque, Andalusian and Gallegan problems are not pressing, many observers wonder to what extent the sectional demands could be met by a republican government without causing constant squabbles such as the strength of the present central government prevents.

FIVE CONTEST BY-ELECTION.

Tory, Laborite, Nationalist and Two Communists Seek Glasgow Seat.

GLASGOW, June 10 (Canadian Press).—There will be no Liberal candidate in the by-election in the Shettleston division of Glasgow, to be held June 26. Mrs. R. Fitzgerald, who was regarded as a prospective candidate, has declined to contest the seat, and it is understood the Liberal executive will advise party supporters to refrain from voting. The seat is vacant as a result of the death of the former Labor member, John Wheatly.

Even without the Liberals, however, there likely will be five candidates in the field—a Conservative, a Laborite, two Communists and a Scottish Nationalist. Great interest is attached to the election because of the candidacy of Shapurji Saklatvala as a Communist. Mr. Saklatvala was one of the stormy petrels of the House of Commons in the last Parliament, when he represented North Battersea.

Police Shoot Korean Terrorist.

DAIREN, China, June 10 (AP).—Japanese consular police at Lungchingstun, Kirin Province of Manchuria, today shot and killed a Korean named Kin, who was said to have been the ringleader of Korean acts of terror against Japanese at Lungchingtsun on May 31. Another Korean was killed and one was arrested.

URUGUAY EXPECTS BACKING.

Depends on Bolivia and Paraguay in Move for League Seat.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MONTEVIDEO, June 10.—Uruguay is depending on the support of Bolivia and Paraguay in its aspiration for election to the Council of the League of Nations to occupy the seat now held by Cuba.

Bolivia and Paraguay are entitled to present candidates for the Council at the next election, but in view of their recent strained relations over the Chaco dispute League members would find serious political difficulties in choosing between them. Because of Uruguay's important assistance in settling their quarrel and bringing about a renewal of diplomatic relations, it is expected here that both will vote for Uruguay.

It is also reported that Uruguay expects the vote of San Salvador, in exchange for which she would support the candidacy of Salvador's delegate to be a member of the Court of International Justice.

SHIFT OF LUKE EXPECTED.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

JERUSALEM, June 10.—It is reported in local official circles that Harry Charles Luke, Chief Secretary of the Palestine Government, who administered Palestine during the Arab uprising last August, will not return to Palestine, but will obtain a more important post in the colonial service, possibly as Deputy Governor of Malta.

The rumors are not confirmed officially, but there are grounds to believe Mr. Luke's transfer is likely.

ADMIRAL KATO QUITS HIGHEST NAVY POST

CONSIDERED FOR NEW POST

Resignation of Suyetsugu Is Held Tantamount to Dismissal for Criticizing the Naval Treaty.

TOKYO, Wednesday, June 11 (AP).—Admiral Kanji Kato, Chief of the Navy General Staff and recently appointed a member of the Supreme War Council, resigned today. Admiral Shoshin Taniguchi was appointed to succeed him.

By WILFRID FLEISHER.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TOKYO, June 10.—Following the resignations yesterday of Vice Admiral Yamanashi as Vice Minister of the Navy and of Vice Admiral Suyetsugu as Assistant Chief of the Naval General Staff, it is expected Admiral Kanji Kato, Chief of the Naval General Staff and the central figure in the long-drawn-out controversy between the government and the navy over the London naval treaty, will resign in the next few days.

The Cabinet at a meeting today is understood to have approved the appointment of Vice Admiral Kobayashi to succeed Vice Admiral Yamanashi as Vice Minister of the Navy and of Vice Admiral Nagano, head of the Naval Academy and former Naval Attaché at Washington, as Assistant Chief of the Naval General Staff. At the same time the Cabinet is reported to have discussed the resignation of Admiral Kato and to have considered appointing him to a post on the Supreme Military Council.

Admiral Kato's withdrawal would constitute a victory for the government and would clarify the atmosphere. Admiral Kato all along has contended the government accepted the London treaty without properly consulting the Naval General Staff, in alleged contravention of the Constitution. The government has taken the attitude that it consulted sufficiently with the naval authorities before accepting the treaty.

There are indications that the resignation of Vice Admiral Suyetsugu was forced by the government, and that its acceptance by the government was tantamount to dismissal for his criticism of the London treaty.

The resignation of Admiral Kato has been looked for ever since Admiral Takarabe returned from London, when the controversy reached a head. It has been generally understood Admiral Kato wanted to retain his post until the Privy Council had acted on the treaty in the hope that he would be able to exert more influence upon the council in his position as Chief of the Naval General Staff.

LEAGUE LABOR GROUP OPENS GENEVA SESSION

Conference to Consider Forced Labor, 'White Collar' Workers and Coal Miners.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, June 10.—The fourteenth International Labor Conference began its sessions here today with a record attendance of fifty-two of its fifty-five member States. The conference, which performs the same function for labor organizations as the Assembly does for the League of Nations, will consider the adoption of conventions on three questions: the abolition of forced labor, the hours of work for "white collar" employes, and the working hours in coal mines.

The proposed convention on the first question would abolish forced labor for private interests three years after ratification and for public purposes after a longer period.

The convention on office and other business employes would give them an eight hour day and a forty-eight hour week. It is also proposed to investigate the situation of hotel, restaurant and amusement employes with a view to limiting their hours later.

Coal miners would receive a seven and a half hour day and a forty-five hour week under the proposed convention before the delegates.

The opening session was devoted to formalities and the election of Professor Ernest Mahaim of Belgium as president of the conference. The meeting will last three weeks. A number of Ministers of Labor, including Miss Margaret Bondfield of Great Britain, are attending. Mexico, which is not a member, is represented for the first time by an observer. New Zealand is represented by delegates for the first time. The United States is not represented.

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 10 (AP).—Prince Yakamatsu of Japan and his bride today attended the opening session of the fourteenth international labor conference.

GREECE AND TURKEY IN FRIENDSHIP PACT

MORE TREATIES TO FOLLOW

Greece Agrees to Pay $2,125,000 Indemnity—Status Quo Is Recognized Under Pact.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ISTANBUL, June 10.—The signing today by the Turkish Foreign Minister, Tewfik Rushdi Bey, and the Greek Minister, M. Polychroniadis, of a Greco-Turkish accord ends the hundred years' armed enmity between the two neighboring countries. By the provisions of the accord, which contains thirty-three articles, the Greek Government will pay a $2,125,000 indemnity in connection with the property settlements and the exchange of populations. In case a dispute arises the Mixed Commission of the League of Nations will decide on the granting of Greek or Turkish citizenship to individuals. Those Greeks who left Turkey without proper passports lose the right to return.

The accord represents a compromise, Greece having previously balked on the financial remuneration and the passport provision, while Turkey objected to giving to the Mixed Commission the final word on the exchanged populations.

Many of the disputed points were supposed to have been settled at Angora last Summer, when it was proposed each country should retain the confiscated properties and should itself settle the claims of the non-exchangeable populations—a plan which would have permitted the Mixed Commission to complete its work in a year. Since then, however, the countries have continuously disagreed and notes were repeatedly exchanged until this week.

Under the accord Greece and Turkey for the first time recognize the status quo as a probably permanent condition. Other accords will later be entered into, but the present one settles the most vital problems resulting from the World War.

Excluding the Treaty of Lausanne, the only treaty both countries have signed in recent years was that at Bucharest ending the Balkan War of 1912-1913. The new treaty will be submitted to the National Assembly before Thursday.

Turkish Press Hails Pact.

ISTANBUL, June 10 (AP).—The Turkish press hails the consummation of the treaty with Greece as making the Turkish horizon more peaceful than it has been for six centuries. Twenty thousand Greeks in Istanbul, who, under the accord are recognized as established residents, especially welcomed the treaty. During the last seven years the inability of the two nations to agree upon their status has made them officially "lost souls," unable to procure passports or any legal document.

The Turkish Government requires civil marriages, but as it did not recognize these Greeks as citizens of any country it would not grant marriage licenses to them. Hence there are at least 300 couples living together without a legalized union who will now be able to make their marriages legal.

Forty thousand other Greeks who were recognized under the 1923 agreement as established Turkish citizens may also benefit by the treaty through the probable removal of the existing restrictions—such as that prohibiting liberty to travel.

The accord also calls upon the Mixed Commission for settlement within six months of the 1,000,000 property claims remaining among the claims of about 1,500,000 Greeks, formerly sent from Turkey to Greece, and 400,000 Turks sent from Greece to Turkey. The commission will have to speed up, for at its rate of working during the last seven years it would take several hundred years to reach a complete settlement.

Lauds Balkan Union Plan.

ATHENS, June 10 (AP).—Premier Venizelos, speaking to the Chamber of Deputies today, expressed warm sympathy with the idea of a Balkan federation looking to consolidation of peace in the Balkan countries.

M. Papanastasiou, leader of the Democratic Union, advocated a congress which would seek to form a federation. Such a congress, he argued, would facilitate Aristide Briand's proposed federation of European States, and he requested the government to permit the body to meet in the Greek Chamber of Deputies.

Premier Venizelos heartily congratulated M. Papanastasiou on his efforts to promote the congress, whose aims, he said, deserved sympathy. He approved the use of the chamber for its sessions, but added that the government could not yet officially approve participation in the congress, since he thought the project was not yet sufficiently mature to produce immediate results.

One of its first tasks, he said, should be to call upon those in power to create conditions which would enable the Balkan peoples to join hands in peace and cooperation.

The Premier's utterances were loudly applauded.

SUES TODAY TO BAR PAY OF DR. WALKER

Civil Service Reform Group to Act on Engaging of Mayor's Brother by School Board.

CHARGES LAW VIOLATION

Another Action to Attack Salary of Dr. Walsh, Brother of Head of the Standards Board.

Complaints have been served and papers will be filed today in the New York County Supreme Court charging violation of the civil service law in paying salaries to Dr. William H. Walker, brother of the Mayor; Dr. Robert Emmet Walsh, brother of Chairman William E. Walsh of the Board of Standards and Appeals, and eight unnamed clerks in the Brooklyn Municipal Court, it was announced last night by H. Eliot Kaplan, executive secretary of the Civil Service Reform Association.

The complainant he named as Nelson S. Spencer, chairman of the association, which he said was founded in 1878. Motion has already been made, he declared, for an injunction restraining the city authorities from further payment of salaries. The suits take the form of taxpayers' actions under the civil service law.

Reviews Case of Dr. Walker.

Dr. Walker, medical consultant to the Board of Education, whose duties include passing upon teachers' applications for sick leave, started this work in May, 1926, Mr. Kaplan said, under the title of medical examiner. Beginning in August, 1927, he added, Dr. Walker served without salary, since the State Civil Service Commission had declined to exempt him from examination and he refused to take the examination on the ground that that position was exempt from it.

But on Jan. 23, 1930, the Municipal Civil Service Commission, according to Mr. Kaplan, learned from the Board of Education that the latter had made a contract with the physician to continue his work under the title of "medical consultant," agreeing to pay him not more than $6,500 annually. Mr. Kaplan declared he would "rather not say why Dr. Walker worked three years without salary," but asserted that abolition of the old title and creation of the new was a subterfuge.

The complaint is directed against George J. Ryan, president of the Board of Education; Controller Berry, the Municipal Civil Service Commission and Charles A. Buckley, City Chamberlain. It accuses them of "a palpable attempt to evade the requirements of the civil service law and the State Constitution," according to Mr. Kaplan.

Status to Dr. Walsh.

Dr. Walsh, who serves as medical examiner in the Finance Department, according to Mr. Kaplan, succeeded a Dr. Byrne, who died in 1928, and who held the position under the competitive examination system. The Finance Department, he said, asked the Municipal Civil Service Commission to exempt Dr. Walsh from the examination to enable him to take the post.

This was done, but the State Civil Service Commission twice refused to ratify the exemption. In January, 1923, Mr. Kaplan continued, the Municipal Commission approved payment of a salary of $5,000 annually on the ground that the Finance Department had contracted with Dr. Walsh for a special form of work. Mr. Kaplan charged it was the same work he would have done under the title of medical examiner. The defendants in this action were named as the Controller, the City Chamberlain and the Municipal Commission.

President Justice Timothy A. Leary of the Municipal Court is named in a third suit, Mr. Kaplan asserted, on the ground that eight assistant clerks in the Brooklyn Municipal Courts are employed "illegally and in violation of the civil service law." Justaice Leary, he said, had requested the Municipal Civil Service Commission to exempt the positions from examination, but no action had been taken and the clerks had been employed nevertheless.

MAYOR'S INACTION ON VAUSE ASSAILED

Mayor Walker was criticized for his alleged inaction in the face of scandals involving former County Judge W. Bernard Vause of Kings and the Board of Standards and Appeals last night by Louis Waldman, co-chairman of the Socialist party's committee on public affairs.

Mr. Waldman was the principal speaker at a meeting in the Harlem Socialist Educational Centre, 62 East 106th Street, where one of a series of neighborhood mass meetings was held to arouse public sentiment in favor of a State investigation of municipal affairs.

"Our campaign to awaken the civic conscience and to arouse the people to the fact that we are back in the days of Boss Tweed," said Mr. Waldman, "would not be necessary if Judge Francis X. Mancuso, Magistrate Albert H. Vitale and Judge W. Bernard Vause and Dr. William F. Doyle were merely isolated instances.

"It would perhaps not be necessary if those who are not accused but who are the higher-ups and who have known what their associates are doing would give the slightest indication that they abhor corruption and consider public office a public trust. If these higher-ups did not know what was going on, they are guilty of gross incompetence and ought to be driven from public office on that account.

"In the case of Judge Vause the Sinking Fund Commission had the power, and did vote, on the pier leases. The highest city officials, including the Mayor, are members of that commission. The records must disclose whose recommendation it was that led the commission to approve the leases. It would take a few hours to find out the truth. A word from the Mayor would bring the whole thing into public view. But all the Mayor will say is 'Judge Vause is a fine fellow.' That is the extent of the Mayor's interest in this scandal."

It already has been disclosed that the Sinking Fund acted upon the recommendation of Dock Commissioner Michael Cosgrove, who in turn followed the suggestion of his predecessor in office, John H. Delaney, now chairman of the Board of Transportation.

BOY, 4, KILLS BROTHER, 3.

Both Sons of Hudson Policeman—Were Playing Circus in Bed.

Charles A. Walk Jr., 3-year-old son of Policeman Charles Walk of the Hudson County police, was shot dead by his 4-year-old brother, George, yesterday morning, with their father's service revolver, in their home, at 282 Manhattan Avenue, Jersey City.

The children were playing in their bed shortly after 8 A. M. Their parents were in an adjoining bedroom waiting for the rain to stop before starting on a vacation trip to Canada.

According to Inspector John Underwood the older son, who had been taken to the circus the night before, discovered the revolver on a dresser and sought to mimic the clowns with their cap pistols. He pointed the weapon at his brother's head and pulled the trigger, the inspector said.

The parents rushed into the bedroom and found George terrified and still holding the gun. The wounded child was placed in an automobile and rushed to City Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Judge Thomas F. Meaney of the Juvenile Court said he believed it was an "unavoidable tragedy."

TUTTLE TO RECALL SHIP LINE HEADS

Will Scrutinize Personal Bank Accounts of Three to Trace Fees Paid to Vause.

SAYS VOUCHERS ARE 'BLIND'

Crain Reports No Progress in Lease Inquiry—Is Lauded for Zeal by Business Group.

The personal bank accounts of three high officials of the United American Lines will be subjected to the scrutiny of the Federal grand jury seeking to learn why the company paid former County Judge W. Bernard Vause $250,000 for obtaining leases to two city-owned piers, United States Attorney Tuttle announced yesterday.

Mr. Tuttle's announcement followed the disclosure by him that vouchers and bills covering $187,500 of the amount the company paid the judge, who resigned Monday to devote all his time to preparing his defense to the many charges against him, failed to reveal any details of what he did to earn the large fee. The vouchers were turned over to Mr. Tuttle by officials of the line, who testified before the grand jury a fortnight ago that they feared the documents were lost.

To Recall Lines' Officers.

After remarking that the vouchers were "blind, deaf and dumb," so far as shedding any light on the mystery he is trying to solve, Mr. Tuttle declared he would recall all the company officers whose names appear on the vouchers to see whether they could supply the missing date. This time, he added he intended to go into the bank accounts of the company's officers although he would not say where he hoped this new course of action might lead.

Richard H. M. Robinson, former president of the company; Christian J. Beck, a vice president and H. R. Hanlin, executive assistant of the company, all of whom have been before the grand jury before, are the witnesses who will be recalled, Mr. Tuttle said. The vouchers show that each of these men, at one time or another, authorized the payment of substantial sums to the former County Judge, although the explanation for the disbursement never was more specific than "for legal services," or for "professional services and conferences."

The vouchers showed that several payments of $25,000 and $30,000 were made on the authority of Mr. Beck or Mr. Hanlin or both. Usually, however, payments averaged about $4,000 a month. One bill on the letter head of Vause & Vause under date of June 5, 1925, was for $25,000 "for professional services rendered and retainer."

This prompted Mr. Tuttle to remark that it was difficult to understand the reference to the "retainer" in 1925, when Judge Vause had entered the case in 1922.

"I've been in the legal business long enough to know that no ordinary bill is rendered in that way," he said.

Disputes Vause Counsel.

Mr. Tuttle denied the assertion of Nathan D. Perlman, attorney for Mr. Vause, that the former judge had no conection with the Columbia Finance Corporation, despite his indictment for mail fraud and grand larceny in its failure, with a loss to investors of $400,000. The government was prepared to show, Mr. Tuttle said, when the trial opens next Monday that Mr. Vause took "an active and directing interest" in the company and even approved the literature by which it solicited business.

Regarding the defense attorney's assertion that Frank Baxter, the mysterious person who received more than $35,000 of the pier lease money, was a real individual, Mr. Tuttle said:

"If Mr. Perlman or Mr. Vause can suggest any means of finding Frank Baxter, we will put at their disposal all the assistance that I or the United States Government can command."

Nothing has developed since he charged that the large fee paid the former judge, was a "slush fund," to cause him to change his mind, Mr. Tuttle said. Although he would not say that he was nearer now to identifying the ultimate recipients of the money, he intimated that he hoped the mail fraud trial might provide some valuable clues.

Praise for Crain.

District Attorney Crain, who has been investigating the pier lease matter, also had no progress to report. He made public a letter from C. E. Clemens, secretary of the Ridgewood Chamber of Commerce, informing him that the Queens organization had gone on record to commend him for his zeal and courage in exposing conditions in the city, particularly with reference to the indictment charging Mr. Vause with grand larceny in connection with the finance company failure.

Although no word was received from Albany regarding Governor Roosevelt's action on Mr. Vause's resignation, it was explained that no action was needed to make it effective, in the case of an elected official. Assistant Deputy Controller John H. O'Brien announced that Mr. Vause's salary of $22,500 yearly as a County Judge would cease automatically on the date he sent his resignation to the Governor. The letter of resignation was dated June 8.

E. W. M'MAHON SLATED AS VAUSE SUCCESSOR

Lawyer Believed to Have McCooey Backing for Appointment by Governor Roosevelt.

Edward Ward McMahon, who was defeated for the Supreme Court bench on the Democratic ticket in 1920, is slated to succeed County Judge W. Bernard Vause, who resigned Monday, it was learned yesterday. It was understood that McMahon had the endorsement of John H. McCooey, Democratic leader of Brooklyn.

Unless unforeseen circumstances arise, Brooklyn Democrats expect Governor Roosevelt to accept the McCooey recommendation. Others mentioned for the post are Albert Conway, State Superintendent of Insurance; Peter P. Smith, former Assistant District Attorney, and Frederick L. Kopff, Assistant District Attorney.

The appointee will fill the remainder of Judge Vause's term, which expires Dec. 31. It has always been the policy of the Kings County Democratic organization to designate a temporary appointee for a full term. In this case Governor Roosevelt's choice is expected to make the run for a fourteen-year term at the November elections. The position pays $22,500 yearly.

Although the county is strongly Democratic, this year's election, it was said, may be very close because of the Vause case. Of the Republicans mentioned to oppose the Democratic choice this Fall, former County Judge Reuben L. Haskell was said to have the best chance. Others mentioned are John Francis Moore, former County Judge William R. Bayes and former Representative Charles G. Bond.

Until Governor Roosevelt names a successor to Judge Vause, Judge William C. Thorpe of Greene County will fill the place.

Mr. McMahon, who is a Manhattan attorney, lives with his wife and family at 438 Grand Avenue, Brooklyn. He has been very active in politics, although he has held no public office.

T. A. T. Carried 5,474 in May.

The Transcontinental Air Transport-Maddux Air Lines carried 5,474 passengers and flew 244,286 miles during May, it was announced yesterday at the company's office here in the Pennsylvania Station. During the first five months of 1930 the system has carried 19,307 passengers and the eighteen planes of the company have flown 971,242 miles.

DOYLE PLANS FIGHT IN HIGHEST COURT that these rooms made "factories" of the buildings, that additional fire escapes would have to be installed and the interiors changed.

Then, Mr. Tuttle said, Dr. Doyle was retained by Saks & Co. with the result that the Board of Standards and Appeals decided no additional fire escapes would be necessary and that small partitions around the workers in the alterations rooms would meet all requirements.

Another check in Mr. Tuttle's possession was made out to Dr. Doyle by the Sobel Holding Corporation, Fifth Avenue and 110th Street, and was dated June 10, 1927. It was for $2,750 and was cashed by Dr. Doyle at the main office of the Corn Exchange Bank in Manhattan. No part of it was deposited. The cashiers of the Flatbush Avenue branch and the main office of the Corn Exchange Bank have been notified to appear at Mr. Tuttle's office for questioning.

Crain Looks Into Garage.

District Attorney Crain, who is also conducting a grand jury investigation into the Board of Standards and Appeals, directed this inquiry yesterday into matters connected with the erection of a garage at 152-164 Eighty-seventh Street, a permit for which was granted by the board in spite of determined opposition by property owners in that neighborhood.

The Stanhope Estates, former owners of the property, according to Mr. Crain, had entered into negotiations with Alexander Geiger and two other men to sell the plot to them and also to obtain, in advance of the sale, a garage permit. The Stanhope Estates retained Edward P. Doyle, who has previously been referred to as Dr. Doyle's associate in his offices at 11 John Street, although the two Doyles are said to be unrelated to each other. Edward Doyle, Mr. Crain said, had been paid a $250 retainer and soon thereafter Dr. Doyle had been "substituted" for him. The Stanhope Estates then agreed to pay Dr. Doyle $15,000 for obtaining the desired permit, Mr. Crain asserted.

The permit, applied for Sept. 7, 1928, was granted later by the Board of Standards and Appeals, Mr. Crain continued, and Dr. Doyle, who also had been paid a retainer of $250 at the outset, was then paid $6,000 more in the form of a check made out to Edward Doyle, but cashed by Dr. Doyle. The fee of $15,000 originally agreed upon, according to Mr. Crain, was later reduced by Dr. Doyle to $11,250. The garage, it is alleged, was erected in violation of the zoning laws, which do not permit garages in that section.

When told of the Stanhope Estates case, Mr. Tuttle said he had already covered that very largely and was continuing his inquiries about it. Officers of the Stanhope Estates, he added, had been before the Federal grand jury last week.

Witnesses before the county grand jury yesterday included Alexander Geiger, Maxwell Crames, attorney for Stanhope Estates; Congreve Jackson of the Stanhope Estates, and Joseph Golding, an officer of the corporation which owns the building at 25 East Eighty-sixth Street, wherein William E. Walsh, chairman of the Board of Standards and Appeals, is said to occupy a $4,000 apartment at a $1,500 rental unsecured by lease. Several city employes also were questioned.

Appeals Board in Session.

The Board of Standards and Appeals, although under investigation by two grand juries, held another meeting yesterday at which Chairman Walsh presided. Two cases in which Dr. Doyle was to have appeared for applicants were laid over, one until July 15 and the other until July 22. In reference to each case Chairman Walsh read a letter from Dr. Doyle in which he asked for a postponement, due to the fact that he was "engaged in Federal Court proceedings."

The first item was a building zone application by Joseph Goldberg, owner, to permit in a busines district the erection and maintenance of a gasoline station at the southwest corner of Hylan Boulevard and Lincoln Avenue, Grant City, S. I.

The other matter was a reopening in which Dr. Doyle was to have appeared for Shaw & Sanford asking that they be not restricted to one tenant in their building at 1,985-93 Jerome Avenue, the Bronx.

Chairman Walsh made a reference to public criticism during consideration of a petition for variation on the part of the Fox Film Corporation affecting their building at 830-50 Tenth Avenue, 441-61 West Fifty-fifth Street and 450-56 West Fifty-sixth Street.

Papers presented by the petitioners described the building as "fireproof." In the argument it developed that the building had a wooden roof.

"How do you explain this?" the chairman asked. "We are being severely criticized as public officials by the press already. What a public clamor would be started if I let a thing like this go through without question. We are accused of being too harsh. But in this case your papers say this building is fireproof and yet you admit that it has a frame roof. In my opinion you would have to be a magician to reconcile those declarations."

On motion of counsel for the petitioner the papers were corrected so that the building was described as non-fireproof.

ROOSEVELT URGES ECONOMY IN CITIES

SEEKS LABOR STABILITY

Governor Thanks Conference for Aid in Inquiry to Check the Causes of Unemployment.

Special to The New York Times.

UTICA, June 10.—The indebtedness of cities and incorporated villages has increased two or three times in the past few years as compared with the indebtedness of the State, Governor Roosevelt told the Conference of Mayors today in urging municipal economy.

The removal of the State tax on real estate has helped many communities, he said, but more of the cities of the State are approaching their debt limit.

"One of two things will happen," he declared. "Either you gentlemen will run to Albany to change the debt limit or curtail many of the expenditures of the cities."

The Governor said that the Mayors' conference has been of great help to him and that he had often availed himself of its facilities.

"You have made it possible for the State to initiate reforms which would have been otherwise impossible," he told the conference. He mentioned the reports given by the cities on unemployment and said they were clear and honest.

"I am sorry I can't say the same thing for various organizations of business," the Governor continued. "The reports of individual chambers of commerce to Albany stated there was no unemployment, that everything was rosy and any one could get a job who wanted one."

The Governor said he appointed an unofficial commission to go around the State and get to the root of the unemployment problem.

"This," he said, "is a question, not of finding immediate jobs, but to make employment in the shops and factories a more stable thing.

"It is a planning of employment so there will be an ironing out of peaks and valleys that cause trouble. Cities are now applying modern business methods to cope with the situation. We have made real progress although the end is not nearly in sight."

Governor Roosevelt said he hoped that the present cordial relations between the municipalities and the Executive would continue, and that he appreciated their assistance.

The Governor in a midnight speech last night before the Democratic Club urged approval of the $50,000,000 bond issue for hospitals and prisons in the referendum at the next election. He said he would make another tour of the State as he did last year.

IDLENESS TAXING CHARITY.

Hudson Guild Finds Illness and Malnutrition Widespread.

The effects of unemployment among the population served by the Hudson Guild, 436 West Twenty-seventh Street, are taxing the resources of the guild to the utmost, Alexander M. Bing, president of the guild, declared yesterday at a luncheon meeting at which the Summer program of activities was discussed.

"They are especially evident," he said, "in the physical condition of many people in the Chelsea district served by the guild. Cases of serious illness in which the mother hesitates to call the doctor because of the $2 fee are conspicuous. Effects of malnutrition are becoming obvious to guild workers in weighing and nursing children."

BARYTES is an important mineral used extensively in a great variety of compounds produced in the St. Louis District. More than half the entire output of Barytes in the whole United States is mined within sixty miles of St. Louis.

This exceedingly useful mineral is necessary in the manufacture of such diversified products as asbestos, blanc fixe, colors, explosives, fireworks, insulating material, lithopone, paints, paper, hydrogen-peroxide, printers' ink, rubber tires, sealing wax, tile, shade cloth, soap, ceramics and titanium pigments.

Barytes is only one among the 27 great mineral resources of this vicinity. Some require quantities of cheap electrical power for their profitable development, and here is an unlimited electrical supply. Water is of major importance to others, and here is the Mississippi River. Coal is the determining factor to others, and here is the world's greatest coal field.

A Vast Consuming Market Close By

To all these, the vast consuming market of 50,000,000 people within 500 miles is a tremendous advantage. Quick transportation in every direction, and low freight rates, make distribution easy and profitable from this most central city of the country.

Already these conditions have built up a huge Chemical Industry in St. Louis. Here, for the new chemical industries of tomorrow, is the ideal location. If your Company, or one in which you are interested, uses any of these raw materials—or products made therefrom—it would pay to learn more about Industrial St. Louis and its advantages.

What $16,000 buys in The American Weekly

A full page in color nearly three times as big as any other magazine page in the world . . . 6,000,000 families at a cost of less than ⅓ cent per family . . . The attention of the entire family instead of a single buying factor.

MIGHTY factor in the commercial life of our times, the chain store sells to millions who pass America's busiest corners with money in their pockets.

Woolworth, Atlantic & Pacific, Grant, Kresge, J. C. Penney, United Cigar Stores, Kroeger, Safeway, Piggly Wiggly, Liggett's, The May Company, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward and others are names to be conjured with.

The advertiser who is interested in the markets covered by these great chain store organizations will find in The American Weekly a publicity medium not easy to ignore.

In one out of every four of the buying homes of the nation, The American Weekly, greatest of all magazines, lays the national advertiser's message before the tremendous total of nearly 6,000,000 families concentrated in the rich areas where chain stores thrive.

To demonstrate how this nearly six million circulation influence carries far beyond the major markets, an analysis of The American Weekly's circulation shows that in more than 1,000 small cities and towns, wherein J. C. Penney Company Stores are located there are 3,876,444 families.

In these centers the circulation of The American Weekly is almost twice as great as that of any other publication—1,149,083 American Weekly readers against 640,725 for its nearest competitor, and a coverage of 29.64%.

The significance of these facts is well known to some of America's most successful advertisers who have invested heavily and profitably in American Weekly white space.

Their significance is well known also to chain store executives whose shelf space is valuable and who only understand the language of consumer demand.

The tremendous driving force of this mighty medium has registered time and again on the chain store's sales reports.

So irresistible is its power that chains regard it as a barometer of buying.

When it goes to work in earnest for a product chain store buyers stock the merchandise to meet the demand they know inevitably will come.

Why the great effectiveness of this medium?

First of all, The American Weekly concentrates and dominates in 536 of America's 812 towns and cities of 10,000 population and over.

In each of 185 cities, it reaches 1 out of every 2 families.
In 132 more cities, it reaches 40 to 50%.
In an additional 102 cities, it reaches 30 to 40%.
In another 117 cities, 20 to 30%.

And, in addition, nearly 2,000,000 families in thousands of other communities regularly buy The American Weekly.

The cost? Amazingly low. The lowest, in fact, of any magazine media in America! For less than ⅓¢ per family, a manufacturer can reach this vast market with a full-color page almost three times the size of any other magazine page in the world.

He can display his package life size in actual color, include recipes, coupon, and still have plenty of room to tell and illustrate dramatically his story.

The most buyers in the richest markets at the lowest cost. No wonder the Social Register of American Business directs an ever increasing per cent of its advertising appropriations into this advertising channel.

Where can you spend your advertising dollar more effectively?

CITY HAILS PRESTES FOR NATION TODAY

WALKER TO WELCOME HIM

Party Will Leave for White House Immediately After Parade and Reception at City Hall.

Representatives of President Hoover, the State Department, the army, the navy, the city government and business interests will greet Senhor Julio Prestes de Albuquerque, the President-elect of Brazil, when he arrives at quarantine this morning aboard the Brazilian-Lloyd liner, Almirante Jaceguay.

Dr. Prestes, who will assume office next November, will board the Macom at quarantine and after disembarking at the Battery will be escorted up Broadway to the City Hall to be officially received by Mayor Walker. Immediately after the reception he will board a special train for Washington, where he will be received at 5 P. M. by President Hoover.

Dr. Prestes, who will be in this country for eight days, has announced that his "good-will" visit is intended as an official return of the visit of Mr. Hoover to Brazil in December, 1928, as President-elect. The Brazilian President-elect, who prior to the national elections last March was Governor of Sao Paulo, the "Empire State of Brazil," is the first of three Presidents-elect from Latin-American countries who are expected to be received officially in this country this month.

Cruisers Escorting Party.

Two Brazilian cruisers, the Bahia and the Rio Grande Do Sul, under the command of Admiral Heraclito Belfort, have been escorting the Brazilian-Lloyd liner since her departure from Rio de Janeiro on May 24. About 100 miles off Ambrose Light, the cruiser Trenton, flying the flag of Rear Admiral O. G. Murfin, commanding light cruiser division two, and the cruiser Marblehead will meet the Brazilian ships and escort them into port. The five vessels are expected to arrive at quarantine between 8 and 9 A. M.

At 9 A. M. the municipal tug Macom will leave the Battery for quarantine. Grover Whalen, chairman of the Mayor's Committee on the Reception of Distinguished Guests, and other members of the committee will represent the city and will deliver the first greetings of the United States to Dr. Prestes. Others who will be aboard the Macom include George Akerson, secretary to President Hoover, who will convey the President's welcome.

Alexander R. Burr, special agent in charge of the New York Bureau of the State Department; Major Gen. Hanson E. Ely, commanding the Second Corps Area; Rear Admiral Louis R. de Steiguer, commandant of the Third Naval District; Señor S. Gurgél do Amaral, the Brazilian Ambassador to the United States; Warren D. Robbins, representing Secretary Stimson; Dr. Sebastiao Sampaio, Consul General of Brazil in New York, and Frank C. Munson, head of the Munson Steamship Lines and chairman of a committee of business men of the American-Brazilian Association.

Mr. Whalen, Mr. Munson and others are expected to board the Almirante Jaceguay and greet Dr. Prestes. Dr. Prestes will then board the Macom, which will steam up the harbor to the Battery. As the tug passes Governors Island a salute of twenty-one guns will be fired. The official party is expected to arrive at the Battery about 10:45. Escorted by a battalion of infantry from Governors Island, a company of sailors and a company of marines from the Brooklyn Navy Yard and by an army and a naval band, the party will then proceed up Broadway. Dr. Prestes will be received by Mayor Walker and his official staff and by other city officials in the Aldermanic Chamber from 11:30 to noon.

To Leave at Once for Capital.

A special train will leave Pennsylvania Station for Washington at 12:30. Senhor Prestes and his party will go immediately from the City Hall to the station and leave for Washington for a four-day visit. After a series of official calls and functions in his honor, the President-elect will return to New York on Sunday. On June 17, at the Commodore Hotel, the only official dinner to be given for Senhor Prestes in this city will be tendered to him by the Pan-American Association and the American-Brazilian Association, in cooperation with the Merchants' Association. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, is expected to be one of the speakers.

WNYC will broadcast at 11:30 this morning the official reception to Senhor Prestes at the City Hall and a few hours later, upon his arrival in Washington, the ceremonies there will be broadcast to two continents in two languages over a nation-wide chain of WEAF and short-wave stations associated with WGY at Schenectady. The latter broadcast will commence at 5 P. M.

In addition to Dr. Prestes, six other Brazilians and two cameramen are in the official party. A son, Fernando Prestes, is the only member of his family accompanying the President-elect. His wife, who started on the trip to North America, was forced to leave her husband at Rio de Janeiro because of illness. The two daughters of Senhor Prestes stayed with their mother.

Commander A. T. Beauregard, U. S. N., and Lieut. Col. Charles C. Moore, U. S. A., have been designated to act as naval and military aides to Dr. Prestes during his visit. After leaving this country next week, the President-elect is expected to make an extended tour of Europe.

The two Brazilian cruisers will be berthed at the navy yard this morning and will remain there during the visit of Dr. Prestes. Admiral de Steiguer will give a reception for the officers of the cruisers.

PRESTES AT CAPITAL TODAY.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Dr. Julio Prestes, President-elect of Brazil, will make his official call upon President Hoover at the White House at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, instead of on Thursday as originally planned. President Hoover will immediately return the call at the Eugene Meyer residence at 1,624 Crescent Place, which the government has placed at the disposal of Dr. Prestes during his stay here.

The President-elect is due here from New York by special train at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will be received with the honors prescribed for a President. A company of Marines will line the track, while outside the station a troop of cavalry and a battalion of field artillery will render honors.

There will be no military escort through the city but at the Meyer residence there will be a company of bluejackets and the navy band to mark his entrance into the mansion.

Dr. Prestes will remain here until Sunday, when he will return to New York.

Cruisers Meet Prestes's Ship.

S. S. ALMIRANTE JACEQUAY, June 10 (AP).—The American cruisers Trenton and Marblehead this afternoon met the Almirante Jacequay to convoy it into New York harbor.

When the American vessels appeared they honored Sr. Prestes with a salute of twenty-one guns. The Almirante Jacequay and its escort of Brazilian warships, the Bahia and the Rio Grande do Sul, replied by running up the American flag and firing a salute to the commander of the Trenton.

ATTACKS QUALITY OF DRUGS

Senator Hatfield Makes Charge in Agricultural Committee Hearing.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Testimony pointing to the poor quality of certain important medicines now being handled on the American drug market came from an unexpected quarter at the hearings on this subject today before the Senate Agricultural Committee when Senator Hatfield, Republican, of West Virginia, who s a well-known physician and surgeon, declared that "something is wrong" with the quality of the digitalis and ergot that is being sold.

Senator Hatfield, although a member of the committee, has taken little part in the discussion of charges that officials of the Department of Agriculture had permitted the importation and manufacture of poor quality ergot in violation of the pure food and drug act. Ergot is administered to mothers in childbirth.

O'SHEA TO INQUIRE INTO PENSION ROW

'REGRETS' TEACHERS' CLASH

Complaints Against Backers of Mrs. Peixotto, Who Lost in Campaign, to Be Basis of Investigation.

Superintendent William J. O'Shea was instructed yesterday by George J. Ryan, president of the Board of Education, to conduct "a thorough investigation" into all the phases of the controversy involving charges of "official coercion," intimidation and irregularities in the recent school pension campaign, and to give the inquiry "precedence over every other matter."

Mr. Ryan, in a letter to the Superintendent, directed him to summon all the participants in the controversy and to make an early report of the testimony and the findings of the board.

The supporters of Miss Anna E. Lawson, who was re-elected to membership on the Teachers' Retirement Board on May 15, charged that the rival group, supporting Mrs. Bridget Peixotto, had resorted to unfair and illegal methods in its campaign. As a result of the charges, the Board of Retirement asked the Board of Education to put on trial for "unbecoming conduct" Principal Henry Mendelsohn of Public School 167, Brooklyn, a Peixotto supporter.

Edward Mandel, associate superintendent and a leading backer of Mrs. Peixotto, was charged with using official equipment in sending out election propaganda. Other complaints of similar nature were made in letters sent to Mr. Ryan.

Several of these complaints were forwarded by the head of the board to Dr. O'Shea to form the basis of the investigation. They included the request for the trial of Mr. Mendelsohn and communications from the Teachers' Union, the Association of Women High School Teachers and Kindergarten to 6B Teachers' Association, charging irregularities.

"It would seem," said Mr. Ryan, "that those engaged in performing a duty and advocating their choice for representation on the Teachers' Retirement Board should approach an election of delegates in a higher order than you would look for in any other group, but I regret to say that there is a great deal of controversy on both sides which to me seems unnecessary and that is detrimental to the system at large."

On receiving Mr. Ryan's communication, Dr. O'Shea announced that he would conduct the investigation personally and would summon the pension critics to appear before him early next week. He deplored the need for an official inquiry into a controversy affecting public school teachers.

CONSUMERS AGAIN ASSAIL GAS COSTS

ATTACK JOBBER SYSTEM

Initial Charge to Small Consumer Held Inequitable as Compared to Apartment-House Plan.

The methods of allocating to customers certain costs incurred by the Brooklyn Union Gas Company in supplying its commodity, as outlined in the proposed change in the company's rate schedule before the Public Service Commission, were challenged by consumers' representatives yesterday as inequitable to small domestic users, particularly those in densely populated apartment sections.

In cross-examining Edward J. Cheney, engineer witness for the company, Maurice Hotchner, special counsel for the city, brought out that the total amount of property allocated to customers' costs was $42,599,655, of which $19,856,578 represented distribution. This item, representing 48 per cent of the total, Mr. Hotchner pointed out, was the largest in the allocation to customers' costs.

The basis for the allocation of distribution mains, Mr. Cheney explained, was the four-inch mains and less used in supplying the gas. He held that to furnish any gas to a customer practically required a four-inch main, and therefore all four-inch mains, or those of smaller dimensions, were included under customers' costs, divided equally among all customers.

Dr. John Bauer, rate expert for the city, brought out through the witness that the total cost of distribution mains from the transmission mains in the streets to the consumers' premises was $10,644,163, all except $277,596 of which was allocated to customers' costs. The number of "services" to consumers, Mr. Cheney testified, was 308,161.

The cost of distribution, Mr. Cheney said, was divided equally among all customers, about 700,000. Dr. Bauer contended that whether the company used four-inch mains or any other size depended on the demand for gas and the amount the company expected to sell and not upon the number of customers.

Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the commission, who is presiding with Commissioners George R. Van Namee and Maurice C. Burritt, interrupted to point out that whether four-inch or other size mains were used depended on the conditions under which the gas was delivered. In apartment house sections the cost of mains per customer would be much less than in sparsely settled districts, he said.

Mr. Maltbie asked the witness how a large apartment house where the gas was furnished through a jobber under the submetering system would affect the cost of mains, and Mr. Cheney admitted that the cost would be the same whether the gas were furnished to a jobber or to each customer individually.

Dr. Bauer contended that this fact was the principal reason the initial charge of 95 cents for the first 200 cubic feet of gas seemed inequitable to the apartment house consumer using a small quantity of gas while the cost to the company in serving fifty families in an apartment house was about the same as the cost of serving a single customer in a private dwelling who might use larger quantities of gas.

Mr. Cheney testified under Mr. Hotchner's questioning that the company had 48,452 unused meters and admitted that the investment in this equipment was included in customers' costs. Mr. Maltbie reminded that it was not unusual to have a surplus in equipment, comparing the extra meters to street cars of a transit company standing idle since "every street car does not run every day."

Mr. Hotchner held that the unused meters should be classed as overhead and the cost absorbed in the charge for gas, but that they should not be considered as customers' costs.

The hearing was adjourned to June 19 at 10:15 A. M.

AGREE MACHINE ADDS TO UNEMPLOYMENT

Officials of Mechanical Engineers' Society of Detroit Urge National Labor Exchange.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, June 10.—That "the mechanical engineers of the country are responsible in some measure for present unemployment" was admitted today by Ralph E. Flanders of Springfield, Vt., vice president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, now holding its semi-annual meeting here, and Harold V. Coes of New York, member of the board of managers of the society.

"But we have been responsible in some measure for throwing men out of employment for the last 140 years," Mr. Flanders added.

"There is no doubt that any local employment situation is affected seriously at any time when machines devised by engineers to step up quantity production, at the same time securing finer precision in parts, supplant much of the hand labor previously used.

"In the long run, however, the making of new machines, overhauling, repairs and upkeep of the machinery used give employment to large numbers of men. The net gain in quantity and quality production by the use of machines cannot be doubted, but it is not known yet whether in the long run the employment situation is really made better or worse by the extension of the engineering craft."

"We can take credit for multiplying new industries," Mr. Coes said, "but we do admit that the transition from handwork to machine work often throws men out of employment, and we feel that problem much more keenly than we did formerly.

"The problem of employment, of securing a ready means for bringing employment, supply and demand together, belongs to all of us. There should be a national labor exchange in which the government, capital and public utilities would have an active share to provide practical unemployment insurance in the very practical form of work for every man who needs it. Our own organization is interested in proposing to President Hoover, in the near future, a constructive program for such a labor exchange.

MULROONEY URGES FORCE TO BE POLITE

Tells Benevolent Association Members They Must Be Very Patient With Citizens.

In what officials of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association agreed was one of the shortest addresses ever given before their organization by a police commissioner, Commissioner Mulrooney urged patrolmen yesterday to give a high type of service, to "be particularly patient with citizens" and to "carry on properly under the rules and regulations."

The combined June and annual meeting of the association in the Brooklyn Elks Club, Boerum Place and Livingston Street, was attended by more than 3,000 of the association's 17,000 members. Members commented that although high officials of the department were present gold braid and formality were conspicuously absent.

Joseph P. Moran, president of the association, introduced the commissioner as a man risen from the ranks, Chief Inspector John O'Brien asked the men to help make the administration a success.

"When I am fair with the men of the department, I want every one of them to be fair with me," he said. "Make the administration so successful that when the time comes for the present commissioner to leave the department the powers that be will look to the uniformed force in selecting his successor."

Officers for the coming year were elected during the morning by the association as follows:

JOSEPH P. MORAN, president.
GEORGE MULROONEY, first vice president.
GEORGE R. LEONARD, second vice president.
JOHN CUMMINGS, treasurer.
CHARLES MONAHAN, recording secretary.
JEREMIAH O'LEARY, sergeant-at-arms.

The following were named financial secretaries: Herman McManus, Thomas O'Brien, John R. Thompson and Joseph P. Miller.

MINEOLA, L. I., June 10.—After deliberating an hour and forty minutes, a jury in the County Court here acquitted Joseph L. Flood, manager of the Flood Steamship Agency of 254 East Sixtieth Street, Manhattan, of manslaghter in the first degree today. Mr. Flood was charged with shooting and fatally wounding his brother-in-law, Francis Lantry, on Nov. 8, in the Flood home at Cedarhurst, L. I. Mr. Flood is a brother of Magistrate John V. Flood of Manhattan.

Mr. Flood, testifying in his own behalf, said that on the night of the shooting he was awakened by his wife's cries.

"I got up and looked into my wife's room," he siad, "and saw Frank Lantry standing over my wife kneeling on the bed. He said, 'I've got you, I've got you. I am going to give it to you. I'm going to give you a lingering death.'

"I went to the chiffonier, took out a pistol and went into the room, intending to frighten Frank. I did not intend to discharge the pistol. I said, 'Frank, I cannot stand here and see you kill my wife.' He rushed at me and grabbed the hand the pistol was in and swung me around. He pushed me downward and I tried to keep the pistol upward. He bore down on me and the gun went off. I cannot recall that I pulled the trigger of the gun."

GROUPS RAISE $602,601 FOR JEWISH AID FUND

Contributions of $602,601 to the New York Allied Jewish Campaign, which is raising $2,000,000 in New York toward the $6,000,000 being sought nationally for the Jews of Eastern Europe and Palestine, were announced yesterday at a luncheon at the Bankers Club. Felix M. Warburg, an honorary chairman, presided. The dinner was attended by representatives of sixty-nine trades, industries and professions.

The largest amount reported at the luncheon was $440,580 by the bankers and brokers group. The lawyers and judges committee reported $68,350 and the real estate group $16,160. The shirt industry committee reported raising $13,000, the department stores and specialty shops committees $12,265 and the leaf tobacco committee $7,500. The accountants committee reported $4,282. The remaining $40,474 was reported by sixty-two committees.

In addition to Mr. Warburg, the speakers were Dr. Louis I. Harris, former Health Commissioner; Dr. Benjamin Veit, district school superintendent; Jonah J. Goldstein and Harry L. Gluckstein, general manager of the drive.

SAVES PALESTINE BABIES.

Hadassah Health Work Cuts Death Rate 41% in Three Years.

American preventive methods introduced into Palestine by American women have lowered the death rate of Jewish infants from 131.3 per 1,000 births in 1925 to 90 in 1929, according to a statement issued yesterday by Hadassah, Women's Zionist Organization of America, which conducts the largest medical and health agency in Palestine. Fatalities among Arab infants, the statement says, have increased during the same period from 200.5 to 205 per 1,000 births.

The foregoing data, Hadassah says, are taken from last year's report of the Health Department of Palestine, and shows that the Arab infant mortality rate in the country, which is 44 per cent higher than that of the Jews, reflects the difficulties encountered by modern medical institutions in Palestine in their attempts to influence the Moslems to replace superstitions and taboos with scientific methods. Of the 5,000 Jewish babies born in Palestine last year, 3,800 were registered in the twenty-one health centres maintained by Hadassah and nearly 950 in three centres of the Women's International Zionist Organization.

SEES 'INJUSTICES' IN EXCLUSION ACT

Jane Addams Says Laws on Immigrants 'Lay Dead Hand on Future' of Country.

ADDRESSES SOCIAL WORKERS

Dr. Bluestone of Montefiore Hospital Among Speakers at Group Sessions at Boston.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 10.—Making contact with practically every phase of social work, the National Conference of Social Work today conducted twelve division meetings, eleven luncheon meetings, eighteen associate and special group meetings, seven dinner meetings and a general session in the evening with Wesley C. Mitchel, director of research in the Bureau of Economic Research and chairman of the President's Research Council on Social Trends, as the principal speaker.

Jane Addams, founder of Hull House, Chicago, at a division meeting devoted to "the immigrant," discussed "conflicts with social welfare." She assailed the present immigrant exclusion act as "a dead hand on the future," and told the delegates that extreme hardships and injustices are often visited on foreign persons who have come to America full of high hopes for themselves and their children.

"Wives or husbands who come on a visit to their families and overstay their permits are deported and the family can never be reunited in this country," Miss Addams said. "Students who may change the school they are attending here to one which is not on the accredited list of the Department of Labor are ejected and can never return. Such hard and fast exclusion provisions, regardless of the effect on the persons regulated, cannot possibly work to the advantage of America."

The need that homes for the aged be affiliated with medical centres to afford inmates the best of medical aid was stressed by Dr. E. M. Bluestone, director of Montefiore Hospital of New York, in an address before the National Conference of Jewish Social Service.

Before the industrial and economic problems division, Henry P. Kendall, president of the Kendall Company of Boston, urged under-production and scientific management, linked to common sense and consideration of the point of view of employes, as a means of solving the problems of the textile industry, both in the North and in the South.

A challenge to social workers to see that the textile industry in the South should serve as a stepping stone to a better economic and social life, as it has in New England, was made by Miss Harriet L. Herring, research associate in the Institute for Research in Special Science, University of North Carolina.

W. David Owl, member of the Eastern band of Cherokee Indians of North Carolina and missionary in charge of the Baptist-Presbyterian Indian churches on the Cattaraugus Reservation, Iroquois, N. Y., addressed a section on the American Indian. He said that the problems affecting 350,000 Indians constituted a social and educational task of great importance, and stressed the Indian's increasing desire for a chance for self-expression, in place of the benevolent and paternalistic manner in which he has been treated in the past.

Samuel C. Lawrence of Auburndale, Mass., before a group meeting under the auspices of the National Community Centre Association, urged that community centres form a "crime alarm hook-up" for concerted action toward crime prevention.

A clinical year for theological students, to be spent in hospitals, alms houses and possibly insane hospitals, was advocated by Dr. Richard C. Cabot of Harvard University, before a conference of deans and professors of social ethics in theological institutions.

GEORGIA BANKERS HERE.

Two hundred members of the Georgia Bankers' Association arrived here yesterday morning on the steamship Birmingham of the Savannah Line, having boarded the ship following their annual convention at Savannah last Saturday. They were the guests yesterday afternoon of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company on a sight-seeing tour of the city. They also were dinner guests of the bank and later attended a theatre party.

The Birmingham will take part of the group back to the South today. Others will stay in New York, where banks have arranged for their entertainment.

The president of the association, Gordon L. Groover, vice president of the Citizens and Southern National Bank of Savannah, predicted that the Fall and Winter months would show "a considerable improvement in practically every line of business." He said Georgia's crop conditions and prospects were good, and predicted her increasing importance as a manufacturing State.

Seven Honorary Degrees to Be Conferred by University at Exercises on Campus.

SECRETARY ADAMS ON LIST

HONOR FOR MRS. PRATT

Dr. Merriam to Make Graduation Address—Degree for Byrd Put Off Until His Arrival.

New York University will award 2,958 degrees, seven honorary degrees and ninety-three certificates at its ninety-eighth annual commencement on University Heights at 10:30 A. M. today. Twelve schools and colleges of the university will grant the degrees. The candidates will be presented by their respective deans. Last year the university awarded 3,054 degrees.

With Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown presiding, the commencement exercises, if the weather is fair, will be held outdoors in a pavilion on the west slope of the campus immediately below the Hall of Fame and the Gould Memorial Library. Plans have been made to seat an audience of more than 20,000 relatives of graduates, friends of the university and other visitors, and only those holding tickets will be admitted.

If the weather is inclement the exercises will be held in the auditorium of the library and only the graduating class will attend. The exercises, including the musical program, will be broadcast by station WOR of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Dr. Merriam Graduation Speaker.

Dr. John Campbell Merriam, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., will deliver the commencement address. His subject will be, "Making a Living—or Living."

Faculty and graduating class will march in procession to the pavilion. The student procession will form on Ohio Field and the faculty will assemble in the library. Led by Theodore A. Distler, chief marshal, the faculty and students in cap and gown will march in winding columns through the semi-circular colonnade of the Hall of Fame and across the lawn to the pavilion.

While the procession is under way two marches will be played by the Goldman Band, led by Edwin Franko Goldman, beginning with the Triumphal March from "Cleopatra" by Mancinelli, and followed by "March Militaire," by Tschaikovsky.

The Rev. Dr. George Alexander, president of the Council of New York University for the past twenty-one years, will deliver the invocation and then the audience will rise and sing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the United States Army will be presented by Captain Augustus B. O'Connell, Thirty-sixth Infantry, U. S. A., acting for Lieut. Col. Staley A. Campbell, prior to the award of the academic degrees.

Following the presentation of the commissions Chancellor Brown will confer the degrees as the graduating class of each school is presented by its dean.

CARDINAL SAYS NEED FOR FAITH IS URGENT

PRAISES CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

A warning to the graduates of Manhattan College not to forget their religious education, particularly in this advanced age of science, was given yesterday by Cardinal Hayes, speaking at the commencement exercises. Degrees were awarded to 182 students, the largest class in the history of the college.

Cardinal Hayes, himself an alumnus, declared that it was more essential at the present time than ever before that Catholics should observe the fundamental principles of their religious education.

"Everywhere," he said, "our generation is being praised for the wonderful progress it is making in the scientific field. It is being hailed as the greatest scientific era in the history of the world. Men are flying through the air. Ships are speeding on the ocean. It is a machine ago, so much so that the scientists are being urged to pause and think lest the machines of their own manufacture should prove to be their own destruction.

"Already an economic problem has arisen, but that is purely the materialistic viewpoint. How must the Catholic regard it all? It is now that the advantages of his religious training will stand by him. We must not forget the spiritual side of life. You graduates are fortunate in having received your education from these Christian brothers, because they have kept the Pentecostal fires ablaze on the altar of education. Woe betide any one who sets up anything in contravention to Christ."

He declared that the Catholic Church believed in education, but that it also stressed the necessity for teaching the Word of God. "Our Church stands for this knowledge, but it is a knowledge which must be spread everywhere," he concluded.

Joseph R. Jackson, former Court of Appeals justice, of Montana, declared that the graduates had a decided advantage over the alumni of secular colleges, because of the religious education they had received. He told the parents that they were fortunate in having sent their children to a Catholic institution. He urged the students to live up to the religious principles they had learned and be practical Catholics, not mere Catholics.

Honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws were conferred upon Governor Norman Stanley Case of Rhode Island, the Right Rev. Mgr. Thomas Jackson, former Justice Jackson and Dr. Raymond P. Sullivan.

Rain prevented the exercises from being held in the college quadrangle. They were held instead in Smith Hall. More than 2,000 attended.

354 RECEIVE DEGREES IN LAW AT FORDHAM

Conway, Superintendent of Insurance, Stresses Need for 'Energy, Vision and Honesty.'

Three hundred and fifty-four students of the School of Law at Fordham University received degrees of Bachelor of Laws at the commencement exercises yesterday afternoon in the university gymnasium. The Rev. William J. Duane, S. J., delivered the president's address and conferred the degrees.

Because of the inclement weather the customary procession of the faculty, alumni, graduates and guests to the campus had to be abandoned.

Albert Conway, State superintendent of insurance, who addressed the class, stressed three qualities which he considered essential for success within the legal profession—energy, vision and honesty.

"Never," said Mr. Conway, "was there a time when every individual act of a lawyer was so closely watched and such a careful record made. If he go to the Legislature every vote upon every measure is recorded in half a dozen files for future reference. If he make a speech upon a topic which is attracting attention at the time, note is made of it. The cases he tries, their character, the character of his clients, a specialization at the bar which he may pursue, the types of people with whom he surrounds himself, all gradually make for him a reputation in the community, and he is likely to find himself labeled with a label which he will find it well nigh impossible ever to remove."

In the minor acts and general routine of a lawyer, and not in the great cases in which he may be concerned, is he judged, said Mr. Conway, and for this reason the utmost care must be exercised in surrounding one's self with the right type of men.

WINS NIAGARA HONORS.

E. J. Halloran Receives University's Loyalty Medal and Oratory Prize.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 10 (AP).—Voted by the student body of Niagara University the most popular man during 1930, Edward J. Halloran of Cleveland, Ohio, received the Loyalty Medal "for extraordinary loyalty, personality, character and success in the senior year" at the annual commencement exercises of the university here today. Mr. Halloran also won the gold purse for the best oration in the annual oratory contest.

Henry W. Walsh of Hartford, Conn., received the Niagara Medal "for extraordinary achievement in athletics" and William L. Dwyer of Syracuse, the Kelleher Medal "for extraordinary achievement in scholarship and athletics." The Religion Medal was won by Richard D. Dineen of Albany, and the Senior Philosophy Medal was received by John Burke Daley of Cazenovia.

The university conferred fifty-one bachelor degrees, nine Master of Arts degrees and four honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws at today's commencement.

SAYS CRAFTS' IDEAL TESTS DEMOCRACY

Col. Rorty, at Cooper Union Exercises, Urges Valuing Work Above Stipend.

HOLDS FREEDOM IS REWARD

Wealth Not Made but Earned, He Tells Graduates—Three $1,000 Scholarships Awarded.

The spirit of the true craftsman is to value the work above the reward, and the great craftsman, such as Peter Cooper, is always the great democrat, said Colonel Malcolm C. Rorty, vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, speaking last night at the seventy-first commencement exercises of Cooper Union, held in the auditorium of the school.

Three hundred and fifty-four degrees, diplomas and certificates were conferred upon men and women from the engineering, scientific and art schools of the Union, and more than two hundred prizes and medals for distinction were awarded. The degree and honors were presented by R. Fulton Cutting on behalf of the board of trustees, of which he is president, and of which J. P. Morgan, Elihu Root Jr., Thomas Snell, Gano Dunn and Percy R. Pyne Jr., are members.

Colonel Rorty declared that the spirit of craftsmanship and of equal opportunity were the two great guiding principles of Cooper Union, and that "the ultimate essence of true democracy" lay in the latter tradition.

"A democratic form of government cannot be given to any people," Colonel Rorty said. "It must be slowly acquired—it must be earned and deserved. It is this fact that explains much that is otherwise puzzling in this post-war world. The war very completely discredited the traditional forms of government and imposed the obligations and problems of popular government upon many peoples who lacked that slow, and gradual training in democratic principles which alone made possible the success of our own Federal Union."

Maintaining that modern dictatorships had arisen in Europe following the post-war break in democratic governmental organization, Colonel Rorty said that the distinguishing feature of sound and durable democracy was an ability of the people to choose true leaders. It also implies a popular respect for abstract justice, an agreement to do "teamwork," and a respectable regard for the acquisition of wealth which looks to the "making" rather than the "getting" of money, he said.

The salutatory address was delivered by Leo F. Moore of Bayonne, N. J., a graduate of the night school of engineering. George DeLong Champlin of Tuckahoe, N. Y., was valedictorian, and Miss Helen Toennies of Bloomfield, N. J., spoke on the work of the Woman's Art School.

Among the prizes awarded were three $1,000 scholarships, which went to George DeLong Champlin, James P. O'Donnell and Carl E. Rudiger. Other scholarships and prizes and the lists of graduates have previously been published.

SIX CLERGYMEN GET DEGREES AT WAGNER

The Rev. Dr. Charles F. Dapp, President, Felicitated at the College Commencement.

While conferring honorary degrees upon six of his fellow-Lutheran clergymen and degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science upon the 1930 class of students, the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Dapp, president of Wagner Memorial College, was himself honored yesterday at the annual commencement at Grymes Hill, S. I.

The day was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the ordination of Dr. Dapp to the Lutheran ministry. After he had presented the last parchment the Rev. Dr. William Ludwig, dean of the college, read resolutions of felicitation to President Dapp from faculty and student body.

The commencement began with a procession from Cunard Hall composed of students, the class of 1930, the alumni, the faculty and the six clergymen who were to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. Each of the ministers was accompanied by the clergyman who was to present him for the honor.

The men thus honored and their presenters were:

The Rev. JOHN A. W. KIRSCH, pastor of St. John's Church, Jersey City, presented by his son, the Rev. Paul Andrew Kirsch, general secretary of the United Lutheran Synod of New York.

The Rev. EMIL C. J. KRAELING, for forty-five years pastor of Zion German Church, Brooklyn; presented by the Rev. Dr. Frederick H. Bosch, pastor of St. Paul's Church, Harlem, and president of the New York Conference of the Synod.

The Rev. HENRY WASMUND, pastor of Trinity Church, Middle Village, L. I., presented also by Dr. Bosch.

The Rev. ERNEST HEYD, pastor of Zion Church, Rochester, N. Y.; presented by the Rev. Dr. Frederic Sutter, pastor of Trinity Church, Stapleton, S. I., and president of the board of trustees of Wagner College.

The six clergymen were in turn presented to Dr. Dapp by the Rev. Dr. Theodore O. Posselt of Albany, a trustee of the college and chairman of its committee on higher degrees.

The commencement address was delivered by the Rev. Dr. R. E. Tulloss, president of Wittenberg College, Springfield. The invocation was offered by the Rev. Dr. C. R. Tappert and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Theodore Hoffmeister of the class of '95. The salutatory was given by Elmer O. Hoppe and the valedictory by Edwin C. Tappert.

THREE N. Y. U. COLLEGES IN CLASS DAY PROGRAM

More than 150 seniors of the University College of Arts and Pure Science and the College of Engineering of New York University took part in a varied class day program yesterday on the campus at University Heights. About 450 members of the class of 1930 of Washington Square College held similar exercises at the university's downtown centre for the same purpose.

Although inclement weather compelled the holding of several events on the campus program indoors, the sun made its appearance long enough to permit the dedication of the class tree, which was planted in front of Philosophy Hall. The program at University Heights also included the presentation of sixteen Phi Beta Kappa and twelve Iota Alpha prizes and the burning of the class will. Members of the faculty were guests of the seniors.

Joseph J. Hickey, class president, presided at the campus. The class history was read by John H. Barton, the class statistics by John H. Birss Jr., the class day oration by Milton Rosenberg and the address to the class by Dean Archibald L. Bouton. These exercises were all held in the auditorium of the Gould Memorial Library.

A tea on the porch of the residence of Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown was held during the afternoon, at which the seniors were the guests.

The commencement dinner was held at the Commons on the campus early in the evening, at which a speech was made by John Quigley, campus policeman for more than thirty years. This was followed with the traditional midnight procession to the lawn of the Chancellor's home, after which the "Chant of Ectasy" took place in the Colonnade of the Hall of Fame, where the records and documents of the class were burned. The commencement dance will be held this evening at the New Delmonico Hotel, Park Avenue at Fifty-ninth Street.

At noon yesterday Dean James B. Munn and Dean Alexander Baltzly of Washington Square College addressed the class in the school's auditorium. The seniors held their class dance last evening at the American Women's Association clubhouse and the class revue, "Thank You, Doctor," written and produced by members of the class, was presented.

Y., June 10.—Distinguished cadets by reason of standing more than 92 per cent in all studies at the United States Military Academy, sixty-one future officers this afternoon received their stars at the hands of the Superintendent, Major Gen. William R. Smith, at a special regimental parade held in the cadet gymnasium on account of rain. Fifteen of the graduating class were named for stars, 13 second class men, 15 in the third class, and 18 in the fourth, or plebe class.

Graduation ride, the last exhibition of horsemanship by the graduating class, was held in the cadet riding hall here at 3 o'clock this afternoon before a throng of relatives, friends and visiting alumni.

Sir W. H. Bragg Urges Technological Study as a Means to Mankind's Service.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., June 10.—Degrees were conferred upon 584 advanced students and seniors this morning at the commencement exercises of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Symphony Hall. Dr. Samuel W. Stratton, chairman of the corporation, presented the degrees, and the address to the graduates was made by Sir William H. Bragg, director of the Royal Institution of Great Britain.

Dr. Karl Taylor Compton, new president of the institute, was on the platform for the graduation ceremony, which was preceded by a procession of corporation members, faculty, guests, students and alumni. The Class of 1880, the fifty-year class, occupied a place of honor.

The degrees awarded included nine Doctors of Philosophy, nineteen Doctors of Science, one Doctor of Public Health, seven Masters of Science in Architecture, 163 Masters of Science, four Certificates in Public Health and 381 Bachelors of Science.

Brig. Gen. William E. Cole, after administration by Major Robert Arthur of the oath to candidates for commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps, awarded commissions.

Urges Science for Man's Service.

Sir William Bragg urged upon the graduates a "larger point of view" that would regard technological science as a means of service to mankind.

"A school of technology," he said, "is an expression of the wish to gather together the growing knowledge of nature, of natural materials and laws, and to make that knowledge of service to mankind."

Sir William recounted the careers of three scientists of the past, Benjamin Thompson, Thomas Bernard and Michael Farady, and the development of the Royal Institution.

He urged upon the students the example of Faraday, for whom "science was not merely a collection of inventions to be applied by the rich for the comfort of the poor, but it was a glorious purpose to be shared by all mankind."

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., June 10.—Bequests and gifts to Mount Holyoke College to the amount of $645,469.09 during the academic year were announced by President Woolley at commencement exercises today.

Gifts and bequests promised but still outstanding amount to $395,000, not including a share in the estate of Mrs. Frank Stevens of Swansea, Mass., the amount of which is unknown. A further gift of the alumnae association amounts to $23,300, and further special gifts for scholarships and improvements include $50,000 by Joseph A. Skinner of Holyoke, chairman of the board of trustees, for graduate fellowships, and $25,000 from the Carnegie Corporation for books for the library. Gifts from classes holding reunions at college during commencement week-end already total $5,400.

Degrees of Bachelor of Arts were granted to 198 students. The commencement address was delivered by Dr. James T. Shotwell.

Representative Ruth Baker Pratt of New York State was one of three women to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature. The other two were Dr. Lane Louise Mesick, dean of Simmons College, and Miss Edith M. Coon, vice principal of the Women's Christian College, Madras, India.

Mrs. Pratt attended Wellesley College, but did not remain to graduate. Her mother was graduated from Mount Holyoke in 1870, and her aunt seven years later.

Dean Mesick, a Mount Holyoke graduate of the class of '09, obtained her master's degree and her doctor's degree at Columbia. Before her appointment, first to the assistant deanship of Simmons in 1923 and then to the position of dean two years later, she taught in Glendale College and Wells College.

Miss Coon was graduated from Mount Holyoke in 1913, took her master's degree here in 1916 and later studied at Columbia, the University of Toronto and Yale University. She has held her present position as Professor of Physics and vice principal of the Women's Christian College since 1916.

OPPOSES ALUMNI ELECTING TRUSTEES

HITS AT COLLEGE 'DEMANDS'

Eighteen Graduates From New York, New Jersey and Connecticut Get Degrees as Doctors of Medicine.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, June 10.—Speaking of the relations between universities and alumni at the graduation exercises of Johns Hopkins University today, Dr. Joseph S. Ames, president, said he had not found his study of the experiences of other universities very helpful.

"This was to be expected," he said, "because of the nature of Johns Hopkins University. Our main efforts are and ever will be toward the training of young men and young women for the high degrees. Other universities do their utmost to encourage the interest of their alumni by providing for their entertainment gradiatorial contests, pageants both serious and farcical and musical festivals."

"Such a method would never succeed with our alumni and certainly never will be adopted by us," he declared.

"All imaginable plans have been tried," he continued, "to secure the financial support of alumni to such a degree that, as one alumnus of a famous Eastern college told me recently, he disliked opening an envelope bearing the imprint of his college because he was so sure it would contain not simply a suggestion that he might make a contribution, but rather a demand. We certainly will not adopt this plan," Dr. Ames said.

He said he was opposed to the system in some universities by which the alumni elect a small or large number of trustees who hold office for limited terms.

Says Board Should Name Trustees.

"There was a perfectly sound idea underlying this plan," Dr. Ames continued, "but it does not seem to me that the process of balloting for three, five or ten trustees by a heterogeneous group of 10,000 or 50,000 men inspires among the voters any deep interest in the university.

"I am opposed to this system, not because I do not believe alumni may make good trustees, but because a board of trustees under its charter is or should be responsible for selection of its own body. If, however, our alumni feel that they would like to have a limited number of trustees elected by them I would not feel justified in opposing their wishes."

'TRAINED IMAGINATION' URGED ON LEHIGH MEN

Dr. G. E. Vincent Advises Graduates 'to Run Own Show'—Doctorates Honor 2 Alumni.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., June 10.—Development of a "progressive, broad, controlled imagination" for the attainment of "genuine success in life" was advocated today by Dr. George E. Vincent, president emeritus of the Rockefeller Foundation, in delivering the address at the sixty-second commencement of Lehigh University.

Describing life as experiences reproduced like motion pictures in the mind, he said that every man had his own private theatre in which he could get a true perspective of himself by showing "films" of his past acts. When one man resorted to external stimuli, he added, one admitted that the other fellow's "show" was better than his own, which might explain why so many picture theatres were filled with undergraduates.

Two alumni who have distinguished themselves in engineering and science were among those receiving honorary degrees. Thaddeus Merriman, '97, an authority on municipal water supply and chief engineer of the Board of Water Supply of New York City, received the degree of Doctor of Engineering, and Nicholas H. Heck, '03, an authority on seismology and terrestrial magnetism and chief of that division of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the degree of Doctor of Science.

Nine master's degrees and 240 bachelor's degrees were conferred in course.

Among the forty-two members of the senior class who were graduated with general honors were J. Dimont, D. D. Hendlin, H. A. Schick, Julius Seligson and I. M. Siegel of New York City; L. B. Frutkin and B. R. Hamburger of Mount Vernon, N. Y.; R. C. Hoag of Newark, N. J.; R. F. Latremore of West Orange, N. J., and Richard Tull of Fanwood, N. J.

New Yorkers receiving special honors were I. M. Clyne of Far Rockaway, biology; B. R. Hamburger of New York City, economics; A. P. Helms of Brooklyn, English, and L. B. Frutkin of Mount Vernon, philosophy.

In the award of prizes A. P. Helms won second Williams English prize and C. A. Stay of Locust Valley, L. I., the electrical engineering prize for the best thesis.

CARNEGIE GRADUATES ITS LARGEST CLASS, 447

Dr. H. E. Howe Tells Students That Trained Minds Remove Any Apprehension of Science.

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—The largest senior class in the history of Carnegie Institute of Technology was graduated this morning at the commencement exercises of that institution. Degrees were conferred upon 447 students, and diplomas and certificates were awarded to 106 graduates of the day and night classes.

The world needs technically trained minds to remove the apprehension felt because of the new conditions created by science, Dr. Harrison E. Howe, editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, told the graduates in his commencement speech. Dr. Howe said in part:

"The graduates of today are stepping on the world stage at a time when a great deal of work has been done. There is much more new work to be undertaken; for science is remaking the world. To administer the work now completed just the kind of training that technical men have received is required. As industry and society become more complex, the directing minds must be drawn from the scientific and engineering groups. Today the best preparation for life comes from an understanding of human values gained from a study of history and literature coupled with the objective methods taught by science."

The following students, selected on the basis of high scholarship during their entire college course, were graduated with honors:

Margaret Morrison Carnegie College.

Vera G. Finkelstein

DRY REPEAL PLANNED BY VOTE IN EACH STATE

Gen. Bradley, New Temperance League Head, to Start Drive at Dinner Here.

General John J. Bradley, United States Army, retired, announced yesterday that he had accepted the leadership of the recently organized National Temperance League of America and that the league soon would start a movement for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment by vote in each State. The league's campaign will begin with a dinner at the Hotel Astor on June 26, at which leaders in the fight against prohibition are expected to speak.

General Bradley said the league advocated repeal of the amendment by the second method provided by the Federal Constitution, by which, after submission by a national constitutional convention, an amendment is adopted or repealed by constitutional conventions in each State, delegates to which are elected by the voters.

General Bradley added that the league would hold a national convention in some Middle Western city yet to be selected on Sept. 17, the anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution in 1787.

Atlantic City Prosecutor Reported to Be on New Trail.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 10.—Director of Public Safety William S. Cuthbert and Police Inspector Samuel Lippman have been summoned to appear tomorrow before a special session of the grand jury.

Assistant Prosecutor Louis Mallin, who caused the grand jury to be summoned, declined to reveal the nature of the evidence he intended to present, but it is believed that it has to do with a new investigation into the activities of some members of the Police Department.

Mallin declined to say whether or not he had reopened the case against Richard Black, former vice squad leader, and several policemen, accused of taking bribes from a rum-runner, but against whom the January grand jury failed to find indictments.

Governor Gardner Delivers Diplomas to 337 Graduates.

Special to The New York Times.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., June 10.—Under the leadership of Frank Porter Graham, its new president, the University of North Carolina is destined to become the foremost State university in America, Governor O. Max Gardner prophesied here today in delivering diplomas to 337 graduates at commencement exercises. Governor Gardner himself received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dr. Chase, Professor Francis P. Venable, a former president of the university, and Miss Martha Berry, founder of the Berry Schools of Georgia, also received the degree of Doctor of Laws. The degree of Doctor of Literature was conferred upon Miss Ellen Glasgow, the author, of Richmond, Va.

Dr. John H. Finley of THE NEW YORK TIMES delivered the baccalaureate address. He told the graduates that what the world needs is "educated adults."

"The great trouble with most men," he said "is that they become uneducated just as soon as they stop inquiring and investigating problems for themselves. It is imperatively necessary for an educated man to continue his education or he will quickly become uneducated."

LONDON DIGNITARIES IN UNWITTING COMEDY

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 10.—Two city dignitaries, the Lord Mayor, Sir William Waterlow, and Colonel Percy Laurie, Assistant Commissioner, and one of the finest horsemen of the metropolition police, are trying hard tonight to laugh with the public over a comedy of errors that marred state entry of a troop of Royal Canadian Mounted Police into the metropolis today.

Mr. Laurie was extending a welcoming hand at the docks when his horse shied and the pride of London's police force crashed to the ground.

Worse humiliation was to come for the Lord Mayor. Wearing his full regalia and with the Lady Mayoress, the City Marshal and the City Sword and Mace Bearers he was standing in the balcony of Mansion House to take the salute of the visitors. As the troopers rode past with their heads erect, cheered by a large crowd, it was the Mayor alone who saluted. Some one, as Tennyson said had blundered in this charge of a light brigade.

Major T. Dann, commanding the Canadian troopers, blames the London police escort for not warning him on nearing the saluting base. He rode several leagues in blissful ignorance he had passed the Lord Mayor.

"I shouldn't know Mansion House if I saw it," he said tonight, "and I would never think of looking upstairs for the Lord Mayor." However, Major Dann wrote to the Lord Mayor a long apology immediately on his arrival at the barracks. It is not expected that a diplomatic incident will result.

More Scholarships for Americans.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A. C. Ratshesky, American Minister at Prague, notified the State Department today that the Czechoslovakian Minister for Public Instruction had increased from six to eleven the number of scholarships received for American students during the academic year 1930-31. The scholarships, which are for $2,200 each, were established in 1923 so that American students might attend institutions of higher learning in Czechoslovakia and were placed at the disposition of the Institute of International Education in New York.

1,000 PAY TRIBUTE TO FATHER HICKEY

Presents $3,500 From Parishioners, Including Gift From His Own Increased Salary.

Mayor Walker was one of the 1,000 his parishioners and friends to pay tribute at a dinner at the Astor last night to the Rev. John J. Hickey, pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, on the occasion of his thirty-fifth anniversary of ordination in the priesthood.

"Well has he been described as the perfect priest," the Mayor said of his pastor. "He has definite allegiance to principles from which he has never swerved. With genuine love we honor him for his devotion and friendship.

"I cannot remember when I did not know Father Hickey. He was the genuine friend of my father and mother. He was the same kind of a friend to my mother's mother and my father's father. That friendship which led my grandmother to attend his ordination has continued with our family with ever-increasing bonds of affection."

In behalf of the parishioners the Mayor presented to the guest of honor a check for $3,500, smilingly recalling that he had promised when his salary as Mayor was recently raised to give the increase to charity. "So if this check turns out to be no good," he said, "in view of my commitment, the most expensive utterance I ever made, I know how to make it good."

Referring to Father Hickey's long pastorate in Kingston, N. Y., former Judge William D. Cunningham of the Court of Claims, who at the time also lived in Ulster County, characterized the pastor as a diplomat of the Church who made himself the greatest civic figure in Kingston, a leader in all public enterprises and an active participant in non-Catholic as well as Catholic institutions.

The Rev. Michael J. Reilly, pastor of St. Barnabas Church, said that Father Hickey was a champion of eternal principles in a day when "the high schools and colleges are homes of infidelity, unreligion and even unmorality and when we find certain newspaper editors, jurists and educators putting endorsements on things which would have made a former generation blush."

John F. X. McGohey was toastmaster. Father Hickey expressed his appreciation of the tributes. A telegram of congratulation from Cardinal Hayes was read.

Among the diners were Police Commissioner Mulrooney, former Tammany Leader George W. Olvany, Surrogate John O'Brien, State Senator Elmer Quinn and Supreme Court Justices Joseph F. Crater and Louis A. Valente.

Father Hickey was baptized sixty years ago in the same church in which he is now pastor at Sixth Avenue and Washington Place. Ordained in 1895, he was assigned to St. Mary's Church in Kingston, but he has been pastor here for the last eight years.

"ONE OF THE GREAT
CIVILIZATION"

I consider The New York Times one of the great agencies in civilization. The daily newspaper fills a place in the modern world quite impossible before the inventions of the last three decades. To gather the news fully and impartially, to discriminate between what is trivial and what is important, to resist the forces that make for commercialism or personal glorification or political advantage — to do these things is to render perhaps the greatest service any agency can render to civilization. The New York Times seems to me to come nearer this ideal than any other news agency.

Foreign-Born Pupils Are Led by Russians in Citizenship

Public school pupils and graduates of Russian birth won more awards for good citizenship during the last seven years than any other foreign-born group. Figures made public yesterday by the Board of Education show that of the 1,870 medals and diplomas awarded by the Cooperation-in-Government Committee for "American citizenship honors," 1,714 were presented to native-born pupils and of the remaining 156 Russian-born boys and girls won forty-four.

The honors are given for civic service before graduation and during a ten-day period following it. Nearly every country is represented among the winners. The fathers of 1,200 winners and the mothers of 1,000 were born abroad.

Poland followed Russia with 20 winners. Then came Austria with 17, Italy with 17 and England with 13.

SPANISH RADIO BOARD REPORTS ON POLICY

Cabinet Will Decide on Whether to Grant New Concessions or Create Monopoly.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, June 10.—The Spanish Council of Ministers received a report today from the Radio Commission and will consider whether to grant further radio concessions or adopt a policy that will make the radio and telegraphic business in Spain a virtual monopoly.

On Jan. 7, while General Primo de Rivera was still dictator, a royal order was signed temporarily prohibiting further concessions and appointing a commission of representatives of all Ministries and interested companies to discuss possible regulations so each company could make money. Since then only the Trans-Radio España, which collaborates with the Marconi Company and the Radio Corporation, has handled any great amount of business, although three smaller companies are functioning.

The report of this committee has now been handed to Premier Berenguer and is understood to recommend in effect that franchises be granted to other companies.

The International Telephone and Telegraph Company has applied for a franchise. The government has more than 1,200 stations where radio messages can be accepted, but International has more than 24,000. If International's petition is refused specifically or all others refused it is felt here that a virtual monopoly automatically will have been established.

While the official report of the commission did not have to be made before the end of the year, it is believed that the Ministers may take action within a month.

The heads of all five Spanish steamship lines will meet in Madrid soon to discuss an association of interests. The State is already subsidizing the services at 50,000,000 pesetas a year and sharing in control. There is no intention of spending more money, but it is desired to better the working methods and cooperation to permit extension of the lines to Mexico, Cuba and South American ports for passengers and freight. Present operation is regarded as costly.

ASTRONOMERS ARE HONORED

Indiana Confers Degrees on Dr. Slipper and Dr. Lampland.

Special to The New York Times.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., June 10.—Dr. V. M. Slipher and Dr. Carl O. Lampland, astronomers, who had a share in the discovery of the new planet Pluto, were honored here today with the LL. D. degree by the University of Indiana, of which both scientists are graduates.

Both Dr. Slipher and Dr. Lampland developed an early interest in astronomy, and upon graduation from the university took up their work at Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz. Dr. Slipher is now director of Lowell Observatory and Dr. Lampland is one of the most distinguished members of the observatory staff.

The astronomers have many outstanding achievements to their credit in addition to the discovery of Pluto. They have received recognition by election to membership in many learned societies, both in this country and abroad. Dr. Slipher is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and Dr. Lampland is the holder of a medal awarded for astronomical photography by the Royal Photographical Society of Great Britain.

President Sills in Report Urges Centralizing of Athletics Control.

Special to The New York Times.

BRUNSWICK, Me., June 10.—Gifts to the college during the year totaling more than $600,000 are listed by President Sills of Bowdoin College in his annual report to the alumni. He urges centralization of control in athletic matters and the erection of a new chemistry building.

The largest item among the gifts is the Pierce Fund, amounting now to nearly $19,000, donated by Henry Hill Pierce, '96, of New York, to establish a chair in English literature. A second large unit is a fund for faculty pensions given last Christmas by Cyrus H. K. Curtis.

The fifth Bowdoin Institute next year will be devoted to the subject of the natural sciences, the report says.

Pennock Hurls Yanks to Victory Over Browns; White Sox Beat Athletics in 11th

YANKS HALT BROWNS AS PENNOCK HURLS

HELPED BY AN EARLY LEAD

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 10.—Bounding smartly to the fore during the early part of the game, the Yankees managed to stave off a number of belated challenges on the part of the Browns today to capture the final event of the series, 5 to 3.

It gave the Yankees the series by a substantial margin of three out of four and a record of having won four of the six games in which they have been engaged so far in their present swing around the American League's Western loop.

The outcome, in fact, brought the sojourn of Shawkey's men here to a most satisfactory and enjoyable conclusion. Babe Ruth, still a trifle inconvenienced with a stiff neck, nevertheless played throughout the nine innings and contributed a single to the victors' opening charge in the first, while Herb Pennock pitched all of the nine innings in a manner to indicate that the veteran southpaw is now well on his way toward his long deferred come-back.

Pennock pitched with all his old time ease and skill, allowing eight hits, getting crowded now and then, but never permitting himself to get into serious difficulties once the Yanks sent him away to a five-run lead in the first two rounds.

Coffman Soon Batted Out.

Various reasons may be ascribed for the Browns' defeat, but the chief one seemed to be the failure of Manager Killifer's young right-hander, Dick Coffman. Richard, it will be recalled, entered the ninth inning of the second game to protect a one run lead for the Browns and upon the strength of this excellent showing won the right to start today's encounter.

However, this distinction soon proved of doubtful value. A pass, a single by Ruth and another blistering one-base thump by Lou Gehrig, which Centre Fielder McNeely allowed to go through him and roll to the fence sent the Yanks away from the barrier three lengths in front.

In the second a trio of singles by Pennock, Combs and Lary and an infield out by Ruth gave the Yanks two more, and on this New York stood pat mainly because there was little else for them to do. Coffman was hurriedly yanked out and George Blaeholder took his place. George, pitching splendidly, had no trouble at all convincing the Yanks that they needed no more runs.

Browns Launch Their Threat.

As for the Browns, they started making up lost ground as early as the second, in which they counted once on a pair of singles by Kress and McNeely. In the sixth they edged up another on hits by Manush and Kress and a wild heave by Dickey, and in the eighth they produced one more on a triple by Manush and Kress's fourth straight single. But this last outburst left them pretty badly spent and in the ninth they merely limped painfully over the line, still two lengths away.

BASS KNOCKS OUT ANDERSON

Junior Lightweight Champion Wins in Third Round in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, June 10 (AP).—Benny Bass of Philadelphia, junior lightweight champion, knocked out Cowboy Eddie Anderson of Chicago in one minute and forty-five seconds of the third round of their scheduled ten-round fight tonight. He scored two knockdowns before putting over the final blow.

The fight, originally matched as a title affair, lost its championship angle when Anderson failed to make the required 130 pounds. He was a quarter of a pound overweight. Bass weighed 128½ pounds.

Mastro Victor Over Sparks.

WHITE SOX RALLY BEATS ATHLETICS

Grove, in Relief Role, Suffers First Defeat of Year When Chicago Wins in 11th.

VICTORS IN UPHILL FIGHT

Score Twice in 10th to Even Count—Clancy's Single Decides—Homers for Simmons, Jolley.

CHICAGO, June 10 (AP).—Bob (Lefty) Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics lost his first game of the season today. He appeared in a relief rôle as the White Sox gained a 7-to-6 victory over Philadelphia in an eleven-inning struggle.

Grove took the mound in the tenth inning to shut off a Chicago rally, which scored two runs after the Athletics appeared to have won the game with two in their half of the tenth. But in eleventh Grove walked two men, one purposely, and Bud Clancy singled to drive in the winning run.

The champions played poorly on the defense, making four errors behind Roy Mahaffey and Jack Quinn, who preceded Grove. Chicago called on Caraway, Faber and McKain for mound duty, the last getting credit for the victory. Al Simmons of Philadelphia and Smead Jolley of Chicago hit home runs.

CARDINALS DEFEAT BRAVES IN TENTH

Tie Count in Ninth and Then Triumph on High's Single to End Losing Streak.

BOSTON, June 10 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals broke their losing streak today by defeating the Braves, 2 to 1, in a ten-inning game, interrupted by showers in the extra frame.

Bob Smith shut out the Cards for eight innings, allowing them only three singles, but in the ninth he walked two men and Mancuso's single sent Bottomley home with the tying run. Early in the tenth, Adams doubled and scored when High followed with a single over second. Showers twice held up the game before the first half of the tenth was ended.

Boston's only run came in the fifth on Smith's single and Welsh's double. Sylvester Johnson started for St. Louis, but gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth and Fred Frankhouse finished.

BERG BOXES TONIGHT ON QUEENSBORO CARD

Meets Herman Perlick in Bout Postponed by Rain—Rosenbloom-Smith Match Off.

The rain of yesterday washed out one of the two boxing shows scheduled for last night and forced a postponement of the other. The Queensboro Stadium, featuring a ten-round tilt between Jack (Kid) Berg, English lightweight, and Herman Perlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., is scheduled to conduct its show tonight. Henry Perlick, twin brother of Herman, is to battle Willie Siegel of the east side, and Johnny Farr, Clevelander, will engage Sammy Dorfman of the east side in other ten-round events.

The Maxie Rosenbloom-Georgie Smith ten-round bout, scheduled as the feature for Dexter Park Arena, Woodhaven, was abandoned when the rain caused a second postponement. The fact that Rosenbloom must be in Buffalo not later than Saturday to begin training for his light-heavyweight championship match June 25 against Jimmy Slattery led the State Athletic Commission to withhold sanction for a further postponement of this match. The Dexter Park Arena's next show, therefore, is scheduled for Monday night.

A card of ten four-round bouts is scheduled as the closing boxing attraction of the season at the New Lenox S. C. tonight. The feature event will be a four-round clash between Frankie Fariello and Benny Frankel, rival Bronx bantamweights.

Three eight-round bouts feature the card to be offered tonight at Mitchel Field, L. I. The principals will be: Sindulfo Diaz vs. Jimmy Palumbo; Andy Zazzie vs. Mickey Kelleher; Lew Premavera vs. Freddy Raymond.

Battalino Loses to Payne.

CINCINNATI, June 10 (AP).—Cecil Payne of Louisville won the judges' decision over Bat Battalino of Hartford, featherweight champion, in a ten-round bout tonight. Payne won nine rounds. The title was not at stake. The weights were Battalino 127½, Payne 132.

GENARO KEEPS TITLE, BEATING BERLANGER

N. B. A. Flyweight Champion Is Victor in Ten-Round Toronto Bout Before 5,000.

TORONTO, June 10 (Canadian Press).—Frankie Genaro, flyweight champion of the world under the recognition of the National Boxing Association, retained his crown tonight after a slashing ten-round battle with Albert (Frenchy) Berlanger, Toronto, Canadian champion and former world's champion.

Neither man showed signs of fatigue or serious trouble, although Genaro opened up a cut over Berlanger's eye early in the fight.

It was a speedy affair from start to finish, but the champion forged ahead slowly and surely in his point scoring. The Canadian Press score sheet gave Genaro five rounds, Berlanger three and two even. Berlanger weighed 111½ and Genaro 111.

The show was part of the program for the entertainment of the visiting Shriners. A crowd of 5,000 was present.

SHARKEY IS HERE FOR STADIUM BOUT

FARLEY PLEDGES FAIR PLAY

Says Officials Will Be Told to Give Equal Consideration to German and American.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

Jack Sharkey came to town unexpectedly last evening, his training grind concluded and his immediate attention occupied by his scheduled fifteen-round struggle with Max Schmeling for the world's heavyweight title tomorrow night in the Yankee Stadium.

Not expected here until tonight, the eve of the most important struggle of his life, Sharkey broke camp unexpectedly. He was accompanied by his managers, Johnny Buckley and Jack Conway, and his trainers, Al Lacey and Tony Polozzolo.

The former sailor, confident of his ability to succeed to the title discarded by Gene Tunney, established his temporary residence at the Bretton Hall Hotel, his headquarters whenever he visits this city. At the same hotel are his trainers.

Buckley and Conway are quartered at the Forrest Hotel. The entire party radiates confidence. Buckley predicted that Sharkey will knock out Schmeling in five or six rounds.

Sharkey echoed the sentiments of his manager. Reminded that his unexpected visit occasioned surprise, Sharkey asserted:

"Oh, I can always be depended upon for something like that."

His reply to a query as to his condition and mental attitude was a terse "Fine. Why not?"

Plans Long Walk Today.

Sharkey said his exercise today probably will consist of nothing more strenuous than a long walk, accompanied by his trainers. Then he will go into seclusion until summoned to the Yankee Stadium.

Meanwhile Vice President Frank J. Bruen and his Madison Square Garden staff were completing the last details for the battle. Bruen announced that the entire supply of $13.65 tickets was exhausted, leaving only $26.25 and $5.25 pasteboards available.

The expectation of a crowd of 70,000 and gate receipts of about $650,000 or $700,000 was justified with a steady march on the Garden box-office, which even the inclement weather could not discourage.

Chairman James A. Farley of the State Athletic Commission in a statement yesterday said:

"The New York Athletic Commission is particularly interested in seeing that the fight is contested fairly and that the interests of both fighters are protected. I, personally, will see to it that the officials we will appoint on the night of the fight are particularly instructed that Schmeling will receive from them the same honest consideration as Sharkey, the American champion.

"The American public is noted for its desire to see fair play in evidence at all times, and the New York State Athletic Commission has endeavored throughout its entire career to protect the rights of every fighter regardless of whether he is a native of New York, California or a foreign country.

"Some writers have very foolishly indicated that Sharkey will be favored because he is an American No such thing can happen in this State, and I, as chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, want to assure the public generally, not only in this country but abroad, that it will be our aim and purpose to see that the fight is properly contested and the decision awarded to the winner, whether he is Sharkey or Schmeling. May the best man win."

Betting Takes a Slump.

Betting on the contest was reported yesterday practically at a standstill. "The bottom has fallen out of this thing, apparently," said Jack Doyle, when queried on the existing odds. "There's been no betting at all today, and no one has been around inquiring about the price. I think the pot will start to boil tomorrow, when I look for some heavy betting."

A change came unexpectedly in the supporting card when Walter Cobb, Kansas City heavyweight, withdrew from the scheduled ten-round semi-final against Al Fay, Charleroi, Pa., claiming an injured hand. Matchmaker Tom McArdle immediately set himself to the task of securing a substitute and was reported to have signed Joe Banovic, Binghamton, to tackle Fay. Confirmation of this match is expected today. Georgie Hoffman, Johnny Grosso and Lou Barba also were asked to fight Fay.

SHARKEY AT PEAK AS HE ENDS DRILL

Again Reveals Powerful Left Hook in Final Workout at Orangeburg Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 10.—Jack Sharkey's final workout today was attended by a crowd of about 600, including Floyd Fitzsimmons, boxing promoter; Benny Leonard, retired lightweight champion, and Joe Shugrue, former lightweight star.

The Bostonian weighed a bit more than 197 when he stepped on the scales after his concluding workout. Later he said:

Sharkey boxed three rounds, punched the small bag for one session and shadow boxed for four rounds. The sharp left hook which he disclosed toward the final days of training was much in evidence in his three rounds of sparring with Johnny Grosso and King Solomon. Grosso boxed two rounds and was the recipient of the punches on several occasions, once going back on his heels.

Benny Leonard was the most impressed individual here today. He saw Sharkey as a strong and able contender for the heavyweight title and a boxer of superior skill. To Leonard the left hook Sharkey showed was the best punch he has witnessed in the fighting makeup of any heavyweight for some time.

Sharkey came out of the conditioning siege in perfect condition. He did not sustain a single bruise, cut or scratch. During the training period Sharkey worked twenty-five days after coming from ten days of floor sessions in Boston. In all he boxed ninety-six rounds.

Radio to Send Fight Overseas; Wide Hook-Up Planned Here

The Sharkey-Schmeling heavyweight fight will be announced over the National Broadcasting Company's combined network through more than thirty stations, including WJZ and WEAF, The Associated Press announced yesterday. Graham McNamee will describe the action, while Miss Carmen Ogden of Rochester, N. Y., will cover society and fashion.

For foreign consumption and especially for the benefit of German listeners, the fight also will be broadcast in both English and German over two short-wave stations—W2XAF and W2XAC.

MOTHER FORESEES SCHMELING VICTORY

Describes Bout With Sharkey as Biggest Event in Germany's Boxing History.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 10.—As the day of the Schmeling-Sharkey bout grows nearer, interest, if not excitement, is increasing in the German fistic world. Even the public at large slowly warms up as the newspapers increase the space devoted to the big event and begins to realize the importance of the fight, which Schmeling's mother described at her home tonight as the biggest event in Germany's comparatively young boxing life.

"My Max is the first German boxer who ever advanced far enough to be permitted to compete for the highest laurels in the fistic world," she said. "He was the first and still is the only German boxer who ever held any European championship since he wrested the light heavyweight title of Europe from Fernande Delarge.

"Max also is still the unbeaten German heavyweight champion, although he was deprived of the title by order of the German boxing commission because he refused to defend the title against Challenger Ludwig Hayman four weeks after Max broke his hand in the fight for the heavyweight championship against Franz Diener."

Proud of Interest in Son.

The telephone in Mother Schmeling's apartments at remote Kleiststrasse, in the western suburban district of Steglitz—where Max occupies a rose-colored sleeping room when staying in Berlin—rings incessantly and she appears worn out from repeating the same statements as to her opinion about Max's chances over and over again, although she otherwise beams with satisfaction over the interest shown for the son of a proud mother.

"It is comforting to see that at last the German public is awakened to the importance Max's victory would mean for the German colors, for whose honor my son is always fighting, especially in view of the former hostile attitude in the German public mind from which Max suffered greatly," Frau Schmeling said, while sitting at her writing desk.

Frau Schmeling confessed she has had little sleep in recent nights and grows nervous as the day approaches which means so much to her beloved son.

Convinced Son Will Win.

"Of course, I am aware that anything might happen in a boxing bout; that one lucky stroke like that in the fight with Gipsy Daniels might end it all in the first round, while, on the other hand, it might be a hard and bitter fight to the end as was the one against Paulino. Whatever happens, Max will remain some time in the United States, which loves and steems him highly. But, of course, I am convinced my Max will win," Mother Schmeling concluded, and, after some hesitation, added "or at least I hope and wish so with all my heart."

The German press is divided in its opinion about the outcome of the fight, although it points out that the recent unfavorable reports from Endicott are a mere business matter of advertising the bout by promoters and bookmakers. The Vissische Zeitung says Schmeling has been lacking a good trainer, but adds that the long odds on Sharkey is a favorable sign for Schmeling.

"Bookmakers are masters of initiative on the boxing market and a Schmeling victory at such odds may represent in value several million dollars and that is a good chance," the paper concludes.

What little betting is going on here is being done privately among friends or enthusiasts. The odds are 15 to 10 in favor of Sharkey.

Jule Damski, one of Germany's best known boxing promoters, under whom Max won eight of his fights, said the German boxing world refuses to get alarmed over the bad news from Max's training camp.

"Perhaps," he said, "Max held back to make Sharkey more confident in order to block and catch him coming on, at which Max is at his best."

SCHMELING FINISHES TRAINING FOR BOUT

Special to The New York Times.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 10.—In a four-round workout that bristled with fast fighting and hard hitting, Max Schmeling today ended his training campaign for Thursday night's world's heavyweight championship fight with Jack Sharkey.

Schmeling boxed Charlie Belanger, the Canadian light-heavyweight champion, for two rounds, and then took on Lou Barba for two more. He was anxious to continue, but Manager Joe Jacobs and Trainer Max Machon called a halt and Max finished with calisthenics.

Belanger and Barba were instructed to fight Schmeling, but they were unable to extend him and at the end of their two-round jousts both Belanger and Barba were glad to hear the bell.

CUP POLO GAMES TO BEGIN SATURDAY

GREENTREE FIELD TO OPEN

By VERNON VAN NESS.

The Westbury Challenge Cup and the Meadow Brook Club Cup, two of the most important polo tournaments of the season, will get under way on Saturday, it was announced yesterday by the United States Polo Association.

Four games will be played Saturday and one of these will mark the opening of the Greentree polo field, just built by John Hay (Jock) Whitney on the famous Greentree estate at Manhasset. The games will inaugurate officially the Summer season at the Meadow Brook Club, where three of the contests will be held.

The draw in the Westbury Cup tournament for Saturday brings together Sands Point and the Aiken Knights, also the Meadow Brook Foxhunters and Delray, and the Rockaway and Old St. Paul's fours. These games will be played at Meadow Brook.

The lone contest Saturday in the Meadow Brook Club Cup tourney will be that staged as the inaugural struggle on Greentree Field between the Greentree four and the quartet of the Meadow Brook Freebooters.

Make-up of Greentree Team.

The Greentree four, incidentally, will have as its members Jock Whitney, Tommy Hitchcock, George H. Bostwick and Frank Hitchcock. On the Freebooters will be Townsend Martin, Winston Guest, C. R. Bartet and Ray Guest. All of the teams in both tournaments are rated at twenty goals.

There is much interest in the opening of Jock Whitney's new Greentree Field. The field is said to have cost in the neighborhood of $800,000 to build and is described by those who have seen it as the most beautiful field in this part of the country. It will be private.

There were to have been three games at Meadow Brook yesterday among combinations of the twelve teams entered in the two cup tournaments, but of course they were washed out and it seems hardly possible that the matches scheduled for tomorrow among these same fours can be played. However, if the turf dries out the first contest will be started at 5 P. M.

Game Sunday at Sands Point.

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Sands Point the Shelburne four and the Meadow Brook Ramblers are to play. On Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at Meadow Brook field the Eastcott four and the United States Army four are to meet. That is as far as the schedules in the two tournaments have been arranged.

Frisius Loses to Jack High in Closing Belmont Feature; Aqueduct Opens Today

JACK HIGH FIRST AS BELMONT CLOSES

GALLANT FOX IS PRAISED

Lord Derby in Cablegram Declares Colt "Only Consistent 3-Year-Old in Any Country."

By BRYAN FIELD.

What Joseph E. Widener, president of the Westchester Racing Association, described as the most successful Belmont Park meeting, came to an end yesterday with the Maturity Stakes as the feature.

Only two horses came out for it, George D. Widener's Jack High and the Belair Stud's Frisius, and they finished in the order named, with Jack High proving to many of the skeptical that he could run in the mud and go as far as a mile and a quarter.

Jack High's time at the end of the Maturity route was 2:07, fast enough for a mile and a quarter on speedy tracks and very good on yesterday's deep and muddy course. He beat Frisius by only half a length, but was going easily at the end and Frisius was doing his best. The weights were 122 pounds for each.

The purse to the winner was $2,125, and, having only one horse against him, it made Jack High the prohibitive choice of 1 to 10 at closing. He opened at 1 to 8, but even at these short odds there was support from his admirers, who believe that he is to be one of the greatest horses in years.

Jack High Leads From Start.

Jack High made a front race of things from the start. Breaking smartly, Pony McAtee let his horse rate along, with Frisius on the outside and almost abreast. They ran to the far turn on almost even terms and then Jack High drew away slightly. On the bend he increased his margin to somewhat more than a length and moved easily in the stretch. Here, Abel started to urge Frisius strongly and the Belair entry closed in, but McAtee, who rode a confident race, let Jack High run along. As a result, Jack High crossed the line under a hand ride, going easily.

Knowlton was the winner of the Cap and Bells Purse for 2-year-olds and in the victory some saw an omen of good luck for John E. Cowden, recently elected president of the Queens County Jockey Club, which will begin its meeting today. Knowlton was named in honor of Cowdin's son and sported the colors of the Ramapo Stable in his five-furlong victory down the Widener course.

Blind Lane Is Second.

The Goodstone Stable's Blind Lane was made a strong favorite in the race, and H. C. Phipp's Transmew also was well played. When it came to the running, Knowlton, which was at home in the going, cut out all the pace and won without too much trouble. Blind Lane was second, with Prince Peter third. Transmew never showed speed and appears to be an overrated horse, although he has been referred to as the fastest thing in the Fitzsimmons Stable, which contains many a fast horse. The winner's time was 1:00.

Mr. Widener revealed yesterday that Lord Derby considers Gallant Fox the "only consistent 3-year-old in any country." This passage was contained in a cablegram from Lord Werby to Mr. Widener which was in reply to a report from Mr. Widener on the running of the Belmont Stakes.

Lord Derby's Cablegram in full follows:

"Delighted about Gallant Fox. Have not Woodward's address, would you forward following message to him: 'My most hearty congratulations on possessing a real good horse. Only consistent 3-year-old in any country. Have not you established a record in winning the Preakness, Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes?'"

Mr. Widener replied to this cablegram as follows:

"First 3-year-old to win consecutively in only four starts, Wood Memorial, Preakness, Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes—America's real Derby. Winnings amount to about £40,000. Proven unquestionably best since Man o' War. Both horses descended from Lexington. Woodward delighted with your message."

AMERICAN DERBY OPEN RACE

AQUEDUCT MEETING WILL START TODAY

Queens County Handicap Will Feature Opening of 21-Day Spring Racing Session.

EIGHT NAMED TO START

Balko, at 123 Pounds, Will Concede 28 to Kildare—High Strung and Distraction Also in Field.

By BRYAN FIELD.

The twenty-one day meeting of the Queens County Racing Association will begin at Aqueduct today with eight named for the Queens County Handicap, the opening feature. If all eight go in this mile test for 3-year-olds and upward the contest should be one of the best seen in the East this season.

There is a great combination of speed and endurance to be found in each of these named, but it seems hard to get away from the Sagamore Stable's Balko, one of the sharpest horses of the season and the fellow that chased Jack High to the wire when he set his great American record of 1:35 for the mile in the recently renewed Metropolitan at Belmont Park.

Balko will have to carry the top weight of 123 pounds, conceding twenty-eight to Kildare, but this veteran is used to conceding weight and has done so successfully for several years. He has earned a great reputation as a sprinter and there is no doubt of his gameness.

Sortie Has Followers.

A. C. Schwartz's Sortie, used to going a long route, came down to a mile and an eighth recently and won. There are many who think he can come down a little further and win at a mile. The same sort of form applies to Distraction, the moody son of Chicle from the Wheatley Stable.

Anywhere from seven furlongs to a mile and a quarter, Distraction is dangerous. He has won at both these distances and at a good many others in between. But when he takes it into his head to loaf there is no making him run.

High Strung, the greatest money-winning horse of 1928, is another entry.

High Strung won the Futurity in 1928, but has shown no ability to go on. Yet he is a formidable sprinter and can last out a mile with the best of them when fit. With the weight pull he will have over Balko he may prove hard to beat. Comstockery, Kai Feng and Maya complete the field, and none can be counted out of things.

Kildare is in at the surprisingly low weight of 95 pounds, and if the track is muddy he will have a hard time staying out of the money.

Gallant Fox May Race.

Perhaps the most interesting thing about the meeting, which will begin this afternoon, is the fact that it probably will see another meeting between William Woodward's 3-year-old champion, Gallant Fox, and Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone, which suffered his first defeat in the Belmont Stakes since he ran second to his stable-mate, Boojum, in the Hopeful of 1929.

The Dwyer is one of the East's oldest 3-year-old annuals, and as it is at a mile and a half it is as thorough a test as is the Belmont Stakes.

Scheduled for June 28, the Dwyer will be one of more than a score of flat and steeplechase stakes to be renewed during the meeting.

BRENT'S WRACKSTER CONQUERS VISCOSE

Wins 7-Furlong Feature at Long Branch by Two Lengths—Favorite Second.

MUD RUNNERS TRIUMPH

TORONTO, Ont., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Arthur Brent's Wrackster, with the veteran Dude Foden riding, had little difficulty in winning the main event at Long Branch today. J. E. Smallman's Viscose, the favorite, was second in the seven-furlong dash, and Mrs. Benner's Trapland was third.

Wrackster went into the lead at the start and showed a liking for the sloppy track, keeping in front most of the way to hold Viscose safe in the stretch drive. He won by two lengths. The real race was staged between Trapland and Viscose for the place position, the latter winning a thrilling stretch duel.

Mud runners had their innings today, with Tipsy paying the biggest price of the day, $20.70 for the $2 straight ticket. The Long Branch meeting closes tomorrow.

Rough Water on Hudson Swamps Two Penn Crews; Lozier Back in Columbia Camp

TWO PENN CREWS SWAMPED ON RIVER

COLUMBIA EIGHTS SHIFTED

Lozier Returns and Varsity and Jayvee Boatings Are Altered—Barnhart Lost to Penn.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 10.—Some experiments in the boating orders of both the varsity and junior varsity crews of Columbia and a bit of involuntary swimming on the part of Pennsylvania's substitute oarsmen featured a rainy, wind-swept day on the Hudson.

So far as actual training was concerned, today gave Penn and Columbia a bit more mileage on the way to the intercollegiate regatta of June 26, but not much else. The broad reaches of the river here were gray and ugly under a leaden, rain-filled sky, and a steady southern wind made for rough water all day.

This morning all of the crews at both camps were able to get out for fairly long workouts. But this afternoon the wind coming up against the tide made it too rough down by the bridge for Penn to try any rowing at all and forced Columbia to travel upstream close to shore for a very short bit of paddling.

Swampings Cause Excitement.

Excitement was caused this morning by the swamping of both the freshman and the combination substitute boats of Penn as they tried to reach their boathouse on the return from the morning row. Both shells filled up in the rough water about a half mile below the Columbia boathouse. Both sets of oarsmen were taken aboard the coaching boats.

Neither of the shells apparently was damaged and both were towed home behind the launches. But the Penn oarsmen let them stay on the racks this afternoon and left the river to its rain squalls and its long, mean-looking rollers.

The substitutes this morning were forced to swim for it when they tried to keep rowing in an effort to reach the house, and Jim Matthews, the assistant coach, picked them out of the water and took the shell in tow. At the same time, Rusty Callow had come alongside the freshman boat, whose crew had stopped rowing with the water around their waists, and took the oarsmen aboard his boat.

One Change in Penn Varsity.

There was one change in the Penn varsity boat today. Barnhart, a veteran, wrenched some muscles in his back in the Childs Cup race, and after rowing yesterday in an effort to stick to the crew was forced to give up today. His place was taken by Cadwalader of the Jayvee eight and of last year's freshmen.

Both men weigh about the same, around 175, and are about the same height. The juniors were then rearranged, with Martin going to stroke and Thrasher to No. 6 and Davis to No. 2. It is uncertain whether Barnhart will be able to row again.

Columbia's varsity boating changes were even more sweeping, for Ed Lozier came back to camp after it was feared he was lost for the season and was set at the stroke seat in the junior varsity. Captain Murphy was then shifted to No. 2 from No. 4 and Al Triska sent to No. 4 in the varsity.

Spiller Goes to No. 6.

Spiller, the man who has stroked the juniors all season and who had been tried out at Lozier's old No. 2 seat in the varsity, was moved back to No. 6 in the junior varsity.

Coach Glendon gave no intimation after the day's work of how he liked the new combination or of how long it would last. It may be that Lozier will again win back his No. 2 seat in the varsity.

Triska is a powerful looking oarsman who was tried once or twice in the varsity during practice sessions between races early in the season.

The Columbia squad looks well physically. The men live in a secluded boathouse in which there is no electricity, which means they go to bed with the setting of the sun. The spirit of the men seems fine and the varsity moved strongly tonight through the rough-rolling waves that went past the boathouse.

3 TENNIS TOURNEYS OFF.

Rain Halts Men's and Women's Met. Plays and Merion Event.

On the opening day Saturday, also, the weather kept most of the players idle, so the tournament is considerably behind schedule. Nevertheless, the committee in charge hopes to finish the championship by the end of the week, and to that end the matches will start as early as possible each afternoon. An effort will be made to reduce the surviving field of twenty-two players to eight by tonight, weather permitting.

Rain caused the postponement of the matches scheduled to be played in the women's metropolitan clay courts tennis championship tournament at the University Heights Tennis Club yesterday. Play will be resumed today.

MERION, Pa., June 10.—Play in the women's Philadelphia and Eastern States tennis tournament was postponed today because of rain.

PENN ELECTS ROBINSON.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—Following the election of A. A. Robinson, a sophomore, of Savannah, Ga., as captain of the Penn varsity golf team for 1931, the Red and Blue team was selected today to compete in the Intercollegiate championships at Oakmont June 23-27.

The five-man team to take part in the title meet consists of Captain Al Brodbeck of Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Jack Gross, New York; W. C. McEntee, Doylestown, Pa.; Jack Merriam, Lansdowne, Pa., and J. S. Lewis, Erie, Pa. All are upper class men, which accounts for Captain-elect Robinson's name not being ratified for the trip.

U. S. School Quintet to Play In Venezuela for First Time

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—For the first time in history, an American schoolboy basketball team will play in South America this Summer, it was announced today.

The Perkiomen School team of Pennsburg, Pa., reinforced by several other schoolboy and college stars of the East, will sail on June 25 from New York for Caracas, Venezuela, where it will be the guest of Gonzalo Gomez, ex-President of Venezuela and now Commander-in-Chief of the army. Joe Baker, Fordham University star centre of last season, is included in the party.

CREWS TRY SPRINTS ON LAKE CARNEGIE

California Varsity Leads the Cub Eight by 2½ Lengths in Three-Minute Test.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 10.—Both the California and Princeton varsity crews spent considerable time on sprints and racing starts in their practice drills on Lake Carnegie today in preparation for their meeting with Navy Saturday. A head current over the course and a strong breeze made the going somewhat more difficult today for all the boats.

Coach Ky Ebright lined up his varsity and freshman boats for some practice sprints, the first time he has pitted the yearlings against the varsity since their arrival Sunday at the class of '87 boathouse. He called for several ten-stroke starts at about a forty pace, the varsity showing a slight advantage in all the brushes.

The strong breeze this afternoon whipped up the water and caused some splashing in the starts. Ebright and Russ Nagler, freshman coach, directed operations from the same launch in the afternoon and both called for longer bevel and cleaner blade work from their oarsmen.

Varsity Takes Length Lead.

After two and a half miles, Coach Ebright turned the boats around for the return trip and gave orders for a three-minute race. The eights started together at a thirty-eight pace for the first minute, the coxswains lowering it to thirty-five during the second minute and to thirty-four in the third. The varsity had about two and a half lengths on the yearlings at the end of the brush after taking a one-length lead in the first minute. The afternoon practice lasted only thirty-five minutes.

This morning Ebright was content with a six-mile trip at a pace kept the whole way in the low twenties. He tried no racing starts this morning. The yearlings negotiated about four miles, stopping for several racing starts and a few one-minute sprints.

Keep the Pace at Thirty.

Coach Logg gave the Princeton varsity a seven-mile workout this afternoon. All the way to the dam he allowed only a long, steady swing with the aim of getting the men back in condition after the final examinations which ended today. On the return trip, however, he called for a trial spin over the Henley distance. The pace was kept at thirty most of the way, although the last twenty strokes were taken at forty. On the way to the boathouse the Tigers tried several short racing starts. Tomorrow Logg plans to adopt Ebright's policy of double workouts in the morning and afternoon.

Because of examinations, the Tiger freshmen did not get on to the water until late tonight. Coach Logg gave the yearlings practically the same workout he gave the varsity, sending them over the Henley distance on the return trip. Art Strang was back at stroke today, Campbell going to his regular place at 2.

Coach Gordon Sikes took his 150-pound shell, which will row in the English Henley, for a seven-mile spin at a slow, steady pace. He said today that daily drills will be held until the crew sails for England on June 18.

NAVY VARSITY CREW WINS PRACTICE RACE

Leads Plebes, With Jayvees in Third Place—Squad Has Two Workouts.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 10.—Practice for the Naval Academy crews consisted of a short session this morning and a longer period this afternoon, during which the varsity, junior varsity and plebe crews raced over a distance of a mile and three-quarters.

The varsity finished well to the front, with the plebes a full length ahead of the junior varsity at the end. The work of the varsity and plebe crews continues to give great encouragement to naval followers.

For some reason the junior varsity, though composed of strong and experienced oarsmen, is not up to the mark of the other crews, but there are hopes, however, that it will hit its stride before the final test at Poughkeepsie.

HARVARD VARSITY IS SHIFTED AGAIN

Colloredo-Mannsfeld Returns to His Former Berth as Stroke Oar.

CHANGE IN YALE SHELL

Junior Varsity Coxswain, W. F. Gillespie, Goes to First Eight in Place of S. H. Gillespie.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 10.—Harvard's varsity crew had another shake-up today and it is probable this last change in the seating will be final. The greatest surprise in the new make-up is F. Colloredo-Mannsfeld regaining his position as stroke oar. Colloredo-Mannsfeld was stroking the varsity boat when he arrived from Cambridge a week ago last Sunday, but was forced to vacate his seat because of illness.

T. E. Armstrong, stroke in the junior varsity shell, took the sick man's seat and was looked upon as the man who would set the beat in the four-mile race with Yale on June 20. Colloredo-Mannsfeld, while convalescing, rowed at 2 in the varsity boat and it was not decided until this morning that he was physically fit to stroke the crew again, which is now practically made up as it was a month ago.

Harvard's two varsity crews had their practice two miles above Yale's quarters both in the morning and afternoon as the water on the course was very choppy below the two-mile flags. Coach Whiteside prefers instructing his charges on the river below Red Top, but for the first time since his arrival was forced today to look for a smoother surface upstream.

Bert Haines, who seldom sends his freshman or combination eights below the three-mile marks, cut his distance to two miles today. This evening these crews rowed at top speed up the two-mile course.

Harvard Using New Shell.

Harvard's varsity crew is trying out a brand new shell made by Sims & Son of Putney, England. The craft is reported to be running smoothly, but it is not known yet whether it will be used in the race against Yale or not.

The Pocock shell that was cracked when Yale's junior varsity crew struck a rock last week, is due to be back tomorrow, having been sent to New Haven for repairs.

Yale's quarters had several visitors today. Among them were Dr. James C. Greenway, head of Yale University's medical department; Harold Woodcock, general manager of the board of athletics of Yale's athletic association, and Selden Rose, the new chairman of Yale's athletic board of control. Mr. Rose is taking George W. Nettleton's place.

Yale Varsity Also Shifted.

It was believed that Yale's varsity eight was settled, but a shakeup today showed that S. H. Gillespie, the lightweight coxswain who has been guiding the big crew, had been relegated to the second boat and the junior varsity coxswain, W. F. Gillespie, advanced to the varsity seat.

At a meeting of Yale and Harvard officials, it was decided to have the two-mile freshman and junior varsity races, scheduled for 9 and 9:30 o'clock (Standard Time) on the morning of June 20, rowed downstream, starting at the mile and ending at the three-mile mark.

Arrangements were also made to have the four-mile course carefully patrolled by Coast Guard boats and State police to stop the infractions of motor boats, seaplanes and airships, and also to see that there is no rush of small craft after the races have ended.

The Harvard boatings:

Varsity.

Bow, H. W. Sturges; 2, J. W. Hallowell; 3, J. M. Erickson; 4, T. E. Armstrong; 5, M. M. Johnson; 6, A. M. Webster; 7, L. W. Dickey; stroke, F. Colloredo-Mannsfeld; coxswain, A. H. Stebbins.

Junior Varsity.

Oarsmen En Route for Test With Wisconsin Monday and for Poughkeepsie Regatta.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 10 (AP).—Three University of Washington crews, champions of the Pacific Coast, tonight were headed eastward, seeking other victories at the expense of the University of Wisconsin and participants in the national regatta at Poughkeepsie on June 26.

Alvin Ulbrickson, head coach, expressed complete satisfaction with the varsity and junior varsity crews. Tom Bolles, freshman coach, was less talkative. All three eights won their races on Lake Washington in April against the University of California.

The Husky oarsmen, who always have cut a figure on the Hudson River, will stop off at Madison, Wis., en route to Poughkeepsie for a dual race with the University of Wisconsin next Monday.

HUTCHINSON NAMED BEST ARMY ATHLETE

PERSHING SWORD AWARDED

Goes to Swofford, Cadet First Captain—Haskell Gets Trophy for Polo Leadership.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 10.—Receiving the Army Athletic Association saber for general excellence in sports and gaining a letter in basketball to add to his collection of four already won, as well as a miniature for being team captain, Richard C. Hutchinson of Owatonna, Minn., closed his career at the United States Military Academy adjudged the best all-around athlete in the corps of cadets.

Major Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the academy, presented the saber to Cadet Hutchinson at the athletic review today. The event, usually observed on the plains, was held in the gymnasium today because of rain.

Several other awards were made during the course of the review, which consists of all sports squads passing before the officers of the academy and designated individuals stepping forward to receive their trophies.

Christian Keener Cagle, former cadet and last season's captain of the football team, was to receive a miniature football, but was not present to get it. He had made arrangements to be in West Point and had reserved a room at the Thayer Reservation Hotel, but this morning canceled his reservation.

CUTTS REPULSES VARSITY

Hurling in First Contest Since 1928, Allows Only 4 Singles—Receives Good Support.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 10.—The Harvard alumni baseball team reached Warren Page for eleven solid base hits and scored a 6-to-2 victory over the Harvard varsity nine on the Soldiers Field diamond today. Rain halted the game at the end of the sixth inning.

The graduates fielded exceptionally well behind the splendid pitching of Frank Cutts, who allowed the varsity team only four singles. It was the first game that Cutts had pitched since 1928 and, although a bid wild, he was effective with men on bases.

Over 7,500 cigar factories are registered by the U. S. Government. Over 7,400 of these hand-roll cigars, producing 50 percent of the output. Every hand-rolled cigar—made by American Cigar Co. or anyone else—is subject to the possible danger of "spit-tipping." Certified Cremo is absolutely free from spit-tipping—No Cremo is made by hand.

Certified Cremo is a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture and its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that bind, roll, wrap and tip the cigars!

Three New Cup Yachts Meet in First Race Today

CUP YACHTS RACE FIRST TIME TODAY

Three New Defense Candidates, Enterprise, Weetamoe and Whirlwind, to Sail.

SEVERAL COURSES CHARTED

Contest on Sound Arranged by N. Y. Y. C. Starts at 12:10 P. M.—Resolute, Vanitie Other Entrants.

HOW TO TELL THE YACHTS.

ENTERPRISE—White hull, bronze underbody. No. 4 on mainsail.

By JAMES ROBBINS.

Three yachts built for defense of the America's Cup are to meet in competition today for the first time. Enterprise, Weetamoe and Whirlwind, the boats owned by New York syndicates, will race in the special contest arranged for them by the New York Yacht Club, and against them, to measure their speed, will be Resolute and Vanitie, the veterans. Only Yankee, the Boston craft, will be missing of the new ones.

With Whirlwind and Enterprise competing the extremes in the new cup boat construction will appear. Whirlwind is the largest and has the smallest sail spread. Enterprise is the smallest and has the greatest amount of canvas.

Amateur crews will do the sailing of the yachts and professionals will handle the canvas and stays. Each will have a professional master on board, but he will direct the paid hands only. This arrangement will be carried out in all the races during the Summer and on the defender that is chosen to meet Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V in September.

Vanderbilt to Sail Enterprise.

At the wheel of Enterprise will be Harold S. Vanderbilt. Guiding Weetamoe will be George Nichols, and Whirlwind will be handled by Paul Hammond. Resolute, the last defender, will be sailed by her owner, E. Walter Clark, and Vanitie by her owner, Gerard B. Lambert.

A large spectator fleet will witness the race, including the Hudson River Day Line boat Peter Stuyvesant, specially chartered by the New York Yacht Club to carry its members to the scene of the contest.

Although the New York Yacht Club's station on Long Island Sound is at Glen Cove, the start of the race will be across the Sound at Parsonage Point off Rye, N. Y., where an opportunity is afforded of getting a better sweep of deep water to lay out a course in accordance with the wind. An endeavor will be made to give the racers a thrash against the wind, but the best laid plans of sailormen often go awry in a fickle breeze.

Several triangular courses to choose from have been charted in the waters between Rye, Long Neck Point at Noroton, Conn; Lloyd Neck on the Long Island shore between Oyster Bay and Huntington Bay, and the entrance to Hempstead Harbor. The distances of the courses vary from 21.45 miles to 25.9 miles.

Other Possible Courses.

A windward and leeward race of 21.6 miles could be sailed between Parsonage and Long Neck Points were the wind east northeast, or it could be reversed, and the leeward leg covered first if the breeze were west southwest. Also a windward and leeward contest of 20.2 miles could be sailed between Parsonage Point and the buoy east of Lloyd Neck with the wind east, and reversed with the wind west. Neither of those possibilities has been taken into account, however, in the sailing instructions issued.

The start will be at 12:10 P. M., just before the slack water of high tide, so that the race will be sailed with the current ebbing to the eastward.

All five of the racers were at City Island yesterday. Enterprise, Weetamoe, Whirlwind and Resolute were at moorings, Whirlwind having been put overboard after her hauling out to clean and paint her underbody. Vanitie was still out on the ways, her underbody being rubbed down. She will be back in the water early this morning.

Gale Prevents Sailing.

There was a small sized southeast gale blowing all day, and it stopped the skippers of the three new boats from taking their charges out for short sail settings, as they had hoped to do. Most of the day was spent in getting the recut sails aboard, storing them away from the rain and making last-minute rigging inspections.

Not much encouragement for today was held out by the Weather Bureau, which only could figure rain this morning, a gradual clearing and diminishing south winds—not much encouragement for a yacht race. And the weather-wise tars around City Island could not see or smell anything much different.

Vanitie, built under the old rule of measurement, rates in a class above the new boats, and will have to allow all of them time in the race, which will be computed according to the length of the course. Resolute is in the class with the new boats, all of which will be on even terms.

That is one of the absurdities of yacht classification. Whirlwind is 159 tons to Vanitie's 99. She is 130 feet long over all to Vanitie's 118 feet 3½ inches, and 86 feet on the waterline to the old boat's 75 feet.

MISS DOW GOLF VICTOR.

Takes Low Gross With 94 at Old Country Club.

A rain that lasted almost all day reduced the number of entries in yesterday's one-day tourney of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association at the Old Country Club, Flushing, L. I., to twelve, and six of the players who battled against the downpour turned in cards.

Miss Dorothy Dow of the home club won the low-gross prize with a 94, while Miss Rosina Hicks of Lenox Hills captured the second award with a 99.

The first net prize went to Mrs. A. F. Gray of North Hempstead with 110—12—98, while Mrs. D. G. Edwards of Pomonok accounted for the second net with 126—25—101. Mrs. W. E. Kennedy of Hempstead, with an aggregate of 37, took the best selected hole prize.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

OLD inhabitants can remember the days when the usual offer was: "For two cents I'd poke you on the nose!" Prices have gone up since then. Jack Sharkey is prepared to poke Max Schmeling on the proboscis, but at no such bargain rates. Likewise, Herr Max plans to let fly several free-handed swings at Squire Sharkey's chin and he hopes that one of the blows will net him at least half a million in deferred dividends.

There has been a slump in the stock market and in most industries, including the business of trade and barter in left hooks and right crosses. The all-time high in pugilistic trading was set by Gene Tunney, who drew a cool million, less some small change, for less than an hour's exercise on a warm Summer evening in Chicago. Messrs. Sharkey and Schmeling will fall far short of that mark, but they will have carfare to carry them away from the Stadium and something extra.

Jack Sharkey says he will be the winner. Now, Sharkey is an experienced fellow in ring affairs. He has been closely connected with heavyweight fighting for six years and has associated intimately with such prominent pugilists as Johnny Risko, Phil Scott, Jack Delaney, Harry Wills, Tommy Loughran, Tom Heeney and Billy the Kid Stribling. He will be one of the "insiders" in this fight. In short, if any one knows the answer in advance, it must be Sharkey. And he says that Sharkey will win.

Conflicting Testimony.

Ordinarily, the word of a man as well informed as that should settle the matter. But this fellow Schmeling picks Schmeling to win. That's a puzzler. Innocent bystanders are left clinging to the horns of that fearful wild beast known as a dilemma.

Herr Max, on his record, has been in the pugilistic trade as long as Jack Sharkey. He, too, associated with Johnny Risko. He mingled with Joe Monte, Joe Sekyra and Paulino Upsidedown, the battered Basque. He should know the answer and he says "Schmeling."

That throws the average observer back on his own resources. Here it might be mentioned that there is no clause in the Bill of Rights, the Constitution of the United States or the city charter requiring a citizen to announce or even know in advance who will be the winner in any fight. In addition to that, it would spoil most fights if the winner were known in advance. A fellow who really knows should keep it a secret and not rob the spectators of the fun of hoping for upsets, surprises and dramatic fireworks.

No Reliable Guide.

In any event, this chap Sharkey is one of the ring's complete mysteries. He has all the physical equipment of a real heavyweight champion. He has courage, But his mental machinery is unreliable. He seems to be afflicted with brainstorms from time to time. He is cool when he should be excited and frantic when he should be frigid.

Regardless of the dispute about low blows or the outcome of his battle with Jack Dempsey, Sharkey was a real heavyweight in that fight. He had the great Manassa Mauler in a dizzy state in the first round. Yet his mental machinery must have jammed when he paused to chat with the referee while a fellow like Dempsey was footloose in the vicinity.

Sharkey was a good fighter against Harry Wills, Jack Delaney and Tommy Loughran. There are those knowing gentlemen—gents might be a more appropriate word in this case—who raise their eyebrows when the Sharkey-Delaney bout is mentioned, and there are many who insist that Harry Wills was "just a hollow shell" when Sharkey came along and cracked him. Such comment is always expected and never fails. Loughran was "just a light heavyweight." Give these fellows time and they can explain anything.

On the Credit Side.

There remains the fact that Sharkey, starting from the deck of a battleship, fought his way to recognition as this country's best heavyweight at the moment. He must have had something to get this far. He was hit by a number of large and healthy opponents. He must be fairly durable. He stepped up to fight George Godfrey and Harry Wills when most other white heavyweights were taking the other side of the street. He must have courage. He was fast enough to nail Tommy Loughran. He must have speed. He tied Billy the Kid Stribling into a bowknot. He must have some boxing skill.

Yet he lacks something. He doesn't run true to form. Where he was good against Maloney, Dempsey and Loughran, he was bad against Heeney, Risko and Scott. He was at his worst when he was over-confident and contemptuous of his opponent. It is hardly possible that he will be over-confident against a hitter like Schmeling and with a world's championship at stake, but it wouldn't be wise to wager the family jewels one way or the other.

The One-Track Teuton.

It's fairly easy to figure a fighter like Schmeling. The only doubtful element is the amount of rustiness that gathered on his weapons while he was idle for such a long time. In his fights in this country he made steady progress and varied little in the equipment that he brought to the wars.

He was hit fairly frequently and stood up well under an attack. He was slow when he first appeared in the ring here, and he isn't a fast and expert boxer yet by several dusty furlongs. But he toppled over Johnny Risko and he gave Paulino a bad battering at the Yankee Stadium. He is well built. He is as big as the Dempsey of Toledo and the Tunney of Philadelphia. He hasn't much money and this is his chance to acquire a real fortune. He is steady-going, almost methodical.

That puts him in sharp contrast to Sharkey, who is notably erratic. Sharkey was so delirious with excitement in the Delaney bout that he tottered all over the ring while the referee was counting out Delaney. He burst into tears when he thought he was being disqualified for fouling Scott at Miami. He was grinning and winking at friends around the ring while Johnny Risko was piling up enough points to take the decision from him at the Garden.

Any attempt to guess what Sharkey will do or will be on any given occasion seems to be just a waste of time. Schmeling will be a strong and rather crude boxer in there, waiting for a chance to put over a wicked right smash. The other part of the program will remain in doubt until the curtain goes up and J. Sharkey Esq. exposes it to public view.

CUP BOAT YANKEE MEASURED BY WEBB

New York Yacht Club Official Practically Completes Work at Neponset.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 10.—The measurement of the Boston cup defender Yankee was practically completed today at Neponset by Professor Harold W. Webb, the official measurer of the New York Yacht Club. A certificate giving the principal dimensions of the yacht will be in the hands of the race committee of the club within a few days. Professor Webb has already filed those for the Enterprise, Weetamoe and Whirlwind.

Measuring a cup yacht is a far more intricate affair than is generally supposed. Not only is the yacht taped from bow to stern, but the form of the hull is taken off in ten sections by the use of an intricate piece of mechanism, invented by Professor Webb, having three spirit levels, two sighting glasses and half a dozen sets of screws.

The end of a steel wire from the instrument is carried down the side of the yacht from the water line to the keel, and as the wire is on a reel it registers on a card the exact form of the yacht in each of the sections.

It is expected that the Yankee will leave for City Island either tomorrow or Thursday, but as her barge for the crew is towed very slowly, the fleet will not arrive until late on Friday.

The Yankee's first wooden mast proved so satisfactory that the spar will be duplicated in size and shape in the second one, which is now under way at the Lawley yard. There may be a few changes in the rigging of the second mast, but they will be unimportant.

Designer Frank C. Paine does not plan to alter the trim of the Yankee, at least not before she has her next set of sail trials, and probably not before she starts in the Eastern Yacht Club series of races two weeks hence.

Two More Games for Williams.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., June 10.—The Williams baseball team will close its season this week with two home games, which will be played in connection with the annual commencement program. The alumni will be played Thursday and the Connecticut Aggies will be met in the final contest Saturday.

NEW DRAW LIKELY FOR BRITISH OPEN

Failure of Four U. S. Stars to Compete to Require Shift in Pairings.

By The Associated Press.

When aspirants for the British open golf championship gather Monday at Hoylake and Wallasey for the first qualifying round a rearrangement of the pairings will be necessary. At least four of the listed Americans, two prominent amateurs and two well known professionals, will not be there.

Although Harrison R. Johnston, amateur champion of the United States, and George Voigt, semi-finalist in the recent British amateur championship, are named in the pairings, they are now at sea on their way home. Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour, two former open champions of the United States, have places reserved for them in Monday's play, but Sarazen is in New York and Armour in Detroit.

Three members of the Walker Cup team will play, Bobby Jones, George Von Elm and Don Moe. Of the others, Francis Ouimet is returning with Johnston and Voigt. Those three sailed Saturday night. Roland Mackenzie and Dr. O. F. Willing returned last week.

Four American professionals will carry the responsibility of defending the honors won by pros in other years in the classic British event. Jim Barnes, who has held the title, Macdonald Smith and Leo Diegel, who have just missed it, and Horton Smith, who has tried the stunt only once, but was sufficiently impressed to have another go at it, make up the quartet.

SEGRAVE TRIAL HALTED.

Broken Propeller on Miss England II Stops Speed Attempt.

LONDON, June 10 (AP).—Sir Henry Segrave was forced to abandon the first trial of his speed boat, Miss England II, on Lake Windermere today due to a broken propeller.

Just prior to the accident, however, Sir Henry said the boat was going well over the world's speed record and he was certain it would establish a new mark. The boat may be given another trial tomorrow when the propeller is repaired preparatory to an attempt on the world's mark.

WRIGHT'S 77 LEADS IN ONE-DAY GOLF

Special to The New York Times.

ROSLYN, L. I., June 10.—Hamilton Wright of Cherry Valley returned the low gross score, a 77, in the one-day tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association at the Engineers Country Club today.

The Cherry Valley youngster put together a 39 and a 38, which was very commendable, considering the abominable weather conditions. It got him nothing in the way of a trophy, however, as there was no prize for low gross.

Wright put a mashie-niblick pitch two feet from the hole for his 3 on the fourth. He was short on both the eighth and tenth holes and twice was bunkered at the famous fourteenth, where he took a 5.

Makes Great Finish.

He made a great finish, especially on the last hole, where he played a No. 3 iron shot three feet from the pin and holed his putt for a birdie 3.

Wright's card:

Out	5	5	4	3	5	5	4	4	4	—39
In	4	4	4	4	5	5	5	4	3	—38—77

Dr. E. J. Coates of Old Country won the first low net prize, T. J. Corkrey of Branch Brook, the second, and Ralph B. Hobson of Tibbetts Brook, the third. All three players tied with net scores of 71 and Dr. Coates won by matching cards with the other two, it being the rule of the association to decide ties by this method.

Boy Shoots a 92.

A 14-year-old boy, Eberle Wilson Jr. of Richmond County, returned a score of 92, which would have given him low net if he had been eligible. Young Wilson is a junior club member and junior members are not eligible for these competitions.

JOE TURNESA TAKES OPEN GOLF HONORS

WRIGHT SECOND WITH 306

Guilford Finishes Third With 308—Brady and Manero Bracketed at 311.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWTON, Mass., June 10.—Trailing by seven strokes as he set out on the last thirty-six holes of the Massachusetts open golf championship at Brae Burn today, Joe Turnesa unleashed a spectacular brand of golf to overtake a half dozen players and win the title with a 72-hole score of 305.

Turnesa, who finished the first day's play with a thirty-six hole aggregate of 157, returned a 75 for his first eighteen this morning and in the afternoon lowered that total by two strokes. As a result he managed to finish just one stroke ahead of the first day's leader, Fred J. Wright Jr., Massachusetts amateur champion.

Wright missed his chance to lead the field when he faltered this morning and scored a mediocre 80. He regained some lost ground on the final stretch, for which he required 76 strokes, and he finished with 306.

Jesse Guilford of Woodland, former amateur champion, scored 75 and 77 today to add to his 36-hole total of 156, his 308 for the four rounds putting him in third place.

Two professionals from the metropolitan district tied at 311 for fourth place. They were Mike Brady of Winged Foot and Tony Manero of Elmsford.

TUTTLE SUBPOENAES EWALD AND HEALY

Magistrate and Deputy City Commissioner Called to Tell of Cotter Butte Mines, Inc.

STATE ALSO INVESTIGATING

President of Company Calls Moves "Tempest in Teapot"—Ward's and Tuttle's Aides Silent.

Magistrate George F. Ewald, Deputy Commissioner Martin J. Healy of the Department of Plant and Structoures, and seven others were subpoenaed yesterday by United States Attorney Tuttle to appear this morning before the Federal grand jury in connection with the investigation by government agents into the stock sales of the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc.

As the Federal subpoenas were being made out, it became known that tures, and seven others were subsubpoenas requesting the appearance of Magistrate Ewald, Deputy Commissioner Healy and three others for questioning at the State Bureau of Securities, 74 Trinity Place, on Friday afternoon, were issued yesterday from the office of Assistant Attorney General Watson Washburn.

Those whom United States Attorney Tuttle desires to question this morning in addition to Magistrate Ewald and Mr. Healy include officials and employes of the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc. The officials are Harry C. Cotter, president and director; Dr. Louis A. Ewald, brother of Magistrate Ewald, vice president and director, and Emrich J. Boczor, secretary and treasurer.

It was said at the Federal Building yesterday that despite reports Magistrate Ewald did not call on Mr. Tuttle "to give an information regarding the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc., investigation." It was expected by the Federal investigators that Magistrate Ewald would appear or send word during the day.

Mr. Cotter issued a statement yesterday as follows:

"This is all a tempest in a teapot. We are getting along all right into the development of the mine. We have nothing to fear. We want to help in this investigation. A number of stockholders have called up during the day to express confidence in us and what we are doing."

The Federal authorities would not discuss in detail the results of their investigation, nor would officials of the State Bureau of Securities.

At the office of Mr. Washburn it was admitted that an investigation of the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc., was under way. It was also said that the State Bureau of Securities would cooperate with the Federal investigation.

The investigation of the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc., by the State authorities is the second of its kind. A year ago its stock-selling methods were scrutinized by the Bureau of Securities. The investigation then was begun after some one had sent in a prospectus of the company. No complaint was made against the company or the methods of its operation. The company owns a mine in Montana. At the investigation last year no evidence of illegal or fraudulent practices was produced and the investigation was stopped.

STUDIES WORLD EDUCATION.

Prof. Duggan Here on Liner Paris Reports on Exchange Fellowships.

Professor Stephen P. Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education, an organization for the exchange of students between the United States and other countries, returned on the French liner Paris yesterday from Europe, where he attended a meeting of the committee on intellectual cooperation. This committee, a branch of the League of Nations, strives to preserve ancient cultures endangered by modernism.

Professor Duggan said the Institute of International Education had brought about in the year 1929-30 162 exchange fellowships. Italy and Spain are now members. Italy sent five students last year and Spain is now planning to send five next year.

Among the 325 passengers on the Paris were Eldridge Johnson, founder of the Victor Talking Machine Company, now retired, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson; Mlle. Marcel Parisys, French comedienne, here on a pleasure trip; Mrs. P. W. Bartlett, widow of the American sculptor, and Dr. W. S. Thayer, Professor of Medicine at Johns Hopkins University.

FROM THE FOUNDER'S WRITINGS

No Man Can Live Safely or Wisely a Haphazard Life

He should know himself and put to use every faculty he possesses, establishing right relations to the affairs of life, and at the end of each day count up his doings and be able to hold his own self-respect. It is a pity to be sensible only about ordinary affairs, and next door to insane about higher concerns. The game is worth a candle well lit and trimmed.

WHITNEY POINTS OUT STOCK PANIC LESSONS

MACHINERY WORKED WELL

Expansion of Membership, Liquidity of Credit and High Margins All Helped.

NO REAL REMEDY OFFERED

Nor, He Says, Has Any Measure Been Suggested That Could Have Averted or Lessened Crash.

BOSTON, June 10 (AP).—The 1929 stock market panic taught several lessons, but no practical measures have been suggested which could either have prevented it or minimized its force, Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said in an address tonight before the Boston Association of Stock Exchange firms. It was his first important address since succeeding E. H. H. Simmons as president, and was made in the city where he began his career.

Mr. Whitney disclosed the result of an investigation by a committee of the Exchange of rumors of bear raids during the height of the Autumn liquidation. Questionnaires to Stock Exchange houses on their condition at the close of business on Nov. 12, which marked practically the lowest point of the drop in prices, discredited rumors of a large short position, he said.

"It was found," Mr. Whitney said, "that the aggregate amount of borrowed stock was so small as to be almost inconsequential, being, in fact, only about one-eighth of 1 per cent of the value of all stocks listed on the Exchange."

Strength of System Disclosed.

The panic of October demonstrated not only the strength of the New York Stock Exchange machinery, but also showed the wisdom of keeping the Exchange open in the face of all circumstances whenever humanly possible, Mr. Whitney told the Boston audience. Other demonstrations of the panic he enumerated were the advisability of keeping margin requirements flexible and the soundness of the call loan system.

"The developments during the panic clearly confirmed the wisdom of many steps which had been taken during previous years by the Exchange," he said, "for it must be remembered that the panic did not fall upon a Stock Exchange organization which was unprepared. Extensive and sound improvements had already been made in the Stock Exchange system, not merely in respect to its size but also in the quality of its operations. The value of our so-called questionnaire system, which requires periodical statements to the Exchange of the financial position of its member firms, was more than ever demonstrated by the lack of Stock Exchange insolvencies during what was one of the most drastic periods of falling prices in its long history.

"The expansion in the Stock Exchange membership, undertaken almost a year before, provided additional floor brokers during the days of great activity. Improvements in our clearing and settling system, including the efficient provisions for the central delivery of securities, undoubtedly were invaluable to the Street during the crisis, and have increased the determination of the Stock Exchange to continue its researches into the further possibilities of simplifying the great daily task of security delivery.

Lenders Lost Nothing.

"The panic likewise emphasized the importance of continued efforts to improve our stock ticker system. Our greatest disappointment lay in the fact that all our efforts and expenditures for so many years to speed up our ticker, could not have succeeded in placing in operation before the panic the improved machines which mechanical experts have finally devised.

"A second obvious lesson of the panic has to do with security collateral call loans. In a period of only two months, brokers' loans were liquidated from a peak of over $8,500,000,000 to barely over $4,000,000,000—a liquidation of more than 50 per cent.

"I do not believe that in the whole history of money markets there is any example of a liquidation of any particular class of banking loans of such scope and intensity, which was similarly attended without the loss of a penny to a single lender. The magnificent showing made by call loans last Fall should prove instructive to the whole financial world.

"A third lesson from the panic is the necessity of maintaining flexible requirements concerning margins, not only upon security collateral loans but also upon stock brokers' customers' accounts. It was fortunate that at the beginning of the panic both classes of margins were unusually high. It was equally advantageous during the panic that both classes of margin requirements were drastically reduced.

"Sometimes students of finance speak as though the sole necessity was always to maintain very high margins. Actually, margin requirements should be flexible, and high or low as circumstances dictate. For precisely this reason I am opposed to legislative enactments compelling inflexible and invariably high margin requirements for either loans or customers' accounts. No inflexible law can, in this regard, ever prove an effectual substitute for wise and experienced administration.

No Remedy in Closing Exchange.

"Lastly, it is my feeling that in the panic last Autumn the Stock Exchange again demonstrated the necessity of holding its markets open as far as this is humanly possible, even in the face of great liquidation. When prices decline drastically amid heavy trading and public excitement there always have been and always will be those who imagine that closing the Stock Exchange would provide a helpful remedy.

"To this view their fears of financial losses and even of business insolvencies very humanly urge them. But such an attitude loses sight of fundamental economic principles. The immediate effect of closing the Stock Exchange is, of course, to freeze loans made by banks on security collateral, and to render illiquid security holdings of banks, corporations and individuals."

2,768 Babies Born in Week; City's High Mark for Year

More babies were born in this city last week than in any other single week thus far in 1930, the Health Department announced yesterday. The number was 2,768, an increase of more than 800 births over the previous week, which had set the low birth record for the year. Brooklyn showed the greatest gain, with 1,221 babies born, as compared with 648 the week before.

The death total continued low, only 1,461 deaths having been reported last week, bringing the rate to 12.64 per 1,000 population, as compared with the weekly average of 12.66 for the last six years. There were fewer deaths than in the preceding week, although pneumonia cases and fatalities and deaths showed an increase. Thirty-one automobile fatalities were listed.

LODI FUND LETTERS NAME CONTROLLER

McCUTCHEON IS SILENT

Reads Copy of Senator's Message, but Says He Does Not Recall It —Mayor Repeats Charge.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 10.—John B. McCutcheon, State Controller, again was drawn into the investigation of the Lodi township sewer contracts today when letters were offered before Commissioner Price indicating that there was an agreement between Senator Ralph W. Chandless and Mr. McCutcheon to keep $200,000 of State funds on deposit in the Little Ferry National Bank for an indefinite period.

The money was used in purchasing hitherto unmarketable Lodi township sewer bonds. Senator Chandless and Joseph F. Bratt, former counsel of Lodi township, divided $11,800 obtained by sewer contractors as penalty for breach of contract, Mr. Bratt receiving $1,800, while Senator Chandless received $10,000, allegedly as counsel for the contractors. It has been charged that the Senator divided this money with higher State officials.

The letters which brought Controller McCutcheon's name into the inquiry again were presented by Charles Rosenberg, chairman of the Little Ferry National Bank. He found the communications after a search of his files undertaken at the request of Commissioner Price. Mr. Rosenberg testified also that Senator Chandless had urged him to disregard a subpoena by the Abell Legislative Commission, which investigated the deposit.

The letters included one purporting to have been written by Senator Chandless to Mr. Rosenberg and a copy of another which, Mr. Rosenberg said, was written by the Senator to Controller McCutcheon.

In producing the letters Mr. Rosenberg supplied evidence tending to support his statements before the Abell commission and before Commissioner Price that Senator Chandless and Mr. McCutcheon agreed to permit the $200,000 deposit to remain in the bank for at least three years. Both Senator Chandless and Mr. McCutcheon denied entering into any such agreement.

Mayor M. V. C. Monett of Lodi testified that "when we were coached in Senator Chandless's office as to what we should tell the Abell commission the Senator told us we could say anything we pleased, as the commission was illegally constituted.

"The Senator insisted we say he got the $10,000 as a fee for liquidating the contractors' damages and not a bonus," the Mayor said.

At Trenton Controller McCutcheon refused to make any statement when copies of the letter addressed to him by Senator Chandless were shown. Mr. McCutcheon read the letter slowly. When he finished, he said:

"I will reserve comment on the situation right now and probably will make a statement later."

He added, however, that he had no recollection of having received the letter and that it was not in his files. Before the Abell commission Mr. McCutcheon testified that he could not have made an agreement such as is implied in the Chandless letter, as this would not have bound his successor in office.

Once Convicted as Slayer, He Turns, in 12-Year Fight, to the Governor's Records.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 10.—Albert T. Patrick of Tulsa, Okla., spent several hours today in Governor Roosevelt's offices looking over records which he expects to use in an appeal to the United States Supreme Court to obtain the right to practice law. Patrick has tried for twelve years to accomplish his ends. He won his liberty when Governor Dix pardoned him, Nov. 27, 1912.

Patrick had been convicted of the murder of William Marsh Rice, a wealthy resident of New York City, in 1900. The indictment charged that he had inspired Charles F. Jones, Rice's valet, to chloroform him.

Five days after the court had found Patrick guilty, he married Mrs. Addie M. Frances in the Tombs prison. A month later, May 5, 1905, he was sentenced to die.

From that time on Patrick waged a legal battle that carried his case to the United States Supreme Court. The papers, it was said, were prepared by the appellant in his prison cell.

Among gifts to institutions was a total of $235,000 to Bon Secours Hospital, founded by Mr. Jenkins and his wife, and $10,000 to the Catholic University at Washington, D. C.

KLAN BURNS CROSS ON HARVEY'S LAWN

Neighbors of Borough President Harvey of Queens, awakened before daylight yesterday by smoke fumes and the glare of flames, found a fiery cross six feet high made of wood wrapped in oil-soaked excelsior burning on the lawn of the official's home at 471 Myrtle Avenue, Flushing. Mr. Harvey's neighbors telephoned the police. Detectives awakened Mr. Harvey.

"Too bad it's raining," he observed, as he watched the last remnants of the oil-soaked excelsior smolder and die out, leaving the charred framework of the cross exposed. "I hope the boys responsible for this little display didn't catch cold."

The cross burned for about an hour before the rain extinguished its flames. It was lighted about fourteen hours after Justice Charles J. Dodd dismissed a charge of perjury against Harry J. Styles, Jamaica real estate operator and former Ku Klux Klan leader, at a special term of the Supreme Court in Jamaica.

Mr. Styles was indicted in March, 1929, for perjury at the trial of Frank Berg Jr. and Albert Levin, who were charged with attempting to bribe Borough President Harvey. Testifying as a witness for the defense, Styles declared that Mr. Harvey had asked him to "help frame and get Berg." The former Klan leader was found guilty of perjury in May, 1929, and sentenced by County Judge Frank Adel to from four to eight years in Sing Sing.

However, on March 30 the Appellate Division reversed the decision of the lower court and Styles was released in $2,500 bail to await a new trial. When the case reopened before Supreme Court Justice Dodd last Monday, Arthur Morris, attorney for Styles, asked that it be dismissed as the District Attorney's office had not presented any new evidence to warrant a new trial. Justice Dodd granted the request.

Early last year Styles, as Republican leader of the Fourth Assembly District in Jamaica, led a revolt against the Harvey régime and applied to Supreme Court Justice Mitchell May for an order compelling the executive committee of the Republican organization in Queens and Joseph H. De Bragga, its chairman, to recognize him as chairman of the Fourth Assembly District. Styles insisted that he had been elected at a meeting held several months previously, but his opponents charged that he and his supporters had "packed" the meeting and refused to accept his election.

Soon afterward the executive committee served notice that another chairman would be elected. Styles obtained a stay from Justice Humphrey, who later vacated the stay. Then Styles obtained from Justice May an order directing Mr. De Bragga and the executive committee to show cause why Styles should not be recognized as chairman. After the case had been argued Justice May refused to grant the order. Styles appealed to the Appellate Division but his appeal was denied.

FAKE PARK AV. DOCTOR GETS 2½-YEAR TERM

R. A. Vignis, Who Posed as "Dr. Iselin," Defrauded School Teacher of $9,000.

Rene August Vignis, who posed as "Dr. Robert Iselin, a French medical specialist," when he opened an expensively furnished office at 1,000 Park Avenue last Summer, got a two-and-a-half-year term in Sing Sing yesterday from Judge Levine in General Sessions for defrauding a school teacher out of $9,000. He had pleaded guilty and admitted he was not a physician.

Vignis's wife was acquitted by a jury in Judge Allen's part of the same court last April, after he had testified for the prosecution, and tried to shift the theft to her. He had deceived her into the belief he was a physician on their marriage three years ago.

Miss Eva Kimball, the teacher, of 518 West 136th Street, said that Vignis, who in 1923 was sentenced to a term of from one to fourteen years in San Quintin Prison, California, on a worthless check conviction, became acquainted with her through his wife.

He told her he was a graduate of a medical school in France, and "treated" the teacher's sister for an ailment. He also got $5,000 from the sister, the teacher said, on his promise to give them stock in a bogus sanitarium scheme in Connecticut.

TEACHER ADMITS FORGERY.

Pleads Guilty in Connection With Payroll Padding Charges.

Miss Frances E. C. Maloney, former teacher-clerk at Public School 10, at Seventh and Prospect Avenues, Brooklyn, pleaded guilty in the Kings County Court yesterday to a charge of second-degree forgery in connection with alleged payroll padding. She had been indicted for second-degree forgery and petit larceny.

Miss Maloney had been employed in the city schools for twenty-three years. She was specifically charged with forging the name of Hilda Ramus of 330 Prospect Park Southwest, Brooklyn, a substitute teacher, to a school pay check and cashing the check and keeping the money. The transaction was said to have been made on June 28, 1929, although Assistant District Attorney Ralph Jacobs alleged that she had been padding the school payroll for at least three years.

Counsel for Miss Maloney said she would make restitution, and Judge Martin permitted her present bail to stand and released her without setting a date for trial.

Miss Maloney, who lives at 176 Beach 119th Street, Rockaway Park, resigned last February when the Board of Education traced a loss of about $1,400 to the school in which she was employed. Superintendent O'Shea said at that time that the charge was the first of the kind made in the history of the Board of Education.

TAMMANY'S CHIEF BECOMES A "DOCTOR."

John F. Curry, who received the degree of Doctor of Laws at Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., yesterday, and Archbishop Curley of Baltimore, who conferred the honor on the New York political leader.

JOHN F. CURRY GETS HONORARY DEGREE

Tammany Leader Receives LL.D. at Mount St. Mary's College Exercises.

HIS QUALITIES EXTOLLED

Arthur J. Hilly, In Address to the Graduates, Lauds Institution's Services to Education.

Special to The New York Times.

EMMITSBURG, Md., June 10.—Because of his "philanthrophy, his knowledge of governmental affairs, and his executive ability" John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, today received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Mount St. Mary's College at the institution's commencement exercises here.

Mr. Curry received his degree from the hands of Archbishop Michael F. Curley, who also conferred the Bachelor of Arts degree upon thirty-four graduates of the college. Mgr. B. F. Bradley, president of Mount St. Mary's, presided.

The record of Mount St. Mary's during more than 120 years of service to the cause of Catholic education was touched upon by Arthur J. W. Hilly, New York City Corporation Counsel, in his address to the graduates.

After the graduation exercises, an alumni reunion was held at which four persons who graduated from the institution in 1880 were present; the Rev. L. Rosensteel, Mgr. John Tierney, dean of the college faculty; Robert Biggs, Baltimore attorney, and John Cogan, New York City contractor.

"For upward of one hundred and twenty years this college has served the cause of Catholic education," said Mr. Hilly in the course of his address to the graduates. "The record of this work can be read not alone in the time-beaten stones of your ancient buildings, but also in the achievements of the men who here received their education. The contribution they have made to the upbuilding of our country can be read in the history of our various States and cities, and is indeed a lasting memorial to the glory and honor of Saint Mary's.

"Coming from the city of New York, I know the history of some of the men who have contributed to the upbuilding of Catholicity in that great metropolis of the United States. The founder of this institution was the third Bishop of New York, the Very Rev. John Dubois of beloved memory, and the first Archbishop of New York was John Hughes, who, starting as a gardener in these very grounds, finally won the wish of his heart to matriculate at the College of Mount St. Mary's.

"Then we come to the name of John McCloskey, who also was a graduate of St. Mary's and became Archbishop of New York and was subsequently elevated to the Cardinalate. New York's debt of gratitude to St. Mary's was not ended with the work of these men, for this institute gave yet another Archbishop in the person of the Very Rev. Archbishop Corrigan.

"Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville and many other dioceses have been beholden unto the graduates of St. Mary's for the men who labored in the building of the Catholic Church in the United States."

HAND PUT IN CHARGE OF STREET CLEANING

RESULTS PLEDGED BY FALL

Schroeder, Replying to Criticism of Streets by Sachs, Asserts New Equipment Is Expected Soon.

Charles S. Hand, former secretary to Mayor Walker and new member of the Sanitary Commission, is to have charge of keeping the city's streets clean, Dr. William Schroeder Jr., chairman of the commission, announced in replying to the charges of Dr. Bernard Sachs that the streets of the city were not kept clean. It was indicated also by Mr. Hand yesterday that the Division of Street Cleaning would be at least partly reorganized soon.

Dr. Schroeder indicated that his department had not yet reached 100 per cent efficiency because up to a few days ago it had not been completely organized, but promised that with the appointment of the new member and the acquisition of new equipment and apparatus, expected soon, the streets would be under close surveillance by the Sanitary Commission at least by Autumn.

Dr. Sachs, who is chairman of the Committee of Twenty on Street and Outdoor Cleanliness, had inquired in his letter what the plans of the commission were.

"Now that the commission is completed by the third or lay commissioner," Dr. Schroeder wrote to Dr. Sachs, "the Division of Street Cleaning has been assigned to the immediate direction of Commissioner Charles S. Hand. A complete reorganization is being effected and orders of the assignments will be issued within a few days.

"New trucks and bodies are now being surveyed so that additional apparatus may be expected to be in the streets by early Fall. The matter of personnel is a budgetary one and will be taken up at the proper time.

"The department is thoroughly in accord with your suggestion regarding the absolute necessity of police supervision. In fact, it has now before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment a request for the establishment of a police squad."

Criticisms of the Sanitary Commission in the future will be answered "with actions rather than with words," Mr. Hand said, commenting on Dr. Schroeder's letter. He added that comments and criticisms by civic associations would always be welcome.

"There will be some comment by Commissioner Schroeder within a few days bearing upon a reorganization of the street cleaning division," Mr. Hand said.

Teller Sentenced in $33,500 Theft.

Victor W. Emerick, 29 years old, who while employed as a paying teller stole $33,500 from the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company's branch at 97 Warren Street, received a sentence of from two-and-a-half to five years from Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions yesterday. He had pleaded guilty to one of three forgery indictments.

BANK IN CINCINNATI CLOSED BY SHORTAGE

Cosmopolitan Trust Is Victim as Doherty Ex-Aide's Thefts Are Put at More Than $1,000,000.

HOLD HIM FOR GRAND JURY

A. W. Shafer Said to Have Manipulated Checks to Get Money From Institution.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, June 10.—The Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust Company and its seven branches were closed today by the State Banking Department following revelations of a $623,000 shortage in the account of Amos W. Shafer, former district manager of Henry L. Doherty & Co., one of the bank's largest depositors. The bank's capital was only $637,000.

Notices of the department's action, posted on the doors of the banks, greeted depositors this morning. Shafer was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement, and a large number of depositors of the bank lined up in front of the building forty minutes before nine this morning. Twenty minutes later the notice was placed on the door. It is hoped that all will be paid in full.

Shafer waived examination before Judge Samuel W. Bell in police court today, and was held to the grand jury under bond of $15,000.

Other "irregularities" in his accounts not affecting the Cosmopolitan Bank will increase the total shortage to between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, it was stated.

One way Shafer is said to have obtained money from the bank was to have an employe give him a large personal check on the promise that he would get a cashier's check for the amount, and then never return the check. Customers' checks were also "kited," it is said.

The Doherty branch here operated as usual today. While no statement was forthcoming from the local office, it was learned that a number of persons who had dealings with Shafer had filed complaints that they never had received Cities Service stock they had purchased. It was these complaints that led to the investigation of Shafer's affairs. He suffered heavy losses in stock speculation, it is said.

Blanket Bonds Cover Shortage.

The shortage in the bank account of the Cincinnati branch of Henry L. Doherty & Co. with the Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust Company of Cincinnati is covered by fidelity and blanket bonds, according to representatives of the Doherty company here.

H. W. Nichols, general attorney of the National Surety Company, announced that his company had issued a $250,000 blanket bond to the Doherty company, and that a large fidelity bond was also outstanding. In addition, he said, other bonding companies were involved in the case.

SHRINERS DEFY RAIN IN CARNIVAL MOOD

TORONTO, Ont., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Officially, rain canceled many activities of the Shriners' convention here today, but nevertheless, the fun was fast and furious. Intermittent rain swept spectators and participants from the grandstands at Temple City, Fez City and Oriental Gardens, but the visiting Nobles took downtown Toronto by storm.

All the official parades were abandoned owing to the rain, but spontaneous and unofficial parades came in all directions. The business section of the city practically suspended operations as the gaudily dressed bandsmen and drill teams filed along. Through the largest stores in the city, amid the applause of salesgirls and customers, the parades marched.

On a dare, a carload of Nobles drove an automobile through the aisles of a large store. They had slight difficulty in getting through the doors. The doorman tried to stop them, but decided discretion was the better part of valor.

At today's meeting of the council, increased expenses of the Shrine were stressed by Leo V. Youngworth of Los Angeles, Cal., Imperial Potentate, in suggesting to the delegates that the number of meetings should be cut down, or that St. Louis, Mo., Kansas City, Mo., or some other city should be made the permanent convention centre. But members of the council who spoke favored a continuation of the present system, even at a greater cost to the various temples. An invitation to next year's meeting submitted by the Cleveland (Ohio) delegation will be dealt with later.

A cable message was received from the Prince of Wales declining because of another engagement the invitation of the Shriners to broadcast from London a speech on the presentation of the peace monument here Thursday.

SAYS HE HAS BRANCATI CLUE

Sing Sing Inmate in Letter Tells of Plot Against Missing Doctor.

District Attorney McLaughlin of the Bronx disclosed yesterday that Public Administrator James W. Brown had consulted him concerning a statement by Stephen Burgio, a Sing Sing inmate, who said he knew of the existence of "certain property" which was being withheld from the estate of Dr. Charles Brancati, who mysteriously disappeared from his mansion in the Throgs Neck section of the Bronx in November, 1928. Burgio is serving forty years to life for the murder of two women.

Thomas Brancati, a brother of the doctor, showed Mr. McLaughlin a barely intelligible letter, alleged to be from Burgio, in which the latter said money had been offered to him to kidnap and kill Dr. Brancati, and offered to reveal the plotters. Mr. McLaughlin attached little importance to the statements and said he would take no action until the doctor's brother, a captain of Italian police, who is here on leave, obtained more convincing evidence.

Mr. Rogers Brings Good News From Along the Potomac

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Just back from Washington. Had a nice chat with President Hoover. He's looking fine and in awful good humor.

Had the pleasure of keeping Senator Dave Reed waiting till Mr. Hoover and I went over all the different "propositions." Dave will vote for the tariff. He is only waiting to be begged.

About a week from Saturday Mr. Hoover is going to let off, for good behavior, about 400 of his handicaps, but he is going to keep ninety-six of the worst ones in and make 'em listen to Senator Johnson during those crisp Washington days of July.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

One Man Drowns as Craft Goes Down, Swamped by Strong Tide and Heavy Waves.

RAIN AIDS JERSEY FARMS

$50,000 Damage in Somerset County, but Fall Saves Large Crop Loss in South of State.

A fifty-mile-an-hour wind and rain storm lashed New York and vicinity yesterday, sinking a tug boat in the Kill van Kull with the loss of one of her seven men, blowing down trees and telephone poles in the city and causing $50,000 property damage in Somerset County, N. J. The rainfall, about three-quarters of an inch in New York, was spread along the seaboard, helping farmers in the southern part of New Jersey to avert heavy financial losses threatened to their crops by the long drought in that part of the State.

Tug Battles Tide and Waves.

Shortly before 10 A. M., when a southeast wind reached its maximum velocity of fifty miles an hour, the Invader was plowing through the high waves kicked up by the wind, off New Brighton, S. I., towing a heavy car float, loaded with ten cars, from Brooklyn to the Baltimore & Ohio terminals at St. George. Captain Miller said he had no difficulty crossing the upper bay but at the entrance to the Kill van Kull he had to battle a strong ebb tide as well as waves. With the water combing her deck, the seams on the Invader's starboard side opened and the tug rapidly filled with water. As she started to founder in sixty feet of water, the hawser to the car float snapped and the cumbersome float drifted nearly abreast of the distressed tug.

Captain Miller blew a distress whistle and ordered his men to jump overboard and swim for the car float. He and five of his crew plunged into the stormy waters and managed to reach the float in safety, but Roe went down with the tug. Captain Miller believed the engineer was caught in the engine room before he had a chance to escape.

Standard Oil tug 16, in charge of Captain George Sinclair, who heard the Invader's distress whistle, reached the car float ahead of Coast Guard cutters 213, 129 and 222, which were sent out from the Stapleton base. Captain Sinclair made a line fast to the car float, towed it to a Bayonne pier and then landed Captain Miller and his men at St. George. Meantime, the tug was resting on the bottom of the Kill van Kull, with about six feet of her big smokestack showing above the water.

The sunken tug, being a menace to navigation, the Lighthouse Department placed a buoy with a warning red light alongside her last night. A diver will search the Invader today for the body of Roe.

Phone Service Suffers.

The wind velocity averaged from thirty to thirty-five miles an hour throughout the day, according to the local Weather Bureau. It blew down four telephone poles in Second Avenue, between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Avenues, Long Island City, crippling service for about three hours. A tall tree in Colonial Park, about sixty feet southeast of Edgecombe Avenue and 155th Street, was blown down. The falling tree ripped away a forty-seven-foot section of iron railing near the 155th Street viaduct but no one was injured.

The bad weather brought with it a coolness in temperature that was welcomed by New Yorkers, who last week felt that they had had more than their share of heat. The mercury reached a maximum of 65 degrees at 5 P. M., having moved upward only three degrees from its low mark of 62 degrees at 3 A. M. The average temperature for the day was 64 degrees. The average temperature for the date is 68 degrees.

Partly cloudy weather today, followed by fair weather tomorrow, was predicted last night by the Weather Bureau. The forecast also was for fresh south and southwest winds, with not much change in temperature.

Somerset County Damaged.

In Somerset Couty, N. J., the high wind seemed to take a straight course from south to north, damaging property along its path. No one was injured. The wind tore slates from the roofs on Frelinghuysen Avenue, Somerville, near the estate of former United States Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen. Half a mile further on, at the Raritan Valley Country Club, it tore a small outpost wooden building off its concrete foundations and scattered planking over the golf course. Half a mile further still, the gale wind demolished the main barn of the Bridgewater Township Poor Farm. One of six horses in the barn was injured by a falling beam. Two miles to the north of the poor farm the wind tore up a barn on the farm of John Cima and scattered pieces throughout the neighborhood. About a mile from the Cima farm, part of a barn roof on the farm of John A. Powelson was carried away. Two chicken houses, a pump house, a small garage and a shack were demolished on the farm of H. M. Perry, east of Pluckemin.

M'ADOO POST TO GO TO A MAGISTRATE

Walker Bars Outsiders, but Defers Appointment Until He Can Confer With Curry.

CHOICE LIKELY THIS WEEK

Mayor Is Said to Favor Either Corrigan or Simpson to Head Tribunal.

FARRELL ALSO MENTIONED

Tammany Leader Is Expected to Pass Soon on Naming of Three Special Sessions Justices.

Appointment by Mayor Walker of a Chief Magistrate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William McAdoo will await the return of John F. Curry, leader of Tammany, from Emmitsburg, where he went to receive the degree of Doctor of Laws, it was learned yesterday. While the Mayor has not decided upon a successor, it was learned definitely that he intends to promote a member of the magistrate's bench.

In Tammany and administration circles the choice was regarded as lying between Magistrates Joseph E. Corrigan and George W. Simpson. Magistrate Corrigan is known to be a friend of both Mayor Walker and Mr. Curry. Magistrate Simpson's ability as a lawyer is rated highly in Tammany, and, though frequently mentioned in the past for higher judicial honors, he has failed so far to gain promotion. Mention also has been made of Magistrate William A. Farrell.

While he did not say so directly, Mayor Walker in discussing the matter indicated that he would appoint a new Chief Magistrate within a few days, probably before the end of the week. The Mayor was said to believe that the present magistrates would be much better qualified for the post than an outsider, because of his better knowledge of conditions in the court gained by personal experience.

Should the Mayor, as expected, promote a magistrate, he will have two places to fill, one to the vacancy caused by Mr. McAdoo's death and the other to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas F. McAndrews, the new secretary to the Mayor. It was said that it had long been Mr. McAndrews's ambition to be Chief Magistrate and that it was likely that he would have obtained the place if his appointment as secretary had been delayed for a week. Persons close to the City Administration saw no likelihood of the appointment of Mr. McAndrews now, however.

James A. Rafferty, head of the investigation bureau of the Municipal Civic Service Commission, was reported to be a candidate for appointment as magistrate to succeed Mr. McAndrews. Mr. Rafferty three years ago made an unsuccessful fight for the Tammany leadership of the Seventh Assembly District against the late James J. Hagan. Since that time Mr. Rafferty has made his peace in the district and is on friendly terms with the present leader, Marshall Ingram.

Mayor Walker also is considering the appointment of three justices of the Court of Special Sessions to positions created last week by the Board of Estimate. He has given no indication as to when he will make these appointments.

DR. NICHOLAS LUKIN ENDS LIFE IN HOME

Bronx Lecturer and Specialist on Heart Disease Had Suffered Paralytic Stroke.

Dr. Nicholas Lukin, 60 years old, a heart specialist and lecturer, prominent in medical and civic circles in the Bronx, committed suicide yesterday in his office at his home, 1,437 Prospect Avenue, by shooting himself twice in the mouth. Dr. Lukin had been suffering from high blood pressure and six weeks ago had a paralytic stroke. Although he did not leave a note, associates expressed the belief that Dr. Lukin had been despondent because he was unable to keep up with his many activities.

The physician's wife and a caretaker heard the shots but found the office door locked. They called a policeman, who broke a panel. The body was on the floor, a new revolver near by. On a table the police found a box of cartridges. Besides his widow, Dr. Lukin is survived by a son, Philip, 27.

Dr. Lukin propounded a new theory on the causes of high blood pressure, which met with widespread approval. He was consulting cardiologist at United States Veterans' Hospital 81, an adjunct of the medical division of Bronx Hospital. He was an organizer of the Bronx Medical Alliance, and a member of the Bronx County Medical Society, the American Medical Association, the American College of Physicians and several other professional and civic organizations.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning in Riverside Memorial, Amsterdam Avenue and Seventy-sixth Street. Interment will be in Mount Carmel Cemetery, Cypress Hills.

YOUNG SLAYER SENTENCED

F. O. Schoppner, 19, Gets 7½ to 15 Years for Killing Employer.

Francis O. Schoppner, 19 years old, of 29 Main Street, Astoria, Queens, who fatally stabbed William A. Lorenson and robbed him of $107 in an office at 1,451 Broadway on March 15, was sentenced yesterday to Sing Sing for from seven and a half to fifteen years by Judge Levine in General Sessions.

Schoppner, who was a magazine subscription solicitor for the Home Reading Group at 1,451 Broadway, of which Lorenson was the manager, had been indicted for murder in the first degree, but a plea of guilty to first-degree manslaughter was accepted on the recommendation of the prosecutor.

Schoppner said he had quarreled with Lorenson over $75 Lorenson owed him.

THE REIGN OF FEAR.

Toward the end of April the House passed, by a vote of 324 to 49, the World War Veterans' Relief bill, which can be truthfully described as a reckless political raid upon the Treasury. Its design is to help Congressmen at the Fall elections. Representative JOHNSON of South Dakota, Chairman of the House Committee on World War Veterans' Legislation, himself a veteran with a record of distinguished service who commands and deserves the confidence of multitudes of veterans, brought in a bill the proposed expenditure under which was estimated at something less than $90,000,000 a year. His bill was so disfigured and swollen by amendments that he refused to have his name associated with it. Its name-saint is Mr. RANKIN of Mississippi, a minority member of the committee.

The language of the bill is as inclusive as possible and full of obscure and elastic terms. All persons who were in the military or naval service up to July 2, 1921, are eligible. A veteran may have been out of service for years, yet if he can show as much as a 10 per cent disability contracted before Jan. 1, 1930, the presumption is that the disability is connected with the service. As regards men who fought, the presumption is conclusive. The cost has been calculated at $400,000,000 or $500,000,000 a year or more. Mr. RANKIN, a Jeffersonian devoted to rigid economy, has guessed about $108,000,000. This is in addition, of course, to the immense and constantly growing hundreds of millions otherwise annually spent in the various forms of veterans' relief.

According to Mr. JOHNSON, the demand for this bill has not come from the service men. It is political—for the repair of fences. Carry in haste, repent at leisure. The leaders of the House are now frightened by the panic of both houses over the Spanish War Veterans' Pension bill. Tax reduction has gone glimmering. The little slip in red letters that gladdened the income taxpayer's heart this year is not likely to be included next year. Is new taxation to be the result of this session of a body of statesmen all passionately devoted in theory to Spartan economy in public expenditure? The bill is in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee. Can it be put to sleep there? Unfortunately, the Senate has shown itself to be as eager and high a bidder for votes as the House. Besides, it is taken for granted that Mr. HOOVER will veto the bill if it is passed; and to oppose the President is the first duty of the Senate.

The House leaders are represented as having little, timid plans. They want to save Mr. HOOVER from "embarrassment." They also want to save themselves from embarrassment. If the Senate passes the bill, how would it do for the House to repass it and let the Congress "by "their adjournment prevent its re-"turn, in which case it shall not be "a law"? Into these delicacies of adjournment and these intrepidities of statesmanship we need not enter. Here is a bill of political purpose opposed by the leaders and best sentiment of the veterans themselves. Yet the great majority of the House Republicans and Democrats have been hot for it. They are willing to throw the finances of the country out of gear in the hope of getting votes; and now some of them and some of their leaders want to do it and not do it, seem to do it, sneak away and get the glory. Perhaps a better hope lies in time and climate and political nostalgia. "As soon as "we get rid of the tariff and the "Rivers and Harbors bill," said Senator NORRIS Monday, "a quorum will simply disappear."

THE TREATY'S STARTING POINT

There is still much palaver at Washington about the mysterious documents which the State Department refuses to give to the Senate. This is obviously a part of the tactics of delay, since no Senator can really expect Secretary STIMSON to turn over to people who are secret, but yet Senators, reports involving the confidential communications of other governments. Meanwhile, the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, along with many public men and newspapers, appear to be studiously overlooking the real origin of the naval treaty. It was set forth in almost identical terms by President HOOVER and Prime Minister MACDONALD before the London conference met. Both of them agreed that the Briand-Kellogg agreement made all the difference in the world about naval armaments. On the strength of that solemn undertaking to renounce war, except in national self-defense, it was possible to revise the whole question of the relative strength of navies. That was the theory on which the whole proceeding was based, yet it seems to be forgotten by many participants in the present debate. Not the slightest reference to it is made, for example, by Admiral FISKE in the letter by him published today on this page of THE TIMES. He is a high naval authority, and is entitled to be heard, and, in pursuance of the willingness of the modern newspaper to give a hearing to the other side, we are glad to make room for his forcible expression of his own judgment.

CROSSING THE DEADLINE.

Police officers in New York as well as in Chicago have been known to console themselves for failure to run down gang murderers with the reflection that, after all, self-extermination isn't a bad way to reduce that part of the population. But when gangsters invade the ranks of citizens, arrest and punishment of the outlaws is the only course. This is the chief reason why Chicago is so aroused over the shooting down from behind of a Tribune reporter under circumstances which indicate a gang murder. The fact that LINGLE was a newspaper man whose work brought him in touch with the underworld adds to the thrilling and sinister aspects of his killing. Also it focuses a brighter spotlight upon the suspected areas and persons. But the death of any citizen in such a manner is a challenge to the right of men to work and live. Such a challenge must be met by the great city to which it was offered.

The nature of LINGLE's occupation required him to know and to mix freely with outlaws who have terrorized Chicago. Detectives go among criminals in much the same way. But the reporter whose companionship they tolerate is at least one step further from penal processes, and every American city has newspaper men who pluckily make it their business to know its undesirables. Usually the life of such a man depends upon the belief of gangsters that he is a "square shooter," that what he wants is to "tip off" his newspaper and not the police. The easiest way for him to get killed is to have it thought that he is giving first aid to the authorities instead of to his editor. The crime population would consider that a treacherous return for the valuable favors of access.

There is no evidence to support this hypothesis for the slaying of LINGLE, and as yet there is no suggestion that his murder was in pursuance of a private underworld feud, not related to his activities as a reporter. Lacking these elements, the shooting is being treated by the police, the press and the community as an attempt by gangdom or a part of it to muzzle the newspapers by taking the lives of their investigators. If that can be done, the City Hall and the press might as well be officially turned over to the rival leaders of the gunmen. Entirely conscious of the menace possibly offered by this crime, Chicago does well to be serious and determined in its search for the perpetrators.

PRELIMINARY REPORT ON INDIA

Dispatches from Bombay show that the native press, along with the Hindu advocates of independence, is violently attacking the first part of the report by the Simon Commission. It is spoken of as highly "insulting" to India, and officials of the Liberal Federation assert that it betrays the intention of Great Britain to give India little or nothing and to retain her hold on the Indian Government indefinitely. This is an extraordinary case of taking offense where none was intended, and of reading into the report things which are not there. For it carefully refrains from making a single recommendation about the future status of India. They are to come later, in the second part of the report, if at all. This first section is wholly devoted to furnishing a "background," in the way of accurate information, for what is to follow. Nearly half of the report is taken up with a historical account of India, her different races and religions and forms of government. The rest is a study, searching but sympathetic, of the actual operation, during the past ten years, of the new system of government set up in India by the Act of 1919, in accordance with the famous Montagu-Chelmsford report.

These pages contain an enormous mass of details relating to the setting-up and working of provincial legislatures, the Legislative Councils, and the central Council of State and Legislative Assembly. All the information of this kind is grouped under separate and appropriate headings, and is well documented and buttressed by the testimony of a host of witnesses, both official and private, both Anglo-Indian and native. Any who wish to know how these beginnings of self-government in India have fared will find the needed material at hand in this first part of the Simon report. Evidently the commission regarded itself primarily as a fact-finding body, and the information is set down without color or prejudice.

Particularly striking is the obvious effort of the Simon Commission to rid itself of English presumptions, and to penetrate beneath the strange and alien surface to a real understanding of the character and aspirations of the native population. The greatest pains are taken to explain the way in which public opinion works in India, under limitations which in any Western nation would seem to be absolutely fatal. There are penetrating and instructive chapters on the rôle played by newspapers in India, on public education, together with a most sympathetic and enlightened inquiry into the political consciousness of the Hindus. While no positive conclusions are drawn from the data gathered, the whole spirit of this part of the report is one of anxiety to discover the truth and to set it forth in all its legitimate implications. If the Independence party in India resents and denounces this tactful and appreciative effort to understand the real political problem of India, it shows itself capable of disregarding the interest and advice of sincere and loyal friends.

The final test will not come until the second part of the Simon report is made public, as it is to be very soon, containing proposals for a continuation and enlargement of the great Indian experiment in self-government, and looking forward to "the progressive realization of re-"sponsible government in India as "an integral part of the British Em-"pire." However, it will doubtless be reasserted, to quote further from the Montagu statement of 1917, that "the British Government and the "Government of India must be the "judges of the time and measure of "each advance."

A UNANIMOUS THEATRE.

No back-stage mystery has been more secret than the years of plotting for a national theatre in England. The schemes of the Shakespeare Memorial Committee, the British Drama League and other theatrical leaders have not been the object of so much public interest as life behind the scenes, which people always imagine is romantic, but that was chiefly because they were kept locked up in committee rooms. Now they have come out into the light, and the effect is as magical as if a prestidigitator had suddenly pulled a complete model of a memorial theatre out of a silk hat.

Neither a site for the building nor a director for the company has yet been chosen, but these items are now fairly sure, since the important matter of financing the plan has been agreed upon with truly admirable unanimity. It was known that Prime Minister MACDONALD was prepared to listen sympathetically to a definite proposal from the persons interested. They very sensibly got together and harmonized their differences, which were fortunately affairs of detail and not of principle. The general scheme is in line with that drawn up twenty-seven years ago by Mr. GRANVILLE-BARKER in collaboration with WILLIAM ARCHER and recently brought up to date by the former in his book "The National Theatre."

Money for maintaining the theatre, once it should be established, has always been the stumbling-block in the path of the promoters. In the Shakespeare Memorial Fund about half a million dollars lies ready for initial expenses. This sum is not sufficient for building the theatre and launching the venture, but a plan for obtaining the necessary extra funds has been proposed and seems feasible to all parties to the project. Even the proprietors of the proposed source of income have not withheld consent. They seem to think it likely that in the end they, too, will profit by a national theatre which will finally be self-sustaining.

The British Broadcasting Company yields the Exchequer between one and two million dollars a year. This money comes from licenses for receiving sets. It is the total profit after necessary sums for administration and development have been deducted. This fund from listeners' fees is not a tax fund, and there is a strong feeling that it should not be thrown into the general national revenues. It would be most suitably used in stimulating and sustaining music, drama and entertainment. In the careful figures of the National Theatre Committee it appears that a grant of about $500,000 a year to meet annual charges over a fixed and rather short term of years would put the theatre on a self-supporting basis. If an arrangement of this sort is made, the extra capital at once needed can be borrowed on the security of the British Broadcasting Company's profits and can be paid back from the same source.

Twenty years ago the basis for such a scheme of financing a national theatre did not exist. Now the radio people are at hand to help the drama and to profit by it. They would broadcast some of the programs. In the company and directors they would find talent for their own entertainments and a training school for their speakers and announcers. Part of the profits from their monopoly of broadcasting music and drama might be fittingly turned to the better production and wider encouragement of these arts.

OUR BRAZILIAN VISITOR.

Official welcome will be extended today to President-elect JULIO PRESTES of Brazil, not only in recognition of his distinguished career and high office, but also as an expression of the interest of the American people in the great South American republic. With Brazil our relations have always been most friendly. Even when other Latin-American nations have been distrustful of the power of the United States, Brazil has been our defender. Calumnies of prejudiced persons seeking to create ill will between North and South America have never found ready ears in Brazil.

Dr. PRESTES is returning the visit of Mr. HOOVER to Brazil when he too was President-elect. The choice by an overwhelming majority of his countrymen, he is of the same party as the outgoing Chief Executive, WASHINGTON LUIS. With him, in fact, he has long been in intimate association, and has cooperated with him closely in matters political. An experienced politician and administrator, Dr. PRESTES has held successive political offices, including that of Governor of the State of São Paulo and leader in Parliament of the Government party. His father before him was active in politics and left a comfortable fortune which has enabled him to pursue his political career without fear or favor.

He comes to this country at a time when economic conditions in his native land are little more happy than those here. For several years Brazil has been under a serious business depression. Her dependence on coffee as her principal crop has been a drawback. Efforts to raise and then to stabilize the price of coffee have not succeeded better than did the Stevenson rubber restriction plan in British Malaya. Trade has fallen off. The determined endeavors of President LUIS to improve business conditions have been thwarted by the general world malaise.

Yet confidence in the great future of Brazil continues unshaken. Large loans have been readily made to Brazil, and investments by foreigners—notably by our own people—in Brazilian enterprises have increased. Certainly the resources of that enormous country, whose territory is more extensive even than our own, are as yet but scratched. Its mineral resources are only beginning to be explored. As its agriculture becomes more diversified it will be less subject to the vicissitudes which are inevitable when too much dependence is placed on a single crop.

As the Brazilian President-elect carries out the strenuous program of receptions and visits mapped out for him he will have but little opportunity to come into direct contact with American life. But even in his shielded travels he cannot escape realizing that lack of knowledge of his country in the United States is compensated by the friendly feeling for his people. May his welcome here be as warm as that which Brazil extended to President-elect HOOVER.

ENDURING ARCHITECTURE.

Mr. CASS GILBERT remarked the other day that the new home of the United States Supreme Court in Washington, of which he is the architect, will take at least three years to build, because, as he explained, the structure is designed to last for all time. Hence the work cannot be rushed "as in the case of modern skyscrapers." As he himself was the architect of so upstanding a sample of skyscraper construction as the Woolworth Tower, he ought to know about such things.

However, it is not certain that Mr. GILBERT was scoring a point against modern buildings. He may have been simply stating a fact. He may have even been expressing the commendation that is due to anything which attains what it sets out to be, such as a skyscraper. Mr. GILBERT has suggested as good a test as we can find to differentiate modern industrial civilization from the ages precedent. Until the industrial revolution men built "for all time," and there are still a great many people to draw the contrast between the permanency of pre-machine craftsmanship and the "shoddy" of machine products and of a machine civilization. For that matter, there are few moderns who prefer flimsy things to enduring things, but it must be within reason. Virtually every one will prefer a house—if it is his own private house—that will last fifty years to a jerry-built product that will begin to sag in five years. But when it comes to building a home to last twice fifty years or five times fifty years, there is far less interest.

Not cheap ideals, then, but a definite philosophy, whether definitely realized or not, is behind the modern refusal to build for all time. A well-made suit by a good tailor may carry more comfort and beauty after three years than a cheap suit fresh from the shop. But this cannot go on forever. In five years the good suit may be hopelessly outmoded; and always there is a value, a stimulus, in mere "newness" which speaks in favor of the cheaper but fresher article. To raise buildings for all time is to impose ourselves on the future. It denies our posterity the right to express themselves in their own buildings in their own way. It fails to take cognizance of the speed of modern civilization, which in another fifty years may find skyscrapers for business offices giving way to the superior advantages of subterranean galleries electrically lighted and warmed by the new "fever tube."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Forward With Street Cleaning.

It is to be hoped that the appointment of Mr. HAND as the third member of the Sanitary Commission will remove whatever obstacles appear to have existed in the way of the work of the Commissioner of Sanitation. Although rumors of political disagreements have been denied, there have been undue delays in acting on his budget and other recommendations.

Mr. HAND is to have direct charge of the division of street cleaning. To facilitate his work it has been proposed to give him a squad of special sanitary police and to provide new trucks and equipment. Without pretending that conditions are satisfactory at present, Dr. SCHROEDER suggests that the fault has not been due to any cause over which his own control was direct. In other words, while not denying the charges made by Dr. BERNARD SACHS, he gives the impression that there are extenuating circumstances.

Commissioner HAND will have public support in his new work in direct proportion to his ability to get results. His political strength should stand him in good stead in obtaining official support for his department's needs. Obviously, without proper equipment it is hard to keep the streets clean. But once this is provided, its use will have to be supervised with relentless energy.

Lieutenant Soucek's Record.

Lieutenant SOUCEK's flight to an altitude of 43,166 feet, exceeding the German record by 1,044 feet, will make no impression upon most people. Why the risk? Was it anything more than a spectacular stunt? From a military point of view, could there be a fight in the air more than 14,000 feet higher than Everest? It is beyond doubt that in warfare planes would seek great altitudes to have a diving advantage over the enemy. On April 12 nineteen army planes in squadron formation climbed more than six miles at Mather Field, Sacramento.

It is the opinion of experts that if there should be another war it will be won in the air. Enemy planes would be sought at all altitudes, and the strongest climbing bombers would always have an advantage. Greater speed can be made where winds are light, and at six miles up a flying squadron offers no target for anti-aircraft guns.

Commercially, high flying is in the experimental stage, but it has been demonstrated that planes can rise above any storm to a height where nearly 200 miles an hour can be flown. The time may come when crossing the Atlantic will take half a day. Science has uses for flight at great altitudes. It should be practicable to look down on the Himalayan ranges, photograph and map them. Meteorology and astronomy should gain much from experimental observations in electrically heated planes flying so high that the spaces they traverse are far beyond human sight.

Haldane and Birkenhead.

In the new English weekly, The Week-End Review, there is a continuation of a rather amusing controversy between Mr. J. B. S. HALDANE and Lord BIRKENHEAD. The latter, as is well known, takes all knowledge for his province, and in his recent book, "The World in 2030," had a good deal to say about science which Mr. HALDANE found to consist of three parts misunderstanding to one part ignorance. He had published a rather savage review of the volume, and Lord BIRKENHEAD replied in his usual lofty manner of ignoring difficulties and despising opponents.

Among other things, he said that, naturally, he had taken his scientific information from different authorities, among whom was Mr. HALDANE himself. But in his rejoinder Mr. HALDANE observed that his Lordship had indeed taken over matter from another, but that he had often misquoted it and made use of it in an unintelligent way. Moreover, he had accepted some of Mr. HALDANE's whimsical suggestions as if they were ascertained scientific fact. This little summary of the alleged plagiarism, is rather neat:

"He also states that he follows in the footsteps of myself. To continue the metaphor, I have no objection to any one treading in my footsteps. I object to them stealing my boots to do so, and I am amused when they do not know how to put the boots on. For Lord BIRKENHEAD has taken my wildest speculations quite seriously."

If The Week-End Review, which was recently founded by members of the staff of The Saturday Review who left it when it changed its policy, can continue to invite such clashes of wit in its columns, it will attract readers who had begun to despair of weekly journalism in England.

Newspapers by Radio.

Every day some new development of science puts magic within the vision of people today. Yesterday the first page of The Evening World was radioed 2,310 miles to the liner America, somewhere between Plymouth and New York. The transmission was done by the Radio Corporation of America in ninety minutes. Thus in less than two hours after that first page came from the press it was posted on the ship's bulletin board and was being read by, among others, a returning group of Gold Star mothers.

This experiment may bring nearer the preparation of condensed radio newspapers to be radioed to ships at sea and to groups (like Admiral BYRD's) in remote places. Of course, the average newspaper cannot be so dispatched. Yesterday The Evening World was thirty-six pages; at ninety minutes per page the transmission would require two and a quarter days.

Since almost anything is superior to the fragments called "oceanic newspapers," the prospect raised by this experiment will be welcomed by voyagers who want to know what's happening every day on land. As for the travelers who go for quiet and isolation, floating brokerage offices and night clubs have already banished them to smaller craft.

AN IMPOSSIBLE TASK.

Billboards Cannot Be Made to Harmonize With the Landscape.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In his letter to THE TIMES, Frank E. Barnes is both right and wrong.

He is right when he criticizes the advertising billboard as "the chief offense" among the despoilers of the natural beauty of the American landscape. He is wrong when he pleads for cooperation between the professional advertising man, the landscape architect and the artist in an effort to make "a frame for the picture" which will harmonize the billboard with the landscape.

The thing cannot be done. The beauty of the landscape and the refreshment to be derived from its contemplation and enjoyment on the one hand, and on the other a commercialization of the landscape and the shouting of wares for sale are mutually exclusive things, and they are not to be harmonized by prettifying a billboard with shrubbery or lattice or dewdabs of any kind.

The more elaborate or charming the setting, the cheaper and the more ridiculous will seem the pictured puff of wares in the centre; the greater will be the incongruity. An elaborate setting of gold or platinum leading up to a rhinestone or diamond chip in the centre does not make an impressive piece of jewelry. People only laugh at it.

A billboard man, now dead, tried something remotely like that. He had a well known picture by a famous artist reproduced as a roof-sign. The picture was for rent to any one who wanted to advertise his wares in connection with it. Presumably the billboard man sold his advertising idea to several merchants who knew as little as he did about art, for the board was erected successively on several roofs and different things were advertised in connection with it. The picture was wholly incongruous with what was for sale, and especially incongruous with its sites and use. So far as people paid any attention to it whatever, they laughed at the want of taste and understanding displayed by the billboard man and his patrons.

Landscaping and prettifying billboards will not do. The landscape is no place for advertising.

ALBERT S. BARD.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

False statements have been made as to my erasing the offending letter "s" from the Poe monument—"under cover of darkness."

As this sounds rather discreditable to me, may I say that I notified all three of the Baltimore evening papers that I would erase the error in the lettering of the inscription and also scrape off the black paint on a certain date, and four days later I did exactly that, and I did the work an hour before dark and with five witnesses looking on. The one objector called a policeman.

I was shown every consideration by the police and detained in a comfortable room over night, and finally the case against me was dismissed, as I did nothing but what was much needed to be done.

PRAYER TO CERES.

Now that the orchard brides are dight
In hoods of pink and veils of white,
And by the moss-grown cottage row
Resplendent hangs the cherry snow,
Come, Priestess of our mother clay,
Fulfill and bless the bounteous May,
Lest barren Autumn boughs belie
This snowy-bosomed pageantry.

Breathe thy astringent, toxic breath
On every foe that worketh death—
The weevil delving in the shoot,
The pirate lurking under root,
The knotty canker, milky blight,
The scab, the leafy parasite.

But homely rook and restless swallow,
And every unseen helper hallow:
Bless thou the humming craftsman, Bee,
Climbing with pollen-dusted knee.

So temper sun and measure rain,
And tempest, hail and frost restrain,
That in due course the laddered thieves,
Laughing among the spotted leaves,
Will vow this year the richest e'er
For Ribstone, Russet, Cox and pear,
And these our prayer-enchanted trees

OUR ARMAMENT CONFERENCES

Admiral Fiske Passes in Review Their Effects Upon the American Navy.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In view of the lack of understanding by the American people of the issues before the London naval conference and of the treaty that resulted, I should like to call certain facts to the attention of the people which they may have forgotten, or of which they may have never heard.

In 1921 the American Navy and the British Navy were by far the greatest navies. In its fleet, the British had the greater number of ships, but we had a number of ships building that represented the supreme acme of naval development. Counting those ships, the American fleet was superior to the British, in "matériel." Yet the American Navy as a whole, as distinguished from the mere fleet, was very weak, as compared with the British, in the kind of merchant ships that can readily be converted into warships, and it was still more inferior in naval bases. The American Navy, for the purposes of war, was vastly inferior to the British.

Ever since the great war, British shipping circles, and the navy, had come to realize that any rebuilding of our merchant marine would have a very bad effect on British sea trade, and therefore on the economic condition of Great Britain. They, therefore (and very properly), began to take measures to prevent our building up our merchant marine.

The peril to them of our merchant marine would be very much enhanced, they also saw, if we built up our navy also. Therefore, they took steps to prevent our building up our navy as well as our merchant marine. It must be understood, of course, that our merchant marine was the fundamental menace, and that our navy was only secondary. But they saw a greater opportunity for preventing our building up our navy than our merchant marine, because the building up of our navy would be a matter that diplomacy could handle, and such was not the case with the building up of our merchant marine.

The first step taken was a communication from Viscount Lee of Fareham to the effect that the British Cabinet was willing to admit the United States Navy to entire equality with the British. Various communications passed between the governments, with the result that President Harding called a Conference to Consider Limitation of Armaments. This meeting opened in November, 1921, and closed in March, 1922.

The decision of the conference was amazing. But still more amazing was the reception given to that decision by our people. For the decision emasculated the defense of the United States in two essential particulars. The more important was an agreement by the United States not to increase the defenses of the Philippine Islands, although those defenses were wholly inadequate to protect them, in case of attack by Japan. Long before this time, even during the year 1911, when I was a member of the general board, it was realized by the board that the greatest danger to our peace lay in the fact that the Japanese could capture the Philippine Islands at will, that we should have to go 7,000 miles from our west coast to recapture them, and that the issue of the attempt would be extremely doubtful. For this reason, the general board, during the following ten years, fastened their attention on plans for preventing war with Japan, by preventing her from capturing the islands.

During most of the year 1921 great progress was made in carrying out this plan. Then, presto, the whole plan was destroyed in March, 1922, by the decision of the Washington conference.

Simultaneous with this unprecedented action by the United States was a reduction of our actual fleet, including the destruction and scrapping of some of our superbest ships. Among these was the U. S. S. Washington, on which $16,000,000 had been spent.

Yet the people of the United States applauded. They cannot be blamed for this, because the situation, as they understood it, justified the act. But they understood the situation incorrectly. The reason was that Secretary Hughes, the Chairman of the American delegation, had made the following statement: "This treaty ends, absolutely ends, the race in competition in naval armament. At the same time it leaves the relative security of the great naval powers unimpaired."

In an article in Harper's Monthly of July, 1925, and in subsequent articles in The World's Work and Plain Talk, I pointed out that both these statements were wholly untrue and furthermore that Mr. Hughes had misled the American people into believing that the general board had approved of the decision, whereas the truth was that they had strenuously opposed it, as dangerous to future peace.

Not long after this, the civilian authorities came to realize the truth, and Congressman Butler (who had been an ardent supporter of the treaty) declared in a speech in Congress that they had all been "fooled." The agitation of navy officers finally induced Mr. Coolidge to see the truth, at least partially; with the result that the Geneva conference was called in 1927, in the hope that something could be done to remedy the situation. Two Rear Admirals of our navy, Jones and Long, were on the delegation, and it was through their efforts (in the estimation of the American people) that the so-called "failure" of the Geneva conference was brought about. The American people did not blame the British officers, or the Japanese officers, for the "failure" of the conference. They blamed the American navy officers exclusively. Yet all the American navy officers did was to endeavor to remedy, in some measure, the unfortunate position that the United States had got into, because of her failure to build the proper number of cruisers, while the British and Japanese had been going ahead full speed.

I do not criticize the British and Japanese for doing the best they could for their countries, and for refusing to yield any advantage which the shortsightedness of the American Government had enabled them to secure. Neither do I blame the American people for siding with the British navy officers, instead of the American navy officers. I am merely stating a fact which reference to many newspapers published at that time will clearly show.

Following the Geneva conference, a period of considerable restlessness followed, due in great measure to a suspicion that began to penetrate the American people to the effect that the superior diplomacy of Britain had secured for her and her ally, Japan, an advantage so great that in case Japan should ever decide to capture the Philippines we might be forced into a war so disastrous as to jeopardize our continuance as a prosperous nation.

Because of an effort now being made to depreciate the effect of decreasing the fighting power of "only three cruisers," it may be well to point out here a fact well known in strategy, that if two forces begin a battle with a relative inequality, even if it be very small, the progress of a battle will always go to the stronger, and make the inequality increase as time goes on. For instance, if at the beginning of a battle there is an inequality in the forces even so little as a ratio of 100 to 99, this inequality will soon become 99 to 98, then 98 to 97, then after a while 2 to 1, and after a while 1 to 0. This does not mean, of course, that it is possible to evaluate these quantities before a battle, because of many doubtful factors, such as skill, &c. But it does mean that if there be any actual inequality at the start that inequality will continually increase. Senator Robinson's insistence that a difference of "only three cruisers" would not matter much could not possibly have come from a man familiar with the principles of strategy.

During the time the London conference was in session, our newspapers were filled with reports, seeming to emanate from the statesmen there, which one does not like to characterize by a very strong name, but which were really "incorrect." Now, if there be any subject about which the statements of statesmen ought to be militarily correct, it is the military subject, for it concerns not only war and peace, but (which is immeasurably more important) defeat in war or success in war. The most glaring misstatement made by our delegates in London was the one constantly made and reiterated, that the treaty secured naval parity between the United States and Great Britain. For they knew full well that in case war unfortunately should occur between the United States and Great Britain our pitiful lack of naval bases would immediately put us in a position not of parity, but of irremediable inferiority. And they also knew that in case Japan should decide to capture the Philippine Islands our lack of any base there would immediately change our theoretical superiority of 5 to 3 into an actual and possibly disastrous inferiority.

Knowing as clearly as navy officers do the exact sequence of events that has followed the Washington conference of 1921-22, and knowing as clearly as navy officers also do the very considerable amount of misinformation about them that has been absorbed by the American people, I hope it will be appreciated that we are anxious that "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth" shall be given to them. This applies especially to those facts that can be ascertained in the "whole situation" that existed just preceding the Washington conference of 1921, the Geneva conference of 1927 and the London conference of 1930.

If this be done, the people will see that they have not understood any of the situations at all, and that the net result of all the conferences has been to cause misunderstandings and heartburnings among the five great nations, and lead away from peace toward war.

Still After Jaywalkers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Those of us who must walk from point to point in the mid-section of the city read with considerable interest a few days ago that the new Police Commissioner had suspended the foolish order of his predecessor relative to walking across the street when light was red. This is often referred to as "jaywalking," when as a matter of fact there is not another really large city that enforces such a rule; it is only in the small city trying to appear big that you find such a rule.

But why does it take so long for the rescinding order to get from Police Headquarters to the midtown section, as, for instance, in front of Pennsylvania Station, where Long Island commuters as late as this morning were stopped from crossing the street unless light showed green?

And such a waste of police force to try and enforce such a silly rule; ten policemen at Thirty-first Street and Seventh Avenue, ten in front of the main entrance of the station, two in front of the upper driveway, seven at the Thirty-third Street corner, and six more at Thirty-fourth Street. A taxpayer from the suburbs naturally wonders if it wouldn't be better to scatter this police protection over the now unprotected areas.

PROF. VON HARNACK, THEOLOGIAN, IS DEAD

LED IN MODERN THOUGHT

In 1,500 Books or Treatises He Sought to Reconcile Science and Religious Faith.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, June 10.—Professor Adolf von Harnack, dean of German theologians and president of the Kaiser Wilhelm Gesellschaft, died here today after a brief illness, which was contracted while he was attending the dedication of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Medical Research ten days ago.

Professor von Harnack was born at Dorpat on May 7, 1851. He occupied the Chair of Church History at the Universities of Leipzig, Giessen, Marburg and Berlin.

He was a member of the Prussian Academy of Sciences, of which he was the historian. He also wrote a standard work called "The History of the Christian Dogma" in three large volumes. He enjoyed the confidence of the Kaiser to an unusual degree and it brought him high academic honors.

Was Leader of Modern Theology.

Dr. von Harnack was a leader of the modern German school of theology, which undertakes to reconcile science with the Bible. His father, Theodosius Harnack, was a Professor of Theology in the University of Dorpat, formerly in Russia, but now in Esthonia.

Dr. von Harnack began the study of theology at Dorpat before he was 20. At 23 he was a lecturer at the University of Leipzig, and even then his discourses on gnosticism and the Apocalypse attracted attention.

As a theologian Dr. von Harnack was head of an influential school, which, following the principles of Albrecht Ritschl and guided by a critical examination of historical sources, endeavored to bring science into harmony with Christianity. The Ritschl school, which was partly based on Kant's theory of pure reason, aimed at emancipating metaphysics and philosophy from the domain of theology. It also endeavored to put into practice the fundamental ethical principles of Martin Luther.

From 1906 to 1921 Professor von Harnack was director of the Royal Library in Berlin. In 1914 he was elevated by his friend, former Kaiser Wilhelm, to the Prussian hereditary nobility with the style of "von" and the title of "excellency." That honor, however, did not prevent his son Ernst, who went into law and became a provincial counselor, from joining the Social Democratic party after the German Revolution.

Praised by Former Kaiser.

The former Kaiser, although not wholly sharing von Harnack's beliefs, found his conversation singularly edifying and stimulating and often called him to court. The professor, though a monarchist by conviction, accepted the new régime in Germany as inevitable. At heart he was a liberal, for even during the World War he advocated the abolition of the so-called three-class electoral method in Prussia and the substitution of an equal suffrage system. That cost him the Kaiser's support for the post of Minister of Public Worship and Instruction, for which he had been slated.

Nevertheless, the former Kaiser in his memoirs highly complimented Dr. von Harnack for his achievements and for his work as director of the Royal Library and in the Kaiser Wilhelm Society. "I owe much to my intimate intercourse with this powerful and brilliant mind," the former Kaiser wrote. "Harnack's personality and his work I shall always remember with the greatest pleasure."

Professor von Harnack was the founder of the Kaiser Wilhelm Society for the Advancement of Science and of the Evangelical-Social Council. He was also a co-founder of The Theological Journal. He was decorated with the order "Pour Le Mérite" for science and held honorary doctorates from the Universities of Glasgow, Oslo and Athens.

He married Amalia, daughter of the late noted Professor of Surgery, Karl Thiersch. They had two sons and three daughters.

Two Books Translated in English.

His works included "Apostolic Confession of Faith," "What Is Christianity?" translated into English; "Monasticism: Its Ideals and Its History," also translated; "Martin Luther: His Place in the History of Science and Civilization," "The Doctrines of the Twelve Apostles," "Fragments of the Gospel and the Apocalypse According to St. Peter" and "The Spread of Christianity During the First Three Centuries A. D." At the age of 75 he had written 1,500 books, treatises and pamphlets.

Professor von Harnack visited the United States at the time of the St. Louis Exposition, in 1904, and remained three months, lecturing at Washington, Chicago and other cities. He was one of the founders of the exchange professorships movement and numbered among his close friends the late Professor Hugo Münsterberg of Harvard and Professor James Thomson Shotwell of Columbia.

Honorary membership was held by Professor von Harnack in the Historical Society of Massachusetts, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Society of Church History, the Royal Society of Literature of the United Kingdom, and the Society of Historical Theology, Oxford. His membership in the Paris Académie des Inscriptions and Belles Lettres was discontinued at the outbreak of the World War.

In May, 1929, on his seventy-eighth birthday anniversary, Professor von Harnack opened the Harnack House, in the Berlin suburb of Dahlem, an institution devoted to the advancement of science.

He was Acting High Commissioner for the Western Pacific in 1901, Governor of the Falkland Islands, 1904-14; the Bahamas, 1915-20, and Tasmania, 1920-22.

LAST TRIBUTES PAID TO NAHAN FRANKO

Dr. Krass and Leonard Liebling Eulogize Noted Violinist and Conductor at Funeral.

LEADERS IN MUSIC ATTEND

Honorary Bearers Include Sousa, Steinway, Frohman, Shilkret, Burkan and R. E. Enright.

A large gathering of men and women, many of them prominent in musical and theatrical circles, attended the funeral services of Nahan Franko, noted violinist and orchestra conductor, yesterday morning at the Funeral Church, Broadway and Sixty-sixth Street.

The Rev. Dr. Nathan Krass, rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, conducted the services and read a eulogy to the first American-born musician to become a conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Company. An address of tribute was made by Leonard Liebling, editor of The Musical Courier.

"As a musician," Dr. Krass said, "Nahan Franko belonged to the group that believed in the old form handed down from the great masters. His genius of music leapt from his very being, and his loss seems like the loss of a great period in music. That genius which he had expressed itself wherever he went; it belonged to the very fiber of his soul. His memory will remain great in the history of American music."

Mr. Liebling said that for many years there was hardly a person along Broadway that did not know the artist.

"As he passed along the streets," he said, "he would be stopped repeatedly by his many friends. If there was ever a man who was liberal in every way, and who was kind and lovable to every one, it was Nahan Franko. His going seems like the breaking of a musical link in the past of America."

A string quartet composed of musicians who had appeared with the musicians played Schumann's "Träumerei," and Mischa Mischakoff, noted violinist, played the Largo by Handel.

The honorary pallbearers, men who had been closely associated with the musician, were Theodore Steinway, Berthold Neuer, John Philip Sousa, Nathan Burkan, Mr. Liebling, Richard E. Enright, Carl Edwards, Daniel Frohman, Alvin Schmoeger, Nathaniel Shilkret, Felix Arnold, Arthur Bergh and Herman Irion.

Floral offerings were sent by more than forty individuals and organizations with which Mr. Franko had been connected. The staff of the Metropolitan Opera House, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Leiber, Paul Weinzel, Max Schling, Steinway & Sons and the American Society of Authors and Publishers were among those who sent flowers. In accordance with his wishes, Mr. Franko was cremated.

SAYS NO BAR EXISTS TO CHURCH UNION

Dr. W. P. Merrill Favors Merger of Episcopal, Presbyterian and Methodist Bodies.

JOINT MEETING IS HELD

Conference Decides to Reconvene in Philadelphia in March, 1931, to Hear Committee Reports.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 10.—Churchmen from many sections of the country opened a two-day conference at the Hotel Chalfonte today to discuss the possibilities of a union of the Protestant Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian denominations in the United States and heard the opinion of the Rev. Dr. William P. Merrill of New York that there was nothing in modern conditions to keep the three Churches apart.

The conference was called at the instance of the Episcopal Church and was held behind closed doors.

An informal conference preceded the joint session, participated in by members of the committee of the Methodist Church, North, on Church union, and members of a similar board of the Presbyterian Church. The outcome of this conference was the decision to hold a joint meeting of the two committees in Philadelphia on March 5, 1931, at which time reports will be received from the two subcommittees appointed at Pittsburgh Jan. 1, 1929.

The Methodist committee, with Bishop W. F. McDowell as chairman, will report on matters of doctrine and polity. The other, with Dr. Henry C. Swearingen of St. Paul, Minn., as chairman, representing the Presbyterian Church of the United States, will report on matters of administration and trusts.

The Presbyterian committee, headed by Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, as chairman, comprises the following members:

Dr. LEWIS S. MUDGE of Philadelphia.
Dr. W. P. MERRILL, pastor of Brick Church, New York City.
Dr. JAMES A. VANCE, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Detroit.
HOLMES FORSYTHE, ruling elder of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

The Methodist committee has the following members:

Bishop HERBERT T. WELCH, Pittsburgh.
Bishop F. D. LEETE, Omaha.

F. A. HORNE, New York.
Dr. H. E. WOOLEVER, Washington, D. C., editor of the Methodist Board of Publications.
EUGENE M. ANTRIM, president of Oklahoma City University.

The Episcopal committee is headed by the Right Rev. Edward L. Parsons, Bishop of California. It has the following members:

Dr. GEORGE F. DUDLEY, St. Stephen's Church, Washington.
General C. M. CLEMENTS, Sunbury, Pa.
Judge GEORGE F. HENRY, Des Moines, Iowa.

JEWELERS PLAN FUND FOR TRADE INSTITUTE

Wholesalers' Convention Asks $225,000 Study Endowment —Two Groups Merge.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 10.—At the opening session of the convention of the National Wholesale Jewelers' Association, at the Hotel Shelburne here today, a plan was launched to organize and endow with an income of $225,000 a year for three years a National Institute of Jewelry, to be devoted to an extensive study of trade conditions, distribution, sale and use of jewelry, as well as the relationship of the trade to the general public.

The resolution creating the institute was incorporated in one establishing a merger between the association and the Wholesale Jewelry Trade Association, thus bringing into one organization the nation's entire jewelry jobbing interests.

The plan provides that $75,000 a year for three years is to be raised among the jewelry wholesalers, on condition that the manufacturing and the retail interests each subscribe a similar amount. If the entire sum is not raised by June 10, 1931, the money contributed is to be returned to the contributors, or used for the benefit of the wholesale trade, as the executive committee decides.

The convention opened with an address by A. C. Becken of Chicago, president of the association, who was followed by Secretary George A. Fernley. There were also discussions of trade and business conditions, and reports of committees.

Edward James Cattell, statistician, of Philadelphia, was a speaker at the annual dinner tonight.

A brighter business outlook for the Fall season was predicted by delegates. Representatives from Baltimore, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Kansas City reported that their districts, because of the diversity of products, had not felt the depression as much as other sections. Merritt Hubbert of Philadelphia and Walter Mayer of Cincinnati reported considerable unemployment in those cities. A. W. Higgins of San Francisco said that California was suffering from a problem of overproduction.

FORD ARTISANS BARRED.

Immigration Ruling on Men Here to Rebuild Old House to Be Appealed.

After being detained on board the Cunarder Tuscania all night, two English skilled artisans, W. H. Radcliffe and C. T. Troughton, were taken to Ellis Island yesterday and later ordered excluded under the contract labor law of the United States.

They explained to the special board of inquiry that they had come here to reconstruct for Henry Ford the fourteenth-century cottage he had purchased at Cotswold in the West of England and would return home after the work was completed.

Representatives of Mr. Ford, who were at Ellis Island, said an appeal would be made immediately to Washington.

Benjamin Day, Commissioner of Immigration, said their admission could have been arranged if notice of their coming had been given to the Department of Labor. Pending the decision Troughton and Radcliffe will remain at Ellis Island.

CALLS MODERN WOMAN INDEPENDENT THINKER

DENVER, Colo., June 10 (AP).—Women are emerging from an era of ultra domesticity and are taking a rightful place among intellectuals of the country, Otto Wiese, 25-year-old editor of McCalls Magazine, today told delegates to the convention here of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"The taste of women," he said, "has improved reading matter immeasurably within the last ten years. They are intelligently selecting their reading matter, both fiction and non-fiction, in the fields of science, politics, religion and just plain story telling. To me the most interesting thing in the developments of the last decade has been the growth of women's attitude toward the press.

"They have discarded what they considered unnecessary in the teachings of the past generation and accepted that which they consider sound in the philosophy of the present.

"The woman's magazine is no longer a field for crusading. The editorial statement is no longer accepted for fact by American womanhood. The press must stimulate her thought, rather than try to dictate it."

Dr. George F. Reynolds, head of the department of English literature at the University of Colorado, pleaded for a better understanding of the work of club women throughout the United States.

The almost 800 registered delegates balloted today for officers to head the federation during the next two years, but their action was considered little more than a formality. Some opposition which had greeted the report of the committee renominating Mrs. John F. Sippel of Baltimore for president and her sister-officers in subordinate capacities appeared to have been dissipated.

The organization adopted a resolution "unalterably" opposing the "elimination of 'living music' from our homes and our theatres," and ordered a copy of the resolution sent to the Music Defense League of New York.

Its 1,565,397 Citizens Assure It a Place Ahead of Los Angeles—Gain Is 570,719.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 10.—When Chicago's census figures are officially announced tomorrow they will show that the city's population is slightly less or slightly more than 3,350,000, according to a report of Joseph E. Vesely, chairman of the census advisory committee, to Colonel Robert I. Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, tonight, as the census enumerators neared the completion of their figures.

The enumerators expect to complete the tabulation late tomorrow morning in time for an Association of Commerce luncheon at which the tentative population figure will be announced.

The announcement will be relayed to every part of the city. Factory whistles will blow, pupils assembled in the various city schools will rise and cheer, and neighborhood business groups will gather to observe Census Day in celebration of Chicago's growth.

DETROIT, June 10 (AP).—Detroit's 1930 population as shown by the first official preliminary census report today is 1,564,397, an increase of 570,719, or 57 per cent over 1920. This confirms the municipality's place, ahead of Los Angeles, as the fourth city of the country.

Including Hamtramck and Highland Park, two cities within the corporate limits of Detroit, the total is brought to 1,675,697.

Oakland County, which adjoins Wayne County, has a population of 210,401, much of which is due to the expansion of Detroit. This brings the Detroit metropolitan area's population to 2,072,643.

Other census figures made public yesterday by The Associated Press included:

BRAINTREE, MASS.—15,673; increase 5,093, or 48.12 per cent.
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.—75,272; increase 26,877, or 55.5 per cent.
PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS—49,107; increase 26,856, or 120.6 per cent.
PORTSMOUTH, OHIO—42,536; increase 9,525, or 28.9 per cent.

Census Shows Only Sixty-four Unemployed Here.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALBOA, June 10.—Census returns for the Canal Zone showing a population of 39,469 have been forwarded to the director of the census at Washington by Colonel Harry Burgess, Governor of the Canal, who was designated supervisor of the census for the Zone.

Two-thirds of the total are male and that number is divided about equally betwen Negro and white, with 1,191 of mixed race classified as "all others." Among the whites the age-group from 22 to 34 is the largest and from 35 to 44 for the Negroes.

Civil towns and villages accounted for 22,865 persons, largely employes of the Canal, and rural areas for 4,819, chiefly small planters and farm workers. In the army posts are 10,470 and in navy reservations 1,315.

Of 12,763 white males enumerated only twenty-nine were unemployed and of 523 white females only three white, thirty-one out of 6,118 negro males and only one of 202 Negro females were unemployed.

CENSUS COUNTS FEW JOBLESS IN 3 AREAS

Complete Figures in Assembly Districts Show Population Rise—Four Farms in Brooklyn.

Unemployment in Williamsburg and Greenpoint, Brooklyn, in the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Assembly Districts was less than 5 per cent, based on total population, according to Census Supervisor Leo V. Doherty, who made the figures public yesterday. Complete unemployment figures for the census district were not available but for the three Assembly Districts in which returns were tabulated the figures were:

A. D.	1930.	1920.	Unemployed.
15	61,361	72,994	2,290

Supervisor Mortimer Michaels in Brooklyn found four farms in his census district, three of them in the Twenty-second Assembly District in East New York and another in the Nineteenth Assembly District in Williamsburg.

There are still two Assemly Districts in Manhattan from which returns have not been reported. These are the Fifteenth and Fifth, the former, the so-called "silk stocking district" east of Central Park to Lexington Avenue and the fifth on the middle west side. B. B. Saloschin, supervisor, found such a striking decline in these two Assembly Districts from the 1920 population that he is rechecking the figures. Bronx figures are still the big question so far as the population of New York City is concerned. No results have been issued officially and any figures used to date are estimates.

STUDIES THEATRE TRAFFIC.

Mulrooney Reserves Comment on Plea to Lift Rules for Summer.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney declined yesterday to comment on the letter of the Broadway Association, requesting the suspension of traffic regulations in the Times Square district for the Summer months.

The commissioner, acknowledged the receipt of the letter, which is a report of the association's traffic committee, which points out that the majority of legitmate theatres are closed during the Summer months, and that there is no need for the stringent enforcement of the traffic rules laid down by former Police Commissioner Whalen.

The commissioner said he would require a little time to study the modifications requested before making any comment on them.

SAYS RADIO MUSIC LINKS FAMILY ANEW

PRAISES DR. DAMROSCH

Radio is creating a new family life in the United States and has made this country "music-conscious" to an extent undreamed of a few years ago, Parham Werlein, president of the National Association of Music Merchants, declared yesterday at the Music Industries Convention at the Hotel New Yorker.

The youth of the land has been recalled in great numbers from night life in jazz cabarets as the result of the "tremendous" growth of entertainment via the air, he said. Also, members of the family are today finding entertainment together in the family circle, Mr. Werlein explained.

Dr. Walter Damrosch was praised by Mr. Werlein as being a potent influence in the musical education of the country, particularly of the school children. Dr. Damrosch's broadcasts have reached at least 5,000,000 children during the past few months and because of his "rare personality and talent have turned the attention of his listeners to the beauty and high entertainment value of music," Mr. Werlein added.

About 1,000,000 young persons of high school age are playing in orchestras, while the same number of children are today studying the piano, Mr. Werlein asserted, explaining that "these are straws which indicate the tremendous wind of musical popularity which is sweeping the country."

"The American public today is more musical than ever before," continued Mr. Werlein, "thanks to radio programs that reach every village and hamlet and bring for the first time an appreciation of music into every home. Self-expression is the basis of human emotions. Self-expression comes best through music."

Although the general business depression and deflation of prosperity has affected the music industry, music merchants have felt the decline of business less than other trade groups, Mr. Werlein said. He said a general recovery of the music industry is anticipated in the Fall. He scouted reports of a decline in the sales of pianos and phonograph instruments owing to radio by saying that last year more grand pianos were sold than ever before and that today the sale of records for phonographs is enjoying "a tremendous vogue."

Dr. Walter Damrosch will address the convention tomorrow night at the annual dinner.

'ARTISTS AND MODELS' HAS BRIGHT MOMENTS

New Revue at Majestic Theatre Suggests Its Origin as a Musical Comedy.

ARTISTS AND MODELS (PARIS-RIVIERA EDITION OF 1930), a revue in two acts and eighteen scenes, with music by Harold Stern and Ernie Golden. Settings by Watson Barratt; costumes designed by Ernest Schrappe; dialogue staged by Frank Smithson; dances arranged by Pal'mere Brandeaux; produced by the Shuberts. At the Majestic Theatre.

PRINCIPALS—Phil Baker, Aileen Stanley, George Hassell, Vera Pearce, Harry Welsh, Delores De Monde, Halfred Young, Rosemary Derring, Archie Roberts, Kay McKay, Mary Adams, Naomi Johnson, Wesley Pierce, Hazel Harris, Kay Simmons, Stanley Harrison, Terry Horne, Rath Brothers, Miss Florence, John Humphrey Muldowney, Havana Cubanola Rumba Band and others.

At the Majestic Theatre last night the personable Aileen Stanley, in the course of a song whose words she didn't quite know, caroled, "In a revue it's legs." If that formula were a sure indication of success, the new "Artists and Models" which Miss Stanley decorates would take a top place in the ticket brokers' estimation, along with Mr. Connelly's "The Green Pastures" and Mr. White's "Flying High," as a popular Broadway rendezvous.

But fortunately such is not the case. To attain favor a revue in these parlous days needs talent, ideas, taste and a point of view, most of which qualities the new "Artists and Models" ("Paris-Riviera Edition of 1930" they call it, to identify it completely) either possesses in insufficient amounts or lacks completely. It has, to be sure, its moments, but oftener than not it is a dull show which attempts to make up in naughtiness and nudity what it lacks in pace and material and never approaches the standard set by one or two earlier editions of the series.

The fault may be that this newcomer started not as a revue but as a musical comedy, although the Shuberts did manage fairly successfully a season or two ago the task of transforming a musical comedy into "Pleasure Bound." Under the title of "Dear Love," which, one gathers, was a reasonably innocuous song-and-plot piece from the English, the show toured Boston and Philadelphia before it took on Phil Baker and certain glorified vaudeville tendencies.

As it now stands, it is neither one thing nor the other. It still possesses traces of a story and other rubbishy accoutrements of musical comedy, and it never slides completely over into the revue form. It even lacks surety and pace, usually chief ingredients of revues of Shubert manufacture.

To make up for what they must realize are deficiencies, the producers have attempted to revive undraped effects, which went out of style on Broadway several seasons ago, along with the Charleston and night club melodrama. Among the revealing scenes last night was one laid in a gymnasium, which was specifically referred to as "for ladies only." This was the comedy bit wherein two men, George Hassell and Harry Welsh, invaded the place, and it was a little reminiscent of the locker room scene in "Follow Thru." Only that one was funny.

A life-saver to the entertainment as played last night was Phil Baker, assisted by his new annoyance in the box, one Muldowney. Mr. Baker, never exactly a shrinking violet, was more forward than usual, and few, if any, of his stories bear publication. But he did manage to be amusing, particularly in his first appearance, and that was something.

The usually reliable Mr. Hassell appeared a little bewildered by the dialogue he had to utter, although in a travesty dance with Vera Pearce, a British comedienne who duplicates his ample proportions, he scored something of a success.

The roster of entertainers also included the attractive Miss Stanley who, as noted before, sang songs, a pert young actress by the name of Dolores De Monde, who was regarded by certain members of the first audience as having a future, and a dancing contortionist by the name of Miss Florence, whose past is said to have embraced an engagement at the Folies Bergère. While the music and lyrics were not outstanding, they met the demands made upon them.

The evening was filled with attempts, and not unsuccessful ones, to be brazen, and it held at least one agitated dance finale. But when it is all said and done, the new "Artists and Models" proved an unusually slow-moving and lackadaisical revue.

PARTY FOR CHILD ACTORS.

Daniel Frohman Entertains Cast of "The Blue Butterfly."

Daniel Frohman yesterday afternoon entertained members of a theatrical troupe, not of Broadway, but children who have been appearing in an operetta, "The Blue Butterfly," written by Mrs. Warner L. Churchill and her daughter, Elizabeth. The party was held in Mr. Frohman's studio in the Lyceum Theatre Building.

Most of the children present were between 6 and 11 years old. They included Ethel Turegano, Sabina and Teresa McCall, Anne Middleton, Barbara Perry, Althea Elder, Betty Lee Davison, Grace Marie Lynch, Eileen Fee, Priscilla Bishins, Bertha Freytag, Patricia Butler, Susie Treuble, Eleanor Stenzel, Marjorie Bulcock, Rose Annie Carluccio, Peggy Carlin and Estelle Katz.

MISS GISH GOING TO EUROPE

"Uncle Vanya" to Continue With Understudy After Tonight.

Lillian Gish will leave the cast of "Uncle Vanya" after tonight's performance and will sail for Europe tomorrow. Jed Harris, who is presenting the Chekhov revival, said yesterday that its success warranted its continuance and that the production would remain at the Cort for an undetermined period with an understudy in Miss Gish's rôle.

Mr. Harris also said his first production next season would be Gogol's "The Inspector General." It is scheduled to come to Broadway in August, to be followed by Frank Elser's adaptation of "Mr. Gilhooley." Charles MacArthur, co-author of "The Front Page," has prepared the version of "The Inspector General."

"Mystery Moon" Premiere Delayed.

The Broadway première of "Mystery Moon," announced for Monday night at the Royale Theatre, has been postponed for at least a week, according to the management. The show, described as a musical comedy with a mystery plot, is now trying out at the Brighton Beach Theatre. "Stepping Sisters," now running at the Royale, will continue at that house. It is understood that the producers of "Mystery Moon" have requested permission from Equity to rehearse the show for an additional week after its closing at the Brighton Beach playhouse on Saturday night.

SCHUMANN-HEINK 69, TO SING ON BIRTHDAY

TO BE AT MOVIE ONE WEEK

Contralto Also Will Be Heard Over WEAF Tomorrow and on WJZ on Sunday, Her Anniversary.

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, noted singer, who on Sunday will be 69 years of age, arrived in New York early yesterday morning to begin one of the hardest singing engagements she has ever attempted. Beginning Friday she will appear for one week at the Roxy Theatre, during which she will give thirty performances.

At the Hotel Buckingham, where she went immediately after arriving in New York, she received a telegram which she said gave her "one of the happiest moments" in her life. Smiling, she said it announced the birth of a daughter on Sunday morning to a granddaughter who is living in California. "My greatest wish has been to have a great-granddaughter," she said, "and I hope they name it Ernestine."

Accompanied only by Mrs. Katherine Hoffmann, her piano accompanist during the past twenty years, the singer arrived from California. Dressed in a simple gray tweed suit with a collar of printed linen, a brown straw hat and shoes to match and wearing platinum earrings set with small diamonds and blue stones and one ring set with diamonds and rubies on her left hand, she seemed surprised at the group of photographers and newspaper men who met her as she stepped off the train. Smilingly she asked what the "fuss" was about.

Later Mme. Schumann-Heink said how happy she was to begin another engagement in New York. Laughing, she said, when asked when she intended to retire from public life: "Not until you bury me, and you never will, for I intend to be cremated."

She said the most interesting subject to her was advice to young singers. She declared that she would like them to know that only by hard work and forgetting lipstick and reducing methods can they succeed. "And that does not mean," she added, "a few months' or years' work, it means work every day as long as they live. Not a day passes that I do not practice my singing."

Asked if she did not think thirty appearances would be too much for her, she said: "Years ago, when I was young I used to yell. If I did that it might be too hard, but now I have learned to sing and I know I shall enjoy every moment of the engagement."

The singer's first engagement will be tomorrow night on the Victor hour over station WEAF. On Sunday she will sing again over the air during the Roxy Theatre hour over station WJZ at 2 o'clock. The only number on her theatre program that she would announce she was going to sing was "Danny Boy," a song popular after the World War.

Her great-granddaughter, Mme. Schumann-Heink said, is the child of the daughter of her son who was killed in the World War in the German service. She is the wife of Ferdinand Hirzy of Wisconsin. They now make their home at Stevens Point, near Coronado, Cal. Their first child, Ferdinand Jr., was born in December, 1928.

STUDENTS WIN MEDALS.

Music Week Contestants Get Awards in Various Classes.

The Home Making Centre, Grand Central Palace, was the scene of the interborough contest of the New York Music Week Association's series for brass soloists yesterday afternoon. Helen M. Enser, registered in the out-of-town class for elementary French horn, won the highest mark, 95 1-3. Abe Kaiman of Brooklyn, registered in Grade B of the advanced trumpet class, received the highest mark for the Greater City, 93 5-6. In the other brass classes gold medals were awarded to Bernard Stoller of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, Brooklyn, Grade A of the advanced French horn class; to Leon Tucker of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, advanced trumpet, Grade A; to Henry Hamilton Jr. of Jackson Heights, elementary trombone class, Grade A, and to Charles Schier, New York, Grade A of the advanced trombone class.

At Steinway Hall on Monday evening Iona Mull of New York received the gold medal of the coloratura soprano class, with a rating of 95. Other winners in vocal contest were Duncan Peckham, Brooklyn, registered in the boys' vocalist class and rated at 93 2-15; Rose Tentoni, the Bronx, dramatic soprano, and Mordecai H. Bauman, the Bronx, baritone.

O'NEILL PLAY IN SPANISH.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, June 10.—Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie" was presented in Spanish tonight by the famous Spanish actress, Lolo Membrives, and her company before a crowded house. The critics consider the presentation a landmark in Argentine theatrical history. O'Neill's works have long been celebrated here, but this is the first time one of his plays has been staged in Spanish in this city.

In accounts previous to the first night the newspapers referred to an unproved but long persistent tradition that O'Neill spent several months in Buenos Aires in 1911 gathering local color which since has been worked into his dramas. Argentine critics profess to see in Saint Pauli a counterpart of a noted waterfront dive of the days when O'Neill was supposed to have been here.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Jans and Whalen have been engaged by Arthur Hammerstein for the forthcoming musical version of "The Bird of Paradise."

Sophie Tucker, George M. Cohan, Blanche Ring and Will Mahoney are announced to appear at the Greenroomers Revel, which will be held at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre on Sunday evening, June 22.

The Shuberts have received the manuscript of a new Elmer Harris play. They plan to stage it here in the Fall.

"The Up and Up," the Eva Kay Flint-Martha Madison play which Edward A. Blatt and M. J. Nicholas are producing, will open at Asbury Park on Aug. 18.

WHALEN PROTESTS SATIRE.

Objects to Certain Features of New Revue, "Garrick Gaieties."

Charles A. Riegelman, counsel for the Theatre Guild, has under consideration a letter from Grover A. Whalen protesting against the satire on Mr. Whalen in the current "Garrick Gaieties," it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Riegelman is now trying to ascertain whether or not the sketch, which is entitled "They Always Come Back," is illegal. Thus far no deletions or changes have been made in the number, and none are contemplated, according to Guild officials yesterday.

The sketch to which the former Police Commissioner is reported to object has been a feature of the new revue since its opening last Wednesday night. As written by Newman Levy, it depicts in satirical fashion the return of Mr. Whalen to the executive force of Wanamaker's, an event noted in particular by a song entitled "Johnny Wanamaker," with lyrics and music by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warburg, who write under the name of Paul James and Kay Swift. A second song, entitled "I'm Grover," is credited to Vernon Duke and Mr. Levy.

BARBIZON PLAYERS MOVE.

Give Comedy "One Chaste Man" as Final Play of Season.

With a comedy entitled "One Chaste Man," by Olga Katzin, the Barbizon Players moved into a new playhouse in the Barbizon Plaza last night to present the fourth and final production of their season. In the new theatre, which is of the intimate type, Miss Katzin's play will be given again this evening. The Barbizon Players will offer their program of productions next season on a subscription basis.

The comedy is based hypothetically on a régime of feminine rule in England, where a system of "practical polygamy" is defeated by the old-fashioned husband of the feminist leader. Audrey Ridgwell and Robert Rendel, in the leading rôles, are supported by Dorothy Patten, Beverly Sitgreaves, Maurice Cass and Hugh Miller, as guest players. Mr. Miller directed the production.

Power Trend Continues Upward

The average daily production of electricity by public utility power plants in the United States for April was 265,300,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of 1% over the average daily production of 263,400,000 kilowatt hours for March.

As the records for the past ten years show a seasonal decrease from March to April ranging from 2% to 9% and averaging around 6%, the increased daily output in April of this year is indicative of the strongly entrenched position of this basic industry.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Recover Sharply—Money Unchanged, Winter Wheat Estimate Up.

The emphatic recovery on the Stock Exchange yesterday canceled in numerous stocks one-fourth or one-third of the severe decline which had occurred in the four or five preceding business days. It reflected arrival of the speculative supporting orders which had been withheld in the earlier stages of the decline, but indicated more particularly "covering purchases" by professional operators for the Fall, whose activities have probably had a larger part than usual in the recent break of prices. Transactions were nearly as large as they had been on the decline of the day before, and most of the active shares ended at the day's best prices.

The next few days will show the extent to which the past week's fall in prices indicated genuine readjustment of the market to unfavorable outside conditions. Sometimes a swift recovery like yesterday's, possibly carried a little further, merely leaves the market with its equilibrium restored and reverting to inactivity. The general character of yesterday's movement did not suggest immediate resumption of the fall. In active stocks, the day's gains ranged from 3 to 18 points, with advances of 5 points or more rather numerous.

Nothing in the day's news had any visible influence on the market. The Steel Corporation's statement of unfilled orders during May showed the largest decrease that has occurred in any month since May of 1928; in fact, the tonnage on the order-books had increased in seven out of the eight preceding months. But May is traditionally a month of reduction. Its decrease has exceeded last month's 294,998 tons in several recent years and, except for a year ago, the present unfilled tonnage is the largest for this date since 1923.

In the government's monthly wheat report, issued yesterday, the estimate on the Winter wheat yield is increased 7,000,000 bushels from the forecast of a month ago. This is considerably less than the calculation of the private estimates; it places the indicated yield 46,000,000 bushels under last year's actual harvest. No estimate of yield is presented for the Spring wheat crop; whose condition, however, is rated nearly 1 per cent higher than a year ago. Taking the prevalent private estimate of Spring wheat probabilities, the country's total indicated crop would be about 790,000,000 bushels, or 16,000,000 under 1929 and 125,000,000 under 1928. Last year the early forecasts were nearly 70,000,000 above the eventual yield, in 1928 they were fully 100,000,000 bushels short of it; so that much still depends on the influence of the season. We have on the other hand, as affecting world production, an estimated increase over 1929 of perhaps 150,000,000 in the yield of Canada and of 69,000,000 in that of India, but with reasonable prospect of a smaller wheat harvest in Europe, which in the two past years has successively produced a wheat crop far surpassing any yield in its previous history.

With an increase of $184,000,000 for the week in loans on securities, shown in yesterday's Reserve Board statement of the condition of member banks, a total is reached for that type of credits which has never been exceeded outside of the two "panic weeks" at the end of last October. In that respect, the member bank report merely repeats a comparison frequently overlooked in the ordinary weekly brokers' loan return. That statement also last week placed the "loans to brokers and dealers" through New York banks at the highest recorded total, except for two or three of last Autumn's panic weeks. In another respect, however, the "member bank loan" comparison is impressive on its own account. Until the return of a week ago, loans of that class had never reached a greater total than loans of all other kinds combined. In yesterday's statement, covering the position of June 5, collateral loans exceed the others by $171,000,000. A year ago, the "other loans" exceeded the loans on securities by nearly $2,000,000,000.

INSURANCE MERGER IN VIEW.

American Reserve and American Phenix Seek State Approval.

The directors of the American Reserve Insurance Company and the American Phenix Corporation have approved preliminary plans for the consolidation of the two companies, it was announced yesterday. This will form a reinsurance company with combined assets of about $8,000,000.

The announcement said approval of the consolidation had been requested from Albert Conway, New York State Superintendent of Insurance. He is expected to give his approval after which the plan will be submitted to the stockholders. No terms were announced. The new company would be called the American Reserve Insurance Company.

Election by Life Underwriters.

Leon Gilbert Simon of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States was unanimously elected president of the Life Underwriters' Association of the City of New York yesterday. Arthur Woodward, Connecticut General Life; Mervin L. Lane, Home Life, and Walter E. Barton, Union Central Life, were elected vice presidents, and Clancy D. Connell of the Provident Mutual Life was elected secretary-treasurer.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Fulfilling Wall Street's expectations, the stock market turned sharply about yesterday and retraced a good part of the ground lost in Monday's reaction. The partial recovery was participated in by the greater part of the Stock Exchange list, the most striking gains being in United States Steel, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Can, American and Foreign Power, A. M. Byers, J. I. Case, Houston Oil, Electric Power and Light, Johns-Manville, New York Central, Vanadium, Worthington Pump and a few others. In conformance with past experience, the stock market community shed its coat of pessimism as quickly as it was put on and yesterday afternoon Wall Street was in a happy mood. It was generally agreed that the change in sentiment did not reflect any particular development in business and industry any more than when the recent decline got under way. Yesterday's turnover on the Stock Exchange was close to 4,800,000 shares, or a little greater than that of the day before.

The Shorts in Retreat.

Retreating in confusion in the face of angry financial interests, the bearish professionals who have been blamed for the recent selling on the Stock Exchange, "took in their lines" yesterday with what seemed to be an unseemly haste. It was no secret that powerful figures in Wall Street were becoming annoyed over the bear party's activity, so the latter displayed more discretion than valor in running to cover yesterday. The average price of fifty representative stocks showed a net gain of $5.73, against a net loss of $6.03 on Monday.

Steel Operations.

In addition to the encouragement furnished by the unfilled tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation yesterday, showing a smaller decrease in May than was expected, the résumé of operations of the industry as a whole for the past week was also distinctly cheering news. While well below the pact attained in the second week of June last year, ingot production this year is only five points on a percentage table below that in the corresponding week of 1928, often referred to as the last normal year. In view of the fact that in the two years which have elapsed since 1928 many companies, particularly the United States Steel Corporation, have greatly increased plant capacity, it would appear that operations at the present time are nearly normal.

The Market and the Tariff.

What the country needs at present is one good "break" of luck, according to some Wall Street diagnosticians. These go further and say that about the most favorable thing which could happen, so far as the market is concerned, would be the defeat of the pending tariff bill in the Senate. Although the majority of economic observers call the possibility of the bill's passage merely one of the elements contributing to the unsettled conditions at present, this particular group is inclined to believe practically all current difficulties would be solved if the bill were defeated. Business would go forward with renewed vigor and foreign trade would blossom forth in a new bloom of confidence—and the market would go up, so it is reasoned. Even those who do not believe the tariff is any such panacea are waiting with interest the action of the Senate, now foremost for the latter part of the week, with the feeling that the outcome will have an important, if not all-important, bearing on the market and the economic situation generally.

Sunshine and Shadow.

"Stocks should rally now," remarked an astute Wall Street observer early yesterday afternoon as, after a succession of showers, the sun burst forth. Sure enough, a wave of buying began shortly after and culminated in a strong closing. Observers not so closely interested in meteorology were satisfied to use the unfilled steel tonnage figures as an explanation for the turn in events.

The Western Maryland.

The request of the Baltimore & Ohio to the Interstate Commerce Commission for an extension of the time allotted it for divestment of its Western Maryland control was seen as another sign of the willingness of the B. & O. to accede to the Clayton anti-trust act order of the commission. In its request, the B. & O. stated that it was willing to comply with the order but that at the present time it was unable to dispose of the property in accordance with the commission's consolidation plan.

The Power Bill.

The power bill as passed by the House, and of which President Hoover spoke favorably yesterday, is not the original draft of the bill which aroused considerable antagonism in the many State public service commissions. The bill will be discussed soon by conferees of the two Houses of Congress in order to reach a final agreement on terms. As it now stands, it simply provides for five full-time Federal power commissioners, with various technical and legal aides, empowered to administer the business that the present commission is handling under the Federal power act. All the measures for regulation of holding companies, interstate transmission of power, and issuance of securities have been eliminated from the original draft. Aside from satisfying the State commissions, the present bill is understood to be favored in utility circles.

Carlton on Business.

In saying that Western Union business in the second quarter of the year would be about $1,300,000 above dividend requirements, contrasted with failure to earn the dividend by $560,779 in the first quarter, Newcomb Carlton, president, carefully attributed the better showing to closer management rather than to business revival, which is not yet in sight so far as the telegraph business shows. Net income in the second quarter of 1929 was about $575,000 above the figure expected this year, but last year was a period of record-breaking character for nearly every industry.

MONEY.

Tuesday, June 10, 1930.

There was no feature about the business in the money market, which continued small in turnover and without change in quotation. Stock Exchange day loans remained at 3 per cent and street money at 2½. Time money was quiet and at prevailing quotations. Acceptances were steady, not much doing either side. Commercial paper is dull hereabouts, but outside there is greater interest.

Argentina's Capitol at Buenos Aires

STABILITY
of Argentina's Government
. . . sustains Confidence in Republic's Prosperity

IN SEPTEMBER, 1929, the President of the Argentine Republic proposed to Congress a 10-year program of highway construction throughout the country, to cost 10,000,000 pesos ($4,200,000) annually.

In recent years the Administration has consistently encouraged Argentine industry and commerce. Government funds have been used largely for the extension of railways, public improvements and aviation.

This policy has sustained the confidence of American investors in the stability of the Argentine Government and in the continued prosperity of the Republic.

Electric light and power plants operated by Intercontinents Power Company serve 112 cities and towns in Argentina, Brazil and Chile. An investment in the securities of Intercontinents Power Company is an investment in the steadily mounting prosperity of these principal South American republics.

SWEARS TO STORING STEEL DOCUMENTS

Youngstown Sheet and Tube Official Says He Used Name of A. J. Brown.

QUESTIONED ON MERGER

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 10.—Additional depositions were taken today by attorneys for C. S. Eaton, Cleveland stockholder of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, who is seeking to block the company's merger with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Rees M. Price, assistant auditor of Youngstown Sheet and Tube, asserted that four trunks full of "books, reports and documents," were stored in a local warehouse by him on April 3, the day Sheet and Tube filed an answer denying that it had in its possession the documents on which the merger terms were based.

Mr. Price, in his deposition, admitted that he stored the trunks containing certain records, in the Herbert warehouse, at the direction of Walter E. Meub, secretary-treasurer of the company. They were stored in the name of A. J. Brown, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Changes His Testimony.

Under questioning, Mr. Price first said the trunks were stored at the warehouse, but later admitted that this testimony was false and that the trunks were removed two weeks ago. He disclaimed any knowledge as to their contents. On April 3 Eaton attorneys filed a mandamus action in the Mahoning County Court in the name of Arthur B. Taylor, a stockholder of Elyria, demanding that the records be opened. Sheet and Tube replied that it did not have the records.

Following Mr. Price's admission that part of his previous testimony was false, Harry M. Crawford, Eaton attorney, abruptly terminated the depositions. Mr. Crawford had Mr. Price write the name "A. J. Brown" several times. Attorneys are preparing to go to New York again to take depositions from Controller Schick of the Bethlehem Company.

Many Ballots Held Doubtful.

Luther Day, an Eaton attorney, served notice on Sheet and Tube attorneys that he intended to take depositions in Cincinnati, Ashland and Cleveland this week concerning the rights of certain trustees in voting stock.

Mr. Day identified certain ballots cast for the merger by Fred Tod, John Tod, John W. Ford, J. H. Middletown, Elton Hoyt 2d and J. B. McWilliams, which did not contain the number of shares represented, and contended each counted for only one share of stock. If this contention is sustained, several hundred thousand shares will be affected and the merger will lack the necessary two-thirds shares.

Howard Burns, Sheet and Tube attorney, replied that the ballots had been passed upon and counted by the inspectors.

STEEL INGOT OUTPUT OFF.

Average Operations Last Week Were About 71 Per Cent.

Steel ingot production has shown a slight falling off in the last week from the previous week, the average rate of operations for the whole industry being about 71 per cent of theoretical capacity, as compared with a shade above 71 per cent a week ago and 73½ two weeks ago. The United States Steel Corporation maintained its operations at 75 per cent, the same as in the previous week, while the independent companies slacked off a small fraction to slightly above 67 per cent, as compared with 67½ per cent a week ago.

At this time last year the mills of the United States Steel Corporation were operating at capacity, while the independents were operating at a little better than 84 per cent, making the average for the industry between 96½ and 97 per cent. In the second week of June in 1928 the Steel Corporation was operating at 79 per cent with independents at 73 per cent and the average for the industry at slightly under 76 per cent.

Big Payroll Increase Shown By Youngstown Steel Concerns

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 10.—The May payroll of steel companies, at $6,994,159, is the best monthly disbursement since November, 1929, and represents a gain of $500,000 over April. It brings the total wage distribution for the year to $32,001,879.

The Youngstown-Republic Steel Corporation has received additional pipe contracts involving 700 tons of small-diameter tubing. Republic shared liberally in a recent award by the Phillips Pipe Line Company, subsidiary of the Phillips Petroleum Company, for 10,000 tons of eight-inch tubing. Improvement in steel tube demand continues to dominate the market situation in this district.

OTIS-EATON MAN PUT ON BIG PAPER BOARD

Eberstadt Becomes Group's Second Director of International Company.

CONTINENTAL TIE-UP SEEN

Chamberlain, Head of United Light, Elected as Official Early in Season.

Ferdinand Eberstadt, New York partner of the investment banking firm of Otis & Co. and a director in many companies of the Otis-Eaton group, has been elected a director of the International Paper and Power Company, it was learned yesterday, giving the group a second representative on the paper company's board of eleven. William Chamberlain, president of the United Light and Power Company, was elected to the International board on Jan. 13 last.

Although officials of International Paper and Power have made no announcement, Mr. Eberstadt's election was believed to be due to the holding by Continental Shares, Inc., the principal Otis-Eaton holding company, of 84,700 shares of Class C stock of International Paper and Power on March 31.

These shares are held in the public utility portfolio of Continental Shares, which includes also large blocks of Lehigh Coal and Navigation, United Light and Power B, Brooklyn Union Gas and several Insull utilities. Other important investments include securities of large iron and steel, rubber and paint companies and banks.

As the United Light and Power System operates in territory far removed from the power properties of the International System, no interconnection is expected to result. The move is seen rather as one toward closer relationship between the Otis-Eaton banking group, with its broad connections in many industries, and the International Paper and Power organization.

Market appreciation of the holdings of Continental Shares, Inc., as of May 31, is understood to have been more than $18,000,000. Total assets are about $170,000,000, following the recent acquisition of the International Share Corporation. The current liquidating value is around $40 a share, comparing with a low of about $28 in the market break last Fall. The shares, issued at $50 a share about four years ago, have since been split up on a four-for-one basis, making the liquidating value about $120 for the original stock.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul.

According to preliminary estimates, gross income of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad in May was about $12,026,000, against $14,264,000 in May, 1929. Net operating income was about $730,000, against $1,822,000.

Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific.

Gross revenues of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway in May were about $1,000,000 below the total of $11,448,000 reported in May, 1929. Reductions in expenses were expected to bring net for May only slightly below the $273,000 reported for May, 1929.

U. S. STEEL BACKLOG OFF 294,993 TONS

HIGHER FORECASTS UPSET

Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation declined 294,993 tons in May, or from a total of 4,354,220 tons on April 30 to 4,059,227 tons at the end of May, according to the monthly figures made public yesterday.

The decrease was less than Wall Street estimates had indicated, and instead of proving a depressing influence so far as the stock market was concerned, actually was the signal for a brisk rally on the security exchanges. Some of the forecasts had pointed to a decrease of 500,000 tons or more.

The 294,993-ton decrease in May was considered a seasonal drop and less than the average shrinkage for that month in the last several years. In May, 1929, the decline was 123,596 tons; in May, 1928, 455,311 tons; in May, 1927, 405,191 tons; in May, 1926, 218,276 tons; in May, 1925, 396,768 tons; in May, 1924, 580,358 tons, and in May, 1923, 307,158 tons.

Jan.	4,468,710	4,109,487	4,275,947	3,800,177

Smallest Backlog Since August.

The backlog of 4,059,227 tons on the books of the Steel Corporation at the end of May is the smallest since August, 1929, but it is also larger than the unfinished business at the end of the same month in five of the last seven years, the two exceptions being 1923 and 1929. It was in 1923 that business returned to what was considered a normal basis after the post-war deflation period.

Operations of the Steel Corporation were at about 80 per cent of capacity in May and shipments were heavier than usual. Specifications against orders placed prior to May were responsible for the moderately high rate of operations. New bookings were somewhat disappointing and the same is true of the first ten days of June. However, specifications against previous orders have been satisfactory thus far in June.

It is estimated that shipments in May aggregated about 1,200,000 tons and on this basis new bookings are calculated at about 900,000 tons during that period. April deliveries also totaled about 1,200,000 tons, in March about 1,150,000 tons, in February about 1,050,000 tons, in January about 1,000,000 tons, in December about 725,000 tons and in November about 900,000 tons.

Cautiousness in Buying.

There has been no improvement recently in the general steel situation. Consumers are buying cautiously and are expected to continue to do so until there is a sign of definite upturn. The price uncertainty is contributing to the present dulness, it being the experience of steel manufacturers that consumers restrict their buying in a declining or hesitant market. A firmer undertone is the most hopeful feature of the steel market at this time.

The possibility of an unexpectedly large decrease in unfilled orders of the Steel Corporation has been used for some days as bearish market propaganda. Steel common, the market leader, was depressed sharply in expectation of a tremendous shrinkage in unfinished business. The official figures were made public at noon yesterday and at once were reflected in a lively upturn on the Stock Exchange.

PAN-AMERICAN SEEN IN TIDEWATER DEAL

$5,000,000 PRICE NAMED

EYE IS ON SOUTH AMERICA

Fight for Trade in Europe Also Indicated by Recent Moves of Corporation.

A further expansion of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company in the world's oil markets was indicated yesterday in the report that it had purchased for about $5,000,000 the Tide Water Oil Export Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Tide Water Oil Company. The operations of Tide Water Export are confined chiefly to South America and largely to Argentina and Brazil, where it is an important distributer of gasoline and motor oils.

Pan-American completed last Fall a modern refinery of 90,000 barrels daily capacity at Aruba, Dutch West Indies, just off the coast of Venezuela, the crude oil supplies to come from the company's Lake Maracaibo properties. This refinery is manufacturing about 24,000 barrels of gasoline daily. Owing to its nearness it is only natural that Pan-American should expand its gasoline markets in the countries of South America.

Although the Pan-American Company has been interested in the fuel oil markets of South America for several years, the refined oil markets in these countries, especially in Brazil and Argentina, have been held chiefly by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Royal Dutch Shell group. The latter has some small production in Argentina and carries on refining operations in a minor way. It is understood that the company contemplates expanding its operations in that country and has plans for construction of a large refinery, which would receive its crude supplies in part from Venezuela, where Royal Dutch is, it is said, the largest producer of crude oil.

Looks for Market in Europe.

It was reported also that Pan-American contemplates expanding its operations in Europe. The company has an asphalt refinery at Hamburg, Germany, but is a small factor in the European gasoline markets compared with other large American oil companies. It is, however, important in the fuel oil markets.

Consumption of gasoline in South America and Europe is growing rapidly as a result of the increasing numbers of automobiles being bought there. Since most of Pan-American's production is outside of the United States, the company believes a foreign expansion program of its markets would be safer owing to the agitation for a tariff on crude oil and its products.

E. G. Seubert, a director of Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company and president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, which holds 82 per cent of the outstanding stock of the Pan-American company, said at the annual meeting of Pan-American yesterday that the earnings of Pan-American for the first four months of this year indicated a substantial increase over 1929, when the company reported a net income after all charges of $2.92 a share on the outstanding stock. Earnings for the first four months of this year are understood to have been about 20 per cent above those of the corresponding period of last year, indicating a net income of about 90 cents a share for the first quarter.

Mr. Seubert said that it was problematical whe ndividends would be resumed, explaining that the company had an expansion and development program that must be provided for. He added, however, that as soon as it was "consistent with good business and good management," the directors would give serious consideration to a dividend policy.

Explains Stock Subscriptions.

Mr. Seubert, who acted also as spokesman for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, explained the stock subscription plan for Pan-American employes, which provides for purchases on a basis applying to the employes of the Indiana company and its subsidiaries. This plan, which will become effective in the Pan-American organization on July 1, permits an employe to subscribe to Indiana stock at $53 a share, of which one-third will be paid by the Pan-American company and the remainder by the employe. Some opposition developed to the plan on the ground that Pan-American employes should receive an offer of stock in Pan-American rather than of stock of the Indiana company. Mr. Seubert, however, said the majority interest in Pan-American felt it was good business not to create another stock purchase plan for employes within a subsidiary.

T. S. Cooke, William Green, P. H. Harwood, Allan Jackson and Harold Walker, whose terms expired, were re-elected directors for three years. It was disclosed at the meeting that the Indiana company holds 94 per cent of the common voting stock and 76 per cent of the Class B non-voting common stock of Pan-American.

GETS OIL AND COAL LANDS.

New Holding Concern Acquires Mexican Oil and Coal, S. A.

The entire capital stock of the Mexican Oil and Coal Company S. A. has been acquired by the Mexican Oil and Coal Company, Inc., a newly formed Delaware Corporation, it was announced yesterday. Since the Mexican land laws do not permit ownership of oil or other mineral concessions by foreign companies, the new company will be purely a holding company. Through existing subsidiaries wholly owned, the company controls confirmatory concessions to more than 2,000,000 acres of land in Northern Mexico and on the west coast.

Development of the holdings of the company has been started with the letting of several drilling contracts. The company is serving a number of customers with coal, including the Mexican National Railways. The Mexican Oil and Coal Company, Inc., is headed by Herman Heidebroek of Mexico City, who is also vice president of Mexico Oil and Coal Company, S. A.; Louis W. McKernan of New York, and Enrique Morales Goeury and Nicolas Tortolero y Vallejo, Mexico City.

WESTINGHOUSE WINS PATENTS IN BRITAIN

REPLACES VICKERS DEAL

Each Company in Compact Agrees to Share Methods and Plans in the Industry.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has entered into a patent licensing arrangement with and will acquire a minority interest in the English Electric Company, Ltd., of Queens House, Kingsway, London, it was learned yesterday, giving Westinghouse a new alliance in the United Kingdom.

The Westinghouse Electric International Company has concluded a comprehensive arrangement with the English concern for an exchange of technical information on steam turbines and electrical apparatus.

The arrangement includes the granting of licenses for the use of patents and for the manufacture and sale of various products, and is reported to be effective throughout the British Empire except in Canada. The licenses will be subject to existing commitments of the two companies in various parts of the world. Under the arrangement each company will have the benefit of the research work carried on by the other in fields covered by the agreement.

Replaces Old Arrangement.

The new affiliation replaces the patent licensing arrangement that formerly existed between Westinghouse and the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Company, Ltd., which originally was named the British Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing Company, Ltd. The Metropolitan-Vickers-Westinghouse contracts expired several months ago and the British company has been merged into the Associated Electrical Industries, Ltd., in which the General Electric Company of this country has large minority holdings.

The English Electric Company, Ltd., is just consummating a reorganization plan introduced by Lazard Brothers & Co., Ltd., private bankers of England, who have agreed on behalf of themselves and their associates to subscribe at par for £750,000 ordinary shares of £1,343,511 to be outstanding.

The Lazard firm and its associates thus will own a majority of the ordinary shares. These interests, believing that a moderate financial interest by the Westinghouse companies would be desirable, have suggested a participation in the ordinary shares. This participation will in any event be under 10 per cent of the total, and if accepted by the Westinghouse companies will increase the working capital of the English company.

Some Directors Withdraw.

In accordance with the reorganization plan backed by Lazard Brothers, Sir Charles Ellis, Sir John Aspinall and Colonel Sir John Mansell have resigned as directors of the English Electric Company, Ltd., and have been replaced by F. Massingbred Rogers of the Greater London and Counties Trust, an English utility holding company owned by the Utilities Power and Light Corporation of this country; P. Horsfall of Lazard Brothers & Co., Ltd.; Colonel Hayes of the Chase Securities Corporation, and Sir E. Hilton Young.

Under the reorganization plan of the English Electric Company, Ltd., there is to be a reduction of £1,386,630 in ordinary and £368,838 in preference issued capital by writing off 16s 8d and 7s 6d from each of the issued ordinary and preference shares respectively. The reduced 3s 4d ordinary shares are to be consolidated into ordinary £1 shares. The reduced 12 6d preference shares are to be represented as to 10s by preference shares, to be consolidated into £1 preference shares, and as to 2s 6s by ordinary shares, to be consolidated into ordinary £1 shares.

All arrears of preference dividends to Dec. 31, last, are to be canceled and the rate of preference dividend is to be increased from 6 to 6½ per cent, to be non-cumulative for four years and thereafter cumulative.

On completion of the plan the capitalization will be £1,343,511 in ordinary shares, £1,135,874 in preference shares, £450,863 in 6 per cent debenture stock and £656,200 in 5½ per cent sinking fund first mortgage debentures, or a total capital of £3,586,450, or nearly $18,000,000.

Hichens Is Board Chairman.

W. L. Hichens is chairman of the board while the other directors in addition to those elected are Sir Alex Gracie, Lord Meston, P. J. Pybus and V. Watlington.

The company owns the Dick Kerr Works and United Electric Car Works of Preston; Ordnance Works, Coventry; Phoenix Works, Bradford, and Siemens Works, Stafford. It also has a controlling interest in Willans & Robinson, Ltd., and is interested in the English Electric Company of Canada, Ltd.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing in the last few years has been building up powerful connections in the electrical industries of foreign countries, chiefly in Europe. About a year ago it acquired a large interest in Le Materiel Electrique S-W, of France, which it formed in association with the Schneider interests to manufacture and distribute electric power apparatus, electric locomotives and Diesel and other ship-propulsion machinery.

The company has contractual relationship with the Siemens-Schuckertwerke Company of Germany, also engaged in producing "heavy" or "high current" electrical apparatus. Westinghouse in recent months acquired a large plant in Norway and last year made substantial investments in a leading Italian electrical manufacturing company.

The plan provides that the company will pay in full for a policy of $1,000 and a part of the additional cost of larger policies taken by employes out of their earnings.

Death claims during the year amounted to $139,000 for beneficiaries of sixty-one deceased employes, while disability claims aggregating $22,000 were paid to nine employes.

PROFITS INCREASED BY WESTERN UNION

Second Quarter Net Put at $1,300,000, Offsetting Deficit in First 3 Months.

OPERATING COSTS REDUCED

Cable and Domestic Traffic Is Running Slightly Behind Rate of Year Ago.

The Western Union Telegraph Company is expected to earn $1,300,000 in excess of its dividend requirements of $2,047,582 for the second quarter this year, Newcomb Carlton, president, said yesterday, contrasting with a net income of only $1,486,803 in the first quarter, or $560,779 less than was required for the quarterly dividend on 1,023,791 capital shares.

The second quarter results therefore will more than make up for the first quarter's deficit. The improved earnings, Mr. Carlton said, are due to closer management. Operating expenses have been cut wherever possible without any sacrifice to service, Mr. Carlton said, but no expansion in general business has yet occurred.

At the present time, cable and telegraph business of the Western Union is running at 6 to 7 per cent below the rate for this time last year, it was stated, with a resultant decline in gross revenues. On the basis of the estimate for the second quarter net income this year, net income for the first half of 1930 will be about $4,834,000, comparing with an actual net income of $7,508,533 in the first half of 1929. Net income for the second quarter will be about $3,347,000, against $3,922,000 in the 1929 period.

Mr. Carlton would not make any prediction as to the expected trend of business for the second half of the year.

The interruption of several Atlantic cables late in 1929, due to the earthquake, has not added to the operating expenses of the current year, inasmuch as expenditures for repairs came out of the reserves maintained for that purpose. At the close of 1929, reserves for maintenance of cables were $11,845,841, while reserves for the development of ocean cables were $9,999,482.

The directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend for the second quarter, which was also paid in the first quarter this year and has been paid continuously at the annual rate of $8 a share since 1926, when it was increased from $7 annually.

SEEKS TO COMBINE UTILITIES IN OHIO

Commonwealth and Southern Pushes Plan to Simplify Its Corporate Structure.

FILES FORMAL PETITION

Ohio Edison Company Is Formed to Take Over Other Groups—Stocks to Be Exchanged.

The Commonwealth and Southern Corporation filed a petition yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus, Ohio, to consolidate the Ohio properties of the corporation as a further move in the company's plan to simplify its corporate structure.

The companies involved are the Northern Ohio Power and Light Company, the Ohio Edison Company, the Akron Steam Heating Company, the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power and Light Company, and the London Light and Power Company. These companies operate public utilities in Ohio, furnishing light, steam heat and transportation services in Akron, Youngstown and Springfield and more than 125 other communities with a population estimated in excess of 560,000.

Under the agreement of consolidation, the electric and steam heating business of the companies will be united into one company to be named the Ohio Edison Company, which will assume all the bonds and other indebtedness of the constituent companies and will issue its preferred stock share for share of like dividend rate to present holders of preferred stock of the respective participating companies.

Upon consummation of the consolidation, the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation will pay $15,000,000 in cash for 600,000 additional shares of common stock of the new company, the proceeds to be available for the Ohio Edison Company's requirements and further development. Commonwealth and Southern now owns all the common stocks of the various constituent companies.

Application is also made for authority for the new company to convey to the Akron Transportation Company, Northern Ohio Interurban Company and Canton Traction Company, its tracks, cars, buses and equipment used in furnishing city, suburban and interurban transportation, thus segregating all the transportation properties owned in Ohio. All the stock of the traction companies will be owned by the consolidated company.

The new company also is seeking permission to acquire the power station of the Ohio River Edison Company near Toronto, Jefferson County, Ohio, and the transmission lines and substation equipment of the Ohio River Transmission Company.

The directors of the consolidated company will be:

A. F. Ayers	T. A. Kenney
W. H. Barthold	C. S. MacCalla
A. C. Blinn	H. E. Miller
B. C. Cobb	J. G. Robertson
W. H. Foster	L. G. Tighe
H. E. Freeman	W. L. Willkie
J. T. Harrington

When the consolidation becomes effective the directors will elect permanent officers of the company and its subsidiaries and decide other corporate matters.

The Stock market is again demonstrating the fallacy of the age-old hope of getting something for nothing. Many investors, in the light of the decline last Fall and of recent short reactions, are in no little uncertainty as to just what policy to pursue.

Some stocks may never recover to their former levels. But likewise many will regain their lost ground and reach new high levels. The investor who holds a group of stocks may hold some of each but he will benefit by averages. The rise in the values of some in the group will offset the decline in others.

The investment policy of participating through group ownership in common stocks of large and growing businesses is logical and sound. Over a period of time it must be effective, if our country is to go forward in the future as in the past.

Corporate Trust Shares represent an ownership through common stocks of a cross-section of basic American industry. Each stock is a dividend payer. Held as a group they offer a security that is as strong as the structure of American Business itself.

VAN CAMP COMPANY TO JOIN JEWEL TEA

Deal, Reported on Way for Some Time, Is Said to Be Near Completion.

OFFICIAL CHANGES LIKELY

Packing Company Executives, It Is Believed, Will Join Management of Other Concern.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 10.—Merger of the Van Camp Packing Company, with assets valued at approximately $2,000,000, and the Jewel Tea Company of Barrington, Ill., which operates in all parts of the country, will be completed in a few days, it is reported here.

Financial details are not known, but it is understood that Van Camp will issue $2,500,000 in preferred stock, all of which will be taken by Jewel.

Some changes of personnel also will be involved, it is said, and several officers of the Jewel Tea Company will probably join the Van Camp concern and participate in its management.

The merger has been under consideration, it is said, for some time. The two companies have the same bankers in New York, and it is understood that this has been a factor in the union.

The name of the Van Camp Packing Company, which is widely known in connection with food products, will continue to be used on the company's products.

The Jewel Tea Company, which is one of the largest corporations of its kind in the world, operates in nearly every large city in the United States. It imports tea, coffee, spices and other products extensively. Its retail operations principally are by wagons. Cities are divided into routes and wagons cover these routes weekly, selling a variety of products.

Goldstein Circuit for Paramount.

The Paramount Publix Corporation has purchased the Goldstein Brothers circuit of theatres, it was announced yesterday. The transfer will take place on Sept. 3. The Goldstein circuit includes theatres in Springfield, Greenfield, Westfield, Pittsfield, Northampton, Chicopee, Holyoke and Palmer, Mass., and Utica, N. Y.

CITIES SERVICE ADDS MANY RETAIL OUTLETS

Expansion Will Be Financed by $120,000,000 Issue, With Rights for Holders.

To market Cities Service Company's increased production of crude oil and the products of its new refinery at East Chicago, the company's oil subsidiaries have added more than 300 new retail outlets since the first of the year, Henry L. Doherty & Co. announced yesterday.

Many of the new stations are in the territory served by the recently completed refinery, according to the announcement. Cities Service Oil Company of Ohio materially increased its outlets in that State through exclusive dealer contracts. Elsewhere chains of stations have been purchased, independent units acquired, new stations erected and many exclusive dealers signed up. The announcement continues:

"These acquisitions and contracts have added many new outlets in Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, Texas, Missouri, Minnesota, North Dakota, Utah and Wyoming. In New York State, Crew Levick Company, eastern Cities Service subsidiary, has added stations in Binghamton and other cities as well on Long Island. In Washington this company took over the largest superstation in the district. Distribution in the Hudson Valley was augmented by the purchase of the A. R. Newcombe Oil Company, which owns and operates nine bulk terminals, three deep water terminals, thirteen company-owned stations and has more than 100 exclusive dealer contracts.

"Cities Service has given rights to its stockholders of record May 29 to purchase a large part of its new issue of 5 per cent convertible gold debentures. The entire proceeds of $120,000,000 will be applied to construction expenditures, additional investment and extensions and additions to Cities Service properties. The issue provides for all new capital requirements so far planned for 1930, and is entirely underwritten by bankers."

Westinghouse Plans Annuities.

Arrangements have been made by the Westinghouse Lamp Company for the establishment of an annuity compensation plan for the benefit of the employes of the company in the plants at Bloomfield, Trenton and Belleville, N. J., and Milwaukee, Wis., in addition to the sales offices, it was announced yesterday by Walter Cary, president. Employes retiring at the age of 65 will receive a fixed sum monthly for life, which will be paid by the company, but each employe may increase the amount by making payments of their own during their employment.

Further details as to subscriptions and allotments will be announced, Mr. Mellon said, when final reports are received from the Federal Reserve Banks.

Acetylene Plant for Syracuse.

Seven acres of land adjacent to the New York Central freight tracks in the Eastwood section of Syracuse have been purchased by the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation on which it will erect a plant to manufacture acetylene by the Prest-O-Lite Company, Inc., a subsidiary, it was announced yesterday. The new plant will provide work for 100 to 150 men.

Wall Street Talk, Undenied, Makes Him Chairman of Shenandoah and Blue Ridge.

Reports that Waddill Catchings, who resigned recently as president of the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation, would become the active head of the Shenandoah and Blue Ridge Corporations and had taken an office at the headquarters of the Central States Electric Company, 60 Broadway, were widely circulated yesterday.

Officers of the Shenandoah and Blue Ridge Corporation, of which Mr. Catchings has been a director since their inception, said that neither official confirmation nor denial of the reports would be made. It was said further that increasing activity by Mr. Catchings in the management of the companies would be welcomed.

When Mr. Catchings resigned from many of the directorates he held as a partner in Goldman Sachs he remained on the Blue Ridge and Shenandoah boards.

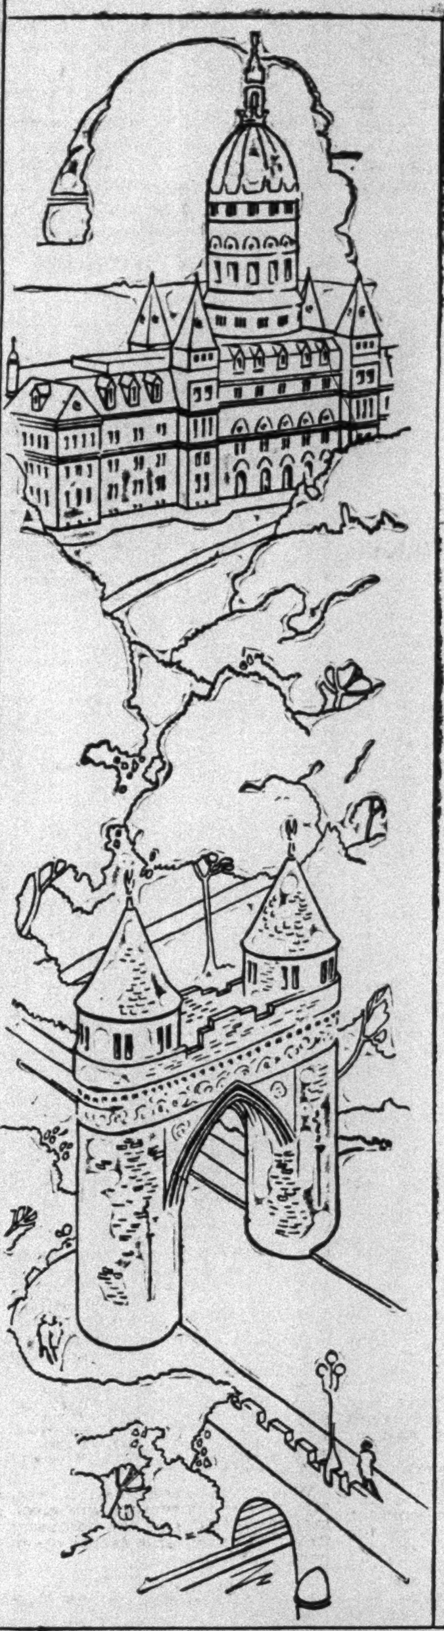
Number One of a Series

Hartford, the Capital of Connecticut

. . . the insurance Capital of America



SEVERAL railroad lines and two air mail routes converge on Hartford, the center of a closely knit community of 230,000 people, situated on the Connecticut River at the head of navigation and midway between New York and Boston. Every hour to this "City of Insurance" mails arrive from all over America and every mail contains hundreds of checks written in favor of one or another of the many Hartford insurance companies. The daily total of these checks exceeds two million dollars—$592,709,009 was the premium income for 1929.

Every sixth dollar paid as premium on fire insurance in the United States and every eighth dollar paid on life insurance finds its way to a Hartford insurance company. This is fitting; the earlier insurance companies in America were started in Hartford and many of them are now among the greatest in the country. To Hartford look thousands of wise investors who have bought the capital stocks of these insurance companies. Not in vain have they placed their confidence in these securities. For example, the average annual return for the past ten years ending May 15, 1930 on eight Hartford insurance stocks, including rights, dividends and market appreciation, has been as follows:

Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. 34.59%
Aetna Fire Insurance Co. 14.79%
Aetna Life Insurance Co. 29.43%
Connecticut Gen. Life Ins. Co. 65.97%
Hartford Fire Insurance Co. 24.29%
National Fire Insurance Co. 15.03%
Phoenix Insurance Co. 24.71%
Travelers Insurance Co. 54.86%

Stockholder confidence has meant that none of these companies has ever lacked ample capital and valuable rights have been issued from time to time. Possessed of a maximum of inherent value, a ready marketability for them has been provided because of their remarkable records of earnings. They enjoy an active market in Hartford, as well as in Boston and New York, where they are quoted daily in leading newspapers.

Because we believe that these stocks offer conservative investments yielding unusually high returns; because we feel that money placed in these stocks is safely and wisely invested; because we look forward to a continuation of the records above shown, we lease four open-end telephones between Hartford and New York and wire connections with other principal cities, facilities which are required to maintain our position as a leading firm dealing in Hartford insurance stocks. In succeeding advertisements we shall discuss and analyze each of the companies whose remarkable records are shown above.

MACHINES NOW USED IN BOND CLEARANCE

DEVICE PUT TO LONG TEST

Clearing Corporation Contemplates Extending the System to Stock Transactions.

A mechanical method of conducting the daily special clearings of convertible and other active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange was begun by the New York Stock Clearing Corporation on June 3, it was announced yesterday.

The Stock Clearing Corporation has been experimenting with these tabulating and punching machines for more than nine months, it was announced. Heretofore such clearances have been conducted with a day force of employes at the night clearing branch in the usual clearing manner.

It was pointed out yesterday that, in view of the fact that a day force has been used in the work up to the present, the installation of the machines will cause no reduction in the number of persons employed by the corporation. On the contrary, it was said, it will allow those who have had to work at night to carry out these special clearances to finish their work during the day.

If the new method proves entirely successful, the corporation intends at a later date in include general stock clearance in the system. It was said yesterday, however, that considerable time may elapse before this may be done, because of the new problems that would be involved in the handling of the larger volumes.

Through the new mechanical method clearing house sheets are not made up, as formerly, in the offices of clearing house members. Now only Stock Exchange Clearing Corporation exchange tickets, issued in a new special form, which have been properly exchanged and verified by the parties to the transactions, are received at the night clearing branch.

With the use of the tickets and the new tabulating process, complete clearing house sheets with security balances can be prepared and be ready for delivery to member firms by 9 o'clock in the morning after the clearing has taken place. When all cleared securities can be handled in this manner, it is expected that both greater speed and accuracy will be attained.

MUNICIPAL LOANS.

State of New Jersey.

The State of New Jersey yesterday awarded an issue of $20,000,000 4 per cent road bonds, Series D, dated July 1, 1930, and due on July 1, 1950, to more than twenty New Jersey banks. The offering was oversubscribed by more than $14,000,000, bids being received from 113 New Jersey banks, at prices ranging from 100.25 to 102.50, the latter being made by the Union National Bank of Newark for $50,000 of bonds.

Owing to the low coupon, New York bankers did not bid on the offering. It is expected, however, that several millions of dollars of the bonds will come into the New York market, being sold at a loss by the bidders for the bonds. This loss will be made up through deposits maintained by the State of New Jersey with banks in the State.

TRADING HEAVIER IN LISTED BONDS

FIRMNESS IN INDUSTRIALS

Utilities Also Steady, With Rails Uneven—Foreign Issues Are Irregular.

Heavier trading than has been reported in the past week caused mixed reactions in the listed bond market of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday. Liberty Loan issues were the outstanding feature of the day and were strong under active trading, three of them reaching new high levels for the year, but heavy offering toward the close of the session caused one of these issues to lose its gain.

Aside from the government issues the domestic industrials and utilities displayed firmness under a lesser volume of trading, while rail and foreign issues were irregular and closed with the averages only slightly changed.

The three Liberty Loan issues which reached new high levels for the year were the 3½s due from 1932 to 1947, the first 4¼s registered and the fourth 4¼s. The 3½s moved up to 100 26/32, a new high for the year to date and yielded no ground under heavy offerings, closing up 3/32 for the day. The registered 4¼s touched new high ground at 101 26/32 and closed there. The fourth loan 4¼s, after moving up to 102 18/32, receded to close at 102 16/32, and ended the day with a 1/32 point loss.

American Water Works 6s and 5s, New York Telephone 4½s, Western Union 5s of 1951, Kansas City Power and Light 4½s and Montana Power 5s of 1962 gave the utility group a good showing of strength, but American Telephone 5½s and 5s gave the group an irregular appearance by losing fractionally.

Among the foreign issues Argentine obligations were strong, with gains of about ½ point. Chileans exhibited weakness. German Bank bonds were easier and Saxon Public Works 6½s lost about a point. French 7½s were in fair demand and responded with a gain of about ½ point.

Among the rails, although Atchison general 4s advanced nominally and Cuba 5s gained more than two points, the majority were weak, and several industrial bonds also showed a soft tendency.

BOND FLOTATIONS.

New Issues Offered by Corporations to Investment Bankers and to the Public.

Central Power and Light.

Public offering of an additional issue of $5,500,000 of Central Power and Light Company first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, 1956 series, is being made by a banking group headed by E. H. Rollins & Son and including Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.; A. B. Leach & Co., Inc.; Tucker, Anthony & Co. and Hill, Joiner & Co., Inc. The bonds are priced at 95 and accrued interest, to yield about 5.35 per cent.

For the twelve months ended on April 30, 1930, consolidated gross earnings of the company and its subsidiary amounted to $10,361,371, compared with $9,038,402 for the preceding twelve months. After operating expenses, rentals, taxes and maintenance, net earnings before depreciation were $4,125,572.

New York Central.

An issue of $800,000 of thirty-year gold 4 per cent bonds of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company maturing on Jan. 1, 1942, will be offered today by R. W. Pressprich & Co. Proceeds of the sale of the bonds will be used for additions and changes in the South Station in Boston.

Old Colony Railroad.

The award of an issue of $1,250,000 Old Colony Railroad first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, dated July 1, 1930, and maturing in 1950, to Paine, Webber & Co., was announced yesterday. The proceeds of the bonds will be used to reduce the indebtedness of the road to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and to pay for permanent improvements.

Prices Down in Berlin.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 10.—Weakness of the world's stock exchanges, the government's new tax program to cover the deficit and the heavy decline in Verkehrswesen, which even at 90 points against 107 Friday found no buyers, had a depressing effect on today's session of the Boerse which was weak throughout.

Offerings in the favorites of recent days were considerable and losses ranged from two to eight points. Julius Berger of the building group, the electricals, primarily Schuckert and Siemens & Halske, shipping stocks, beer and spirits, the potash group, artificial silks, the mining group and chemicals were especially weak. Further reduction in the private discount rate failed to halt the downward movement which continued until the close.

DIVIDES THE RISK AND MULTIPLIES PROTECTION

Among the factors of safety that protect instalment credit none is more effectual than the factor of spread.

The average outstanding automobile note, for example, amounts to less than $300. A credit structure, composed of such small units, distributed as they are all over the continent and among persons in all walks of life, is almost ideal from the standpoint of divided risk.

FIGURES SHOW DROP IN FOREIGN TRADE

RUSSIA'S BUYING INCREASES

Soviet Purchases Here Mount $37,017,000 Above Level at Same Time Last Year.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The world-wide depression in trade, reflected in lower prices of commodities, principally raw materials, was shown today by the Commerce Department's announcement of exports and imports to and from all countries for the four months ended April 30.

Among the features of the report were figures for Soviet Russia indicating that exports from the United States have increased from $17,368,000 during the first four months of 1929 to $54,385,000 for the same period this year, in the face of decreases to virtually every other country. Soviet industrial developments were said to require a large range of foreign manufactured goods, principally industrial and agricultural machinery.

The United Kingdom absorbed commodities from the United States valued at $243,563,000 and was the nation's leading customer, closely followed by Canada with $242,257,000. Germany ranked third as a purchaser of American goods with $99,478,000, followed by France with $84,469,000, Japan $72,977,000, Argentina $48,203,000, Mexico $44,934,000 and Italy $41,938,000.

Exports to Europe amounted to $693,499,000, a drop of $126,000,000; North America, $378,092,000, a drop of $98,000,000; South America, $127,605,000, a drop of $75,000,000; Asia, $178,887,000, a drop of $55,000,000; Oceania, $46,688,000, a drop of $18,000,000, and Africa, $36,381,000, a drop of $10,000,000.

Total exports were $1,461,156,000, a decline of $383,000,000.

Similar tendencies were shown for imports which, amounting to $1,201,071,000 for the four months, were $331,000,000 less than a year before.

The United States did its principal buying from Canada with purchases of $145,555,000. Other sources of supply were:

Japan $106,842,000, United Kingdom $83,848,000, Germany $69,666,000, British Malay $59,654,000, Brazil $51,752,000, British India $46,615,000, China $41,618,000 and France $41,303,000.

Imports from Europe amounted to $354,631,000, a decrease of $81,000,000; North America $273,003,000, a decrease of $75,000,000; South America $186,780,000, a decrease of $54,000,000; Asia $343,847,000, a decrease of $96,000,000; Oceania $11,751,000, a decrease of $13,000,000, and Africa $13,057,000, a decrease of $14,000,000.

The import and export declines are closely related since, as the American power for consumption of raw materials shrinks, likewise does the purchasing power of the foreign countries which furnish commodities to the United States. Among the raw materials which have shown price increases are raw silk, sugar, coffee and rubber, affecting the trade from Japan, Cuba, Brazil, certain other Latin-American countries and British Malaya.

The balance of trade with Europe, North America, South America, Asia and European countries during April compares as follows with the corresponding periods of 1929 and 1928:

Reduced Dividends.

The Houdaille-Hershey Corporation has declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents on the Class B stock, compared with 50 cents paid previously.

The Continental Diamond Fibre Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, as compared with 75 cents previously paid.

New Angle in Hershey Tax Suit.

Because the claim of the Hershey Chocolate Company for the return of $3,831,274, plus interest, in taxes paid the government from 1919 to 1921 originated before the formation of the Hershey Chocolate Corporation, the corporation will not receive the money even if the claim is established, in the opinion of one director, it was learned yesterday. The United States District Court of Appeals decided recently that sweet chocolate is not a candy within the meaning of the Federal tax classification, and on this decision the possibility of tax recovery is based.

1930 COTTON LOWS PRECEDE LATE RISE

July Delivery Runs Through 15 Cents Before Covering Movement Gets Under Way.

FINAL PRICES IRREGULAR

After making new low records for the year, prices on the Cotton Exchange steadied yesterday, influenced by the sharp recovery in the stock market and predictions of unsettled weather in western sections of the belt. The early break in securities, with further liquidation that ran the July delivery through 15 cents, created selling pressure for several hours, but the decline of a cent in a week stimulated covering before the close. Final quotations were irregular, with a gain of 5 points on July and a loss of 3 points on new crop deliveries.

The report of the Textile Merchants Association for May, issued after the close, showed sales of 66.9 per cent of production, with shipments of 97.9 per cent and a decrease in unfilled orders of 23.9 per cent. Stocks on hand increased 1.3 per cent.

Houses having a long interest in the July position for domestic and foreign clients continued to reduce holdings in advance of first notice day and the July premium over October shifted from 80 to 100 points. The chairman of the Farm Board said that the corporation formed recently was for taking over about 1,000,000 bales held by cooperative associations for withdrawal from the market before the new crop appears. These holdings comprise the 575,000 bales taken on May contracts as well as cotton delivered by members in the South and cotton still to be received in settlement of July contracts. The certificated stock is now almost 700,000 bales, of which 198,000 are in New York, 152,000 in New Orleans and 182,000 in Houston.

The Cotton Exchange Service issued a preliminary estimate of the probable world's carry-over of American cotton on July 31 of 5,800,000 bales, compared with about 4,500,000 at the beginning of the season.

A Memphis agency reported cotton fields clean, with some exceptions, and about 75 per cent chopped out. Stands are about normal, and the condition of the belt as a whole is close to the average for this date.

CURB TRADING HEAVY WITH PRICES HIGHER

Strength Develops in Afternoon and Most Issues Close With Gains for Day.

The volume of trading on the New York Curb Exchange yesterday was the highest since May 5, the latter date being the heaviest day of the year. Yesterday's turnover amounted to 2,053,600 shares, compared with 2,540,090 shares traded on May 5.

The heaviest trading came in the morning soon after the opening, when, for example, 32,500 shares of Cities Service and 12,000 shares of Electric Bond and Share changed hands. The opening was weak, and no great strength developed until afternoon. Then, however, prices began to rebound and most of the more active issues closed the day with gains.

American Light and Traction, American Superpower, Arkansas Natural Gas, Brazilian Light and Traction, Electric Bond and Share, Niagara Hudson and United Light and Power were the most active utility issues and all gained from a fraction to four points during the day.

Cities Service, Standard Oil of Indiana, Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line and Vacuum Oil were higher, along with St. Regis Paper and Deere & Co. Goldman Sachs, with exceptionally heavy turnover, scored the principal gain in the investment trust group. United Founders and Transamerica Corporation, on the other hand, closed lower.

John F. Barry & Co. Formed.

John F. Barry, former partner of Gilbert Elliott & Co., has formed a firm under the name of John F. Barry & Co., Inc., with offices at 48 Wall Street. The firm will handle the distribution of bank and insurance stocks, investment trust stocks and other unlisted securities.

Banking Group's Heads Meet.

Newly elected officers of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Banking held their first executive meeting last night in its quarters in the Graybar Building. The meeting was preceded by a dinner in the Roosevelt Gateway Restaurant.

FRANK J. PASOTTI, v. UNITED STATES GUARDIAN CORPORATION, a dissolved corporation of the State of Delaware.	RECEIVERSHIP CAUSE

TO:

1. The stockholders of United States Guardian Corporation.
2. The holders of certificates of indebtedness of United States Guardian Corporation.
3. The holders of contracts of subscription to the capital stock of United States Guardian Corporation who have paid the initial installment on said subscriptions, and sufficient additional installments on said subscriptions to entitle them by the terms of their respective contracts to the issuance of certificates of indebtedness.
4. All other persons, if any there be, claiming the right to share in the distribution of the funds of the said United States Guardian Corporation after the payment of its debts and the costs and expenses of this receivership cause.

Pursuant to an order of the Chancellor of the State of Delaware, made in the above entitled cause on the 7th day of May A. D. 1930, you are hereby notified:

(a) That to enable you to share in the distribution of the funds of the said United States Guardian Corporation after the payment of all its debts and the costs and expenses of the above named receivership, it is necessary for you to file with Dudley C. Lunt and Walter R. Cook, Receivers of United States Guardian Corporation, at their office at No. 3165 du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, a duly verified proof of your claim for the purpose of establishing your right to share in such distribution, which proof must be filed within 60 days from the date of this notice and that exceptions to any claims so filed must be taken in writing and filed with said receivers within 30 days of the expiration of the time for filing claims.

Claims so filed will be open to the inspection of all interested parties at all reasonable times at the aforesaid office of said receivers. No distribution will be made to any of the above mentioned parties who fail or neglect to file proofs of claim properly verified. In filing such proof of claim, you may use, but are not required to use, the form for proof of claim accompanying this notice, which form was approved by the Chancellor in his said order.

(b) That said receivers have submitted a plan for the distribution of the funds of said United States Guardian Corporation whereby holders of certificates of indebtedness will be treated on distribution of the funds of said corporation as stockholders holding the number and class of shares of stock for which they respectively subscribed and whereby subscribers to the capital stock of said corporation who have paid the first installment on their respective subscriptions and sufficient additional installments to entitle them to the issuance of certificates of indebtedness by the terms of their respective contracts, will be treated and considered in like manner; that said plan of distribution further contemplates that for purposes of distribution the assets in the hands of said receivers shall be considered to be increased by the amount due to the corporation by holders of certificates of indebtedness and said subscribers to capital stock who have not fully paid their respective subscriptions and further that on distribution the respective amounts due to each of said parties as the holder of the number and class of shares of stock for which they respectively subscribed shall be diminished by the amount due from each of them respectively to the corporation on said respective subscriptions. In the event that any balance is found due from any holder of certificates of indebtedness or subscriber to capital stock, to the corporation, it is proposed that he receive nothing and that the total assets of said corporation for distribution among other stockholders, holders of certificates of indebtedness, subscribers to capital stock or other parties, be considered to be reduced by the amount due to the corporation from said holders of certificates of indebtedness and subscribers to capital stock respectively.

(c) That at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, Eastern Standard Time, on Wednesday, the 10th day of September A. D. 1930, at the Court Room of the Court in Chancery in the County Court House at Wilmington, Delaware, the said Chancellor will hear the report and petition of said receivers and the proposed plan of distribution at which time and place the Chancellor will hear all persons claiming the right to share in such distribution of said funds of United States Guardian Corporation and all evidence offered or desired to be offered by them and their respective solicitors that may appear for them and determine the relative rights of any such claimants to share in such distribution. The Committee is authorized to deal with and in respect of JEFFERSON COAL CORPORATION and LINCOLN COAL CORPORATION and the stock and securities of such corporations to which title was transferred to the properties of ILLINOIS COAL CORPORATION purchased at the Receiver's sale by George K. EVER READY COMPANY (GREAT BRITAIN)

INCREASED SALES AND PROFIT

The annual general meeting of the Ever Ready Company (Great Britain) Ltd., manufacturers of batteries and electrical sundries, was held on June 2nd, 1930, at Holloway, London, N.

MR. MAGNUS GOODFELLOW (Chairman and Managing Director), who presided, said: "In concluding my speech to you at the General Meeting a year ago, I said: I feel justified in telling you that we look forward not only to the consolidation of the position that we have succeeded in attaining, but to the further development of our business." The results before you have been obtained in a difficult year and in the face of most severe competition—greater competition than I ever before remember.

The Sales for the year show an increase of 22½% over the sales of the previous year, and the increase in profit—amounting to £34,388—would have been at least proportionate to the increase in sales but for the fall in the values of materials and commodities during February and March, which necessitated our writing down stocks to the lower market values on the 31st March. Our low stock values, and the lower prices at which we have been able to purchase our materials for the coming year, have enabled us to effect reductions in price to the consumer of a number of our productions, which will, I think, still further stimulate the popularity and sale of our products.

During the past year we have not only maintained our technical and chemical efficiency, but we have improved both, and the expenditure on the expansion of the factories and equipment, amounting to £35,371 referred to in our report to you, together with the expenditure on extensions already in hand amounting to £30,000, should result in a considerable increase in our powers of production and a considerable advance in our technical efficiency during the coming year.

The public use of portable dry batteries in every walk of life has grown continuously during the past 20 years, and it is my belief that new uses will be discovered as time goes on.

FOREIGN COMPETITION.

The consumer and the trade as a whole continue to extend to us their good-will, and appreciate the benefits of using and handling stable articles such as ours in preference to the goods imported into this country by our foreign competitors. We intend to continue to give the trade all the service we are capable of, and we believe they will not only continue to support us as heretofore, but strengthen their support against this foreign competition, which, in the long run, can benefit neither the consumer, the trader, the workpeople, nor the community as a whole.

After dealing with the accounts in detail he concluded by saying: During the past few months I have read a number of speeches delivered by the Chairmen of large and important manufacturing businesses in this country, and I have just recently returned from a visit to our connections on the Continent of Europe, where full details of the position have been placed before me. It appears to me to be generally accepted that the present world-wide depression may continue during the coming year, and may even grow worse than it is at present. The cause of the depression appears to be excessive production, and lower consumption, due to the fall in spending power in a number of countries.

During the four months ended on the 31st March last the general trade position did not prevent our own expansion, and for the two months ending 31st May to date our sales are greater than they were for the two months ending 31st May a year ago. We have grounds for the belief, therefore, that the preparations we have made for an increased production will result in our doing an increased business during the coming year.

The report and accounts were unanimously adopted and final dividends of 5% on the preference shares (making the maximum of 10% for the year) and of 25% on the ordinary shares (making 35% for the year) were declared.

At a subsequent Extraordinary General Meeting the authorised capital of the Company was increased to £1,000,000. The Chairman intimated that there was no intention to make any immediate issue.

CANADA SPRING WHEAT 96%.

Condition Lower Than a Year Ago—Rains Badly Needed.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10 (Canadian Press).—A crop report issued today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, based on conditions at the end of May, gives Spring wheat as 96 per cent, compared with 100 per cent at the corresponding date last year and 100 per cent for the ten-year average. The same ratio is given for all wheat in Canada. The report added:

"Reports from Alberta mention serious losses in the central region. Edmonton and Lacombe agriculturists report marked injury by the wind. Less serious advices come from Saskatchewan and Manitoba, but it is patent that soil conditions are favorable for both drifting and cut-worm activity. The quick and abundant growth of weeds is reducing the stand and increasing the water requirement of the crop in large areas. Copious rains are necessary to assure an average crop."

GRAIN EXPORTS DECREASE.

15,000 Bushels Lower for Week and 865,000 Below a Year Ago.

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—Grain exports from the United States last week were 994,000 bushels, against 1,009,000 the week before and 1,859,000 in the corresponding week last year. Commerce Department figures today gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the previous week:

Wheat, 938,000 bushels, against 925,000 the preceding week and 939,000 a year ago; oats, 8,000, against 3,000; corn, 47,000, against 41,000; barley, none, against 40,000.

Canadian grain exported last week through United States ports was 1,459,000 bushels, against 1,365,000 the previous week, while last week's exports of North American wheat flour were 167,000 barrels, against 231,000 the previous week.

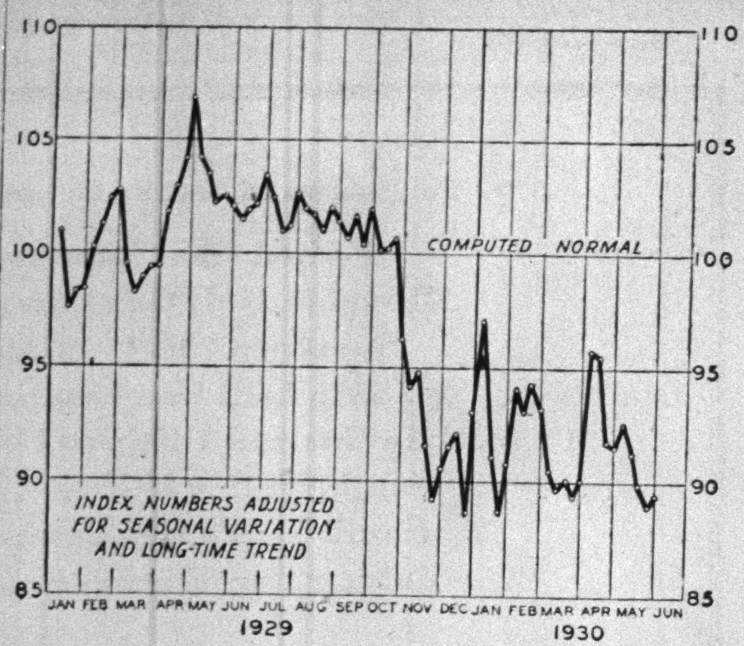
Car Loadings of 860,249 in Week Ended May 31 Showed Less Than Seasonal Drop; Index Up



For the week ended May 31 the total number of cars loaded with revenue freight, according to the weekly report of the American Railway Association, was 860,249, somewhat less than the seasonal decrease from the total for the preceding week. This was about 1½ per cent lower than the estimated total used in the computation of the weekly index of business activity for the week ended May 31 as published in last Sunday's TIMES. The revised adjusted index of freight carloadings, as shown by the accompanying chart, now stands at 89.4, as compared with 88.9 for the week ended May 24. For the corresponding week last year the adjusted index stood at 102.0.

For the combined weekly business index the revised figure for the week ended May 31 is 92.7, as against 92.5 for the week ended May 24 and 106.0 for the week ended June 1, 1929.

The carloadings figures for the last week of May complete the record for that month, which permits analysis of the causes of the general decline which occurred. The principal factor in the decrease, on the basis of seasonally adjusted daily averages for the month of May as compared with the month of April, was a heavy falling-off in loadings of miscellaneous freight, which includes manufactured goods. This decline carried the seasonally adjusted daily average for the month below the December low point down to approximately the level of the previous cyclical low month of December, 1927.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended May 31 totaled 860,249 cars, the American Railway Association announced today. This figure represented a decrease of 71,223 cars under the previous week, due largely to the observance of Decoration Day, and was 112,576 cars below the corresponding week in 1929, as well as 74,424 cars under the same week of 1928.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL TO VOTE ON SHARE RISE

Holders to Be Asked to Approve Increase to 15,000,000—Special Meeting July 25.

Stockholders of the International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., will be asked to authorize an increase in capital stock from 13,928,594 shares to 15,000,000 shares, from which they may receive the right to subscribe at $20 a share to six new shares for each 100 shares now held, it was announced yesterday.

A special meeting of stockholders has been called for July 25 to ratify the proposal already adopted by the board of directors. The increase, according to the notice sent to stockholders, is to allow the company to maintain a strong cash position in the face of large expenditures for improvements.

The letter to stockholders says in part:

"The program of development, construction and equipment at the company's mines, smelters and refineries in Canada, Great Britain and the United States during the past three and a half years, together with additions required by reason of increased business, has called for a capital expenditure of upward of $52,000,000. This program is now approximately 81 per cent completed at an expenditure of $42,000,000 and calls for a further expenditure of $10,000,000 during the next two years. When this program is completed the company will have modern and efficient plants for all of its operations and sufficient excess capacity to meet the prospective increase in demand for nickel products resulting from its sales and development policy. It has been the company's traditional policy to maintain at all times a strong cash position."

Hearn Appoints Publicity Director.

John Hambleton has been appointed director of publicity for the department store of James A. Hearn & Son, it was announced yesterday. Since graduating from the University of Kentucky in 1923, Mr. Hambleton has taught commercial art in the New York School of Fine and Applied Art and graphic advertising and fashion illustration in Paris. He was engaged as a color expert in promotion and advertising problems for various of the leading couturiers abroad.

NICARAGUA TO FORM A MORTGAGE BANK

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—Arrangements by which the International Acceptance Bank, Inc., New York, will act as fiscal agent for the National Bank of Nicaragua and for the Pacific Railroad of Nicaragua, were announced today by Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, Minister of Nicaragua and president of the board of directors of both institutions.

Consummation of plans for the formation of a mortgage bank to be managed by the National Bank, and like the first two institutions, to be owned entirely by the government, also was announced.

"Under the able and energetic guidance of President Moncada of the Republic of Nicaragua," Dr. Sacasa explained in a formal statement today, "the government of that country has taken active steps to embark upon a conservative program for the general development and improvement of economic conditions within the republic."

Representatives of the International Acceptance Bank, which belongs to the Manhattan Company, have been appointed to the boards of the National Bank and the Pacific Railroad to act in an advisory capacity.

"In order to assure a policy which will be solely for the economic benefit of the country," said Dr. Sacasa, "the Nicaraguan Government has pledged itself to eliminate all political considerations from the management of these very important institutions, which will continue to be conducted on a strictly commercial and business-like basis.

"The boards of directors of these institutions consist of five representatives of the Republic of Nicaragua and four foreign representatives selected from the International Acceptance Bank, Inc., and from other independent sources that will prove useful to the Republic."

Lion Oil to Increase Stock.

Stockholders of the Lion Oil Refining Company at a special meeting yesterday authorized an increase in capital stock from 350,000 to 1,000,000 shares. The additional stock will be used in expansion and development, chiefly of oil properties discovered recently in Texas.

CORPORATION REPORTS

Bulova Watch Company.

The Bulova Watch Company, Inc., reports for the fifteen months ended March 31, net earnings of $1,558,231, equivalent, after deducting preferred dividends from date of issuance, to earnings of $5.04 a share on the outstanding common stock. The report was rendered for the fifteen months because of the changing of the end of the fiscal year from Dec. 31 to March 31, and the report explains that the total of earnings is not representative because it includes two unprofitable March quarters which had to be charged against one profitable nine-months' period. Earnings for the calendar year 1928, were $1,083,673, equivalent to $3.94 a share on the common stock, and in 1927 earnings were $651,299, equivalent to $2.36 a share on the common stock. No deductions were made from the earnings in 1928 or 1927 in figuring the earnings a share on the common stock, as the preferred stock which the company now has outstanding was issued subsequently.

Scott Paper Company.

The Scott Paper Company reports for the period from Jan. 1 to May 26 net income of $390,467 after charges and Federal taxes, equivalent after allowance for preferred dividends to earnings of $2.08 a share on the outstanding common stock. Pathe Exchange, Inc.

Pathe Exchange, Inc., reports for the sixteen weeks ended April 19 a net loss of $66,431 after depreciation, interest, taxes, amortization of discount, organization expenses and other charges. This is without taking into the income account a surplus credit of $73,056 representing income on pictures which were previously the subject of charges to surplus or special reserve. In the corresponding period of 1929 the company reported net profit of $334,232 during which period there was charged against surplus or special reserve $508,547 to absorb special costs of sales over normal cost. In both cases the surplus or special reserve entries referred only to valuation of pictures as of April 21, 1928.

Lehigh Portland Cement.

The Lehigh Portland Cement Company reports for the year ended May 31 net income of $1,942,091 after depreciation, Federal taxes and charges, equivalent after deductions for preferred dividend requirements, to earnings of $1.05 a share on the outstanding common stock. After payment of preference and common dividends there was a surplus for 1929 of £3,046, making the total surplus as of Dec. 31, £240,650.

WHEAT PRICES FALL IN SPITE OF DROUGHT

OATS ALSO GET SETBACK

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Continued dry weather in the Canadian Northwest Spring wheat territory fell flat as a market influence today and with a disposition by some of yesterday's buyers to even up for the government report, combined with a lack of support, prices dropped around 2 cents from yesterday's finish. A rally toward the last on short covering and evening up by the pit element for the official report made the close 1 to 1⅜ cents lower. Winnipeg was down 1¼ to 1⅜ cents, while Buenos Aires lost only ¼ cent. Liverpool gained ½d to ⅝d, compared with Friday, failing to reflect the upturn in North American markets since then.

The trade blames largely the worldwide unfavorable economic conditions for failure of the wheat market to respond to the bullish crop comments from the Northwest.

Foreigners show little disposition to buy cash wheat, though stocks abroad are being steadily reduced, but the weight of the large carryover of old grain in the United States and Canada is having some effect.

Comment on the government report, issued late in the day, suggested that it would have little effect on values, as it was slightly better than in May and 12,000,000 bushels below the average of the private returns. Spring wheat condition was about as expected, while the Canadian official returns were taken as rather favorable in view of recent private reports.

Kansas City received today its first car of new wheat of the season, while Illinois sold 45,000 bushels new wheat to come here during the day.

Primary receipts were 420,000 bushels, a week ago 482,000 and a year ago 874,000. Shipments, respectively, were 1,186,000, 535,000 and 601,000 bushels.

Corn was dull and closed ¾ cent lower, largely in sympathy with wheat. Trade was largely local. Cash demand from the East was slow and country offerings were small, while weather conditions in the West were favorable for the new crop.

Primary receipts of corn were 632,000 bushels, a week ago 851,000 and a year ago 636,000. Shipments, respectively, were 585,000, 879,000 and 531,000 bushels.

Buyers in the Market Increased.

The number of buyers registered in the market during the week ended yesterday showed an increase over the number reported for last week but a decrease under the number reported for the same period a year ago, according to the lists published in THE TIMES. For the week 721 buyers were listed as against 520 in the preceding week and 811 for the corresponding week last year. Yesterday's arrivals of 282 fell behind those for a week ago when 311 were reported.

Some 1931 Straw Prices Lower.

Lower prices in some instances will mark the 1931 lines of men's straw hats to be opened to the trade shortly after July 1. The majority of the styles, however, it was said yesterday, will continue practically on this year's price basis. Crowns of the new models will be about the same, with brims slightly wider. Panamas and body hats, following the success attained with these types this season, will be strongly featured. While sales reports on current business from the metropolitan area continue poor, consumer buying of straw hats in the South, Middle West and Coast was said to present a much better picture.

Approve Wool Institute Program.

Preliminary plans were outlined yesterday for the development of each of the ten industrial activities recently recommended by President A. D. Whiteside of the Wool Institute. At a meeting of thirty-one local "key men" of the industry, held at the institute's offices, it was disclosed that the 255 replies to questionnaires requesting the views of the entire industry were unanimously in favor of all the recommended activities being continued. They cover statistics, uniform cost methods, inter-trade relations, code of practice, mutual adjustment bureau, registration of fabric names, broadening the market, style service, research and group meetings.

Tariff Worries Rug Importers.

Oriental rug importers, who in some cases have reserve stocks sufficient to last for two years, are worried over reports that the proposed new tariff bill will be defeated. The heavy stocks, purchased in anticipation of increased duties, will have to be sacrificed, it is claimed, and drastic cuts in prices will be inevitable. Both Chinese and Persian rugs have been declining in price since last Spring, and additional cuts will mean heavy losses. Current average wholesale prices for Chinese rugs are around $1.50 per square foot as compared with $1.85 last Spring, and Persian rugs in many cases are being sold to jobbers for $2.35 per foot in contrast to the $3.35 price they commanded last year.

To Meet on Fur Group Merger.

Directors of the Associated Fur Manufacturers, Inc., will meet Monday to consider the proposed merger of the Fur Trimming Manufacturers' Association with their organization. At that time they are expected to fix a date for a meeting at which members of their association can vote on the proposal. The merger plan was approved by the fur trimming group Monday night by a vote of 55 to 15. Although 19 ballots were cast against the proposal, officials of the association announced yesterday that four of the nineteen were void. The ruling out of the four ballots gave proponents of the merger the necessary majority.

Overcoat Buying Under Last Year's.

Advance business from retailers in men's overcoats continues to lag notably behind last year's bookings, the fair demand for men's suits being the sole favorable feature of the Fall buying trend. In the coats being bought there has lately been a trend to belted designs which has been hailed as likely to bring back a vogue for fancy patterned garments which would help the trade. Much of the business placed has been in fleeces, plain blue and oxford types, with nothing really developing as yet into what appears will be the "logical volume sellers" for Fall. At least 50 per cent of the buying by retailers, it was said, will probably develop early in the Fall.

Weather Hits Hardware Sales.

Unfavorable weather during the last few days cut into the growing volume of hardware sales which retailers, jobbers and manufacturers had been enjoying in recent weeks. The drop is not regarded as serious, however, as the trade looks for a resumption of demand when weather conditions improve. May sales, jobbers report, equaled those of the same month last year. Retailers are receiving a steady call for garden tools and other seasonable merchandise and are buying stock in greater volume. Builders' hardware is the only line which is lagging at present.

Boys' Clothing Sales Hold Up.

The wide diversification in boys' clothing is enabling this industry to continue at a fairly even pace, comparing favorably with last year, according to one of the important factors in the trade. Youths' knickers with the new patented elastic knee grip are in strong demand. In overcoats fleeces are proving to be excellent sellers. Blue gray is a popular shade in boys' suits, particularly in the long trousers division, while brown is the most sought after color in the short pants suits.

Plated Silverware Inactive.

Continued inactivity in the plated silverware field has compelled selling agents during the last two weeks to force business in many cases by creating special values to tempt buyers. Concessions are asked by buyers in both flat and hollow ware. Recently the only items which have moved at a normal pace are special cups and trophies ordered by jewelers for prizes in seasonal athletic events. Cups which can be retailed at from $7.50 to $20 are in the greatest demand.

⁂

Prices on Gray Goods Shaded.

Prices on some descriptions of gray goods were shaded yesterday, the standard printcloths being quoted at ⅛ cent lower. Trading continued inactive, with only routine orders being filled. Orders for 38½-inch 64-60s were filled at 5¾ cents, which was ⅛ cent under the previous day's quotation. The 38½-inch 60-48s also eased and were offered at 4⅞ cents, although some sellers held out for 5 cents. Orders for 39½-inch 68-72s at 6⅝ cents and for 39-inch 80-squares at 8¾ cents for spot delivery and 8½ cents for July-August deliveries were limited. Sheetings continued quiet, but prices held firm.

GARMENT LEADERS FOR MARKET WEEK

EVENT TO START JULY 14

Coincides With Show to Be Visited by 1,500 Buyers—Group Will Foster Public Interest.

Unanimous endorsement of inter-trade cooperation for a "Market Week," to be held during the week of July 14, was made yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the Garment Retailers of America, the Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers, Inc., and the Affiliated Dress Manufacturers, Inc., held in the offices of the retailers' organization here. Resolutions were passed calling for the appointment of a committee to draw up a program for the week and also for the appointment of a permanent committee "to meet at regular intervals to continue to foster public interest in style and quality merchandise."

The week is the first of its kind to be held in the garment trade and will be held during a period when some 1,500 buyers will be in the market here to see the Fall styles as launched in the style show of the Garment Retailers of America. The period will be marked by a series of retailer-manufacturer gatherings to discuss mutual problems which will affect both production and merchandising in the new season.

The resolution adopted points out that "the vigorous promotional efforts of the producers and distributers of other commodities have rendered it advisable that similar efforts along cooperative lines be launched by the ready-to-wear industry." The view was expressed that the discussion of pertinent fashion, manufacturing and marketing topics at a joint convention would attract constructive attention to the industry and its products and recognition be obtained of style and quality merchandise.

It was also urged that a comprehensive "market week would react to the unmistakable advantage of the ready-to-wear industry in the city of New York and of the distribution of quality apparel throughout the country."

Another meeting at which the market week program and the permanent committees are expected to be named will be held on June 24.

Representing the Garment Retailers of America at yesterday's meeting were President Franklin Simon, Frank Miller, A. G. Jarvis, Arthur Steinweg and John W. Hahn, executive director. The delegation of the Industrial Council comprised A. Davidow, Samuel L. Deitsch, Leo Del Monte, head of the organization; William Bloom, Henry H. Finder and Richard Beller. The representatives of the Affiliated Dress Manufacturers, Inc., were Herman Floersheimer, William Hendricks, Mortimer Lahm, Philip Salkin, Morris Kolchin and President Fred Greenberg.

SALES MAINTAIN 1929 LEVEL

Department Store Figures for May Equal Those of a Year Ago.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Department store sales in May were about equal to those of the corresponding month a year ago, according to preliminary reports made to the Federal Reserve System by 551 stores located in leading cities of all Federal Reserve districts.

Sales during the first five months of this year were 3 per cent below the level of a year ago.

The percentage of increase or decrease in department store sales in May, 1930, and during the period from Jan. 1 to May 31, 1930, compared with the corresponding periods of 1929, and the number of reporting stores, by Federal Reserve districts, were as follows:

URGES TIMELY DISPLAYS.

Store Executive Tells Convention Value of Coordination.

Coordination of retail displays with modern merchandising was urged yesterday by Arthur Price, sales promotion manager of the Namm Store, Brooklyn, at the Eastern District Display Men's Convention being held at the Hotel Pennsylvania under the auspices of the New York Metropolitan Display Men's Club. Displays, he said, should be timed with newspaper advertising and follow a plan having a set goal in keeping with store policy.

The Namm Store, Mr. Price added, has been particularly successful in the tie-up of window displays with civic and community events. He cited a recent instance where forty windows of the store were given over to civic and industrial displays, without any display of merchandise. Store sales for the week totaled $500,000, he said.

Official presentation will be made at the convention today of plans discussed at a committee meeting yesterday for a permanent display men's organization for the eastern section of the country and also for the staging of the 1931 convention in Boston. Affiliation with the National Retail Dry Goods Association has been suggested. The requirements of such affiliation were outlined at the convention yesterday by Channing E. Sweitzer, managing director of the retailers' association. The convention will conclude tomorrow.

BOSTON, June 10 (AP).—Hugh D McLellan of Boston was appointed receiver of Page & Shaw, Inc., of Cambridge by Judge Bishop of Superior Court today. Mr. McLellan, a lawyer, was directed to conduct the business of the candy company until further order of court and to file a bond of $5,000.

The appointment resulted from proceedings brought by James R. Murdock of Raynham, a minority stockholder, to recover for the corporation about $1,000,000, alleged to have been paid out as bonuses in connection with the sale of Class A stock of the concern. A Middlesex grand jury recently returned twenty-three indictments in connection with the sale of the company's stock.

COTTON CLOTH OUTPUT REDUCED LAST MONTH

Ran 18.6 Per Cent Under Average for 29 Months—Sales Down and Stocks Up.

Effects of the curtailment program under which cotton mills have been operating for the last month were apparent in production figures made public yesterday by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York. The average weekly production during the five weeks of May was 55,160,000 yards, or 18.6 per cent less than the average weekly production during the last twenty-nine months. In spite of curtailed production, sales were only 66.9 per cent of the output.

According to the report, which is based on data supplied by twenty-three groups of manufacturers and selling agents, production during May totaled 275,801,000 yards and sales amounted to 184,473,000 yards. Shipments during the month were 270,056,000 yards, or 97.9 per cent of production. Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 450,481,000 yards, an increase of 1.3 per cent, while unfilled orders on May 31 showed a decrease of 23.9 per cent.

These are the comparative yardage totals for last month and the corresponding month in 1929:

	May, 1930.	May, 1929.
Sales	184,473,000	278,335,000
Shipments	270,056,000	326,121,000
*Stocks on hand	450,481,000	367,340,000
*Unfilled orders	271,475,000	382,512,000

WILL ASK RETENTION OF SOUND STEAMERS

Shippers' Conference Votes to Oppose Efforts to Abolish Them at I. C. C. Hearing.

The Shippers' Conference of Greater New York voted yesterday, on the eve of the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing in Boston on the petition to force the New Haven Railroad to abandon operation of its Sound steamship lines between New York and New England, to go on record as opposing the petition and to be represented by a spokesman at the hearing, which will open on Monday.

William H. Chandler, chairman of the conference, said that New York faces the possibility of serious interference with its New England trade if the railroad is forced to abandon the Sound steamers. In a canvass of New York merchants to determine their attitude, he has received about 500 replies, he said, and only a small minority favors the divorce of the lines. They base their argument on academic grounds, he said.

"The Sound steamers," said Mr. Chandler, "are operated as an adjunct of the rail service of the New Haven road, rather than as a means of checking competition. They make possible a shipping service on less-than-carload freight that is accepted by New York shippers as fair and efficient.

"If the New Haven road were forced to sell the ship lines to another group we have no assurance that the new owners would maintain the service and the rates which are now available. They might get into the hands of a weaker group than the New Haven, and the rates then forced upon us might be higher, with New York the ultimate loser."

The action to divorce the railroad and the ship lines is based on the provision of the Panama Canal act, which forbids the ownership of ship lines by railroads which ordinarily would be in competition with them. The act granted permission to the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine the facts in individual instances and to suspend this provision where the public interests would be better served by the operation of the ship lines by competing rail lines. This does not extend, however, to traffic passing through the Panama Canal.

Parker McCollester, chairman of the legislative committee of the Shippers' Conference, pointed out at yesterday's meeting that intercoastal lines operating through the canal are not on the same ground as the Sound steamers in respect to their ownership by the railroads, inasmuch as the public benefit is sufficient ground for the ownership by the New Haven and no loophole at all is left the railroads desirous of entering the intercoastal ship service.

Mr. McCollester said that the two cases are different on legislative grounds and that the public welfare will be benefited by the present operation by the New Haven road.

Mr. Chandler said he planned to introduce the letters of the New York business interests as evidence in support of the existing arrangement.

AWARDS $74,243,000 ON GERMAN SHIPPING

War Claims Arbiter Passes on Claims for 94 Vessels Seized by the United States.

$13,688,000 FOR LEVIATHAN

Ex-Kaiser's Family Gets $522.58, but It Will Be Applied to Reparations.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Awards totaling $74,243,000 were made today by James W. Remick, war claims arbiter, in the cases arising out of seizure of German vessels during the World War. The awards cover claims for ninety-four ships and include interest from July 2, 1921, to Dec. 31, 1928.

The chief claimants were the Hamburg-American Line, which received $38,801,000, and the North German Lloyd, which gets $27,311,000.

By another decision of the arbiter, $522.58 was allowed to the ex-Kaiser and other members of his family because of their interest in German ships. The money will not be paid to them, but will be deducted from reparations due the United States.

The ship cases hinged almost entirely upon the question of valuation, estimates having ranged from $34,000,000, the appraisal by the United States Naval Survey Board when the ships were taken over, to $230,000,000, the amount claimed.

The largest single award was in the case of the steamship Vaterland, now the Leviathan of the United States Lines, for which a total of $13,688,000 is paid, including interest.

The award in the case of the Kron-Prinzessin Cecilie is $4,287,000; for the Kaiser Wilhelm II, $3,829,000; the George Washington, $3,851,000; the Amerika, $2,979,000; the Cincinnati, $2,387,000; the Koenig Wilhelm II, $1,358,000; the Hamburg, $1,358,000; the Grosser Kurfurst, $1,500,000; the Pennsylvania, $1,104,000; the President Grant, $2,389,000; the President Lincoln, $2,398,000; the Princess Alice, $1,361,000, and the Prinzess Irene, $1,415,000. The awards in the remaining cases are under $1,000,000.

As to the former royal family, Judge Remick decided that "neither the German Government nor any member of the former ruling family had, at the time of taking, any interest in any of the vessels for which claims have been filed, either directly or indirectly, through stock ownership or control or otherwise," except the interest of 295,000 marks disclosed by ownership of the capital stock of the Allgemeine Elektricitaets-Gesellschaft, as follows:

Franz Maria Luitpold, former Prince of Bavaria, 4,000 marks.

The only vessel for which claim was made by the Allgemeine Elektricitaets Gesellschaft was the Allemannia, for which an award of $326,000 is made. The sum of 295,000 marks represents 0.1603 per cent of the capital stock of that company. Accordingly, the arbiter ordered a deduction from the fair value of the Allemannia at the rate of 0.1603 per cent, amounting to $522.58.

VERY IMPORTANT

CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES operate from the head of Lake Superior, via the St. Lawrence River, to the Saguenay. Their cruises include the seven day trip from Detroit to Duluth and return; Niagara to the Saguenay, including the Thousand Islands, and shooting the rapids; excursions from Toronto, the Queen City, to Niagara, the Thousand Islands and Rochester. They operate a fleet of 106 steamers, freight and passenger, and are the largest fresh water transportation company in the world. The famous Saguenay trip includes visits to Montreal, metropolis of Canada; Quebec, the historic walled city; Murray Bay, "Newport of the North" and Tadoussac, Canada's oldest settlement. The Saguenay Canyon is one of nature's masterpieces.

Our steamers may be boarded at Lewiston, Rochester, Duluth or Detroit in the U.S.A., or Sarnia, Queenston, Toronto, Montreal or Quebec in Canada.

HAVE you ever seen a genuine camera-shy "Mountie" in a smart red tunic? You will probably run across one or two of this famous corps as you journey through French Canada. This lower St. Lawrence country—the cradle of Canadian history—is brimful of new and interesting sights.

The habitant woman spinning at her door-step, or baking huge loaves in an outdoor oven, the woodsman shouldering his axe and striding along in soft moccasins, the little boys driving their big dogs at a gallop in home-made carts—these are part of the delightful, simple life of French Canada's beloved habitants.

Our large modern steamers ply from Niagara, via the St. Lawrence river to the distant Saguenay. Air that stirs the blood like a bugle call, the grandeur of mountain scenery, new congenial friends—all go to make up a memorable vacation cruise, as delightful as a trip abroad.

Please write at once for illustrated folder, which describes in detail the pleasures of this wonderful vacation cruise.

DOCTORS ADVANCE STUDY OF THE BRAIN

Dr. Camp and Dr. Waggoner Tell of Putting Air in Cavities to Photograph Growths.

SPINAL TUMOR CURE SEEN

Dr. Woltman Expresses a Hopeful Stand—Dr. Mills Warns of "Humbug" in Medicine.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 10.—"Recognition of humbug in medicine is as necessary as the recognition of any social truth," declared Dr. Charles K. Mills of Philadelphia in a paper read at the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the American Neurological Association, in session at the Ambassador Hotel.

"The numerous forms of pseudo medicine which have come so largely in vogue—osteopathy, chiropractic, neuropathy, naturopathy, divine healing and Christian Science—have a long list of unjust diagnoses to answer for," he continued. "Osteopaths who would accept and follow the direction of capable doctors could do some good to patients of a certain type, but they are more likely to regard themselves as really trained physicians and as such are unwilling to own to their lack of knowledge.

"A long list of patients has passed through my hands in which every sort of incurable disease has been affirmed and in which favorable prognoses have been given by osteopaths. This list includes such affections as brain tumor, spinal tumor, hemorrhage, &c. It would seem as though the sick could be made to believe anything.

"The cult of Mrs. Eddy has seized upon the imagination of the gullible. Any real good that appears to have been done by Christian Science has been the result of suggestion such as has been used by competent physicians from the beginnings of medicine.

Speaking of frauds among patients, Dr. Mills said:

"In combination with hysteria but just as often independently of it, we have a class of patients who are clearly frauds or impostors. Such patients are a sore trial to their families, friends and doctors. To understand them one must go back to their early childhood and heredity."

"The outlook for spinal tumor is better," declared Dr. Henry W. Woltman of Rochester, Pa., who presented a paper entitled, "Intramedullary Tumors of the Spinal Cord." The doctor reviewed fifty-one cases. His report was enthusiastically received by his associates. He expressed the belief that spinal tumors, formerly thought hopeless, could be cured. He explained that too many sufferers from the disease wait too long before bringing their case to the attention of a physician.

Exploring the interior of the brain will be simplified, according to findings of Dr. Carl D. Camp of Ann Arbor and Dr. R. W. Waggoner. Their paper, entitled "The Technique of Encephalography," told of a new method for putting air into the brain cavities to photograph malignant growths and rare diseases.

Dr. Frederick Tilney of New York read a paper on the brain, declaring that the majority of people use only 25 per cent of their brain power, while the most highly talented leave some parts undeveloped.

URGES SERVICES BE PUBLIC.

Mexican Commerce Chamber Asks President to Act on Utilities.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, June 10.—The National Chamber of Commerce addressed a communication to President Ortiz Rubio yesterday, asking him to consider a plan for declaring the street car, the street buses and the light, power and telephone systems as public services. The chamber's main argument is that under the project, differences between capital and labor would be dealt with by the courts and that strikes would thus be avoided.

The statement says great inconvenience has frequently been caused to the public when these services have been suspended following disputes between the employers and the employes.

"All the services in question should be considered as public," continues the statement, "in the sense that they should not be allowed to suspend for indefinite terms, as they are an indispensable part of Mexico's public life. For the purpose of avoiding a repetition of such a case as the recent suspension of the telephone service, we beg you to decree the services mentioned be declared public, as are the postal and telegraphic services, which cannot be suspended under any circumstances."

LITHUANIANS PUSH TRADE.

National Council Formed Here to Aid Activities of Chambers.

The first Lithuanian-American economic conference, composed of forty-seven delegates of Lithuanian Chambers of Commerce throughout the United States, met yesterday at the offices of the Consul General, Paul Zadeikis, 15 Park Row, and formed the National Council of Lithuanian Chambers of Commerce of America.

The objects of the association are to establish a central clearing house for information concerning Lithuanian-American trade relations and to coordinate the activities of the various chambers throughout the country.

Consul General Zadeikis presided until Dr. Matthew J. Vinikas of Richmond Hill, Queens, was elected chairman. The members discussed trade conditions relating to Lithuania, the discussion lasting most of the day.

Members of the council elected at the afternoon session were Joseph Varkala, Chicago; Constantine J. Woshner, Pittsburgh; Albin S. Treciokas, Newark; Joseph P. Machulis, Brooklyn; John W. Jenusaitis, Waterbury, Conn., and Dr. V. P. Pushkinigis, Grafton, Mass.

A dinner was held last night for delegates on the Scandinavian-American Line steamer United States at Hoboken, at which Consul General Zadeikis was the principal speaker.

MARKETING BILL SIGNED BY HOOVER

President Commends Licensing of Dealers in Perishables to Prevent Unfair Practices.

TEXTILE FUND APPROVED

Executive Looks to Growth of Foundation Chartered to Advance the Industry.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A bill to suppress unfair practices in marketing perishable commodities in interstate and foreign commerce and a measure providing a Federal charter for the Textile Foundation were signed today by President Hoover.

The President said the marketing bill was a notable accomplishment, and very important, since it set up a plan for licensing dealers in perishables.

"I have advocated this legislation for some years," he stated. "It has been supported by the great majority of commission men and dealers in agricultural perishables, as well as by agricultural organizations. It is a very important step in protecting both the farmer and the honest dealer as well as the consumer."

The other legislation, the President said, represented "a useful incident in the development of scientific research in connection with industry."

Under this bill, the Textile Foundation is authorized to receive from the Textile Alliance, a private World War organization, about $2,000,000 in accordance with an arrangement between the alliance and the State Department. The foundation will administer the fund through a board of directors composed of the Secretaries of Commerce and Agriculture and three textile men to be appointed by the President.

The President said he hoped that the fund would prove a nucleus for collecting other money for development of the industry.

The Textile Alliance was formed in 1914 to protect mill owners and operators and prevent abuses in the manufacture and sale of mill supplies. Through the purchase of dyes for resale to American manufacturers, the alliance acquired a profit of $1,200,000 to $1,800,000.

A final decree has just been entered in the Federal court of the Southern District of New York directing the Textile Alliance to pay the government $1,202,000. The suit was brought by the government because the alliance, while willing to pay the money, asked for a court decree to protect it after payment.

LOST POLICE BULLDOG BACK MINUS HIS AIRS

Although He Is Driven Home in State, He Recognizes Even Patrolmen Now.

For the last two years a large white bulldog grunted and wrinkled its nose at the customers entering the Simpson Street police station. It inspected them all, gunmen, thieves, lost children, angry wives and college students who broke lamps. Cream was what it wanted; cream and evaporated milk.

During his residence behind the two green lights Bum became well acquainted with the staff. He knew the captain intimately, the lieutenants thoroughly and he rather looked down upon mere sergeants. When he saw patrolmen he usually stared the other way. Detectives he understood not at all. He did not want to.

At all events, several days ago a period of mourning started at the Simpson Street station. The captain brooded alone in his inner room, and the lieutenants punched thoughtful holes in the blotter with their pens. Sergeants, learning that Bum had disappeared, mourned him almost as if he had taken the Civil Service tests and had become one of them. Only the patrolmen sniggered.

The history of Bum moved down to 135th Street near Eighth Avenue yesterday. Detective Sergeant Samuel Battle, a Negro officer attached to that precinct, happened to see a wistful, white bulldog standing on the corner. He looked at it, noted the police buttons, medals and the rest of the regalia that adorns Bum, and took him to the station. The dog no longer was refusing bones, no longer did he insist on cream and other fats.

Last night they came for him, last night a shiny wagon with sirens and a bell drove down from the Bronx. Two men were on guard in it, and they had taken the four-mile drive to get back their dog. The captain, of course, could not make the trip, nor could the lieutenants or sergeants. The two were just patrolmen. But on the way back home Bum did not seem to mind. The word was passed around that from now on Bum probably would recognize practically every one.

BECKER LEAVES AUBURN.

Stormy Petrel of Prison Secretly Transferred to Dannemora.

AUBURN, N. Y., June 10 (AP).—Max Becker, stormy petrel of Auburn Prison, today was in Clinton Prison at Dannemora, where are kept the so-called "toughest convicts" of the State, after a secret transfer last night, Warden Frank L. Heacox announced here today.

Two other prisoners were transferred to Great Meadow Prison, the State's good behavior penitentiary at Comstock, and one other, found to be insane, to the State hospital at Dannemora.

PLANE AND AUTO URGED AS MISSIONARY AIDS

Dr. Trexler Suggests 'Modern Methods' to Bring 2,000 Back Into Lutheran Church.

A Lutheran airplane and a Lutheran automobile-chapel should be provided for mission work, according to the Rev. Dr. Samuel Trexler, president of the United Lutheran Synod of New York. They could be used, he said yesterday, to bring back to the church between 2,000 and 3,000 persons in the synod's area who, he declared, were once associated with the Lutheran Church but have strayed.

Dr. Trexler made this statement in announcing plans for the second annual meeting of the synod which will be held in the Church of the Reformation, Rochester, N. Y., beginning next Monday evening and continuing through Thursday.

"We have a great work to do and one that must be tackled in an up-to-date fashion," said Dr. Trexler at his office in the Lutheran Church House, 39 East Thirty-fifth Street. It calls for a liberal use of modern methods."

Forbids Muskrat Breeding in Reich.

BERLIN, June 10 (AP).—The Commissioner of Forests, Ludwig Schuster, has put his foot down on wholesale muskrat breeding. He said the rodents would undermine railroads and river embankments and impair the safety of dams, waterworks and roadways.
